Goldwater Rejects Bid For Debate

Shuns Rocky's Offer To Talk On GOP Policy

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has rejected New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's challenge to debate Republican party policies.

"If he wants to debate weaknesses in the Kennedy administration, sure, but if he wants to talk about the Republican party and its polices, no," said Goldwater in an airport interview Saturday at Portland.

Rockefeller made the debate proposal in a talk before the Western Republican conference at Eugene.

He left Eugene before Goldwater arrived for a night speech, but was asked for comment on Goldwater's statement.

Rockefeller said he wanted to debate Republican party principles.

"Do you mean specific programs?" a reporter asked.

"That's right," said Rockefeller.

The two potential Republican presidential candidates were the top speakers at the conference. Rockefeller spoke at noon.

"I invite Sen. Goldwater to join with me in a series of debates on how our party can best deal with the vital issues before the American people . . ." Rockefeller said.

Just before that, he had put a third man, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, into next year's nominee contest. "I think he's a candidate," Rockefeller told a news conference.

Rockefeller said Republicans were in agreement on basic principles, but "our disagreements are in the areas of the application of these principles to the problems of today."

And it was there that he said debate should come: debate "within the Republican party if we are to offer the American people next year positive and constructive alternatives to the Kennedy administration's handling of national and international affairs."

WEST BERLIN flower shop employe presents bouquet to Lt. George Kirkpatrick, a U.S. military police officer, from Gainesville, Fla., in Berlin Saturday. Kirkpatrick relayed the flowers to U.S. convoy which had been blockaded over 50 hours by Soviet troops at a Communist border point. Flowers were ordered by wire from a Frankfurt resident in tribute to the American troops in the convoy. The U.S. troops had refused to dismount vehicles and be counted which prompted the blockade. GI Convoy Rolls Into West Berlin With Morale High

BERLIN (AP) — Standing firm against mounting tension, the United States forced the Soviet Union to back down Saturday and lift its blockade of an American Army convoy moving into West Berlin.

Touching one of the more sensitive nerves in the cold war, the Russians imposed their blockade at 9 a.m., Thursday, and held it until shortly after noon Saturday. Sixty-one American soldiers and their 18 vehicles rolled triumphantly into this divided city. Troop morale was reported high.

At one point, their commander said, they attempted to go through the blockade but were stopped when the Russians wheeled armored cars across their path at the Babelsberg checkpoint, 1½ miles from Berlin.

ARMORED CARS

It was these same armored cars the Russians later withdrew, with the words, "You can go now" to the Americans.

A second U.S. convoy of 144 men and 25 vehicles struck out 24 minutes later in the opposite direction of the 110-mile trip over the Autobahn through Communist East Germany to West Germany. These troops were sent to Babelsberg on Friday to support the incoming convoy. The Army announced they reached their destination without difficulty.

They were not involved in the issue raised by the Russians at a time when there has been a Soviet-prompted thaw in the cold war.

In stopping the Berlin-bound convoy, the Russians demanded that the men dismount and be counted. This is a Soviet regulation which is applied to small convoys. The West does not recognize the regulation and calls it a unilateral act unacceptable to the United States, Britain and France, who with the Soviet Union occupy Berlin.

Administration Sees No Cooling Of Recent Thaw

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration Saturday blamed the Berlin blockade on a "genuine" Soviet misunderstanding and saw no permanent setback to the widening thaw in the cold war.

High administration sources gave this assessment of the convoy incident: It was touched off by misunderstanding of low-level Soviet officers at the Soviet-controlled checkpoints at the entry to and exit from the 100-mile highway from West Germany across Communist East Germany to West Berlin.

The Russians might have thought the 18-vehicle U.S. convoy carrying 61 men and supplies was varying from customary procedures. The United States, for its part, has kept its exact operational procedures on the Berlin route a secret because the West maintains it should have no interference with access to Berlin.

Neither side budged until after their highway confrontation had rocketed to the highest levels in Washington and Moscow and the diplomats got matters straightened out.

U.S. Negro Soldier Asks Red Asylum

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany said Saturday an American Negro soldier has crossed the frontier and asked for political asylum.

He is the third alleged defector from the U.S. Army reported by East German authorities last week.

The official East German news agency ADN identified the soldier as Heinrich James Newton and said he was assigned to an engineer unit at Karlsruhe, West Germany. It did not give his home address.

ADN quoted him as saying he wanted to get away from steady chicaneries which he declared Negroes were subjected to in the U.S. Army and settle down "to support the Negroes' fight for liberation" from East Germany.

U.S. Army officials had no immediate comment.

Friday, ADN reported the defection of a U.S. Army medical specialist, Sp.6 Conrad Yumang.

U.S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg said Yumang, 42, Philippine-born naturalized American, is listed as absent without leave from the 5th General Hospital at Stuttgart.

Yumang, who is from Melabon City, Philippines, left behind his wife and four children, who had followed him to West Germany last June.

Wednesday, ADN had reported M. Sgt. Willard E. Valentini, of Lorain, Ohio, went to East Berlin and asked for asylum. Valentini, too, is listed by the U.S. Army as AWOL.

Mosquito Threat Plagues Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Another mosquito attack may be coming to New Orleans, says visiting expert George T. Carmichael.

He made the remark after a field trip for his month-long mosquito control study under the auspices of the U.S. Public Health Service.

"I would be surprised if they don't hit in a few days," he said.

Algeria Claims Rebels Defeated

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — President Ahmed Ben Bella claimed Saturday his troops have captured all rebellious Kabylie towns and, "For us, this affair is finished."

The president, at a news conference, ignored the threat of continued guerrilla warfare and reports that part of his army refused to fight the Berber rebels in the Kabylie region.

MOROCCO PEACE

At the same time, Ben Bella said he hoped his country's frontier dispute with Morocco will soon be over. The Moroccans claim France arbitrarily assigned some Moroccan territory to Algeria when she ruled both countries.

"We hope our Moroccan brothers will remain as calm as ourselves," Ben Bella said.

His statement about the "end" of the Kabylie revolt obviously reflected the government's determi- to the movement which threatened his regime.

The next few days should show whether the Kabylie opposition really suffered a blow or whether it is preparing for long guerrilla resistance.

The 15-minute news conference was one of the shortest Ben Bella ever has given. Newsmen went through five security checks before reaching the conference room in the headquarters of the ruling Front of National Liberation.

The president appealed to all "militants" to return to the party, apparently referring to those who took to the hills with the dissident leaders.

Hocine Ait Ahmed and Col. Mohand Ou el Hadj, the leaders of the revolt, will be arrested by the army, Ben Bella said.

Asked about the expulsion of foreign newsmen from Algiers, Ben Bella said: "We are far from the situation as described by a certain alarmist and pessimistic press. We have asked certain journalists to go away and use their poisoned pens elsewhere."

Ben Bella's troops were backed by light armor and advance scouts when they penetrated Berber strongholds Saturday.

The loss of the towns was political rather than strategic. The towns served as the platform for rebel news conferences and communiques and presented no strategic objective in guerrilla warfare.

Police Interrupt 8th Honeymoon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Police interrupted Saturday the mountain honeymoon of dark-eyed Gazaleh Omran, 19. They said it was her eighth in a year without a divorce.

Gazaleh, whose name means Gazelle, was accused of giving herself a new name for each of her last seven spouses: Raghda, Rifka, Noura, Hassana, Rima, Khadra, and Lama. All eight husbands have accused her of adultery and theft, but police say she denies stealing anything.

Navy Delays Building On Submarines

WASHINGTON (AP) — The construction delay imposed on all atomic submarines to provide new and rigorous safety inspections has been extended to the super-deep-diving experimental submarine Dolphin, it was learned Saturday.

The commissioning of the Dolphin originally was set for early next year. It now has been set back until late 1964, the Navy said in answer to a question.

Earlier last week the Navy disclosed that work on 31 atomic submarines, both Polaris missile firing and attack types, was being held up pending elaborate and detailed checks for any flaws in materials and workmanship.

The half-year or more delay in completion of the Dolphin will have an impact on the Navy's research and development program, which is aimed at eventually producing submarines that can operate at depths of several thousand feet.

At some future time, designers hope that combatant submarines can work as deep as 20,000 feet. It happens that 98 per cent of the world's oceans fall in that category.

The Dolphin is purely a developmental device for study of the fundamentals of designing true fighting submarines which could operate beneath many protective thermal layers of water, blending into the background of the ocean bottom.

The Dolphin will be only 200 feet long and displace about 1,000 tons. This compares with the 600-foot length and 7,000 tons of Polaris submarines or the 3,700-ton displacement of attack types of the nuclear fleet.

To withstand the enormous pressures of deep water the Dolphin's hull and framing are being built of thick, high-tensile steel. Internal structuring will be of plastic and aluminum.

Because there is no requirement for high speed or prolonged submergence periods in the experimental submarine, the Dolphin will have conventional diesel-electric power.

The Navy says hull openings will be similar to a conventional submarine because there is no requirement for large intake pipes to provide cooling water needed in atomic-powered submersibles.

NUCLEAR DETECTORS

U.S. To Launch Two Satellites

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — In hush-hush surroundings, the United States plans within a few days to launch a pair of satellites as a first step toward developing a foolproof system of detecting nuclear explosions in space.

The twin sentinels, their instruments capable of spotting a nuclear blast more than 180 million miles away, will be boosted toward separate 57,000-mile-high orbits by the same Atlas-Agena rocket. They will serve as warning that the United States is determined to find out if any nation violates the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

SECRECY

The Defense Department, reportedly on orders from the White House, has thrown a secrecy shroud over the operation, which has two code names, Project 823 and Vela Hotel. For the first time in several years, reporters have not been informed in advance of a missile firing from Cape Canaveral.

But its rumble will be heard for miles, and if the weather is clear, it will be seen in Orlando, 50 miles away.

Until recently, government officials and publications freely discussed the project. In August, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told publicly of plans to launch the satellites in congressional testimony supporting ratification of the test ban treaty.

He said that "as a practical matter, illegal clandestine testing in deep space is not a reasonable proposition for the Soviet Union, and in any event, it's one against which we can protect ourselves."

Fishermen Try To Arm Against Soviet Trawlers

KODIAK, Alaska (AP) — Angry Kodiak crab fishermen were reported Saturday trying to arm themselves with surplus World War II high-powered weapons to prevent further losses of gear to Soviet trawlers.

The tense situation was described by Karl Armstrong, editor of the weekly Kodiak Mirror, who said he knew of at least two orders being placed for such weapons. He said there probably had been more.

American fishermen taking king crab near Kodiak Island have complained loudly and bitterly for weeks that Soviet trawlers have destroyed valuable crab pots and other gear with their dragging operations.

Gov. William A. Egan has pressed the U.S. State Department to take the matter up with the Soviet Union and said he was assured the Soviet Embassy in Washington had been contacted.

Armstrong said the U.S. Coast Guard was fully aware of the possibility of violence and was keeping a close watch.

Armstrong said the two weapons orders he knew about personally were for an antitank rifle and a small cannon.

Another Fair, Warm Day Due

Another fair and warm day is on the weather menu for Twin City residents as the weatherman indicates there will be only slight changes in temperatures. Today is expected to be sunny and clear with the mercury climbing in the vicinity of 88 to 92 degrees. Saturday's high was 94 degrees around 2 p.m.

WARM

Lows tonight will send the mercury retreating somewhere between 55 and 60. The low Saturday, recorded at 6 a.m., was 57.

Winds in the Monroe area will be variable at about 5 to 15 m.p.h. The outlook for Monday calls for fair and warm with no temperature changes.

BLIND SINCE CHILD

Self Made Lawyer Appointed To Post

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—David Eugene Murrell decided three years ago nothing would keep him from getting a law degree at the University of Kentucky.

His determination paid off. Murrell, 26, was appointed an assistant attorney general in Kentucky two weeks ago, shortly after he was admitted to practice.

That's quite an accomplishment —more so because Murrell has been blind since he contracted glaucoma when he was five.

"He came highly recommended. He was the best applicant we had for the job at the time," said Atty. Gen. John Breckinridge.

Murrell's desire to get through law school was motivated by an understanding of how difficult it is for a blind person to get ahead.

"In the past, there has been no middle class for the blind," he said. "They're either at the top or the bottom. And to a great extent, that's true today."

Murrell was graduated with a 3.5 standing on a 4.0 system. He relied on a remarkable memory, a tape recorder and on occasion he hired students to read to him.

"I entered law school with the idea that I wasn't going to quit no matter what happened. I wasn't encouraged, but I was not discouraged, either," the Covington, Ky., attorney said.

After Murrell's first day on the job here, Breckinridge asked for memos from his staff on a controversial subject, Bible instruction in the public schools.

Murrell responded with a two-page memo that surprised Breckinridge. "I found his memo succinct, remarkably lucid and, in my opinion, absolutely correct. And Dave relied entirely on his memory," said Breckinridge.

The attorney general has assigned Murrell to write opinions and briefs on the state's new criminal rules of procedure, Kentucky constitutional law and alcoholic beverage control.

Murrell needs a little outside help, like a secretary who reads to him, but he is trying to prove himself by the same determination that put him through school.

Dominican Rule To Loosen Up

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The governing junta and representatives of six political parties announced Saturday they have agreed to return the country to constitutional rule beginning early next year.

The exact date of elections is due to be announced shortly by the junta of civilians, appointed by military leaders after the armed forces overthrew elected President Juan Bosch on Sept. 25.

Tag Check Finds Four Policemen

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Expired brake tags were found Saturday on autos belonging to four policemen, who are in the midst of a crackdown on expired brake tags.

Officers have set up road blocks throughout New Orleans to catch motorists whose cars have outdated tags.

Police Superintendent Joseph I. Giarrusso said, "It's difficult to police this thing to the nth degree. I can assure you they'll have new brake tags by Monday."

SOLON PAY INCREASE

Congress To Face Embarrassing Task

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress may soon face the politically embarrassing task of voting itself a big pay increase in order to clear the way for higher salaries recommended for top government officials.

A bill that would boost congressional pay $12,500 a year and add $15,000 to the annual salaries of Supreme Court justices and Cabinet officers has a good chance of being approved soon by the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Government workers at all levels would benefit under the bill, and the higher executive salaries have the approval of the administration and a panel of outside experts, but few members of Congress relish the idea of voting for it.

With the government in the red and Congress being urged to hold down spending in order to justify a tax cut, who wants to stick out his neck and vote to put more money in his own pocketbook?

Well, Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., for one, only if isn't just his own pocketbook he's thinking of. Udall introduced the bill on which the committee is preparing to act and he defended it strongly in a speech to the House several days ago.

Calling the present salaries paid top government officials "ridiculously low," Udall said substantial increases are needed to attract and hold the kind of people it takes to run the government properly.

It doesn't make sense, Udall said, when Chicago pays its chief of police $30,000 a year to protect its citizens and the United States pays its secretary of defense $25,000 a year to administer a $55-billion budget for the protection of the entire nation.

And it's absurd, he added, when the City of New York pays its comptroller $40,000 a year but the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury gets only $25,000 a year.

Present pay scales, Udall said, tend to restrict high government posts to wealthy persons or to political hacks who can't make as much money doing anything else.

GI Convoy Rolls Into West Berlin With Morale High

The tense situation was described by Karl Armstrong, editor of the weekly Kodiak Mirror, who said he knew of at least two orders being placed for such weapons. He said there probably had been more.

American fishermen taking king crab near Kodiak Island have complained loudly and bitterly for weeks that Soviet trawlers have destroyed valuable crab pots and other gear with their dragging operations.

Gov. William A. Egan has pressed the U.S. State Department to take the matter up with the Soviet Union and said he was assured the Soviet Embassy in Washington had been contacted.

Armstrong said the U.S. Coast Guard was fully aware of the possibility of violence and was keeping a close watch.

Armstrong said the two weapons orders he knew about personally were for an antitank rifle and a small cannon.

Another Fair, Warm Day Due

Another fair and warm day is on the weather menu for Twin City residents as the weatherman indicates there will be only slight changes in temperatures. Today is expected to be sunny and clear with the mercury climbing in the vicinity of 88 to 92 degrees. Saturday's high was 94 degrees around 2 p.m.

WARM

Lows tonight will send the mercury retreating somewhere between 55 and 60. The low Saturday, recorded at 6 a.m., was 57.

Winds in the Monroe area will be variable at about 5 to 15 m.p.h. The outlook for Monday calls for fair and warm with no temperature changes.

Mosquito Threat Plagues Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Another mosquito attack may be coming to New Orleans, says visiting expert George T. Carmichael.

He made the remark after a field trip for his month-long mosquito control study under the auspices of the U.S. Public Health Service.

"I would be surprised if they don't hit in a few days," he said.

Administration Sees No Cooling Of Recent Thaw

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration Saturday blamed the Berlin blockade on a "genuine" Soviet misunderstanding and saw no permanent setback to the widening thaw in the cold war.

High administration sources gave this assessment of the convoy incident: It was touched off by misunderstanding of low-level Soviet officers at the Soviet-controlled checkpoints at the entry to and exit from the 100-mile highway from West Germany across Communist East Germany to West Berlin.

The Russians might have thought the 18-vehicle U.S. convoy carrying 61 men and supplies was varying from customary procedures. The United States, for its part, has kept its exact operational procedures on the Berlin route a secret because the West maintains it should have no interference with access to Berlin.

Neither side budged until after their highway confrontation had rocketed to the highest levels in Washington and Moscow and the diplomats got matters straightened out.

BLIND SINCE CHILD

Self Made Lawyer Appointed To Post

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—David Eugene Murrell decided three years ago nothing would keep him from getting a law degree at the University of Kentucky.

His determination paid off. Murrell, 26, was appointed an assistant attorney general in Kentucky two weeks ago, shortly after he was admitted to practice.

That's quite an accomplishment —more so because Murrell has been blind since he contracted glaucoma when he was five.

"He came highly recommended. He was the best applicant we had for the job at the time," said Atty. Gen. John Breckinridge.

Murrell's desire to get through law school was motivated by an understanding of how difficult it is for a blind person to get ahead.

"In the past, there has been no middle class for the blind," he said. "They're either at the top or the bottom. And to a great extent, that's true today."

Murrell was graduated with a 3.5 standing on a 4.0 system. He relied on a remarkable memory, a tape recorder and on occasion he hired students to read to him.

"I entered law school with the idea that I wasn't going to quit no matter what happened. I wasn't encouraged, but I was not discouraged, either," the Covington, Ky., attorney said.

After Murrell's first day on the job here, Breckinridge asked for memos from his staff on a controversial subject, Bible instruction in the public schools.

Murrell responded with a two-page memo that surprised Breckinridge. "I found his memo succinct, remarkably lucid and, in my opinion, absolutely correct. And Dave relied entirely on his memory," said Breckinridge.

The attorney general has assigned Murrell to write opinions and briefs on the state's new criminal rules of procedure, Kentucky constitutional law and alcoholic beverage control.

Murrell needs a little outside help, like a secretary who reads to him, but he is trying to prove himself by the same determination that put him through school.

Dominican Rule To Loosen Up

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The governing junta and representatives of six political parties announced Saturday they have agreed to return the country to constitutional rule beginning early next year.

The exact date of elections is due to be announced shortly by the junta of civilians, appointed by military leaders after the armed forces overthrew elected President Juan Bosch on Sept. 25.

Tag Check Finds Four Policemen

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Expired brake tags were found Saturday on autos belonging to four policemen, who are in the midst of a crackdown on expired brake tags.

Officers have set up road blocks throughout New Orleans to catch motorists whose cars have outdated tags.

Police Superintendent Joseph I. Giarrusso said, "It's difficult to police this thing to the nth degree. I can assure you they'll have new brake tags by Monday."

SOLON PAY INCREASE

Congress To Face Embarrassing Task

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress may soon face the politically embarrassing task of voting itself a big pay increase in order to clear the way for higher salaries recommended for top government officials.

A bill that would boost congressional pay $12,500 a year and add $15,000 to the annual salaries of Supreme Court justices and Cabinet officers has a good chance of being approved soon by the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

Government workers at all levels would benefit under the bill, and the higher executive salaries have the approval of the administration and a panel of outside experts, but few members of Congress relish the idea of voting for it.

With the government in the red and Congress being urged to hold down spending in order to justify a tax cut, who wants to stick out his neck and vote to put more money in his own pocketbook?

Well, Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., for one, only it isn't just his own pocketbook he's thinking of. Udall introduced the bill on which the committee is preparing to act and he defended it strongly in a speech to the House several days ago.

Calling the present salaries paid top government officials "ridiculously low," Udall said substantial increases are needed to attract and hold the kind of people it takes to run the government properly.

It doesn't make sense, Udall said, when Chicago pays its chief of police $30,000 a year to protect its citizens and the United States pays its secretary of defense $25,000 a year to administer a $55-billion budget for the protection of the entire nation.

And it's absurd, he added, when the City of New York pays its comptroller $40,000 a year but the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury gets only $25,000 a year.

Present pay scales, Udall said, tend to restrict high government posts to wealthy persons or to political hacks who can't make as much money doing anything else.

Hurricane Flora Kills 496 After Sweeping Cuba

MIAMI (UPI)—The Fidel Castro government, which refused American Red Cross aid as hypocritical, Saturday said Hurricane Flora killed at least 496 persons on the island and "the toll is mounting."

A government broadcast from Bayamo, monitored here, said that death reports are building up as communications are re-established with the hurricane-torn eastern half of the island and "will probably go higher." It said 319 bodies were found in an area near the Sierra Maestra mountains Friday, and 177 more were found today.

"Hundreds of persons are atop the roofs of houses surrounded by floodwaters in the area," the broadcast said. It said 10 helicopters were on the way to the area to give emergency aid.

"The region looks completely devastated, and it is presumed that the destruction there is terrible," the broadcast said.

The radio report was sent to Capt. Jorge Risquet, Castro's military aide in Oriente. It also said 50,000 bags of sugar were destroyed in three mills in Oriente Province.

Eddie Ready To Snip Ties Of Marriage

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Singer Eddie Fisher says he is ready to end the world's most famous fractured marriage on short notice.

"It all depends on Elizabeth," said the curly haired crooner. "I've told my friends that I can be a divorced man in four days."

He meant Elizabeth Taylor, 31. She left Fisher more than a year ago for actor Richard Burton, the man who played Antony to her Cleopatra in the movie epic of that name.

Miss Taylor is in Mexico with Burton, who is filming a movie there.

Fisher, 35, ends a six-week singing engagement at the Desert Inn Hotel on the Las Vegas strip Monday. Six weeks is the residence requirement for a divorce in Nevada.

Fisher confirmed that he has spent most of the last three months singing in Nevada to be ready to file if Miss Taylor gives the word.

"That's why I've been working at Lake Tahoe and Las Vegas. I have no other residence. I'm waiting to hear from the young lady," Fisher said.

He told The Associated Press that he would delay a trip to the East if the actress says she wants to shed him. His comments blasted rumors that he would stick with Miss Taylor to share in the millions she will reap from "Cleopatra."

"When I leave Las Vegas, I'll be going to Los Angeles for a few days to see my children, then to Nassau on business, then to New York to make some recordings," Fisher said.

He has a girl, 7, and a boy, 5, by Debbie Reynolds, his first wife. He divorced her in Las Vegas to marry Miss Taylor in 1959.

Dr. Illia Becomes Chief Of Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Arthur U. Illia, a soft-spoken back country doctor, took over as Argentina's 29th president Saturday, promising a dramatic effort to regain the prosperity, prestige and national peace lost in nearly a decade of political turmoil.

In a heavily applauded inaugural address to Congress, the 63-year-old physician promised Argentines more jobs and sounder money.

He said his administration would use the U.S.-supported Alliance for Progress as the basis for development. But he said Argentina reserves the right to carry on an independent foreign policy.

"There are not, for us, large countries which we must follow nor small countries which we must direct," Illia said. "There are only people and human beings equally respected, to each one of which we offer a friendship without prejudice."

Illia reiterated he would seek to nullify contracts with American and other foreign oil companies on the ground they were illegally signed by the government of President Arturo Frondizi in 1958. He said the state oil company—Yacimientos Petroliferos Fiscales — will be the chief entity of petroleum development. A number of American firms have been drilling for oil here.

Police had one skirmish. Swinging clubs, they scattered a group of about 200 youths carrying signs demanding that Argentina re-establish diplomatic relations with Cuba.

From the crowds along the inaugural route came scattered shouts of, "Viva Peron" and police arrested a dozen persons for distributing Communist party pamphlets.

The brunt of Illia's words were aimed at Argentines—a people troubled by repeated crises since the fall of dictator Juan D. Peron in September 1955.

Once the most prosperous and advanced nation in Latin America, Argentina began to falter under the heavy spending of Peron's welfare state in the final years of his rule.

A military junta ruled in the interval between Peron's ouster and the inauguration of Frondizi as president May, 1, 1958.

A string of military crises finally crumpled Frondizi's administration. On March 29, 1963, he was ousted as president by the military on charges that his policies opened the way for followers of Peron to return to power.

During and after Frondizi's administration, the peso plummeted in value, exports dropped off, production slumped and unemployment increased. Argentine prestige at home and abroad declined.

"The new era is beginning," he said. "Lift high the pioneering banners calling everyone to take up the courageous task ahead and the country will regain its prestige among the free people of the world."

In a show of support, the nation's military leaders were at Illia's side as he came to the Congress for the swearing-in ceremony. Crowds cheered him. Some spectators tossed flowers in his path. There were roars of, "Peron, peace, peace" and "liberty."

Illia's candidacy for the presidency was born of compromise among political parties after military leaders barred Peronists from running for the office. He and Vice President Carlos H. Perette, a country lawyer, are members of the middle-road People's Radical party.

After the session in Congress, Illiawent to Casa Rosada, the presidential executive palace in downtown Buenos Aires, where he received the sash of office from Guido.

There, on Monday, Illia will put in his first working day as the leader of nearly 21 million Argentines.

Illia's candidacy for the presidency was born of compromise among political parties after military leaders barred Peronists from running for the office. He and Vice President Carlos H. Perette, a country lawyer, are members of the middle-road People's Radical party.

After the session in Congress, Illiawent to Casa Rosada, the presidential executive palace in downtown Buenos Aires, where he received the sash of office from Guido.

There, on Monday, Illia will put in his first working day as the leader of nearly 21 million Argentines.

Chips From The Stump

McKeithen

KAPLAN (Special) — Winding up a full day of stumping here Saturday night, Gubernatorial Candidate John McKeithen said, "Four years of Louisiana under Bob Kennon would be the same as if we had kept Jimmy Davis as governor for another four years. If any one doubts that just have a look at the big money contributors around Kennon and you'll see the same faces that have surrounded Jimmie Davis for the past four years."

McKeithen continued, "And what a four years that has been. We've had favoritism for a chosen few worked almost to a science and we've seen a majority of the population forgotten. Bob Kennon means four years of the same deadheads and the same favorite few. We've seen a code of ethics turned into a mockery and we've seen morality and government looked upon as some kind of freak nature."

McKeithen said, "The lights are burning at night in that million dollar mansion trying to think up ways to make the people forget the past four years and make Bob Kennon look like a knight on a charger. But our people have had more than enough. We're worn out from broken promises and sweet talk that turns sour the day after election. The people of Louisiana are ready for a change and I believe that we can give Louisiana exactly that."

Kirkpatrick

Edmond D. Miranne, New Orleans attorney, Saturday accepted the position of campaign manager for Claude Kirkpatrick in Orleans Parish. Miranne, 43, served as attorney for the Louisiana State Board of Health and Board of Control of Cosmetic Therapy. A graduate of Loyola University, he is presently vice-president of the Security Homestead Association and a member of the Board of Commissioners of the Orleans Levee Board.

Miranne stated, "I am supporting Claude Kirkpatrick, because, number one, he is a friend of mine. I am an independent. I believe in this and I have always believed in this. I believe in idealism in government. I believe that with proper leadership, that our state will stand where it should rightfully be. I am opposed to the political party that will actually support anyone for the promises offered them. I belong to no political organizations in New Orleans. I believe Claude Kirkpatrick stands for independent, clean, and honorable government. Claude is a leader, he has always been a leader. He believes in what I believe in in government. He talks with feeling and sincerity, and one never has to second guess him. I will do everything in my power in assisting Claude Kirkpatrick in becoming governor of Louisiana."

Kennon

BOGALUSA (Special) — Former Governor Robert F. Kennon said Saturday when he was governor "three out of every four dollars we collected in the timber serverance tax went to parish road funds. We eliminated taxes on timber until it was cut and then we gave parishes their fair share", Kennon said.

"We were good to the parishes", he said. He said more than $20 million went to parish road funds while he was governor. "And when I am again your governor I will put our state government back in the hands of the people," Kennon said.

"I expect to adopt an all-state program for Louisiana, to be worked out by the leading people of the state in cooperation with the legislature. Special committees will be appointed 90 days before each legislative session to work out worthwhile programs to put our state ahead.

"These committees will be made up of private citizens and members of the legislature," Kennon said. "Programs for our mentally ill and retarded children are examples of the areas in which this all-Louisiana group will help out", he said.

"Our industrial development wil get top priority with the leadership of our lieutenant governor, Francis Dugas," Kennon added. Dugas, of Thibadoux, proposed to create a special division in the departmnet of commerce and industry to work with and encourage local industrial development committees.

"New industry and labor look for honesty and responsible government. With that climate in our state, the industry and jobs will flourish," Dugas said.

Gillis Long

Cong. Gillis W. Long, candidate for Governor, and his ticket will speak here at the Ouachita Valley Fairgrounds at 7:15 p.m. Friday, Oct. 18, as the campaigners make a stump tour of central and northeast Louisiana.

The entire ticket — Long, R. O. Rush, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Andrew J. Falcon, candidate for state comptroller — stump through central Louisiana Friday.

They stop in Montgomery at 9 a.m., Winnfield at 10 a.m., Dodson at 11 a.m., Quitman at 1:30 p.m., Hodge at 2:30 p.m., Ruston at 3:30 p.m., Dubach at 4:30 p.m., Farmerville at 5:15 p.m., Choudrant at 6 p.m., West Monroe at 715 p.m.

Saturday they stump in Bastrop at 9 a.m., Oak Ridge at 10 a.m., Rayville at 11 a.m., Mangham at 1 p.m., Winnsboro at 2 p.m, Gilbert at 3 p.m., Wisner at 4 p.m., Sicily Island at 5 p.m., Ferriday at 6 p.m., and Vidalia at 7 p.m.

Passman-Kennon

COVINGTON — Congressman Otto E. Passman on the stump for gubernatorial candidate Robert F. Kennon Saturday in the Florida parishes, said the Kennedy administration is leading the nation into socialism and that "the only way to sop it is to elect men with ability and integrity, and who are dedicated to heading off this disaster."

He said, "that is the real reason I am supporting Judge Kennon."

"John and Bobby Kennedy are pushing a socialistic philosophy that threatens to destroy not only state sovereignty but our nation," Passman declared.

Addressing several hundred people in his native Washington Parish, the Monroe congressman criticized his congressional colleauges who voted to pack the house rules committee," which paves the way for easier passage of the disasterous Kennedy program."

Any person who voted to pack the rules committee did a disservice to this nation," Passman said. He did not mention any of Kennon's opponents by name but Kennon earlier lashed out at candidate Gillis Long for his failure to vote against packing the rules committee.

Passman praised Kennon and his previous administration for cleaning up gambling and the dope traffic in Louisiana.

"Now please don't vote for Kennon just because you like the way he spells his name. Don't vote for a name, vote for a proven record", Passman urged.

SIX-DAY FAIR ENDS

Winners Named In Horse Show

The gay noise of the midway, carousel music and the barker's cry, left the Twin Cities Saturday night as the Ouachita Valley Fair closed out a "highly successful" six-day run.

John Birdsong Sr., fair secretary - manager, said Friday's attendance of between 7,000 and 8,000 was the largest for one day in history of the fair. Fair officials had not completed a tally of Saturday crowds, but indications were that the attendance figure would exceed Friday's.

Saturday found the fairgrounds in West Monroe packed with children as prices were slashed from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. on midway rides for the youngsters.

In the junior quarter - horse competition Saturday morning, Union Parish entries took both the grand champion stallion and the grand champion mare. The stallion belonged to Margeann Lawrence and the mare to Jimmy Long. Ann Sherrouse, of Ouachita, walked off with the honor of showing the reserve grand champion stallion and mare.

Panel Program Held By Local CPA Chapter

A panel discussion highlighted the program when the Monroe Chapter of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants played host to the principals and guidance counselors of this area at its regular monthly meeting.

Harry Bell, local CPA, led off the discussion, speaking about the attributes of the profession from the independent CPA's viewpoint. A guest from Shreveport, Roy Hurley, president of the Tri-State Oil Toll Company, shared the panel with Bell. Hurley said that many CPA's are now occupying positions in middle and top management, and emphasized that management relied heavily on the accountant's opinion in making major decisions. The panel discussion was followed with a question and answer period, participated in by the area educators present for the dinner meeting. They were urged by both Bell and Hurley to encourage their students to explore the accounting profession as a field of endeavor.

Similar meetings will be held by other society members throughout the state, and is a project of the education committee of the Society of Louisiana CPA which is chairmaned by Professor Harold Smolinksi, a member of the Monroe chapter.

McKeithen said, "The lights are burning at night in that million dollar mansion trying to think up ways to make the people forget the past four years and make Bob Kennon look like a knight on a charger. But our people have had more than enough. We're worn out from broken promises and sweet talk that turns sour the day after election. The people of Louisiana are ready for a change and I believe that we can give Louisiana exactly that."

Kirkpatrick

Edmond D. Miranne, New Orleans attorney, Saturday accepted the position of campaign manager for Claude Kirkpatrick in Orleans Parish. Miranne, 43, served as attorney for the Louisiana State Board of Health and Board of Control of Cosmetic Therapy. A graduate of Loyola University, he is presently vice-president of the Security Homestead Association and a member of the Board of Commissioners of the Orleans Levee Board.

Miranne stated, "I am supporting Claude Kirkpatrick, because, number one, he is a friend of mine. I am an independent. I believe in this and I have always believed in this. I believe in idealism in government. I believe that with proper leadership, that our state will stand where it should rightfully be. I am opposed to the political party that will actually support anyone for the promises offered them. I belong to no political organizations in New Orleans. I believe Claude Kirkpatrick stands for independent, clean, and honorable government. Claude is a leader, he has always been a leader. He believes in what I believe in in government. He talks with feeling and sincerity, and one never has to second guess him. I will do everything in my power in assisting Claude Kirkpatrick in becoming governor of Louisiana."

Kennon

BOGALUSA (Special) — Former Governor Robert F. Kennon said Saturday when he was governor "three out of every four dollars we collected in the timber serverance tax went to parish road funds. We eliminated taxes on timber until it was cut and then we gave parishes their fair share", Kennon said.

"We were good to the parishes", he said. He said more than $20 million went to parish road funds while he was governor. "And when I am again your governor I will put our state government back in the hands of the people," Kennon said.

"I expect to adopt an all-state program for Louisiana, to be worked out by the leading people of the state in cooperation with the legislature. Special committees will be appointed 90 days before each legislative session to work out worthwhile programs to put our state ahead.

"These committees will be made up of private citizens and members of the legislature," Kennon said. "Programs for our mentally ill and retarded children are examples of the areas in which this all-Louisiana group will help out", he said.

"Our industrial development wll get top priority with the leadership of our lieutenant governor, Francis Dugas," Kennon added. Dugas, of Thibadoux, proposed to create a special division in the departmnet of commerce and industry to work with and encourage local industrial development committees.

"New industry and labor look for honesty and responsible government. With that climate in our state, the industry and jobs will flourish," Dugas said.

Passman-Kennon

COVINGTON — Congressman Otto E. Passman on the stump for gubernatorial candidate Robert F. Kennon Saturday in the Florida parishes, said the Kennedy administration is leading the nation into socialism and that "the only way to sop it is to elect men with ability and integrity, and who are dedicated to heading off this disaster."

He said, "that is the real reason I am supporting Judge Kennon."

"John and Bobby Kennedy are pushing a socialistic philosophy that threatens to destroy not only state sovereignty but our nation," Passman declared.

Addressing several hundred people in his native Washington Parish, the Monroe congressman criticized his congressional colleauges who voted to pack the house rules committee," which paves the way for easier passage of the disasterous Kennedy program."

Any person who voted to pack the rules committee did a disservice to this nation," Passman said. He did not mention any of Kennon's opponents by name but Kennon earlier lashed out at candidate Gillis Long for his failure to vote against packing the rules committee.

Passman praised Kennon and his previous administration for cleaning up gambling and the dope traffic in Louisiana.

"Now please don't vote for Kennon just because you like the way he spells his name. Don't vote for a name, vote for a proven record", Passman urged.

SIX-DAY FAIR ENDS

Winners Named In Horse Show

The gay noise of the midway, carousel music and the barker's cry, left the Twin Cities Saturday night as the Ouachita Valley Fair closed out a "highly successful" six-day run.

John Birdsong Sr., fair secretary - manager, said Friday's attendance of between 7,000 and 8,000 was the largest for one day in history of the fair. Fair officials had not completed a tally of Saturday crowds, but indications were that the attendance figure would exceed Friday's.

Saturday found the fairgrounds in West Monroe packed with children as prices were slashed from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. on midway rides for the youngsters.

In the junior quarter - horse competition Saturday morning, Union Parish entries took both the grand champion stallion and the grand champion mare. Panel Program Held By Local CPA Chapter

A panel discussion highlighted the program when the Monroe Chapter of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants played host to the principals and guidance counselors of this area at its regular monthly meeting.

Harry Bell, local CPA, led off the discussion, speaking about the attributes of the profession from the independent CPA's viewpoint. A guest from Shreveport, Roy Hurley, president of the Tri-State Oil Toll Company, shared the panel with Bell. Hurley said that many CPA's are now occupying positions in middle and top management, and emphasized that management relied heavily on the accountant's opinion in making major decisions. The panel discussion was followed with a question and answer period, participated in by the area educators present for the dinner meeting. They were urged by both Bell and Hurley to encourage their students to explore the accounting profession as a field of endeavor.

Similar meetings will be held by other society members throughout the state, and is a project of the education committee of the Society of Louisiana CPA which is chairmaned by Professor Harold Smolinksi, a member of the Monroe chapter.

EARL THOMPSON

Earl Thompson Candidate For Police Juryman

Earl Thompson, who retired from the U.S. Navy in 1962, has announced his candidacy for the office of police juror from ward seven. He is a native of Ouachita Parish, is married to the former Mardell Morehead and has three children.

Thompson's formal announcement follows:

"I was born in Ouachita Parish on May 3, 1922 and moved to ward seven in 1935 and have lived here continuously except for the time I spent in the U.S. Navy. Upon High School I enlisted in the Navy and after 20 years service have retired to my farm here in ward seven.

"During World War II I served on eight destroyers in the South Pacific and was aboard the USS Porter and the USS Perkins when they were sunk by the Japanese. I was an instructor during the Korean War.

"This is my first bid for a political office and when I am elected I promise to work with all elected officials of Ouachita Parish. I promise to diligently inspect the roads and bridges of ward seven and to do everything in my power to keep them in excellent condition.

"I believe in segregation of the races and will strive to assit other elected officials in maintaining our way of life in the South.

"I will support any legislation to improve our wildlife program in Ouachita Parish and promise to conservatively spend the taxpayer's money as if it were my own. I promise to return any unused expense account money to the parish treasury.

"I earnestly solicit your wholehearted help and support."

JOHNS' OTHER ACCIDENT

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — An auto accident sent Graham Johns, 45, to the hospital for three months.

He started home from a Lexington hospital by ambulance. Before it got out of town, it was involved in a collision at an intersection.

Back to the hospital went Johns.

Can America stand the test ?

The challenges we face call for strong and wise leadership.

America's leaders must come from our colleges. That's where young people develop the knowledge, skill and vision leadership calls for.

But our colleges are in trouble. They are struggling with higher costs. Many need new classrooms, laboratory facilities and able teachers.

To stand the test of the future, we must back our colleges. College is America's best friend.

Birmingham Studies Plan Of Committee

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Mayor Albert Boutwell said Saturday he would "take under consideration" the city-sponsored biracial committee's recommendation that he announce immediately the city will hire Negro policemen.

A spokesman for the mayor said Boutwell decided "to take the move under consideration" but would have no immediate reply.

Negro leaders planning a demonstration campaign were awaiting his answer before announcing future plans.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and Fred Shuttlesworth, who led record-breaking civil rights demonstrations here last April, planned to return Monday to back up the demands.

"The Negro community has been ready to march all over town. . ." a Negro spokesman said. "All Shuttlesworth has to do is snap his fingers and we're off again."

Boutwell so far has not indicated whether he would meet the Negro ultimatum that 25 Negro policemen be hired by next week and negotiations begun for other desegregation.

Boutwell earlier dismissed King and Shuttlesworth as outsiders and said he had no intentions of replying to their demands.

But a special city-appointed biracial committee has furnished the mayor a face-saving method of heading off the threatened demonstrations.

It recommended Friday that Boutwell immediately announce that the city will hire qualified Negroes.

Councilman E. C. Overton called the committee's proposals outrageous and said to adopt a policy of hiring Negro policemen "in the face of the recent outrageous threats of Martin Luther King and his lieutenants would be cowardly and dishonorable surrender to outside, meddling agitators."

Negro To Affirm Bid As Governor In Mississippi

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (UPI) — Negro civil rights strategist Aaron Henry says he will announce Monday whether he will run for governor of Mississippi.

Henry, the state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said here Saturday "I think I will be a write-in candidate" for the state's top office. He said he would announce his decision at a press conference at Jackson Monday afternoon.

John O'Neil, an NAACP field worker, said at Jackson Saturday Henry would be sponsored by the NAACP as a candidate to spearhead a "freedom balloting" designed to show unregistered Negroes' "desire" to vote.

O'Neil said the mock election would be conducted Nov. 2-4 at precincts in each of the state's 82 counties. He said the "most of the voting would be done on Sunday, Nov. 3, and operated out of churches."

Henry did not reveal whether he would, if a candidate, conduct a serious campaign against Democrat Paul Johnson Jr., and Republican Rubel Phillips, both segregationists, in the election next month. He said "all the details are being left up to my campaign managers."

However, the NAACP at Jackson indicated Henry's proposed candidacy would be aimed at creating an interest in the Negroes' mock vote.

A mass civil rights rally, said O'Neil, would be held at Jackson on the eve of the Nov. 5 election. He said NAACP leaders had contemplated announcing the results of the mock election at the rally prior to the voting in the general election.

Victims Slowly Improve From Botulism Seige

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Doctors reported gradual improvement Saturday among 14 persons treated for botulism, the rare food poisoning suspected of killing seven others.

There were similar reports of slow, but steady, recovery from both University Hospital here and Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville, Tenn., concerning the condition of those stricken after eating the same brand of smoked whitefish.

The patients were being treated with an expensive antitoxin to combat Type E botulism, a rare form of poisoning spread by a tiny organism known as clostridium botulinum.

Because supply of the antitoxin was limited, an F102 National Guard jet fighter plane was kept on standby here to pick up a shipment which could be sent to New York from Paris.

The threat of botulism became evident with the deaths of a man and his daughter here last Monday. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and Tennessee Tealth Department have confirmed that the deaths resulted from Type E botulism poisoning in whitefish.

Botulism was also believed to have caused the deaths of two persons in Michigan and three others in Nashville. The deaths occurred earlier than those here, but the cause was not known at the time.

States Advised Not To Meddle In School Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — State legislatures were asked Saturday not to meddle in public school programs by prescribing specific courses such as anticommunism and driver training.

This was one of several dozen recommendations stemming from a three-year study, and published by McGraw-Hill in the book, "Schools for the 60's". The study was sponsored by the National Education Association.

The book was written by Prof. Robert J. Havighurst of the University of Chicago and members of the staff of NEA, an organization of teachers and school administrators.

The role of the state legislature the report said, is to set forth general goals for the schools, and provide adequate financial support. It said decisions on what to teach and how to teach should be left as much as possible to local school faculties.

The report did not mention any particular state legislature. However, Richard I. Miller, associate director of the project, told a reporter the recommendation was adopted because the Florida Legislature passed a law requiring a course about communism in every public high school, 25 other states have considered similar legislation, Texas law requires a course in state history and state government, and several state legislatures require the high schools to provide driver training.

Much of the report might be compared to a political platform. It is for virtue and against sin, but doesn't say exactly how virtue is to be attained.

"Schools for the 60's," does say, however, that "rational discussion of controversial issues huld be an important part of the school program," and "the school curriculum should include a study of political and social ideologies focusing upon communism."

VICTIMS OF DAM

12 U.S. Citizens Missing In Italy

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — Officials said Saturday night a dozen or more American citizens of Italian extraction were caught in the Vaiont Dam disaster and most of them are missing or presumed dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeLazzaro of Scarsdale, N.Y., who were visiting relatives in Longarone, escaped with injuries when the avalanche-induced flood streamed down the lower Vaiont and Piave River valleys Wednesday night.

Police of Longarone, a town of 4,600 that was virtually wiped out, listed 10 other people identified as Americans who were either visiting or living in Longarone. They said two may have survived.

A survivor of Longarone's Marina Hotel reported, without identifications, that four more Americans were at that hotel, which was flattened.

Longarone police said nearly all the 10 Americans they listed had returned to the town of their origin to spend the rest of their lives. The police had no United States addresses for them.

They listed as presumed dead: Ida Fontanella, 71; Vittorio Polla, 65; Norman Tezat, 66; Gina Colotto, 75; Giulio Mazzucco, 75; and Giovanni (John) De Bona, age unknown.

Reported missing were Margherita Olivier, 68, and Agostino Losso, 74.

Carlo Sommavilla, 61, and Mario Sommavilla, 66, were believed by police to have survived, but their whereabouts were unknown.

Vatican Council Productive

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —The current session of the Ecumenical Council is less dramatic but more productive than the opening session last fall, participants said Saturday.

This view was expressed by several council fathers in separate interviews as the council took a weekend breather from weighty theological debate.

"The daily sessions in St. Peter's are a bit less exciting this time, but we're getting a lot more work done," said one American prelate.

He said the council's first session, which opened a year ago Friday, had a powerful element of suspense because it involved a historic showdown between "liberals," who favor far-reaching reforms in the church, and "conservatives," who want to stand pat on the old ways.

"For all practical purposes, that struggle is over," the prelate said. "The forces of reform have won a clear-cut victory, and they are firmly in control at this session."

Although the pace of the council's labors may seem slow to outsiders, the participants feel that they've accomplished quite a lot in the two weeks which have elapsed since the current session began.

They have:

—Voted overwhelming approval of the most extensive changes which have been authorized in the Mass in the past 50 years. One of the new rules will permit use of modern languages such as English in large portions of the service which are now conducted in Latin.

—Debated at length a document on the church and its hierarchy which includes two highly significant proposals. One would recognize that bishops constitute a "college" or sacred body with God-given powers to share with the Pope in the government and teaching of the entire church. The other would restore the ancient New Testament order of deacons, as a permanent rank of ordained clergy, and permit them to marry.

EARL THOMPSON

Earl Thompson Candidate For Police Juryman

Earl Thompson, who retired from the U.S. Navy in 1962, has announced his candidacy for the office of police juror from ward seven. He is a native of Ouachita Parish, is married to the former Mardell Morehead and has three children.

Thompson's formal announcement follows:

"I was born in Ouachita Parish on May 3, 1922 and moved to ward seven in 1935 and have lived here continuously except for the time I spent in the U.S. Navy. Upon High School I enlisted in the Navy and after 20 years service have retired to my farm here in ward seven.

"During World War II I served on eight destroyers in the South Pacific and was aboard the USS Porter and the USS Perkins when they were sunk by the Japanese. I was an instructor during the Korean War.

"This is my first bid for a political office and when I am elected I promise to work with all elected officials of Ouachita Parish. I promise to diligently inspect the roads and bridges of ward seven and to do everything in my power to keep them in excellent condition.

"I believe in segregation of the races and will strive to assit other elected officials in maintaining our way of life in the South.

"I will support any legislation to improve our wildlife program in Ouachita Parish and promise to conservatively spend the taxpayer's money as if it were my own. I promise to return any unused expense account money to the parish treasury.

"I earnestly solicit your wholehearted help and support."

JOHNS' OTHER ACCIDENT

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — An auto accident sent Graham Johns, 45, to the hospital for three months.

He started home from a Lexington hospital by ambulance. Before it got out of town, it was involved in a collision at an intersection.

Back to the hospital went Johns.

Can America stand the test ?

The challenges we face call for strong and wise leadership.

America's leaders must come from our colleges. That's where young people develop the knowledge, skill and vision leadership calls for.

But our colleges are in trouble. They are struggling with higher costs. Many need new classrooms, laboratory facilities and able teachers.

To stand the test of the future, we must back our colleges. College is America's best friend.

Birmingham Studies Plan Of Committee

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Mayor Albert Boutwell said Saturday he would "take under consideration" the city-sponsored biracial committee's recommendation that he announce immediately the city will hire Negro policemen.

A spokesman for the mayor said Boutwell decided "to take the move under consideration" but would have no immediate reply.

Negro leaders planning a demonstration campaign were awaiting his answer before announcing future plans.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and Fred Shuttlesworth, who led record-breaking civil rights demonstrations here last April, planned to return Monday to back up the demands.

"The Negro community has been ready to march all over town. . ." a Negro spokesman said. "All Shuttlesworth has to do is snap his fingers and we're off again."

Boutwell so far has not indicated whether he would meet the Negro ultimatum that 25 Negro policemen be hired by next week and negotiations begun for other desegregation.

Boutwell earlier dismissed King and Shuttlesworth as outsiders and said he had no intentions of replying to their demands.

But a special city-appointed biracial committee has furnished the mayor a face-saving method of heading off the threatened demonstrations.

It recommended Friday that Boutwell immediately announce that the city will hire qualified Negroes.

Councilman E. C. Overton called the committee's proposals outrageous and said to adopt a policy of hiring Negro policemen "in the face of the recent outrageous threats of Martin Luther King and his lieutenants would be cowardly and dishonorable surrender to outside, meddling agitators."

Negro To Affirm Bid As Governor In Mississippi

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (UPI) — Negro civil rights strategist Aaron Henry says he will announce Monday whether he will run for governor of Mississippi.

Henry, the state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said here Saturday "I think I will be a write-in candidate" for the state's top office. He said he would announce his decision at a press conference at Jackson Monday afternoon.

John O'Neil, an NAACP field worker, said at Jackson Saturday Henry would be sponsored by the NAACP as a candidate to spearhead a "freedom balloting" designed to show unregistered Negroes' "desire" to vote.

O'Neil said the mock election would be conducted Nov. 2-4 at precincts in each of the state's 82 counties. He said the "most of the voting would be done on Sunday, Nov. 3, and operated out of churches."

Henry did not reveal whether he would, if a candidate, conduct a serious campaign against Democrat Paul Johnson Jr., and Republican Rubel Phillips, both segregationists, in the election next month. He said "all the details are being left up to my campaign managers."

However, the NAACP at Jackson indicated Henry's proposed candidacy would be aimed at creating an interest in the Negroes' mock vote.

A mass civil rights rally, said O'Neil, would be held at Jackson on the eve of the Nov. 5 election. He said NAACP leaders had contemplated announcing the results of the mock election at the rally prior to the voting in the general election.

Victims Slowly Improve From Botulism Seige

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Doctors reported gradual improvement Saturday among 14 persons treated for botulism, the rare food poisoning suspected of killing seven others.

There were similar reports of slow, but steady, recovery from both University Hospital here and Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville, Tenn., concerning the condition of those stricken after eating the same brand of smoked whitefish.

The patients were being treated with an expensive antitoxin to combat Type E botulism, a rare form of poisoning spread by a tiny organism known as clostridium botulinum.

Because supply of the antitoxin was limited, an F102 National Guard jet fighter plane was kept on standby here to pick up a shipment which could be sent to New York from Paris.

The threat of botulism became evident with the deaths of a man and his daughter here last Monday. The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and Tennessee Tealth Department have confirmed that the deaths resulted from Type E botulism poisoning in whitefish.

Botulism was also believed to have caused the deaths of two persons in Michigan and three others in Nashville. The deaths occurred earlier than those here, but the cause was not known at the time.

States Advised Not To Meddle In School Affairs

WASHINGTON (AP) — State legislatures were asked Saturday not to meddle in public school programs by prescribing specific courses such as anticommunism and driver training.

This was one of several dozen recommendations stemming from a three-year study, and published by McGraw-Hill in the book, "Schools for the 60's". The study was sponsored by the National Education Association.

The book was written by Prof. Robert J. Havighurst of the University of Chicago and members of the staff of NEA, an organization of teachers and school administrators.

The role of the state legislatures the report said, is to set forth general goals for the schools, and provide adequate financial support. It said decisions on what to teach and how to teach should be left as much as possible to local school faculties.

The report did not mention any particular state legislature. However, Richard I. Miller, associate director of the project, told a reporter the recommendation was adopted because the Florida Legislature passed a law requiring a course about communism in every public high school, 25 other states have considered similar legislation, Texas law requires a course in state history and state government, and several state legislatures require the high schools to provide driver training.

Much of the report might be compared to a political platform. It is for virtue and against sin, but doesn't say exactly how virtue is to be attained.

"Schools for the 60's," does say, however, that "rational discussion of controversial issues huld be an important part of the school program," and "the school curriculum should include a study of political and social ideologies focusing upon communism."

VICTIMS OF DAM

12 U.S. Citizens Missing In Italy

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — Officials said Saturday night a dozen or more American citizens of Italian extraction were caught in the Vaiont Dam disaster and most of them are missing or presumed dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeLazzaro of Scarsdale, N.Y., who were visiting relatives in Longarone, escaped with injuries when the avalanche-induced flood streamed down the lower Vaiont and Piave River valleys Wednesday night.

Police of Longarone, a town of 4,600 that was virtually wiped out, listed 10 other people identified as Americans who were either visiting or living in Longarone. They said two may have survived.

A survivor of Longarone's Marina Hotel reported, without identifications, that four more Americans were at that hotel, which was flattened.

Longarone police said nearly all the 10 Americans they listed had returned to the town of their origin to spend the rest of their lives. The police had no United States addresses for them.

They listed as presumed dead: Ida Fontanella, 71; Vittorio Polla, 65; Norman Tezat, 66; Gina Colotto, 75; Giulio Mazzucco, 75; and Giovanni (John) De Bona, age unknown.

Reported missing were Margherita Olivier, 68, and Agostino Losso, 74.

Carlo Sommavilla, 61, and Mario Sommavilla, 66, were believed by police to have survived, but their whereabouts were unknown.

Vatican Council Productive

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —The current session of the Ecumenical Council is less dramatic but more productive than the opening session last fall, participants said Saturday.

This view was expressed by several council fathers in separate interviews as the council took a weekend breather from weighty theological debate.

"The daily sessions in St. Peter's are a bit less exciting this time, but we're getting a lot more work done," said one American prelate.

He said the council's first session, which opened a year ago Friday, had a powerful element of suspense because it involved a historic showdown between "liberals," who favor far-reaching reforms in the church, and "conservatives," who want to stand pat on the old ways.

"For all practical purposes, that struggle is over," the prelate said. "The forces of reform have won a clear-cut victory, and they are firmly in control at this session."

Although the pace of the council's labors may seem slow to outsiders, the participants feel that they've accomplished quite a lot in the two weeks which have elapsed since the current session began.

They have:

—Voted overwhelming approval of the most extensive changes which have been authorized in the Mass in the past 50 years. One of the new rules will permit use of modern languages such as English in large portions of the service which are now conducted in Latin.

—Debated at length a document on the church and its hierarchy which includes two highly significant proposals. One would recognize that bishops constitute a "college" or sacred body with God-given powers to share with the Pope in the government and teaching of the entire church. The other would restore the ancient New Testament order of deacons, as a permanent rank of ordained clergy, and permit them to marry.

Monroe Police Book Man For Code Violations

A Monroe businessman was booked for two violations of the city's gambling ordinances by Monroe police late Friday, and released after posting bonds totaling $1,000.

Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr. identified the man as W. H. Smith, of 2300 Louisville Ave. Smith was arrested on warrants obtained by the police department, charging him with two different counts of violation of Section 10, Paragraph 35, of the city code.

The police chief said he is charged with violation of subparagraph one which reads gambling is "the intentional conducting, or directly assisting in conducting, as a business, of any game, contest, lottery, or contrivance whereby a person risks the loss of anything of value in order to realize a profit."

The Monroe department was investigating the theft of a tape recorder belonging to Tommy Edmondson, of Madison Hall, Northeast State College. Edmondson told officers the portable recorder was taken from his car while it was parked on a parking lot at Catalpa and Harrison Streets Friday night.

Meanwhile, West Monroe officers cleared a $20 theft Saturday with the apprehension of a 12-year-old Negro boy. Early Saturday, Lola Mae Fuller, rear 801 Coleman Ave., reported that $20 was taken from a billfold in her house during the night Friday or early Saturday. Later, detectives apprehended the juvenile who admitted during questioning that he took the money. The $20 was recovered, and the boy turned over to juvenile authorities for action.

Late Saturday, Monroe police were probing two thefts that were reported by women. Dorothy Lee Thompson, 1720 Flynn St., told officers that her purse was snatched from her arm by a couple of Negroes in a car as she stood on the corner of Flynn and 19th Streets around 9:20 p.m. The purse contained $10.

Mrs. Opal Spears, 1601 Oaklawn St., reported that her purse was stolen from her car while she was at the Plum Street Washateria. The purse contained a small amount of money and two checks, valued at $86.

West Monroe officers were investigating the theft of electrical cable, taken from the U.S. Army recruiting trailer at the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds. The theft was reported by Sgt. Lester W. Thomas, U.S. Army recruiting officer.

Monroe police booked a 28-year-old Negro, Dan L. Powell, 1008 Short Layton St., at 4:15 a.m. Saturday for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving. He was taken into custody in the 1400 block of Orange Street.

Tech Plans Outlined At Homecoming

RUSTON (Special) — Pointing out that "our greatest need is an increase in our operating budget for salaries, the library, research and other items," Dr. F. Jay Taylor, president of Louisiana Tech, told alumni of the institution of current accomplishments and future plans in a state of college message Saturday.

The address was one of the series of events in connection with Tech's homecoming. The meeting also included the naming of officers and executive council members of the Tech Alumni Association.

Emphasizing the academic phases of Tech, which boasts a record breaking enrollment of over 4,000 enrolled this fall, President Taylor discussed this year's expansion of the graduate program which includes the addition of Masters' degrees in history, English, music, speech and business administration.

Discussing the improvements of the physical plant, Dr. Taylor mentioned the present extensive beautification of the campus, the remodeling of the old library building for use by the art department, a new forestry camp on Corney Lake, construction of a new baseball field and improvements in the power plant and post office.

He also referred to work under way on an eight story dormitory for women and a four-story dormitory for men, both of which will be air conditioned.

He said that architects are preparing plans for a new building for the school of business administration, which should be started before the end of this year. A move is under way for a new engineering laboratory building he added.

President Taylor cited various Tech foundations offering financial support of the college and its students and urged alumni support of these organizations.

T. C. Beasley of Ruston was re-elected president of the alumni association. William D. Tindol of Alexandria was renamed vice - president. Changes in membership of the alumni executive council included Mrs. E. L. Henry of Jonesboro, succeeding John Haile; H. D. Hurkhalter of Ruston, replacing L. D. Napper of Ruston, and Hines E. Rogers of Mansfield, succeeding Henry J. Smith of Mansfield. Ed Jeolley of Shreveport was added as a new member of the council.

Monroe Couple Injured As Car Goes Into Ditch

A middle-aged Monroe couple was injured, one of them seriously, when their car went out of control on Powell Avenue Saturday morning and crashed into a ditch.

Joe Strickland, 56, and his wife, Hattie G. Strickland, 53, both of 215 Peach St., were taken to St. Francis hospital for emergency treatment by Mulhearn ambulance around 10:30 a.m. Mrs. Strickland reportedly suffered internal and head injuries and was in serious condition late Saturday. She also lost blood when a vein in her neck was punctured by a piece of metal. Strickland escaped with bruises, lacerations and abrasions.

According to investigating Monroe police, the accident occurred as Mrs. Strickland drove north on Powell Avenue. She reportedly lost control at the intersection of Ponder and Powell Avenue, and the car ran off the street on the west side of Powell Avenue and into the deep ditch alongside. No charges were made in the accident by police.

In another traffic accident, an eight-year-old girl, Avan Lavone Ortner, 321 McGuire St., sustained a deep laceration of the head when she was struck by a car as she attempted to cross DeSiard near its intersection with Bell Street around noon.

The girl was running from the north to the south side of DeSiard Street when hit by a vehicle driven east by Peggy A. Southerland, 18, of 1207 McGuire St. Miss Southerland told investigating Monroe police that she did not see the child in time to stop before hitting her. No charges were made against her.

Monroe Police Book Man For Code Violations

A Monroe businessman was booked for two violations of the city's gambling ordinances by Monroe police late Friday, and released after posting bonds totaling $1,000.

Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr. identified the man as W. H. Smith, of 2300 Louisville Ave. Smith was arrested on warrants obtained by the police department, charging him with two different counts of violation of Section 10, Paragraph 35, of the city code.

The police chief said he is charged with violation of subparagraph one which reads gambling is "the intentional conducting, or directly assisting in conducting, as a business, of any game, contest, lottery, or contrivance whereby a person risks the loss of anything of value in order to realize a profit."

The Monroe department was investigating the theft of a tape recorder belonging to Tommy Edmondson, of Madison Hall, Northeast State College. Edmondson told officers the portable recorder was taken from his car while it was parked on a parking lot at Catalpa and Harrison Streets Friday night.

Meanwhile, West Monroe officers cleared a $20 theft Saturday with the apprehension of a 12-year-old Negro boy. Early Saturday, Lola Mae Fuller, rear 801 Coleman Ave., reported that $20 was taken from a billfold in her house during the night Friday or early Saturday. Later, detectives apprehended the juvenile who admitted during questioning that he took the money. The $20 was recovered, and the boy turned over to juvenile authorities for action.

Late Saturday, Monroe police were probing two thefts that were reported by women. Dorothy Lee Thompson, 1720 Flynn St., told officers that her purse was snatched from her arm by a couple of Negroes in a car as she stood on the corner of Flynn and 19th Streets around 9:20 p.m. The purse contained $10.

Mrs. Opal Spears, 1601 Oaklawn St., reported that her purse was stolen from her car while she was at the Plum Street Washateria. The purse contained a small amount of money and two checks, valued at $80.

West Monroe officers were investigating the theft of electrical cable, taken from the U.S. Army recruiting trailer at the Ouachita Valley fairgrounds. The theft was reported by Sgt. Lester W. Thomas, U.S. Army recruiting officer.

Monroe police booked a 28-year-old Negro, Dan L. Powell, 1008 Short Layton St., at 4:15 a.m. Saturday for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving. He was taken into custody in the 1400 block of Orange Street.

Tech Plans Outlined At Homecoming

RUSTON (Special) — Pointing out that "our greatest need is an increase in our operating budget for salaries, the library, research and other items," Dr. F. Jay Taylor, president of Louisiana Tech, told alumni of the institution of current accomplishments and future plans in a state of college message Saturday.

The address was one of the series of events in connection with Tech's homecoming. The meeting also included the naming of officers and executive council members of the Tech Alumni Association.

Emphasizing the academic phases of Tech, which boasts a record breaking enrollment of over 4,000 enrolled this fall, President Taylor discussed this year's expansion of the graduate program which includes the addition of Masters' degrees in history, English, music, speech and business administration.

Discussing the improvements of the physical plant, Dr. Taylor mentioned the present extensive beautification of the campus, the remodeling of the old library building for use by the art department, a new forestry camp on Corney Lake, construction of a new baseball field and improvements in the power plant and post office.

He also referred to work under way on an eight story dormitory for women and a four-story dormitory for men, both of which will be air conditioned.

He said that architects are preparing plans for a new building for the school of business administration, which should be started before the end of this year. A move is under way for a new engineering laboratory building he added.

President Taylor cited various Tech foundations offering financial support of the college and its students and urged alumni support of these organizations.

T. C. Beasley of Ruston was re-elected president of the alumni association. William D. Tindol of Alexandria was renamed vice-president. Changes in membership of the alumni execuitve council included Mrs. E. L. Henry of Jonesboro, succeeding John Haile; H. D. Hurkhalter of Ruston, replacing L. D. Napper of Ruston, and Hines E. Rogers of Mansfield, succeeding Henry J. Smith of Mansfield. Ed Jeolley of Shreveport was added as a new member of the council.

A middle-aged Monroe couple was injured, one of them seriously, when their car went out of control on Powell Avenue Saturday morning and crashed into a ditch.

Strickland, 53, both of 215 Peach St., were taken to St. Francis hospital for emergency treatment by Mulhearn ambulance around 10:30 a.m. Mrs. Strickland reportedly suffered internal and head injuries and was in serious condition late Saturday. She also lost blood when a vein in her neck was punctured by a piece of metal. Strickland escaped with bruises, lacerations and abrasions.

The girl was running from the north to the south side of DeSiard Street when hit by a vehicle driven east by Peggy A. Southerland, 18, of 1207 McGuire St. Miss Southerland told investigating Monroe police that she did not see the child in time to stop before hitting her. No charges were made against her.

ROY R. THERIOT

Roy Theriot Is Seeking Re-Election

State Comptroller Roy R. Theriot has announced that he is seeking re-election as a democratic candidate for state comptroller.

"It has been an honor, a privilege and a pleasure to have served the people of Louisiana as state comptroller for the past four years and I sincerely hope that I have conducted my office in such a manner that I merit re-election.

I have tried at all times to be guided by the wishes of the people and have stood up for the things that the people wanted me to support or oppose. Because I fought the million dollar mansion and refused to the a'yes' man and a rubber stamp for the governor of Louisiana for the past four years, he is going all out to attempt to defeat me.

I have at all times kept the people of Louisiana correctly informed on the financial condition of our state. When the present administration tried to white-wash our poor financial condition, I let the people of the state know the true conditions. Because I have always done this, the governor and his people are going to employ all sorts of under-handed and deceitful tactics to confuse the people. The present administration has caused a number of candidates to qualify against me and has even gone as far as to cause a person by the same last name as mine to qualify for the express purpose of confusing the people. I believe the people of Louisiana realize that Roy R. Theriot has stood by them against one of the most unethical, vindictive, and vicious administrations the State of Louisiana has ever known.

Upon re-election as comptroller, I pledge to continue the administration of my office in the same efficient, prompt, friendly and economical way as I have done in the past.

If you believe that I have done a good job, I earnestly solicit your vote and support for re-election.

Second Report Meet For UGF Due Wednesday

United Givers Fund will be shooting for the 50 per cent mark at their second report meeting, set for Wednesday, October 16, at the Frances Hotel. The meeting will be a Dutch-treat luncheon at noon.

The Ad Club of Monroe and West Monroe is in charge of the program for Wednesday's meeting. Door prizes, donated by local merchants, will be given away.

Campaign volunteers have been asked to complete their calls as rapidly as possible and turn in their completed reports to UGF Headquarters, 200 South Grand, Monroe.

Veterans To Meet

The Leo Terzia Barracks Veterans of World War I will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Marine Corps hut, corner of Thomas and Wilson streets, Marion E. Dupont, commander, announced. All World War I veterans are invited to attend the meeting and join the organization.

ROY R. THERIOT

Roy Theriot Is Seeking Re-Election

State Comptroller Roy R. Theriot has announced that he is seeking re-election as a democratic candidate for state comptroller.

"It has been an honor, a privilege and a pleasure to have served the people of Louisiana as state comptroller for the past four years and I sincerely hope that I have conducted my office in such a manner that I merit re-election.

I have tried at all times to be guided by the wishes of the people and have stood up for the things that the people wanted me to support or oppose. Because I fought the million dollar mansion and refused to the a'yes' man and a rubber stamp for the governor of Louisiana for the past four years, he is going all out to attempt to defeat me.

I have at all times kept the people of Louisiana correctly informed on the financial condition of our state. When the present administration tried to white-wash our poor financial condition, I let the people of the state know the true conditions. Because I have always done this, the governor and his people are going to employ all sorts of under-handed and deceitful tactics to confuse the people. The present administration has caused a number of candidates to qualify against me and has even gone as far as to cause a person by the same last name as mine to qualify for the express purpose of confusing the people. I believe the people of Louisiana realize that Roy R. Theriot has stood by them against one of the most unethical, vindictive, and vicious administrations the State of Louisiana has ever known.

Upon re-election as comptroller, I pledge to continue the administration of my office in the same efficient, prompt, friendly and economical way as I have done in the past.

If you believe that I have done a good job, I earnestly solicit your vote and support for re-election.

Second Report Meet For UGF Due Wednesday

United Givers Fund will be shooting for the 50 per cent mark at their second report meeting, set for Wednesday, October 16, at the Frances Hotel. The meeting will be a Dutch-treat luncheon at noon.

At the frist report session last Thursday, Campaign Chairman Jack Campbell issued the challenge to the workers to be over the 50 per cent mark by Wednesday. Workers reported that the parish-wide campaign has reached $52,906, or 20.3 per cent of the overall goal of $260,573.

The Ad Club of Monroe and West Monroe is in charge of the program for Wednesday's meeting. Door prizes, donated by local merchants, will be given away.

Campaign volunteers have been asked to complete their calls as rapidly as possible and turn in their completed reports to UGF Headquarters, 200 South Grand, Monroe.

Veterans To Meet

The Leo Terzia Barracks Veterans of World War I will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Marine Corps hut, corner of Thomas and Wilson streets, Marion E. Dupont, commander, announced. All World War I veterans are invited to attend the meeting and join the organization.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Quiet Dignity Fashions Traditional Two-Story

FASHIONABLE ELEGANCE: This subdued and tasteful home has four large bedrooms, plus a spare bedroom, among its nine full rooms. The floor plan is straightforward within simple and direct framing; and the exterior shows the innate beauty of simplicity. The architect is Samuel Paul.

second floor plan

FLOOR PLANS: The downstairs contains 1,487 square feet of living area and the upstairs 1,310 square feet. The cellar, not shown, contains 1,197 square feet Garage, porch, portico and deck total 758 square feet. There are seven closets on the first floor and eight on the second, not counting bulk storage space.

MASTER SUITE: Viewed from the dressing area, the sketch shows the master bedroom with its lounging area, fireplace and outdoor deck beyond. The suite also includes a massive walk-in closet, a separate wall closet and a luxurious bathroom.

All sorts of gimmicks go into houses nowadays, apparently to supply a vaguely defined quality some builders mistakenly call "distinction." Usually they're little more than architectural cosmetics.

Good home building sense is closer to good common sense than many people suppose. That's why houses of truly refined quality and taste come from architects who appreciate the beauty of simplicity and refuse to bow to fads.

Samuel Paul is such an architect, as today's House of the Week plainly attests.

The home is a two-story of traditional styling with four large family bedrooms and a spare bedroom, three full baths, plus all the other rooms and features that go with gracious, convenient modern living. It is design J-97 in the weekly series.

The elegant exterior is entirely without any superficial frills. Instead an arched portico, shuttered diamond light windows and a tasteful blend of stone veneer and wood shingles give it a personality of quiet affluence eloquently understated.

Inside, too, its character comes through in a whisper rather than a shout. The rooms are arranged in a straightforward plan within a simple and direct framing system devoid of costly jags and bumps.

A foyer as large as some living rooms and with a sweeping grand staircase provides a pleasant and almost ceremonial sense of arrival. The living room is to the left, the dining room to the right. Other first floor rooms include a family room, kitchen and dinette, spare bedroom (or den), laundry, screened porch and oversized two car garage.

Upstairs are three large children's bedrooms and a master bedroom suite which is a lavish ensemble including a dressing area, a sitting area complete with a large stone fireplace, and an outdoor deck overlooking the rear terrace.

The first floor contains 1,487 square feet of living area, the second floor 1,310 square feet, and over-all dimensions are 74' wide by 32' deep. With the garage doors located on the side, as shown, architect Paul recommends a minimum 100' by 100' plot. Placing the garage doors on the front would be somewhat less desirable, but the plot could be reduced to 90' wide.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

The spacious living room features a massive window in front and still has plenty of wall space for imaginative decorating. Sliding glass doors with small panes, in keeping with the traditional flavor, lead to the screened porch beyond.

The porch also connects to the family room, providing a gradual integration of formal and informal areas. A large stone fireplace with a broad stone hearth adds rustic, homey charm to the family room — and also to the porch, where there's a space in the rear of the chimney wall for log storage. Another excellent family room feature is the bank of cabinets.

Any housewife will appreciate the expertly arranged housekeeping area. The U-shaped kitchen work zone will save countless steps: there are no less than three closets nearby (among seven on the first floor) for brooms, canned goods and what not; a counter separates the sunny dinnette which projects into the rear with a glass bay; the laundry, which is also a mud room, is down two steps at the dutch door service entry—and a clothes chute is handy so the laundry can be dropped, not hauled, from the upstairs bedrooms.

Two doors from the garage permit entry either under the covered portico or directly to the sevice area. The garage is oversized, and includes a 5' by 17'6" storage area for all the bicycles and garden tools.

Each bedroom upstairs is sized for twin beds and all four have walk-in closets. The master bedroom has a walk-in closet of 62 square feet including the triangular area behind the stair wall, and more than 15 lineal feet of clear hanging space. In addition, there is a 5'4" closet in the dressing area.

Both the master bath and the family bath have oversized (5'6") tubs and the family bath has a dual basin vanity.

For dignified and fashionable living it would be hard to improve on this fine home.

Actress Marries Hair Stylist In Civil Ceremony

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Actress June Allyson and hair stylist Glenn Maxwell were wed Saturday in a simple civil ceremony in the home of the county judge who issued them the license.

The bride, 39, widow of actor Dick Powell, and the groom, 31, picked up the marriage license at the courthouse. They were married an hour later at a specially prepared altar in the home of Judge Boyd Anderson.

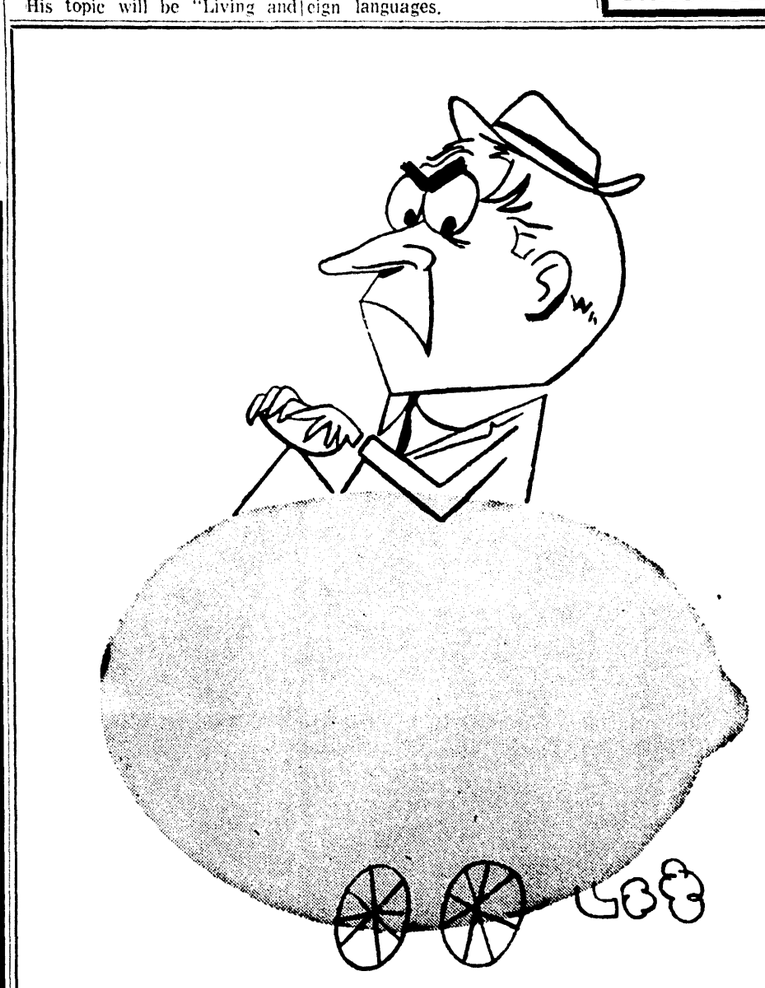

Miss Allyson, dressed in a black shantung jumper with a light turtle-neck blouse, in her familiar husky voice replied, "Yes, I do" to the judge's question.

The couple was flanked by Miss Allyson's children, Pam, 15 and Ricky, 12. They faced a group of six witnesses including actress Carolyn Jones.

When Miss Allyson arrived at the house her car was surrounded by some 200 well-wishers, mostly women. "Good luck, Junie," several of the women called.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Quiet Dignity Fashions Traditional Two-Story

FASHIONABLE ELEGANCE: This subdued and tasteful home has four large bedrooms, plus a spare bedroom, among its nine full rooms. The floor plan is straightforward within simple and direct framing; and the exterior shows the innate beauty of simplicity. The architect is Samuel Paul.

second floor plan

FLOOR PLANS: The downstairs contains 1,487 square feet of lving area and the upstairs 1,310 square feet. The cellar, not shown, contains 1,197 square feet Garage, porch, portico and deck total 758 square feet. There are seven closets on the first floor and eight on the second, not counting bulk storage space.

All sorts of gimmicks go into houses nowadays, apparently to supply a vaguely defined quality some builders mistakenly call "distinction." Usually they're little more than architectural cosmetics.

Good home building sense is closer to good common sense than many people suppose. That's why houses of truly refined quality and taste come from architects who appreciate the beauty of simplicity and refuse to bow to fads.

Dedication Will Be Held At New Light

The approaching annual homecoming observance at the New Light Baptist Church near Monroe will be somewhat different than in previous years.

Usually at such an event former members and friends of the congregation gather at their old church home and renew acquaintances and worship together in familiar surroundings.

On Sunday, October 20, this tradition will be somewhat varied at the New Light Baptist Church. Instead of the once familiar little country church plant on Prairie Road, a land-mark for many years, a completely new, modern brick building will be dedicated to service by members of the church.

The new structure is the fourth building occupied by the church in its long history. It was organized in 1912 in a little one-room school house, and met there until 1925, when the first church building was erected on the present two acre tract, donated by Mr. S. F. Spruell. Fire destroyed the building and all the records in 1928, but the church built again that same year.

That structure was used until last year, when the church again launched out in a building program, beginning with the complete rebuilding of the existing structure, and adding a new educational unit, offices, and social activities building.

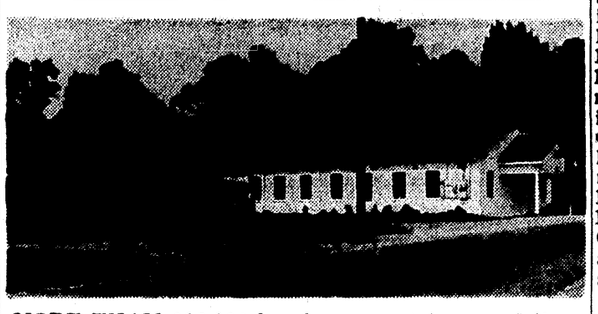

The new building, completed at a cost exceeding $35,000 is completely air conditioned, and furnished to accommodate as many as 300 people. The social activities building, or Fellowship Hall contains a fully equipped kitchen and space to serve the large crowd expected at the dedication service.

Dinner will be served by the church.

A NEWLY COMPLETED modern brick building of the New Light Baptist Church on Prairie Road near Monroe, will be dedicated today. It is the fourth building to be occupied by the church since its formation in 1912.

MORE THAN $12,000 has been spent in remodeling the Mt. Vernon Baptist Church building near West Monroe. The church was organized 137 years ago and members played a vital role in forming Monroe First Baptist Church 110 years ago. Rev. Cecil Gregory is pastor.

EXPENSIVE GARB

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Space Agency has ordered 39 space suits for the astronauts who will ride into space in the two-man Project Gemini capsule starting in 1964.

The bill totals $829,594. That's $21,271.64 for each suit.

Lack Of Funds Listed As Cause For Textbooks

Touchstone said the sixth edition of "English in Action, course 2" was still in use in the state although a new edition without the objectionable sentence was out. But the state had not bought it and still used the 1955 edition.

Barnett objected to he sentence, "I think world government is necessary and attainable." He asked the state textbook board Wednesday to eliminate the book and to investigate others which he did not name.

Touchstone, a former State Department of Education official now representing the D. C. Heath Co. of Boston here, said the sentence was written when the United Nations "was just getting off the ground and the matter was not too controversial."

He said he had discussed the matter with Barnett and pointed out the 1955 edition was written in 1952 or 1953.

Books are adopted by the state for a five - year period and, Touchstone said, the reason the old edition is in use past five years "clearly clarifies a need for more textbook funds."

He said 90 of the 115 systems use the book.

Home Officials Continue Series Of Area Talks

With Baptist associations meeting in annual session throughout the state, Wade B. East, superintendent of the Louisiana Baptist Children's Home, and Earl D. Mercer, public relations director, continue this week to speak representing the Home in widely scattered areas of Louisiana.

East will speak Tuesday afternoon to Caddo association meeting at Shreveport First Baptist Church and Thursday morning to North Caddo association meeting at Oil City Baptist Church.

Mercer will represent the Home Monday night at Winn association in Goldonna; Tuesday morning at Bienville association in Ringgold and that afternoon at Liberty association at Homer Oil Field Baptist Church; Wednesday morning at Red River association in Harmon; Thursday morning at Central Louisiana association in Lecompte, that afternoon at Vernon association at Mt. Moriah Baptist Church, and that night at Beauregard association at Occupy One Church, and Friday morning at Big Creek association at Wayside Church.

The public relations director will be pulpit guest this morning at Hebron Baptist Church at Denham Springs.

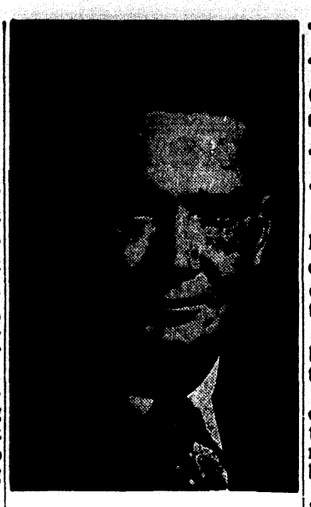

Administrators Meet This Week

BATON ROUGE (Special) — The 30th Annual October Conference for School Administrators will be held here Oct. 18-19, and more than 450 high school administrators, college personnel and school board members from throughout the state are expected to attend.

The program, dealing with "Current Problems in Education in Louisiana," will be dedicated to Dr. E. B. Robert, dean of the College of Education.

Dr. Robert is retiring from the university next year. The program will also be dedicated to Shelby M. Jackson, who will end his career as state superintendent of education.

The conference is sponsored by the LSU College of Education and the State Department of Education.

DR. MARVIN H. OSBORNE, an evangelist from Jackson, Miss., will be featured speaker at a revival opening Wednesday at the Free Methodist Church, Lincoln and McGuire streets, West Monroe. Services will be held daily at 7:30 p.m. through October 27, it was announced by the Rev. Billy Roark, pastor. Dr. Osborn has trevelled extensively in the Holy Land. He is a graduate of Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Kentucky.

EVANGELIST AND Mrs. Royce Elms of San Diego, Calif., will open a revival at the First United Pentecostal hurch, 702 Montgomery St., West Monroe, Wednesday. The meetings will continue nightly at 7:30 for a considerable length of time, according to the Rev. E. W. Caughron, pastor. In addition to preaching, there will be special music and singing.

Humane Society Seeking Homes For Pets Here

What's your type — a calice kitten or a pointer puppy? Ouachita's Humane Society has a cat, dog, puppy or kitten to fill the bill for every personality.

The homeless, helpless pets-to-be are available for adoption "at the asking".

For those who want a pet without future additions to the family, the humane society even has female cats and dogs which have been spayed.

Most of the small critters are being cared for at the Raymond residence, 1400 Roselawn, phone FA 3-1009.

"My husband has laid down the law — I've got to find homes for them," admits Mrs. Boyd, a member of the humane society's board of directors.

Over fifty animals are included on her list.

A. S. (Bud) Tidwell Jr., president of the humane society, is working with the City of Monroe toward obtaining land for a permanent shelter, where homeless animals would be housed up to three weeks for adoption purposes.

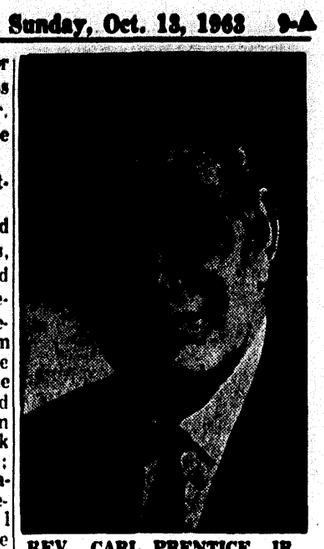

A wide-scale fund raising drive is slated to obtain money for maintenance and operation, as well as to construct the shelter. Meantime, society members are caring for the animals.

Dogs: two German Shepherd and spaniel cross-breed puppies, 3-months-old; two black and brown puppies, 10-weeks-old, female, medium size; one blond female, 12 weeks - old, medium small; three brown and white pointers, 12-week-old; one white part Weimeraner female, and seven white puppies; one medium long haired male; one large black male; one black and tan female; one small black female; one Labrador and Chesapeake Bay retriever, male; two small dogs, one white, and one white and tan, spayed.

Cats: One yellow female and two calico kittens, six-weeks-old; one gray striped female, seven-weeks-old; one white female, four-months-old; one black and white female, one gray female, and black female and one black male, each kitten two-months-old; one long-haired brown and black mother cat and three kittens five-weeks-old.

REV. CARL PRENTICE JR. of Bethany, Okla., an elder in the Church of the Nazarene, and his wife, will be evangelists for revival services at the First Church of the Nazarene, 201 Thomas Ave. Services will be held nightly at 7:30 during the period of Oct. 24-Nov. 3.

Fire destroyed the building and all the records in 1928, but the church built again that same year.

That structure was used until last year, when the church again launched out in a building program, beginning with the complete rebuilding of the existing structure, and adding a new educational unit, offices, and social activities building.

The new building, completed at a cost exceeding $35,000 is completely air conditioned, and furnished to accommodate as many as 300 people. The social activities building, or Fellowship Hall contains a fully equipped kitchen and space to serve the large crowd expected at the dedication service.

Dinner will be served by the church.

EXPENSIVE GARB

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Space Agency has ordered 39 space suits for the astronauts who will ride into space in the two-man Project Gemini capsule starting in 1964.

The bill totals $829,594. That's $21,271.64 for each suit.

A NEWLY COMPLETED modern brick building of the New Light Baptist Church on Prairie Road near Monroe, will be dedicated today. It is the fourth building to be occupied by the church since its formation in 1912.

MORE THAN $12,000 has been spent in remodeling the Mt. Vernon Baptist Church building near West Monroe. The church was organized 137 years ago and members played a vital role in forming Monroe First Baptist Church 110 years ago. Rev. Cecil Gregory is pastor.

Lack Of Funds Listed As Cause For Textbooks

Touchstone said the sixth edition of "English in Action, course 2" was still in use in the state although a new edition without the objectionable sentence was out. But the state had not bought it and still used the 1955 edition.

Barnett objected to he sentence, "I think world government is necessary and attainable." He asked the state textbook board Wednesday to eliminate the book and to investigate others which he did not name.

Touchstone, a former State Department of Education official now representing the D. C. Heath Co. of Boston here, said the sentence was written when the United Nations "was just getting off the ground and the matter was not too controversial."

He said he had discussed the matter with Barnett and pointed out the 1955 edition was written in 1952 or 1953.

Books are adopted by the state for a five - year period and, Touchstone said, the reason the old edition is in use past five years "clearly clarifies a need for more textbook funds."

He said 90 of the 115 systems use the book.

Ralph Caldwell for Representative

"We all should recognize that the ultimate potential of Louisiana has been shackled too long by oppressive and burdensome political domination, excessive taxation, extravagancies, and lack of sound government, all to the sacrifice of the best interests of our state.

"One single legislator cannot make the needed changes but a group of dedicated legislators can. The legislature needs new faces impelled by a zeal to make our state what it ought to be. I ask your support toward that end."

BOOKS

Boy Life In Old Colorado

HEADFIRST IN THE PICKLE BARREL. By John Rolfe Burroughs. Morrow. $4.

You could say that the whole point of this reminiscence is a nostalgic tribute to the days that were.

But that would be short of the mark. It really is a valuable document of American memory, a sociological record of a boyhood in one of the last centers of the pioneer spirit, out in the Rockies.

The scene is Steamboat Springs, in the northwest corner of Colorado, a small town where horses and cows were important, and human initiative had a vital part in the sometimes exuberant, sometimes sordid ambitions of the early settlers.

Burroughs was 15 months old when he arrived in this little town (pop. 300) in 1903, and he was 15 years old when the story ends.

He describes, of course, boyhood experiences that are downright universal — antagonism to school, teachers and dude clothes; fist - fights to test the mettle of newcomers and adjust old enmities; explorations of the countryside and homemade inventions in the way of games.

But there are also some experiences that few modern teenagers would comprehend — the urgent desire to earn money by milking cows, gathering mountain flowers for a resort hotel, trapping muskrats and picking strawberries. It was a time, now apparently lost, of boyish self-reliance.

Burroughs' style is awfully quaint, but appropriate to his story, full of stilted humor and embroidered with the cliches of his time. But it manages to convey the essential flavor of a small-town era that has escaped us, a world of county fairs, a homely motto on the wall, itchy underwear — and individual integrity, self-sufficiency and dignity.

Housewife Very Witty In New Book

The author is one of the better practitioners of a certain branch of the literary art which might be called The Flippant Housewife's Chatter.

The subject matter centers chiefly around the griefs and hilarities of raising six kids, while struggling not too valiantly with impossible housekeeping chores, budget dilemmas and the distractions of pets and door-to-door salesmen.

There being no plot to this type of work, it just skids by on the leaves of the calendar, becoming a sort of monologue out of the corner of the mouth, a daily journal of anecdotes —usually with a wry, self-deprecating touch, but carefully seasoned now and then with a gently poignant or wistful glimpse of an offspring's loving emotions.

Having written many short stories and one previous book, "Love and Peanut Butter," the author is preoccupied with writing and books. And ind books. And in this volume she makes considerable hay whith her unguided explorations of some of the literary classics.

Reading Dante, for example, causes her to ruminate about her own ideas of heaven and hell; and whether she is evaluating the Greek dramatists or Thoreau, she has her own peppery reactions to record.

It is a frothy book, but don't underrate it on that account. It also is witty all the way through, and that is no small accomplishment.

MAY IMPORT NURSES

Max Gordon Reminisces

MAX GORDON PRESENTS. By Max Gordon, with Lewis Funke. Bernard Geis. $4.95.

Broadway producers come and go, with scant notice paid by fans who are more interested in glamor stars, racy writers and brisk music. Once in a while, however, one happens along who manages to stamp his identity on the public consciousness. From 1930 through 1951, Max Gordon achieved just this prestige.

During that span he took part in the presentation of 45 shows, beginning with a jackpot hit, "Three's a Crowd," and continuing through such memorable items as "The Cat and the Fiddle," "Design for Living," "Roberta," "Dodsworth,""The Women," "Junior Miss" and "Born Yesterday."

There were also brief skirmishes in movies and television.

In straightaway, unembellished manner, the man born Mechel Salpeter on New York's lower East Side, now gets on record a summary of various triumphs as well as some agonizing failures.

The temptation to reminisce is mostly harmless, but also possibly tedious. Despite a larding into the narrative of some revealing personal episodes and a heavy sprinkling of anecdotes about Noel Coward, Moss Hart, George Kaufman, Jerome Kern and others, the story's appeal remains somewhat special. There's a lot to read between the lines.

Ouachita Parish Tax Collections Coming In Good

Taxes have been coming in very well so far, C. D. Meredith, chief civil deputy of the Ouachita Parish Civil and Tax Department, announced.

The main difficulty, he continued, was with residents who mail checks in without their tax notice. This involves a great deal of effort on the part of the office staff to locate the proper records to note payment.

Meredith urged all taxpayers to bring or mail their tax notice when they pay to speed processing.

More than 200 tax notices have been returned to the office, the chief deputy pointed out. Anyone who has not yet received his notice should inquire at the tax office, located on the main floor of the courthouse.

Tax collections for September were $26,580.57, Meredith reported. The amount received so far this month is $411,611.51, which includes the $32,.210.12 check for homestead exemptions.

Total taxes received to date are $438,580.57.

Essays Are Critical On 'Literature'

THE POOH PERPLEX. By Frederick C. Crews. Dutton. $2.95

His little opus pretends to be a freshman casebook for students in English Lit. It is presented in the form of a collection of critical essays — and in one case, a verbatim report of a classroom lecture — solemnly examining the "real" meaning of A. A. Milnes Pooh stores. Each of the supposed scholars is a specialist of some sort — and therein lies the spoof.

One arrogant psycho-critic finds esoteric personality symbols. A left wing scholar declares the whole affair is bourgeois fiction neatly concealing a series of proletarian fables. Another is an effete esthete, confused by it all. One eggdome discovers all sorts of Oedipus complexes, and a gefuddled German Freudian psychoanalyzes the author and hauls up a bucketful of slop, while a pious old character puts religious labels on all the characters and classifies the stories as a document in the tradition. The one who gives the lecture is a slangy, palsy-walsy, rah-rah academic type — and at the other end of the scale is a word-juggler so immersed in terminology that he forgets what he is writing about. And so on.

While this ivy-covered circus is in action, Crews manages to slip in some not-so-sly, broad digs at scholarly envy, backbiting and narcissism.

It is an amazing performance, or Crews convincingly apes a wide range of academic nuts in devastatingly exact detail. An English prof himself, the author sees his colleagues in the round, and as squares, sketching them in a brilliant bit of mimicry and nonsense.

Malcolm X Tells Students Story Of 'White Foxes'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Malcolm X, a leader in the Negro Black Muslim movement, Friday told 4,000 University of California students the parable of the "white fox of the North" and "the white wolf of the South."

The "white fox," he said, is a symbol of "the so-called white liberal who strangles Negro efforts by infiltrating our groups and posing as our friends."

At least, he said, the Negro knows where he stands with the "white wolf" of the South.

More than half the countries of the world live under a partial or complete black-out of news, through censorship. The people of these countries have lost a guiding light to freedom — the complete, true knowledge of all that is happening in the world.

These countries have lost their freedom of the press because their governments know that what Thomas Jefferson said was true: "When the press is free and every man able to read, all is safe." The leaders of these countries know that suppressing news suppresses not just the people's voice in government, but the people themselves.

In our nation, freedom of the press and public education were made an integral part of our way of life, because our Founding Fathers, also, knew that Thomas Jefferson's statement was true. And they planned our government to rest in the hands of the people.

The job of making all of the news available to every man who can read rests upon our newspapers. Day in and day out, they are able to report the news completely, as only newspapers can deliver it!

And the people of our nation want not only accurate news, but all of the news. The proof: Since 1920, during a period which introduced both radio and television, newspaper sales more than doubled — every day over 60 million copies of 1,800 daily newspapers are circulated. That's more copies than the number of families in our nation.

To keep up with this demand for news, the newspaper industry has been continually working to improve their service — by introducing the most up-to-date communications and production methods.

So, while most of the world lives in darkness, our newspapers serve as a light of freedom, making a big difference in people's lives.

Malcolm X Tells Students Story Of 'White Foxes'

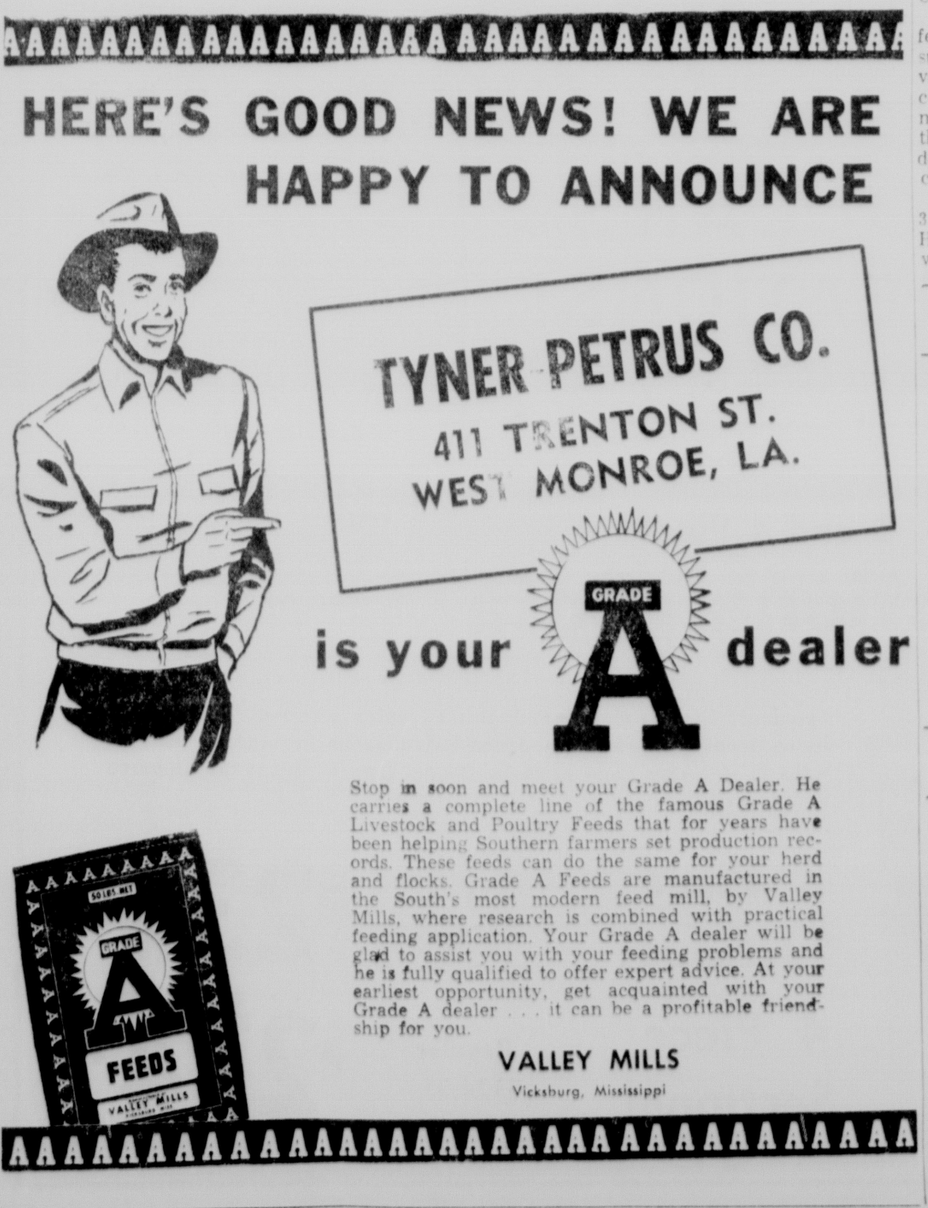

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Malcolm X, a leader in the Negro Black Muslim movement, Friday told 4,000 University of California students the parable of the "white fox of the North" and "the white wolf of the South."

The "white fox," he said, is a symbol of "the so-called white liberal who strangles Negro efforts by infiltrating our groups and posing as our friends."

At least, he said, the Negro knows where he stands with the "white wolf" of the South.

Running the Scales

Probably the low - brow musical classic of all times is the opus from the last year of the 19th century called "Frankie and Johnny." This ragtime ballad of 1899 provides a fitting piece o f exit music for a century of musical history that opened with Beethoven and ended with Brahms, Liszt and Tchaikowsky.

But these three giants of the musical world, had they seen Frankie's abode on Targee Street in St. Louis back in the 1890's, would have agreed that the song is right fitting for the operatic plot it involves:

"She loved her man, but he done her wrong . . ."

"She shot her man, cause he done her wrong."

Many of the plots of the 19th century operas were more complicated than this straightforward approach. But according to Associated Press writer Jerry Curry, the "Frankie and Johnny" ballad, picking up extra verses on the way, followed the real Frankie Baker all the way from St. Louis to Oregon. For some reason, it still catches the attention even of those who dislike music generally.

It seems Frankie filed suit in 1938, saying that the song and a movie made on the subject had damaged her character and invaded her privacy. Besides, there were glaring errors.

The song tells of Johnny's doom at the wrong end of a "forty-four" which the Baker woman allegedly fired "three times" through a hardwood door, floor or maybe it was at point blank range. The versions of the song vary.

"That song got it all wrong," the aging Negro woman declared in later years. "It was just a little old Harrington and Richardson .38, and I just shot once."

HIGH OPERA

Shifting this scene to the Puccini opera, "Tosca," booked on the Northeast State Concert Series for a matinee performance on November 10 we see the soprano in the title role stabbing the police president, Baron Scarpia, with a letter opener. In one movie version, she used a carving knife brought in with a platter of meat. Sometimes Floria Tosca just picks up any old butter knife off the table and goes to work on Scarpia. So maybe Frankie shouldn't have felt so badly about the song getting her weapon wrong. Music has its own way of changing things around.

The Dallas Civic Opera season will open this year with "The Coronation of Poppea," written in 1642 by Claudio Monteverdi. This work has never before been staged by an American opera company. The all-star cast will be headed by Patrice Munsel. Chilean actor - singer Ramon Vinay will portray Nero, and Roman dramatic soprano Caterina Mancini will play the role of the empress Octavia.

This opera will be presented twice, opening at 8 p.m. Friday, November 8, and also on Sunday, November 17, at 2 p.m. It just occurs to this juggler of facts that Nero, like Johnny of the low-brow classic mentioned above, became involved with the temptress Poppea and had her crowned the new empress of Rome. Certainly, he also was doing his wife, Octavia, "wrong," at least according to Monteverdi's opera score.

By the way, Dallas will also present "Carmen," on November 10 and 15; Verdi's "Masked Ball," on November 22 and 24, and the "Messiah" on November 30.

New Orleans boasts a packed season of six operas: "Cavalleria Rusticanna," "Tales of Hoffmann," "Aida," "La Boheme," "La Forza Del Destino," and "Romeo and Juliette."

A recent testimonial for culture in the Shreveport Times rated the fine arts as a major boosting power behind that city's business and industrial growth:

". . . As tangible evidences of Shreveport's growth etch their impressive outlines against the skyline, the fine arts, soon to be housed in a new civic theater, expand apace with business and industry and give the city its soul."

BACK HOME

After making the rounds of the larger metropolitan areas, we find that northeast Louisiana is not at all out of the picture. "Auntie Mame" will open Friday of this week at Strauss Playhouse on Monroe's Lamy Lane for Little Theatre's opening production of the 1963-64 season.

There will be a patron's preview Thursday evening. The occasion marks a milestone in Little Theatre history — it's the 150th play presented by the Monroe organization.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

New Fiction Books Are Now Available

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

Among the new books offered to the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library this week there are a number of new fiction titles. "A Fig in Winter" is the name of the new book by Willa Gibbs, which has it's setting in the Roman Empire in the second century. A. D. Readers of religious novels will enjoy the efforts of the trusted slave, Paulus to convert the Emperor, Marcus Aurelius to Christianity. "The Horn and The Forest" by Jamie Lee Cooper gives us a good picture of frontier life in the early days of our cuntry. The setting is the Indian territory and the characters are well-done and life like. Businessmen will enjoy "The Speculators" by John Gerstine This is a novel about the activities of a stock-market operator on Wall Street and presents an interesting picture of his reasoning and the people with whom he dealt. Much can be learned about big business from reading this book. "Night and Silence, Who is Here" is a light but interesting story by Pamela Hansford Johnson.

Another historical novel, this time set in the period of the early history of our own country is "The Franciscan" by Blake Forrester. This is the story of a Franciscan priest, who attempts to reconcile the Spanish and Pueblo Indian cultures and deplores the brutality on both sides. A ready-made market awaits "A Man Called Paladin" by Frank Robertson. Those who have enjoyed the T.V. programs will want to read this book. Another western is "Hallelujah Train" by Grover C. Gulick. Many readers will enjoy it. Helen McInnes is a master of the story of international intrigue. Her latest book is "The Venetian Affair". In this she paints a most realistic picture of communist penetration and the way the subversive agents operate. The scene shifts from New York to Paris and Venice. It is a book which will hold the interest of many readers.

Based on the life of Benedict Arnold, "The Saber" by Philip Vail gives a new interpretation of his life and the forces which moved him. It is a good story of the revolutionary period and one which will be widely read. "Sir William" by David Stacton is a novel based on the love story of Lady Emma Hamilton and Horatio Nelson. The author has done a very creditable job and an exciting book has emerged. "I Keturah" by Ruth Wolff is a delightful escape novel, faintly reminiscent of "Jane Eyre". It is a book which women will particularly enjoy.

For the man who likes to work with his hands, "Woodworking" by Guy Williams can be heartily recommended. It is a new book in this field and contains many excellent suggestions. "The Best Plays of 1961-62" is the annual collection begun by the late Burns Mantle. It contains much information about the theatrical season as well as condensations of the outstanding plays. Some include in this collection are: "How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying" by Frank Loesser; "Gideon" by Paddy Chayefsky; "A Man For All Seasons" by Robert Bolt; "The Night of the Iguana" by Tennessee Williams and others. A large and beautiful book, which will be most helpful to students is "The Larousse Encyclopedia of Ancient and Medieval History."

A beautiful series of books is the one dealing with the Rivers of America. The latest one in this series is "The Genesse" by Henry W. Clune. The Library is happy to add it to it's collection. Last of all we have a very fine addition to the genealogy collection "Records of Attakapas District, Louisiana, Volumne II, St. Mary Parish, 1811-1860" compiled by Mary Elizabeth Sanders. People whose ancestors lived in St. Mary Parish will certainly want to see this volume.

Camera Enthusiasts Pursue Art

Monroe, La., Oct. 13, 1963 Page 1-B

"If you're really fighting the game, you might have to print some pictures over a number of times to get them ready for an exhibit."

That observation came from Lee Estes, 4114 Blanks St., Monroe, program chairman for the North Louisiana Camera Club, and president-elect of the Gulf States Camera Club Council, which functions in seven states.

Estes was describing some of the aims and accomplishments of a small group of camera enthusiasts who work late hours in temporary darkrooms set up in kitchens and bathrooms, and meet regularly to exchange ideas on polishing their techniques.

FORMATION

The North Louisiana Camera Club, which was chartered in Monroe around November, 1956, has a devoted membership of some 20 persons, ranging from high school and college students through aircraft maintenance foreman, railroad engineer, credit supervisor, traveling salesman, truck salesman, and executive aircraft pilot to retired furniture salesman.

Most of the members are amateur photographers, a few earn their livelihood from that line of work. Some of them have been pursuing photography for as long as 30 years, and others for only about six months.

Said Estes, "We keep on trying to polish our work. Its competitive. Its just like some people have sport in shooting birds. You can never whip the game. Its a challenge and you keep on trying to improve day by day."

Jimmy King, 2109 Valencia, Monroe, president of the club, said of the art, "Its not just simply taking what the camera eye sees, but what you want it to see. It involves both composing pictures with your camera and work in the darkroom. A mediocre picture may be improved in the darkroom by various manipulations and techniques. You can improve something that otherwise might not be very interesting."

VARIED BACKGROUNDS

Estes is an aircraft maintenance foreman and King is a credit supervisor. Both follow photography as a hobby, but their work has a professional finish. Estes has had some color slides and black and white prints accepted for exhibition in salons in Newark, N. J. and in other areas around the country. He, King, and several other members won a number of top prizes in the recent News-Star—World amateur photography competition.

Other key officials in the local club are Lloyd Henderson, 700 Hilton, Monroe, vice president, and Herbert Rinehart, 222 South Riverfront, West Monroe, secretary-treasurer. Henderson is a truck and tractor sales manager, and Rinehart is a retired store departmental manager.

The North Louisiana Camera Club is a member of the Gulf States Camera Club Council, and the Photographic Society of America.

Some members spend a lot of spare time at their hobby. Said King recently when discussing the schedules followed by some of them: "I went to bed at one o'clock the other night." He had been doing darkroom work.

"It takes a lot of correspondence in seven states," he said.

STATES COVERED

The states covered by the Gulf States Camera Club Council include Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

A representative group of photographs taken by club members was exhibited at the annual Art Festival at Columbia recently. Last spring the club presented an exhibition of photography at the Monroe Little Theatre, which brought a number of favorable comments.

At the club's meetings held on the first Tuesday evening of every month in the West Monroe First National Bank Building, members look over one another's work and compare ideas. Additional assistance in correcting kinks in techniques comes from circulating their work among other camera clubs and to specialists who offer frank comments which are attached to the pictures and returned to the club members.

Also, some of the best prints and slides produced by members of other camera clubs, national organizations and sometimes international groups are exhibited here by the club to give members an opportunity to study techniques.

SLIDE EXHIBIT

Today, the club is sponsoring an international exhibit of color slides borrowed from the Louisiana State Fair exhibit. It will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the College Union Building at Northeast State College. A total of 353 slides will be on display.

During the period of November 3-17, the club will feature an exhibit of 50 prints from the 1963 Gulf States Camera Club Council annual salon.

In the meantime, camera enthusiasts will continue their pursuit of the art of recording in lights and shadows many things ranging from table top scenes to the wonders of nature.

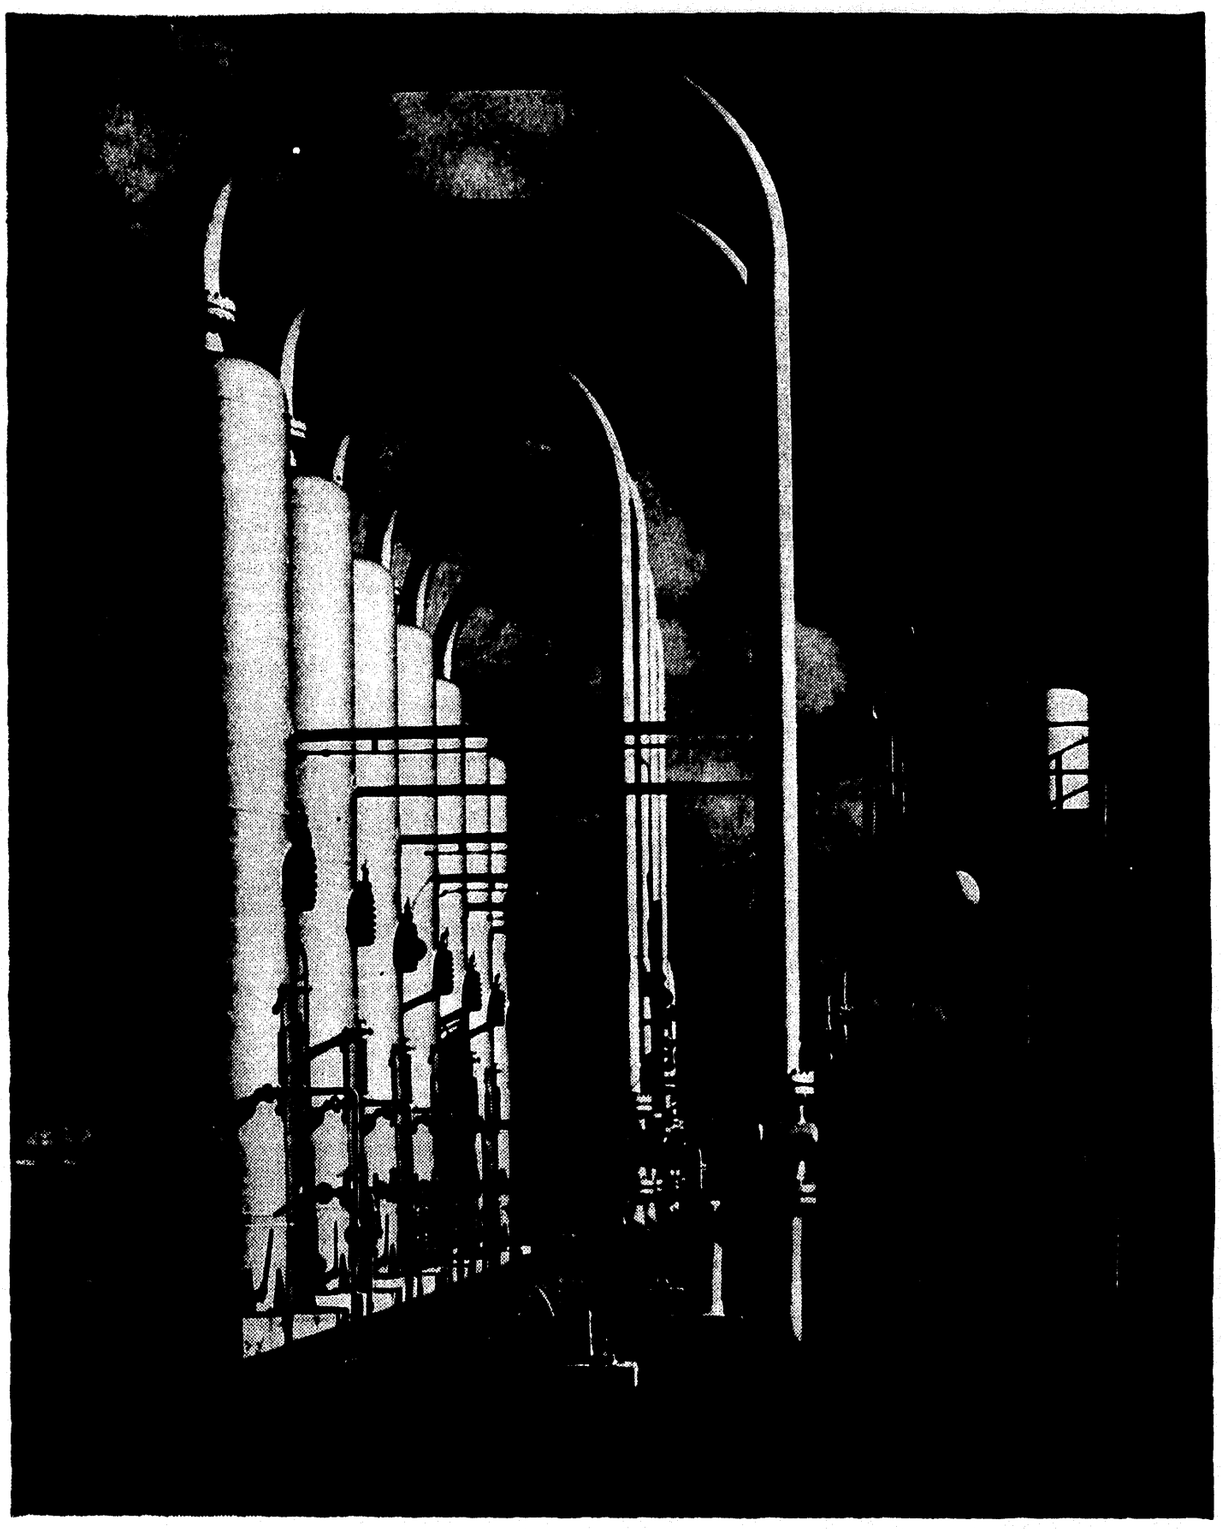

"Members take all types of photographs," said Estes. "Some work is creative, some abstract, some just beautiful. You have to cultivate an eye for pictures, and that's the hardest thing."

King sees another compensation in addition to making better pictures: "You get more out of life and see more things because you're interested."

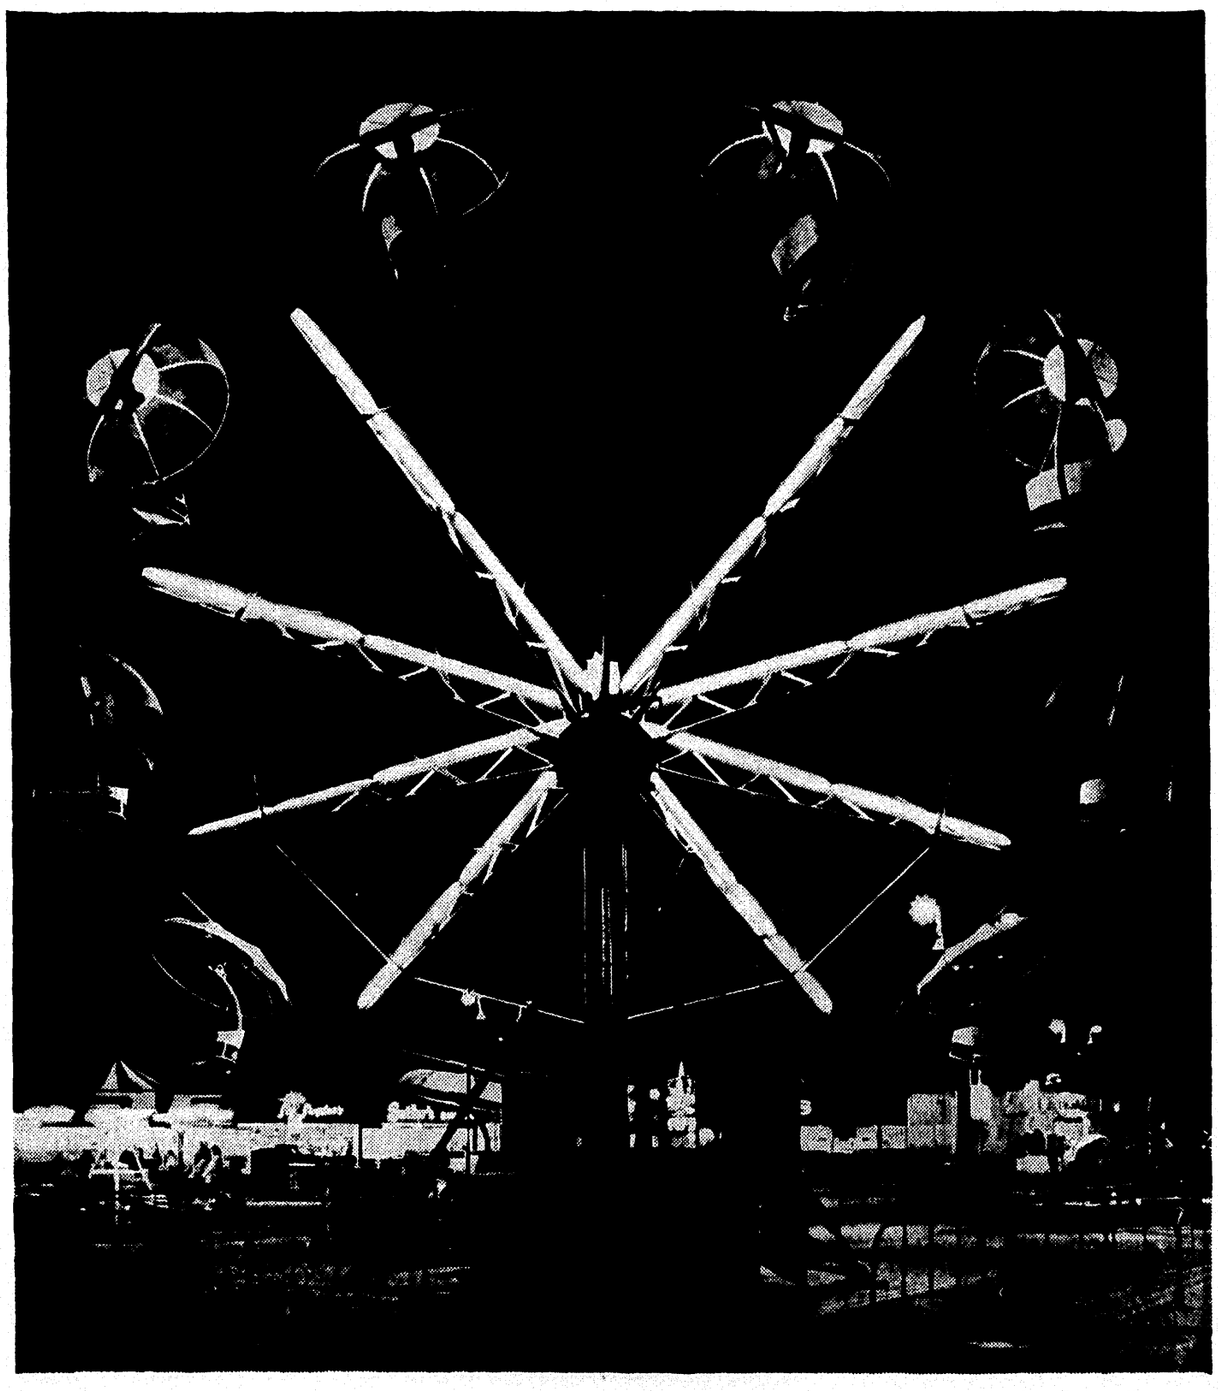

OFFERED VIEWS

He also offered some views on the problems of photography as a hobby:

"Most of our members have darkrooms in their homes. Many use bathrooms and kitchens. They shut out the traffic and pull the shades. Most of the darkrooms are of a temporary type, and very acceptable work can be done, as examples of work show."

'IDLE RIDE,' a photo study made during the appearance of a carnival here, was taken by Jack Tarver.

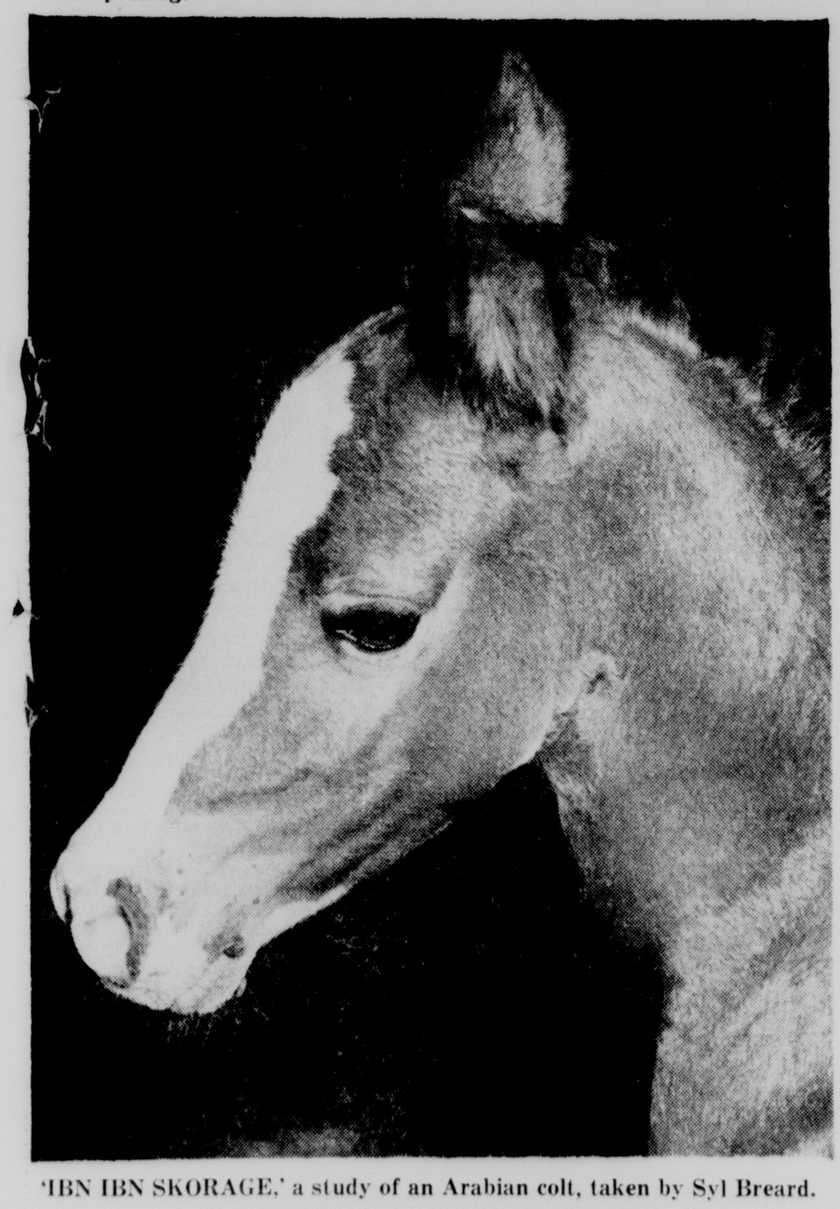

Camera Enthusiasts Pursue Art

"If you're really fighting the game, you might have to print some pictures over a number of times to get them ready for an exhibit."

That observation came from Lee Estes, 4114 Blanks St., Monroe, program chairman for the North Louisiana Camera Club, and president-elect of the Gulf States Camera Club Council, which functions in seven states.

Estes was describing some of the aims and accomplishments of a small group of camera enthusiasts who work late hours in temporary darkrooms set up in kitchens and bathrooms, and meet regularly to exchange ideas on polishing their techniques.

National Newspaper Week

Newspapers make a big difference in people's lives every day. To millions upon millions of people, the morning newspaper seems as important as breakfast. To many other millions, the afternoon paper is as interesting as dinner.

In newspapers, the news and sports articles tell what has happened in the world. The world turns and as it turns every day it writes a new page in history. That page, every day, is spread out in the newspapers of the nation, like a great panorama, waiting for all eyes to see. Before him, the reader finds out what is happening in all the nations of the world, in his own nation, his own state, his own parish and his own city. News, sports, markets, agriculture, women's interests, every phase of life and every activity are pictured and the picture remains there for the reader to see it when he has time, when he can enjoy it in leisure and in full contemplation.

Features and cartoons offer a world of entertainment. The ads, both display and classified, form a complete shoppers' guide in a nutshell.

Editorials are aimed at giving insight into the news and into the state of the nation and of every state and community. In the editorials, the writer tells things as he sees them. The news reporter must be strictly factual, mirroring things that actually happen, showing no preference for this or that but letting the chips fall where they may. The editorial writer has more liberty. He may interpret the news and the facts. He may point out what he thinks to be the wrongs of one side and the right of the other. He should uphold to the utmost the things he believes to be right. Those who read the editorials understand that they also represent opinion, which genuine news stories do not.

It is a foregone conclusion that no speaker can convice an audience of the correctness of his position if he devotes as much time to showing the merits of the opposition as he does to the cause he supports. So it is with an editor. He upholds what he thinks is right and denounces what he thinks is wrong.

This week, October 13-19, is National Newspaper Week.

What is it? Its purpose is to emphasize the big difference newspapers make in the lives of people, the vital role they play in protecting the people's three great freedoms — freedom of the press, freedom of speech and freedom of religion.

The freedoms which the press protects make an important difference in the life of every citizen. They guarantee to you the right to know what your government is doing, to voice your own opinions about current problems, believe in whatever ideals you choose, even if they do not conform to the ideology of the men in power.

Each day, on the front page of the Monroe Morning World, just under the masthead, are these words: "Without Freedom of the Press, There Is No Democracy." None can doubt the truth of those words, and we can also say that there is no democracy without freedom of speech or without freedom to worship as we choose. Yet, we know these things are under attack in the United States and the freedoms have been crushed in many countries.

There are many places in the world today — not just in Russia — where editors are throttled for "causing public unrest" or "insulting" the government. Such charges, of course, mean that the government considers itself supreme and does not want the public informed of its misdeeds.

Cuba is one of those places, and it is just a long swim from the United States coast. Because our national officials no longer cared enough about freedom of the people to enforce the Monroe doctrine against intrusion of other countries into the American sphere, Russia was allowed to enter Cuba and crush out the freedoms formerly enjoyed by the people there. This was done with apparent tacit consent of our government particularly during the time of the New Frontier administration.

Similar attacks are now being made by the New Frontier in the United States itself upon the freedom of the individual to choose his associates, to say what he chooses, and upon the freedom of the press itself by discrimination against news reporters who say what the government does not want them to say.

The big difference between the lives of the people in Cuba and those in the United States is a free press, but we must fight constantly to keep both the press and the people free in our own country.

National Newspaper Week is a nationwide celebration which pays tribute to the 1,770 daily and 9,000 weekly newspapers published in this country.

This newspaper, and every newspaper, is constantly trying to improve itself, to serve you better, every day.

Join with us in saluting National Newspaper Week. America's newspapers and the freedoms they preserve make a big difference in your life.

De Gaulle And Kennedy

Headmen of two nations — France and the United States — are what might be called perfect examples in reverse.

President Charles de Gaulle of France has taken nothing and turned it into everything.

President John Kennedy of the United States has taken everything and turned it into nothing.

France is a proud nation, head held high, ready to defend itself and its honor, bowing to no man and asking favors of none.

The United States has surrendered to Russia in Cuba and in many other parts of the world. It has made a nuclear test ban pact that leaves Russia sitting on top of the world while the United States is being told it must quiver in fear and avoid war with Russia at all costs.

At the end of World War II France was devastated and had nothing, militarily, economically or otherwise.

Then the United States was the only nation in the world that had the atomic bomb, except for a few samples it may have given to England.

How, in those years, has France risen to a proud and powerful position? How, in those same years, has the United States reached a position in which we are told we must avoid war or accept annihilation? How else except through the actions of the headmen?

In 1935 the back of the dollar bill was redesigned with the engraving of both sides of the Great Seal of the United States.

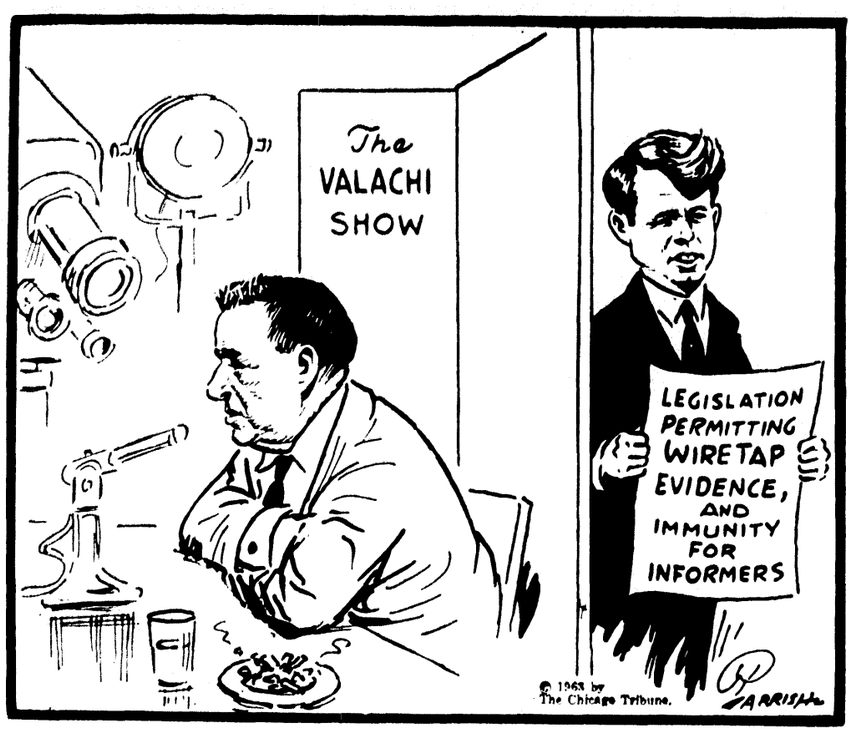

Carbon-14 dating indicates occupancy 12,000 years ago at Hermit Cave in Last Chance Canyon, Texas.

The American public received an average of $5.2 million a day from insurance companies during 1962 to help pay for hospital care, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., is the only college for the deaf in the world. It was founded in 1864 and has an enrollment of 600.

The post office at the 1964-65 New York World's Fair is expected to process an estimated 200,000 pieces of mail daily. It will offer twice a day delivery seven days a week for thousands of exhibitors.

"Now, A Word From My Sponsor"

Views Of Our Readers

Founding Fathers

To the Editor:

Our founding fathers were people and subject to making mistakes and even subject to as great despair as some of us today. Furthermore, they faced no greater dangers than do we today and in one sense they had the advantage of us, because they believed there was a chance left to them and that this new land to which they were fleeing gave them a chance for freedom and safety. Now where can we go in our present day in order to gain so much? Nowhere but to the Lord.

It has been frequently and proudly pointed out that our Founding Fathers, and Mothers, brought forth a new doctorine "The right to worship God as they pleased, be self-governing, and "That all men are created equal." I contend that they believed no such thing, not as we teach it today. In the first place they had no thought of an equality of races and it never even entered into their minds, but they did believe that any man, be he commoner or what, could be, by God's appointive Grace, a Prince, a King, a Governor etc. They refused to believe that a man born of a kingly father and mother wearing a crown had to be their ruler, regardless. They refused to believe that the Apostle Paul's oft quoted 'Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers.' For there is no power but of God; the powers that be are ordained of God. Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation." Rom. 13:1,2. They believed that most of the rulers were directly under the power of the Devil and that the time of the Beast and Anti-Christ had come. But history is clear that before they had become well established on this side there was religious persecution among them.

If they believed all men were created equal then how did they justify their right to the claim that the American Indian was no more than a beast and had no right to future claims to this great land. It is a fact that only a few believed the Indian really could be saved or had a soul so to speak. It is a fact that they did not and even today most of us have not accepted the Indian as our equal, yet the benefits and helps received from the Indians was a great part of the cause of those early successes. They did not believe in a union of church and State. But most of them did not believe the Bible taught Salvation by Grace and they hated and persecuted the few Baptists among them? Why! Our first president, George Washington, stated plainly that he did not believe that a process of public election would succeed and asked that the first joint government get a contract, possibly with Britain to furnish a line of rulers. When the Civil War was on, Mr. Lincoln was not a christian, but believed in the power of man and factions, in private, denied that all men are equal. Thus it goes.

Answers Editorial

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

I was disturbed by the editorial that you wrote entitled "Church and State" in the September 27, 1963 Monroe Morning World. I was also disturbed that no one in the community replied to this statement. So I feel that I must answer your statement.

It is unfortunate that the press criticizes the National Council of Churches, an organization which it evidently does not understand. It is more unfortunate that the press does not present the National Council of Churches' point of view so that citizens may fairly formean opinion. The motto on Page 1, "Without Freedom of the Press there is No Democracy" also places a responsibility on the press to report objectively and fairly.

It is impossible to speak to every charge and implication in the editorial "Church and State." So I shall speak to the basic issues.

First it is obvious that the nature and purpose of the National Council of Churches is not understood. It was stated that the National Council of Churches is an active, ambitious political organization. Its purpose should be "restricted to missionary and other related charitable work." This is not correct. The National Council of Churches is an agency through which Protestant and Orthodox churches in the United States can express their common faith in Jesus Christ. It is a meeting ground for these Christian churches. It has been delegated by its member churches tasks which member churches cannot effectively do by themselves. These tasks are many but they do not interfere with or replace activities of member churches. A list of these tasks is very easy to obtain. The National Council of Churches was formed by the member churches. These churches include all but two of the major historical Protestant and Orthodox church bodies. Its policies are established by denominational representatives, who sit in the General Assembly and the General Board, the two governing bodies of the Council.

The Council is not a political organization and has no political affiliation. What it does do is to provide an agency for Christians to disuss concern for problems of our national life and it issues pronouncements which are approved by the General Board or General Assembly. Its officials may hold opinions and actions which extend beyond these pronouncements but these do not necessarily reflect on the policy of the National Council of Churches.

The Council was established on the premise that all Christians can speak co-operatively to personal and national problems. The Christian Faith is concerned with all of a man's activities. We cannot place God off in a corner and instruct Him to stick to "missionary and other related charitable work." God is always uncomfortably concerned with all of our activities and His churches can do nothing less. So the Church must speak to the vital issues of our lives. This is what the member churches of the National Council of Churches seek to do in a co-operative way.

One insinuation must be corrected in the editorial. The National Council of Churches is not influenced by or "infiltrated" by Communism. The General Board, meeting in Seattle, June 4, 1959, reaffirmed "the consistent position of the National Council of Churches expressed in many official actions opposing the evils, the violence, and the violation of human rights by communist and other tyrannies." It is a council of Christian churches and thus is unalterably in conflict with the atheism which lies at the heart of today's Communism.

That you may disagree with some of the actions of the National Council of Churches does not mean that the whole council should be thrown out. The National Council has more than 50 divisions, Commissions, and departments which are concerned with everything from Bible research to Church Building. I hope that in the future you will be more fair with the National Council of Churches so that the readers of this paper may form their opinions by a fair presentation of the issues.

Free Electors Vain

Mer Rouge, La.

To the Editor:

In a way, free electors would be an ideal way of keeping Kennedy out of the White House for the next four years. But the free electors system reacts only theoretically. Unfortunately, for the South, few political theoretical eggs ever hatch into chicks of reality. The South can't eat that kind of eggs and expect to fatten.

Mr. George W. Shannon, with his "The South's Way Out," would, by employing free electors, throw the election of the next President in the lap of the House of Representatives. We have nine Representatives in the House from Louisiana. Taking Mr. Otto Passman as an exception the other eight, if their past record of voting in the House for Kennedy measures is taken as a criterion for the future, they are to be trusted no farther than Jonah could have thrown the whale that had swallowed him. And do not get the idea under your scalp that the rest of the South's Representatives in Congress have altogether snow white skirts.

The resentment of the South will have no more effect on the Election than a snow flake will effect the temperature on the equator if we depend on voting the old Democratic way. It is the resentment of the reluctant North combined with the South that will give the South ease from the spleen of the Kennedys, the Supreme Court, the Army and forty other termites.

If free electors will bring the South any nearer to their ideal of things that should be, why has it not been put in high gear many times since 1860?

Mr. Shannon puts enough ifs in his "THE SOUTH'S WAY OUT" to create a state of Utopia, but, not in the history of civilization has any one ever been elected by ifs. Ifs do not count at the Polls. God save the country from Kennedy, free electors, Rockefeller and our own men in Congress.

We are battling socialism, parasitism, incompetence and all the wire-haired isms that flow out of Europe, Asia and Africa so freely.

Vote for Goldwater and get half a loaf or you will get Kennedy and no bread.

Pet Dog Poisoned

West Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

There was a death in our family last week — a violent death. He died in my arms in a rigid convulsion. There was nothing I could do to save him. Less than half an hour before he had seemed perfectly healthy, full of life and vitality. Then suddenly the death agony struck, and minutes later the spark of life was gone. He was a victim of strychnine poisoning.

"Your child?" — you may be asking with bated breath. No, but it might have been. He was Reb, our pet dog. "Oh," you sign with relief, "only a dog." Yes, perhaps we callous adults might consider him only a dog, but to my grief-stricken children he was much more than a dog. How does one describe the interplay of joy, love and devotion which springs up between children and pets? Suffice it to say that this particular dog had so endeared himself to our family during his brief five years of life that the void created by his senseless death can never be completely filled by another.

Was he poisoned with malicious intent, or by the careless use of strychnine as a rat poison? We may never know. In either case, there is an ominous danger threatening our community. The poisoner who uses food as a bait is a potential killer of children, as well as of animals. Very young children have a fondness for tasting many substances. If food is used as a bait for a poison, the chances that a child might sample it are increased.

Let the public beware! Is there a poisoner in your neighborhood? If so, your family's pet may be the first to succumb. Or could it be possible that your own unsuspecting child might be the poisoner's next tragic victim?

MRS. JACK NOBLE

Solid Foundation

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

As you start to build a house, the most important thing to remember is to have a solid foundation, so it will be safe to live in. Life should be built on a solid foundation, spiritually, not materially, as you build a house.

God is the spiritual architect of life. He gives us plans to live by on this Foundation of Life. This foundation is not put together by nails, lumber, brick, etc., but by doing good deeds, being kind, truthfulness, respect to others, obeying God's commandments and love, as well as charity and good will.

This foundation will hold fast if we take time to give ourselves to others each day the above acts and then and only then will we be powered with joy coming from our hearts.

A foundation formed through God's mighty power is a true example for all of us to live by and to practice it each day.

We love the material foundation built by man — a beautiful home where your family can be together. That is fine, but do we take time to bring up the spiritual foundation by God, as your architect in your everyday living.

Lastly, God must be considered more as you go on and live in this house, with a spiritual foundation to enrich us to a better place to go, after we have finished our work here on earth.

Integration Anger Hits New England

MANCHESTER, New Hampshire — New England, which sired the abolitionist movement and gave it some of its most fiery spokesmen, seems to have undergone a change of heart. This would be minor Intelligence but for one reason. It affects the outcome of the 1964 Presidential election and the chances of President Kennedy. It is starting to hear labor leaders, businessmen, and civic leaders talk of the Administration's civil rights program and its stance on the Negro issue in terms which would make some Southerners blush.

What has happened, simply, is that many people here who took it for granted that civil rights legislation and the "Negro question" were a Southern problem have been made to feel that the Federal government is now jumping down their own throats. A labor leader became almost apoplectic as he discussed what he considered the Federal government's attempts to tell him how to run his union.

"We don't discriminate," he said, "but no one is going to tell us that we have to give Negroes preference when they are not qualified. We had a number of Negroes in our union, but if this keeps up, you can bet there won't be a one pretty soon. I've known some absolute down-the-line Kennedy men who have swung the other way completely because of this civil rights nonesense. It's a terrible thing that an election should swing on something like this, but that's what's happening."

This same outrage is expressed by some who have no real cause to feel concern — and no real contact with the Negro issue. What was once academic for them suddenly looms very big and real. However their motives may be judged — and leaving out the rights and wrongs of the matter — they suddenly see their world threatened. The specter of a Federal government, armed with the new legislation now pending in Congress, moving in on all their activities shocks them.

IT SHOULD BE noted here that the anger and bitterness are not aimed at the Negro but at the Administration — and Mr. Kennedy in particular. Manchester is a Democratic city in a usually Republican state. It is an industrial city as well. The union member feels that his livelihood is being put in jeopardy by the White House as strongly as do the more prosperous citizens. There is considerable comment here on the recent local Boston election in which opponents of an "integrationist" school program were handily re-elected, despite the zealous campaign of Negro organizations. ("In the President's home town," is the ironic comment.)

The sentiments on civil rights here corroborate recent polls which show that whereas the preponderance of Americans feel that the Negro has not gotten a fair shake, the same group is equally convinced that the Federal government is moving irresponsibly and too rapidly to right the wrong. Justice is one thing, but the consensus here is that the President believes in giving preferential status to Negroes. Sons and grandsons of immigrants remark that there was strong prejudice against those of their race and nationality but "no one went crying to the government for help."

IT IS POSSIBLE that this rising anti-Administration feeling will become, as one newspaperman here said, the "gut issue" of 1964. If this is so, it casts a new light on the chances of Senator Barry Goldwater in the New Hampshire primary of March, 1964. Mr. Goldwater is not a segregationist, nor would any of the people I spoke to want him to become one. But he takes a position that these matters should be left up to the states. And to New Englanders, this makes sense. The problems to be faced are entirely different for New Hampshire and, let us say, Georgia. A single uniform and punitive law cannot do the job.

Between the position of President Kennedy and that of New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller there is little difference. Other things being equal, Senator Goldwater will benefit if the present temper of the voters prevails. It would not surprise me, in fact, if a good many of the old AFL unionists quietly cast their votes (in the privacy of the polls) for Barry Goldwater simply on the civil rights issue.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U.S. Senator From Arizona

THE CAMPAIGN TO downgrade Congress, which began shortly after the present administration came to office and slowed temporarily last year because of adverse public reaction, again is building up a head of steam.

Leading the current march toward centralization of all power under the President are those prophets of press, radio and television who traditionally preach New Frontier gospel and have spent many years presuming to advise the nation on all things political.

One such pundit recently went so far as to express the suspicion that Congress may be "a grave danger to the Republic." Others have expressed similar, but not-so-extreme fears apparently based upon the liberal assumption that Congressional refusal to jump through the legislative hoop at every snap of President Kennedy's fingers constitutes national catastrophe.

To abide by this theory, of course, one must accept unflinchingly and support to the end every one of the President's legislative whims and fancies.

Mr. Kennedy's views on all subjects mentioned legislatively since he hit the campaign trail in 1960, however, have been somewhat unstable. Thus, the blind following recommended by the liberals could lead Congress into trouble far more quickly than the campaign to downgrade it, no matter how successfully implemented.

CONSTITUENTS, even the most gullible of them, are not prone to give their unflagging support at the polls to office holders who change their minds at the least excuse. That the obedient members of the House and Senate would be required to do just this can be attested by the most cursory examination of Mr. Kennedy's speeches, statements and actions. The enormity of his contradictions is surpassed only by the minuteness of the danger posed in the current campaign against Congress.

Overlooked completely by the pro-New Frontier commentators and columnists is the number of powers the two-to-one Democratic Senate and three-to-two Democratic House already have sacrificed to their leader. Certainly, no one can say that Mr. Kennedy has been shy or reluctant in requesting new authority. Nor can it be stated with even the slightest degree of accuracy that his "persuasion" of Congressional Democrats has not obtained for him much of what he sought.

IN SHORT, MR. Kennedy, perhaps more than any President in our history, has maneuvered House and Senate Democrats as though they were the actors of a Punch and Judy show. If it is true that Congressional pupptes have not danced to the satisfaction and pleasure of their critics, and are indeed "a danger to the Republic," it can only be because the man at the other end of the strings does not want them to. Thus, the correction of the imagined evils rests not so much in rewriting our Constitution to do away with governmental checks and balances as in more properly weighting the scales to restore balance.

President Kennedy, no matter what his other shortcomings, is a shrewd and calculating politician. If, as I have predicted, Congress fails to enact both civil rights and tax-cut legislation this year, it will not be the fault of Congress on its procedures, but the fault of the White House. Through the transparency of almost every New Frontier executive action, from the timely get-tough order for removal of Soviet missiles in Cuba just before the 1960 elections to the recent "non-political" tour by Mr. Kennedy, can be seen the faint outlines of self-perpetuation in office.

Most major national polls and the preponderance of constituency mail have revealed that the White House handling of both the tax legislation and the Civil rights issue have seriously pockmarked Mr. Kennedy's public image.

Today is Sunday, Oct. 13, the 286th day of 1963 with 79 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Jupiter.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1792, George Washington laid the cornerstone of the president's house — the first public building to be built in Washington.

In 1937, Nazi Germany promised Great Britain and France that she would not violate Belgian neutrality in case of a European war.

A thought for the day — The Spanish author, Cervantes, said: "Can we ever have too much of a good thing?"

Camera Enthusiasts Pursue Art

Monroe Morning World
SUNDAY FEATURES
Editorial — Spotlight — Sports
Monroe, La., Oct. 13, 1963 Page 1-B

"If you're really fighting the game, you might have to print some pictures over a number of times to get them ready for an exhibit."

That observation came from Lee Estes, 4114 Blanks St., Monroe, program chairman for the North Louisiana Camera Club, and president-elect of the Gulf States Camera Club Council, which functions in seven states.

Estes was describing some of the aims and accomplishments of a small group of camera enthusiasts who work late hours in temporary darkrooms set up in kitchens and bathrooms, and meet regularly to exchange ideas on polishing their techniques.

FORMATION

The North Louisiana Camera Club, which was chartered in Monroe around November, 1956, has a devoted membership of some 20 persons, ranging from high school and college students through aircraft maintenance foreman, railroad engineer, credit supervisor, traveling salesman, truck salesman, and executive aircraft pilot to retired furniture salesman.

Most of the members are amateur photographers, a few earn their livelihood from that line of work. Some of them have been pursuing photography for as long as 30 years, and others for only about six months.

Said Estes, "We keep on trying to polish our work. Its competitive. Its just like some people have sport in shooting birds. You can never whip the game. Its a challenge and you keep on trying to improve day by day."

Jimmy King, 2109 Valencia, Monroe, president of the club, said of the art, "Its not just simply taking what the camera eye sees, but what you want it to see. It involves both composing pictures with your camera and work in the darkroom. A mediocre picture may be improved in the darkroom by various manipulations and techniques. You can improve something that otherwise might not be very interesting."

VARIED BACKGROUNDS

Estes is an aircraft maintenance foreman and King is a credit supervisor. Both follow photography as a hobby, but their work has a professional finish. Estes has had some color slides and black and white prints accepted for exhibition in salons in Newark, N. J. and in other areas around the country. He, King, and several other members won a number of top prizes in the recent News-Star—World amateur photography competition.

Other key officials in the local club are Lloyd Henderson, 700 Hilton, Monroe, vice president, and Herbert Rinehart, 222 South Riverfront, West Monroe, secretary-treasurer. Henderson is a truck and tractor sales manager, and Rinehart is a retired store departmental manager.

The North Louisiana Camera Club is a member of the Gulf States Camera Club Council, and the Photographic Society of America.

Some members spend a lot of spare time at their hobby. Said King recently when discussing the schedules followed by some of them: "I went to bed at one o'clock the other night." He had been doing darkroom work.

"It takes a lot of correspondence in seven states," he said.

STATES COVERED

The states covered by the Gulf States Camera Club Council include Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

A representative group of photographs taken by club members was exhibited at the annual Art Festival at Columbia recently. Last spring the club presented an exhibition of photography at the Monroe Little Theatre, which brought a number of favorable comments.

At the club's meetings held on the first Tuesday evening of every month in the West Monroe First National Bank Building, members look over one another's work and compare ideas. Additional assistance in correcting kinks in techniques comes from circulating their work among other camera clubs and to specialists who offer frank comments which are attached to the pictures and returned to the club members.

Also, some of the best prints and slides produced by members of other camera clubs, national organizations and sometimes international groups are exhibited here by the club to give members an opportunity to study techniques.

SLIDE EXHIBIT

Today, the club is sponsoring an international exhibit of color slides borrowed from the Louisiana State Fair exhibit. It will be open to the public from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. in the College Union Building at Northeast State College. A total of 353 slides will be on display.

During the period of November 3-17, the club will feature an exhibit of 50 prints from the 1963 Gulf States Camera Club Council annual salon.

In the meantime, camera enthusiasts will continue their pursuit of the art of recording in lights and shadows many things ranging from table top scenes to the wonders of nature.

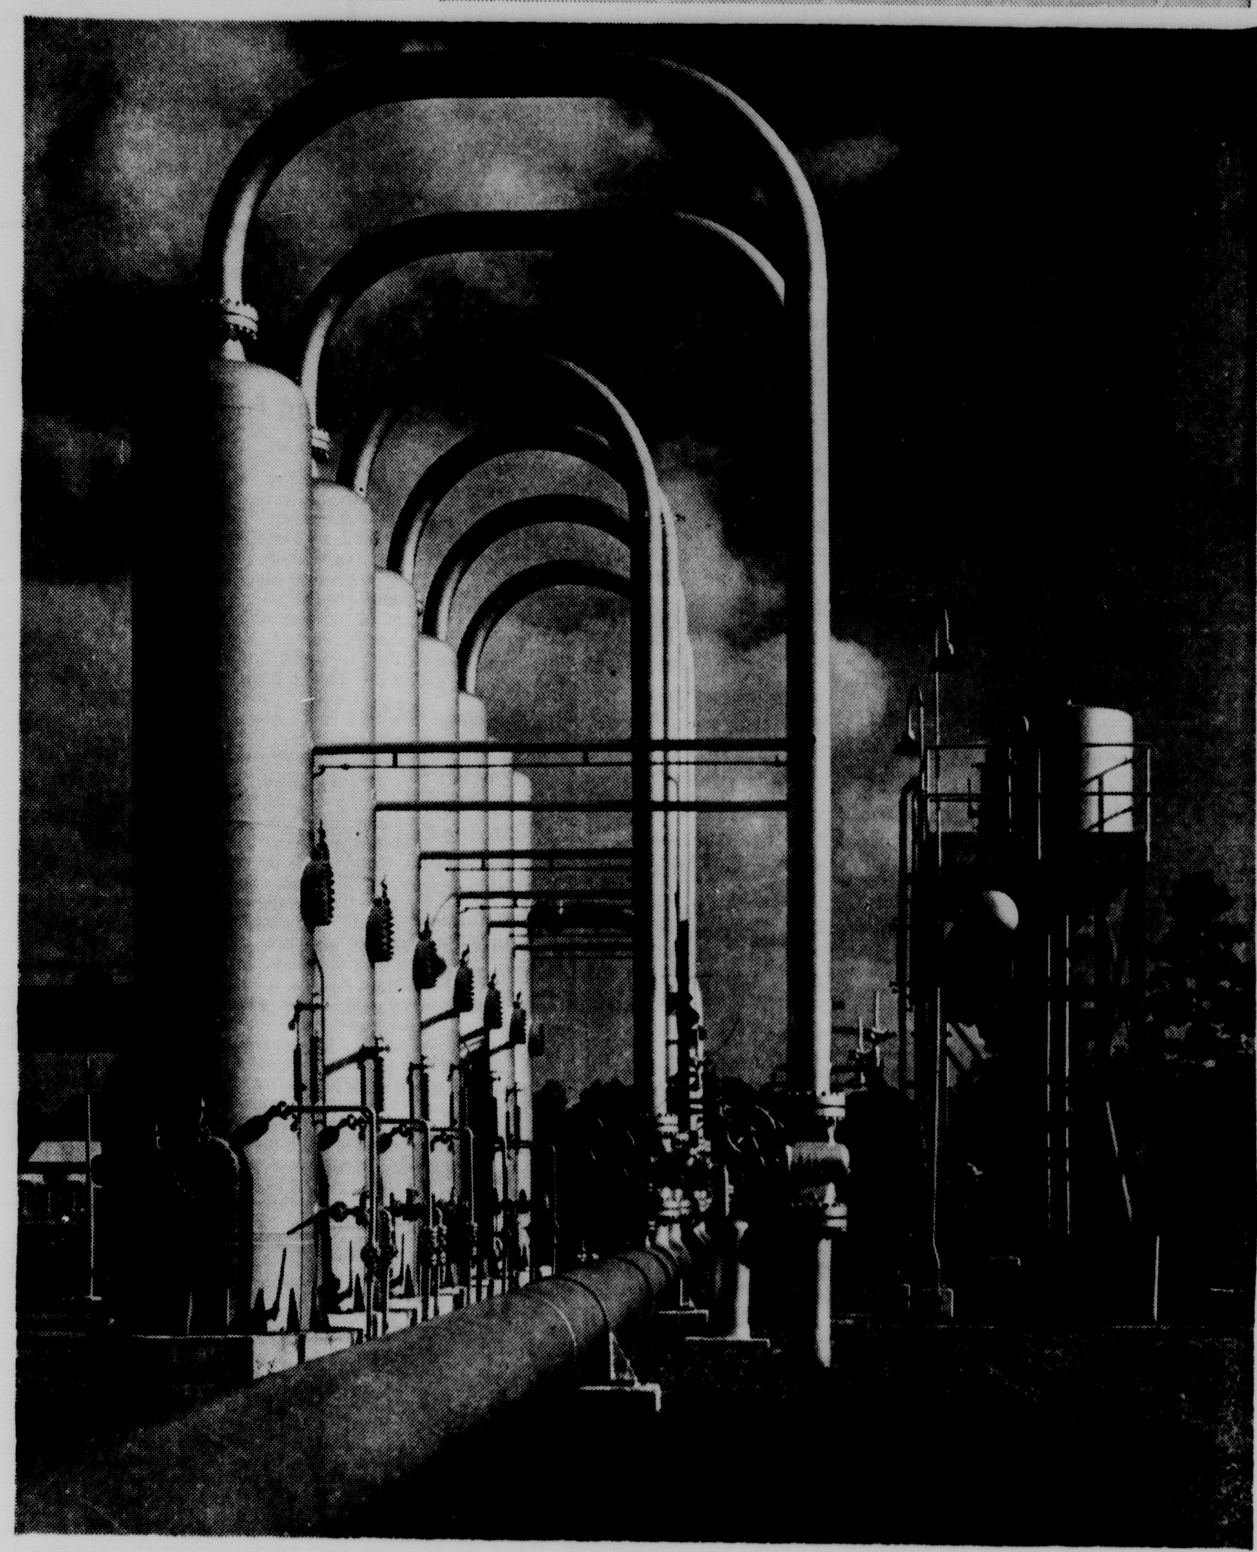

"Members take all types of photographs," said Estes. "Some work is creative, some abstract, some just beautiful. You have to cultivate an eye for pictures, and that's the hardest thing."

King sees another compensation in addition to making better pictures: "You get more out of life and see more things because you're interested."

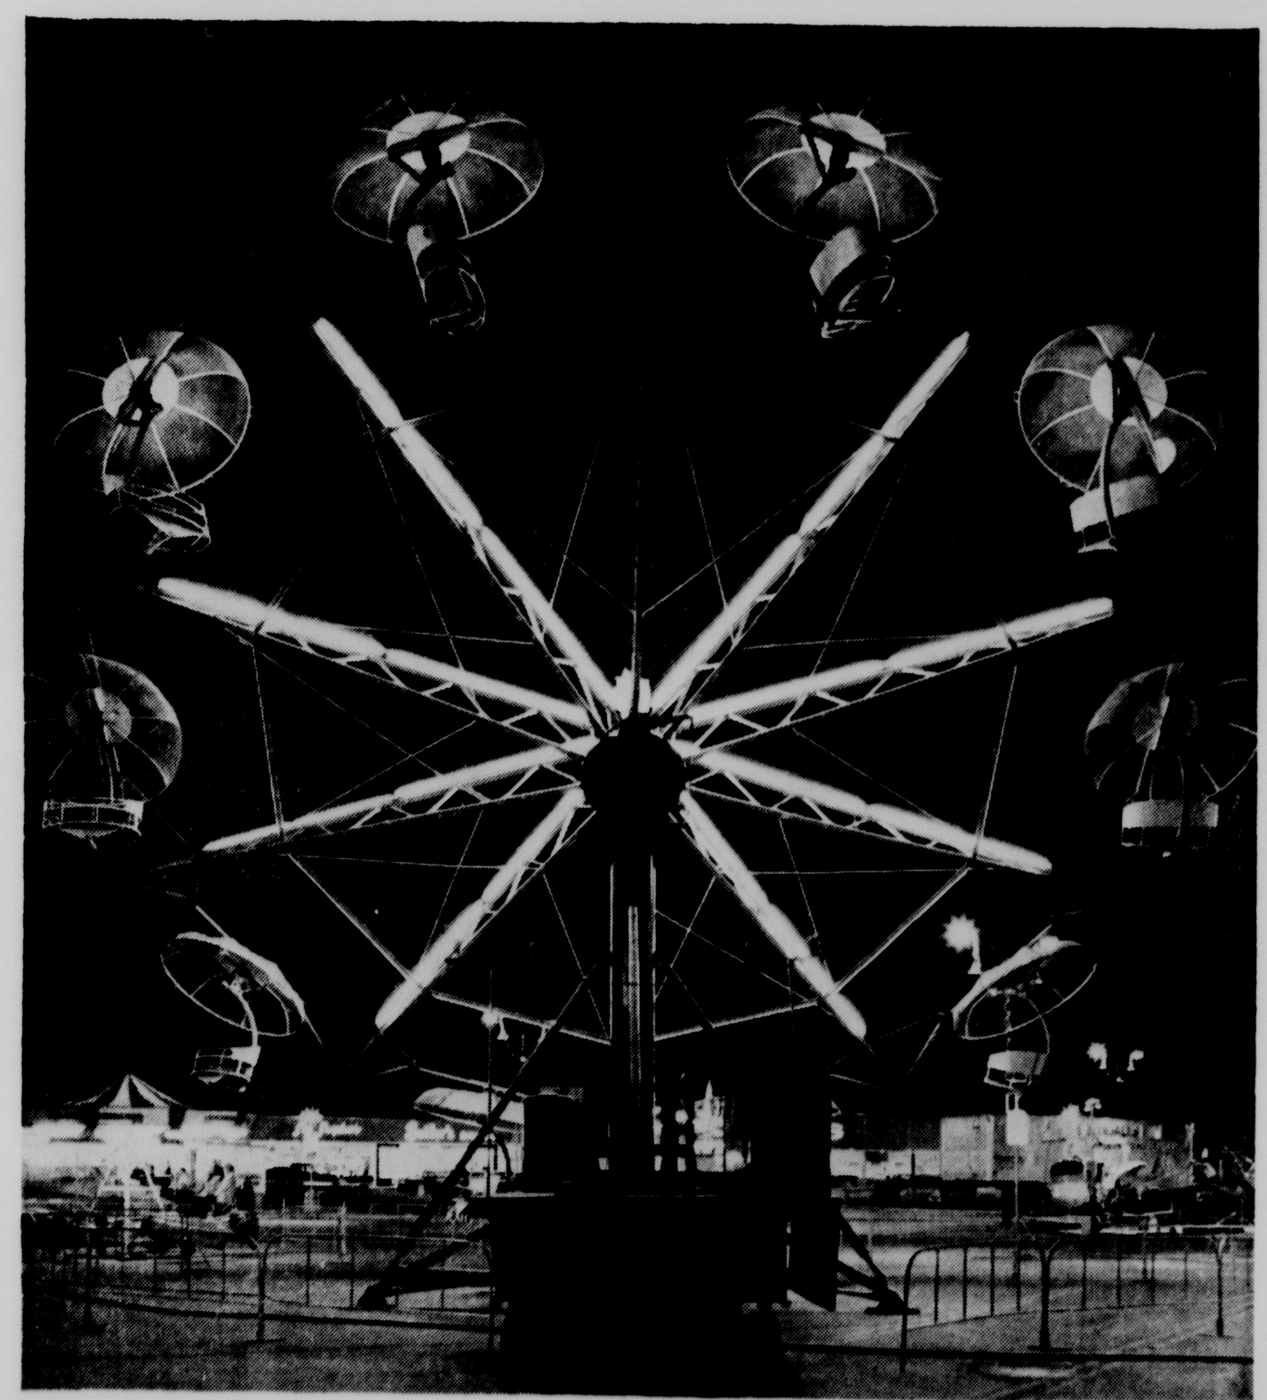

OFFERED VIEWS

He also offered some views on the problems of photography as a hobby:

"Most of our members have darkrooms in their homes. Many use bathrooms and kitchens. They shut out the traffic and pull the shades. Most of the darkrooms are of a temporary type, and very acceptable work can be done, as examples of work show."

'IDLE RIDE,' a photo study made during the appearance of a carnival here, was taken by Jack Tarver.

The Week In Focus

by Jack Gaines

THE U. S. WHEAT DEAL

President Kennedy made official the past week what had been expected for several days — the U. S. will permit private businessmen to sell some $250-million worth of surplus wheat to the Soviet Union and her European satellites.

In announcing the plan, the President said he knew there "will be some who will disagree with this decision" but said it is "very much in the interest of the United States."

Reaction throughout the nation was mixed. Some wheat farmers in the Midwest were for the sale; others opposed it. Republicans generally in Congress opposed the plan and one, Rep. Stephen B. Derounian of New York said the trade "simply means that the American housewife will subsidize the Moscow housewife."

The sale will take nearly 200 million bushels out of American storage bins and cut the surplus supply by more than one-fifth. The surplus now is about 900 million bushels. Later, additional wheat may be sold to Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia. The Soviets will pay for the wheat in U. S. dollars or gold. But at that they will get the wheat at bargain prices — and only time will tell if the move is actually in the best interest of the U. S.

KHRUSHCHEV

There can be no doubt but what the Soviet Union is in trouble because of crop failures. In fact the economic failure is much worse than Western experts at first envisioned. Reports now indicate that the wheat yield in the vast "new lands" planting dropped to as low as three to four bushels per acre, compared with about 11 normally and about 25 or more in the U. S. In fact, Premier Khrushchev has admitted a lot about bad crops, which is unusual in itself, particularly when he tells the Russian people.

What has really made the U. S. economists perk up their ears was the fact that Khrushchev was willing to sell more than a half a billion dollars worth of gold on the London market in order to raise dollars for wheat purchase. The size of the Soviet gold reserve is not public knowledge, but intelligence experts say it is no bigger than $3 billion and may even be somewhat less. For the administrators of a planned economy to use up 15 to 20 per cent of their gold to buy not capital goods, but a perishable commodity, is a big admission of failure.

In view of the major problem involved, many wonder which nation — the U. S. or Russia — will receive the most benefit from the sale — and just what is actually behind it from our side of the fence.

BEHIND THE VALACHI SONGFEST

Mobster-informer Joseph Valachi completed his testimony before the Senate Investigations subcommittee the past week on the murderous Cosa Nostra crime syndicate of which he was a member.

Valachi, 60, who is under a life sentence for murder, capped his testimony with a witness stand confession that he engineered the 1952 murder of a New York mobster, Eugene Gianinni, who had been spotted as an informer for the federal narcotics bureau. He said he had volunteered to handle the killing, and that it had the sanction of New York mobster Vito Genovese, whom he called Cosa Nostra's dominant figure.

No doubt Valachi's testimony is important, although most of it probably was already known to law enforcement agencies, it came at an opportune time for Attorney General Robert Kennedy who obviously expects big dividends from the sensational headlines. Opponents claim Kennedy's Justice Department pushed Valachi into the spotlight for the specific purpose of creating an atmosphere favorable to passage of two of the attorney general's pet congressional requests — wiretapping and immunity legislation.

R. KENNEDY

Until the Valachi hearings, both proposals faced strong opposition on the grounds they gave the justice department too much power.

Opponents point out the measures are dangerous, and will, in effect, create a weapon that could be used as a political blackjack. Some even have described it as bordering on Gestapo methods.

U. S. BUSINESS IS HIT

Foreign investment in the U. S. is now $7.6 billion—more than twice what it was 10 years ago—and the move in is speeding up. The reason — the tough U. S. anti-trust laws.

It works like this: a large chunk of the $7.6 billion represents purchase by foreign companies of U. S. firms in the same field who are having difficulties. At the same time, American firms who would like to make similar maneuvers are stopped by anti-trust laws, since they may face expensive drawn-out litigation to prove that the take over is lawful.

The Commerce Department cites as a case in point the purchase of Underwood typewriter by Olivetti of Italy. An attempt by Remington to buy Underwood might well have been attacked by federal trust-busters.

INTERESTING NOTES BRIEFLY

Senator John J. Williams of Delaware has blasted the Kennedy Administration for what he terms "false claims" that it has reduced government expenditures and the federal payroll. Williams, ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, says the administration has added 152,000 government employes in its first 30 months, an addition of 5,000 each month or 250 each working day . . .

A NEW TWIST has been added to the possible link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer. Reports say now it might lie, not in the tobacco's tar, but in its radioactivity. Though tobacco has long been known to contain radioactive substances, they were not considered important, because, compared to the radioactivity inhaled from the air, the tobacco's content was thought to be small. Now two British scientists, Sir Ernest Marsden and Michael Collins, report that most radioactivity inhaled from air is exhaled before it can do any damage. On the other hand, they say, the radioactive-contents of tobacco produce relatively large radiation doses before being breathed out. They report there is a correlation over the last decade between lung cancer statistics and the increasing use of tobaccos with high radioactivity . . .

EISENHOWER

FORMER President Dwight D. Eisenhower wants it known that while he's not putting his chips on the table yet, he's not part of a stop-Goldwater movement. To make as much known publicly, Ike sent an emissary to Goldwater to suggest that if Goldwater would make some friendly gesture toward him, Ike would return a gesture in kind . . .

DURING HIS visit to Brazil, Yugoslavian President Tito shocked and angered officials by his preoccupation with security measures. In the first place, Tito brought 2,000 bodyguards along on the visit. The last straw was when he was invited to the historic city of Belo Horizonte and insisted on the preventive arrest of all Yugoslavs living there. The invitation was withdrawn . . .

THE EXECUTIVE eye-opener, a flask of pure oxygen in a leather case, will be marketed as a Christmas gift this year. Selling for $9.95, it is designed to refresh or sober high-pressure executives at board meetings, office breaks and 19th holes . . .

BERLIN TROUBLE

There is trouble in Berlin again.

Through noon Friday, communist troops had harassed U. S. Army convoys through East Germany for two consecutive days. During that period, the Soviets had delayed three convoys, one of them twice, but had cleared two other groups for the trip between West Berlin and West Germany.

On Thursday, an 18-vehicle convoy with 61 men aboard was delayed for 16 hours as it tried to cross the East German border. It was stopped again Friday as it tried to enter West Berlin.

The Soviets had demanded that the soldiers alight to be counted. The convoy commander refused, upholding the U. S. contention that military convoys are not subject to interference if their papers are in order.

Communist harassment of U. S. Army convoys occurs at irregular intervals, but this was the most serious such incident since 1959.

Washington And Domestic Reports

A SLIGHT scandal seems to be brewing inside Democratic ranks. The FBI has launched an investigation into the business affairs of Robert G. Baker, 36, who resigned his $19,600 a year post as secretary to the Democratic majority in the Senate. The charge is that Baker used his office to help win contracts with a government defense subcontractor for an automatic vending machine company with which he had financial dealings. Baker was considered a protege of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson . . .

THE GOVERNMENT'S top economist predicts that the national economy will hit the $600 billion level for the first time early next year — and bring more benefits to consumers. The forecast was made by Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers in connection with the submission of the first report to Kennedy of the Consumer advisory council . . .

MEANWHILE, the Senate Commerce Committee has approved a public accommodations bill aimed at outlawing racial discrimination in all but small neighborhood businesses. The measure would in effect leave it up to the courts to define which privately owned establishments catering to the public would be exempted. In the House, the civil rights package is making its way through the Judiciary Committee. The measures are stronger than those requested by the President and most agree that the bills, in their present form, have very little chance of approval. There are reports also that if it comes to a showdown, the President may junk the civil rights bill for this year in favor of his tax cut proposal, which he has described as the most important legislation to come before Congress in 15 years . . .

TWELVE more Americans have died in the South Viet Nam war. They were killed when two Marine Corps helicopters crashed in the central highland jungles, possibly shot down by Communist ground fire. This brings to 124 the number of Americans who have died in that strife-torn country since the U. S. began all-out aid in the fight against the Communist Viet Cong rebels . . .

ABOUT THE only tangible result of two days of talks between the Kennedy administration officials and Maurice Couve de Murville, French foreign minister, was an agreement for French President Charles de Gaulle to visit Washington next year. However, no sharp changes in present cool relations between the two nations are expected . . .

TALKING LIKE a candidate, Senator Barry Goldwater the past week told a group of Republicans at Hershey, Pa., that President Kennedy has forged a "cynical alliance" with big city political bosses." Said the Arizona Senator: "A party and an administration so beholden to the bosses must be prepared also to play precinct politics with the hopes of the world."

MEANWHILE, in New York, former vice president Richard M. Nixon said that President Kennedy's decision to sell wheat to Russia will prove "the major foreign policy mistake of this administration." Nixon claimed the wheat deal will cost American taxpayers $100 million, and that the mistake will be greater than "fouling up the Bay of Pigs invasion attempt." . . .

THE DEFENSE Department has announced that Sgt. Jack E. Dunlap of Bogalusa, La., who killed himself while under investigation, sold U. S. secrets to Soviet agents over a two-year period. Authorities said the material did not include U. S. codes and ciphers — the most sensitive items handled by the super secret National Security Agency where the Army sergeant had been assigned . . .

IN THE HOUSE, that chamber voted the past week to ban U. S. cooperation with any Communist country in exploration of the moon. It wrote the ban into the 1964 National Aeronautics and Space Administration's appropriation bill which contained $612 million less than President Kennedy had requested. Earlier, Kennedy had proposed that this nation and the Soviet Union mount a joint effort to put a man on the moon by 1970 . . .

NEWS FROM OVERSEAS

The major news development of the week came from Blackpool, England where Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in a letter from his hospital bed, surrendered leadership of the conservative party and disclosed his intention to resign as Britain's prime minister. Macmillan earlier in the week underwent a successful operation, but said he would be unable to carry on long as prime minister and has so informed Queen Elizabeth.

MACMILLAN

The move split the ruling Conservative party into a bitter three-man fight. Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler led the field to succeed Macmillan despite a dramatic challenge Thursday night by Lord Hailsham, science minister and party leader in the House of Lords. The dark horse candidate is Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, 46, the Tory version of a New Frontiersman.

The mad scramble now on could hurt the party's chances in the next election — and could possibly damage the present setup between the U. S. and Britain . . .

IN DAMASCUS, Syria and Iraq have jointly proclaimed a military union and creation of a supreme defense council headed by a supreme commander. Strongman Gen. Amin Hafez, president of Syria's National Revolutionary Council, told his people that the union will take in all troops of both countries. . .

IN ITALY one of the worst disasters in history. It developed when a catastrophic flood, caused by a mammoth mountain landslide into a hydroelectric dam reservoir turned the once beautiful Alpine area of Belluno into a vast mud-covered grave. Estimates of the casualty toll ranged up to 4,000. They were killed swiftly when the gigantic wall of water from the Vaiont Dam reservoir crashed down. Scientists suspected an earthquake loosed the avalanche . . .

AN ANTI-Castro group says the devastation wrought in Cuba by Hurricane Flora has struck a major blow at Fidel Castro's dictatorship and almost anything could happen to him now. It still is not known how many were killed in Cuba, but it is known that entire valleys were flooded. During the hurricane there was a report that Castro fell from a boat during rescue operations and nearly drowned . . .

Highlight Story On Wallace Of Alabama

EDITOR'S NOTE — Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace has drawn both condemnation and praise for his controversial stand in Alabama's bitter civil rights crisis. In this rare personal closeup, he graphically reveals through his own words his motivations and aims in the continuing integration struggle that grips his state.

By JULES LOH

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— The third quarter was nearly over and Clayton High, in the characteristically earthy idiom of the governor of Alabama, was getting its tail beat.

Beyond the six-foot chain link fence surrounding the lighted field beyond the cluster of Negro boys watching the game from the darkness on the other side, the town of Clayton, home town of George C. Wallace Jr., was closed for the night. The whole town, as they say, had turned out for the game —and not because the governor was there; his visit was a surprise.

Wallace raised his arm in a sweeping gesture, taking in the rather typical scene: football field; wooden bleachers 10 rows deep on each side of the 50-yard-line; talkative women in folding chairs flanking the benches; groups of men along the sidelines; three ladies at a card table selling chances on a cake — the governor bought six; teen-age girls dispensing soft drinks, coffee and hot dogs from a covered booth; boys cavorting beneath the stands.

This Is Why

"This is why we can't integrate the schools in Alabama," Wallace said.

"This isn't just a football game; it's a social function. It's the same in every little city in Alabama. The school is the center of social life. Hell, these people just plain don't want to mix. Ask 'em. Ask 'em if they're in favor of what I'm doing."

There was hardly need to ask. From the moment he arrived in his year-old Chevvy, borrowed $20 from his driver, bought tickets for himself and his wife ("No, no, let me pay, I insist, it's for the school,") and stepped through the gate, George Wallace was besieged by worshippers.

"Heighdy, George!" they shouted.

"We're with you, little man!"

"Keep fighting, judge!"

He signed every wrinkled scrap of paper thrust at him by jostling youngsters, autographed the white boots of the cheerleaders and the bass drum of the Samson High band. He scaled the crossbeams of the rear of the grandstand to reach the microphone and tell them, "It sure is good to be home and see all you folks. Y'all come up to Montgomery sometime and visit us. You're always welcome." He called most of the people by name. One woman rushed up and threw her arms around his neck.

"God bless you, George," she whispered. "I pray for you every day."

"Thank you, Ruth. Thank you for saying that."

It is true that these were his friends, the people who twice had sent him to the legislature and had elected him their circuit judge. But a similar sentiment, or close to it, is evident to many observers throughout the state, especially in the rural areas.

Wallace won his office by the largest vote and greatest majority ever given an Alabama governor and there are those who believe his popularity has soared even more since he took office last January.

If his bluster over federal integration orders, his "stand at the schoolhouse door" and his raw segregationist outbursts have galled Northern critics, they seem to have convinced vast numbers of Alabamians that they have a St. George willing to sally forth and risk his all to stave off the federal dragon.

The risks are real enough, but so far Wallace has shown he knows how far he can go without violating federal court orders restraining him from interfering with school integration.

He vowed, "Segregation now, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever," and the day he was inaugurated he said, "I draw the line in the dust and toss the gauntlet . . ." But the fact is Negroes have crossed the line and entered classrooms in five Alabama cities.

Despite this, thousands of Alabamians believe Wallace, now and in the past, actually has defied the federal government and gotten by with it. They believe it because he says so.

Once he refused to hand over voter registration records to a Federal Civil Rights Commission and pleaded guilty of contempt of court. The federal judge, an old law school chum, refused to cite Wallace because in the end he did get the records.

Wallace spluttered that he was in contempt and if that judge says he wasn't he's "an integrating, carpetbagging, scalawagging, race-mixing, bald-faced liar."

The football game ended—Samson 30, Clayton 0—and Gov. and Mrs. Wallace decided to stop by their house for a visit with Mother Mae, his grandmother, before driving the 85 miles back to Montgomery.

Relaxing

George Wallace was relaxing. It was his third visit home since he became governor. He had received a letter saying the Samson High band planned to form a W at halftime and play, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and the governor decided to knock off early —he usually quits work after 10 p.m.—and accept the accolade in person.

As the car turned into the driveway of his home Wallace pushed the handle and held the door ajar, ready to leap out before it came to a stop.

"Be careful, George," said his wife.

"He does that all the time," said the driver, J. C. Fowler. "You can't open a door for that man. He won't give you time."

Before going inside the governor strolled around to the back yard. Unbuttoning his suit coat he sucked in a long breath of the cool country air "Man, look at those pecan trees," he said. "I've never seen them so full. Figs look good and aplump too."

He stood for a moment silently studying the dark treetops silhouetted against the moon-bright sky Birmingham's woes, presidential primaries, court injunctions, an office piled high with half a million letters from across the country—all these, for a quiet moment, were light years away.

George Wallace is a disarming governor. One of his closest friends describes him as a man with "an astonishing faculty for making you feel you are his mammy and have to help him." At 44 he is a small man—5 feet 7, and 150 pounds—with a quick step, flat stomach, nervous hands. A one-inch scar over his right eyebrow attests that he is a former boxer, bantamweight champ of Alabama back in 1936 and 1937.

He shuns the pomp and personal attention that go with his office and puts visitors completely at ease. "Hell, ain't no reason why a governor has to be stiff." He buys his suits off the rack and eats his lunch at the Capitol cafeteria.

One more deep breath and then he said, "Let's go inside."

The house is a typical old Southern home—broad front porch, high ceilings, large kitchen. Wallace scooped up a handful of cookies, poured a glass of buttermilk, then went to the sitting room and slumped in the corner of a couch. Inevitably, the conversation drifted to his favorite topic.

"What is law," he said, "but the crystalization of public opinion? For 100 years our laws, segregation laws, have reflected the opinion of the people of this state—and the federal Supreme Court upheld them all that time.

"Now they want to come along and change them. They didn't ask us. Didn't care a damn thing about our opinion. Didn't give a thought to the separate school systems we built with their blessing. Now tell me, is that right?"

No Malice

"I tell you," he said, "them damn Kennedy's are going to ruin this country. I hold no personal malice toward the President," he said. "Get that straight. Everything I say about him is in a political vein."

He plucked a copy of "Profiles in Courage" from the shelf and opened it to the flyleaf. The inscription read: "To Judge George Wallace with very best wishes. John Kennedy."

"Hell, at the 1956 convention I voted for John Kennedy on the second ballot for vice president. I escorted his sister to the Alabama delegation so she could speak in his behalf. And I voted for him for president. I'm not so proud of that, though."

He snatched a pocket comb from within his coat and ran it nervously through his thick black hair.

"Kennedy's a nice fellow, personally. I rode with him in that helicopter a few weeks ago and told him then that I had the highest regard for him and his family and there was nothing personal in all this. I'm sure as hell going to do my best to see he doesn't get elected again."

Alabamians regard it as a sure bet Wallace will enter several presidential primaries in Northern states, though the governor says he hasn't yet made up his mind.

He says he has no illusions about being nominated. "But I could sure stir things up. I could show Kennedy there's a hell of a lot of folks up North who feel the same way we do down here. You saw all that mail, all those people asking me to run for president.

"And you should have seen the folks swarm around me up in Baltimore. There was twice as many people as the paper said. And Gettysburg, at the governors' conference. I got more applause than any other governor. Ask anybody that was there who got the most applause."

Wallace returned to the couch, jammed a fresh cigar two inches deep in the corner of his mouth and began chewing. The women were in the kitchen brewing coffee. There was a knock at the back door.

Doors Open

"George, you in there?"

"Hey, Tom. Come on in," Wallace called. "Door's open."

"Just don't, that's all," said Ventress, apparently surprised anyone would even ask the question.

"Look," said Wallace, "it's hard for me to talk about this because it might come out sounding like I hate Negroes. I don't hate Negroes and neither do any of these folks down here. Ain't that right, Tom?" Ventress nodded.

"I've defended more Negroes in criminal court than I have white folks. I pleaded for a condemned colored man at a clemency hearing and saved his life. And I was the judge in a trial over at Eufaula in 1954 and sent a white man off for life for killing a Negro. I used to be a trustee of Tuskegee Institute—that's a Negro school."

Wallace strode again to the bookcase. His eyes darted up and down the shelves.

"I wrote the bill in the legislature that set up trade schools all over this state. First one built was in Birmingham—for Negroes. That was in 1949. I dedicated the school and spoke at the first graduation. They sent me a copy of their yearbook. I've got it here some place."

The governor gave up the search. It was getting late, time to start back to Montgomery.

He said goodby to Mother Mae and the neighbors, sprinted out to the car, jerked open the door and jumped in the back seat. Mrs. Wallace climbed in beside him, obviously tired. Before the car was out of town she had taken off her shoes and curled up in the corner, eyes closed. The driver, Fowler, also was obviously exhausted.

In Silence

Wallace sat in silence for several miles but soon was on the edge of the seat, leaning forward, talking.

"Did you hear they're blaming me for that bombing in Birmingham? Isn't that a hell of a note. There were more bombings in Birmingham before I became governor than since. Do they blame me for them too?"

He pulled a ring of about two dozen keys from his pocket and fidgeted with them.

"They say my defiance of the federal law caused the climate that led to the bombings. —— Martin Luther King was the one who started breaking laws in Alabama. Why don't they blame him? He broke our laws, but he says he doesn't have to obey them because they're unjust. Well, for 100 years the Supreme Court thought they were just, and we still think so. And I say the 1954 Supreme Court decision is the most unjust law on the books."

National Newspaper Week

Newspapers make a big difference in people's lives every day. To millions upon millions of people, the morning newspaper seems as important as breakfast. To many other millions, the afternoon paper is as interesting as dinner.

In newspapers, the news and sports articles tell what has happened in the world. The world turns and as it turns every day it writes a new page in history. That page, every day, is spread out in the newspapers of the nation, like a great panorama, waiting for all eyes to see. Before him, the reader finds out what is happening in all the nations of the world, in his own nation, his own state, his own parish and his own city. News, sports, markets, agriculture, women's interests, every phase of life and every activity are pictured and the picture remains there for the reader to see it when he has time, when he can enjoy it in leisure and in full contemplation.

Features and cartoons offer a world of entertainment. The ads, both display and classified, form a complete shoppers' guide in a nutshell.

Editorials are aimed at giving insight into the news and into the state of the nation and of every state and community. In the editorials, the writer tells things as he sees them. The news reporter must be strictly factual, mirroring things that actually happen, showing no preference for this or that but letting the chips fall where they may. The editorial writer has more liberty. He may interpret the news and the facts. He may point out what he thinks to be the wrongs of one side and the right of the other. He should uphold to the utmost the things he believes to be right. Those who read the editorials understand that they also represent opinion, which genuine news stories do not.

It is a foregone conclusion that no speaker can convice an audience of the correctness of his position if he devotes as much time to showing the merits of the opposition as he does to the cause he supports. So it is with an editor. He upholds what he thinks is right and denounces what he thinks is wrong.

This week, October 13-19, is National Newspaper Week.

What is it? Its purpose is to emphasize the big difference newspapers make in the lives of people, the vital role they play in protecting the people's three great freedoms — freedom of the press, freedom of speech and freedom of religion.

The freedoms which the press protects make an important difference in the life of every citizen. They guarantee to you the right to know what your government is doing, to voice your own opinions about current problems, believe in whatever ideals you choose, even if they do not conform to the ideology of the men in power.

Each day, on the front page of the Monroe Morning World, just under the masthead, are these words: "Without Freedom of the Press, There Is No Democracy." None can doubt the truth of those words, and we can also say that there is no democracy without freedom of speech or without freedom to worship as we choose. Yet, we know these things are under attack in the United States and the freedoms have been crushed in many countries.

There are many places in the world today — not just in Russia — where editors are throttled for "causing public unrest" or "insulting" the government. Such charges, of course, mean that the government considers itself supreme and does not want the public informed of its misdeeds.

Cuba is one of those places, and it is just a long swim from the United States coast. Because our national officials no longer cared enough about freedom of the people to enforce the Monroe doctrine against intrusion of other countries into the American sphere, Russia was allowed to enter Cuba and crush out the freedoms formerly enjoyed by the people there. This was done with apparent tacit consent of our government particularly during the time of the New Frontier administration.

Similar attacks are now being made by the New Frontier in the United States itself upon the freedom of the individual to choose his associates, to say what he chooses, and upon the freedom of the press itself by discrimination against news reporters who say what the government does not want them to say.

The big difference between the lives of the people in Cuba and those in the United States is a free press, but we must fight constantly to keep both the press and the people free in our own country.

National Newspaper Week is a nationwide celebration which pays tribute to the 1,770 daily and 9,000 weekly newspapers published in this country.

This newspaper, and every newspaper, is constantly trying to improve itself, to serve you better, every day.

Join with us in saluting National Newspaper Week. America's newspapers and the freedoms they preserve make a big difference in your life.

De Gaulle And Kennedy

Headmen of two nations — France and the United States — are what might be called perfect examples in reverse.

President Charles de Gaulle of France has taken nothing and turned it into everything.

President John Kennedy of the United States has taken everything and turned it into nothing.

France is a proud nation, head held high, ready to defend itself and its honor, bowing to no man and asking favors of none.

The United States has surrendered to Russia in Cuba and in many other parts of the world. It has made a nuclear test ban pact that leaves Russia sitting on top of the world while the United States is being told it must quiver in fear and avoid war with Russia at all costs.

At the end of World War II France was devastated and had nothing, militarily, economically or otherwise.

Then the United States was the only nation in the world that had the atomic bomb, except for a few samples it may have given to England.

How, in those years, has France risen to a proud and powerful position? How, in those same years, has the United States reached a position in which we are told we must avoid war or accept annihilation? How else except through the actions of the headmen?

"Now, A Word From My Sponsor"

Views Of Our Readers

Founding Fathers

To the Editor:

Our founding fathers were people and subject to making mistakes and even subject to as great despair as some of us today. Furthermore, they faced no greater dangers than do we today and in one sense they had the advantage of us, because they believed there was a chance left to them and that this new land to which they were fleeing gave them a chance for freedom and safety. Now where can we go in our present day in order to gain so much? Nowhere but to the Lord.

It has been frequently and proudly pointed out that our Founding Fathers, and Mothers, brought forth a new doctorine "The right to worship God as they pleased, be self-governing, and "That all men are created equal." I contend that they believed no such thing, not as we teach it today. In the first place they had no thought of an equality of races and it never even entered into their minds, but they did believe that any man, be he commoner or what, could be, by God's appointive Grace, a Prince, a King, a Governor etc. They refused to believe that a man born of a kingly father and mother wearing a crown had to be their ruler, regardless. They refused to believe that the Apostle Paul's oft quoted 'Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers.' For there is no power but of God; the powers that be are ordained of God. Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation." Rom. 13:1,2. They believed that most of the rulers were directly under the power of the Devil and that the time of the Beast and Anti-Christ had come. But history is clear that before they had become well established on this side there was religious persecution among them.

If they believed all men were created equal then how did they justify their right to the claim that the American Indian was no more than a beast and had no right to future claims to this great land. It is a fact that only a few believed the Indian really could be saved or had a soul so to speak. It is a fact that they did not and even today most of us have not accepted the Indian as our equal, yet the benefits and helps received from the Indians was a great part of the cause of those early successes. They did not believe in a union of church and State. But most of them did not believe the Bible taught Salvation by Grace and they hated and persecuted the few Baptists among them? Why! Our first president, George Washington, stated plainly that he did not believe that a process of public election would succeed and asked that the first joint government get a contract, possibly with Britain to furnish a line of rulers. When the Civil War was on, Mr. Lincoln was not a christian, but believed in the power of man and factions, in private, denied that all men are equal. Thus it goes.

Answers Editorial

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

I was disturbed by the editorial that you wrote entitled "Church and State" in the September 27, 1963 Monroe Morning World. I was also disturbed that no one in the community replied to this statement. So I feel that I must answer your statement.

It is unfortunate that the press criticizes the National Council of Churches, an organization which it evidently does not understand. It is more unfortunate that the press does not present the National Council of Churches' point of view so that citizens may fairly formean opinion. The motto on Page 1, "Without Freedom of the Press there is No Democracy" also places a responsibility on the press to report objectively and fairly.

It is impossible to speak to every charge and implication in the editorial "Church and State." So I shall speak to the basic issues.

First it is obvious that the nature and purpose of the National Council of Churches is not understood. It was stated that the National Council of Churches is an active, ambitious political organization. Its purpose should be "restricted to missionary and other related charitable work." This is not correct. The National Council of Churches is an agency through which Protestant and Orthodox churches in the United States can express their common faith in Jesus Christ. It is a meeting ground for these Christian churches. It has been delegated by its member churches tasks which member churches cannot effectively do by themselves. These tasks are many but they do not interfere with or replace activities of member churches. A list of these tasks is very easy to obtain. The National Council of Churches was formed by the member churches. These churches include all but two of the major historical Protestant and Orthodox church bodies. Its policies are established by denominational representatives, who sit in the General Assembly and the General Board, the two governing bodies of the Council.

The Council is not a political organization and has no political affiliation. What it does do is to provide an agency for Christians to disuss concern for problems of our national life and it issues pronouncements which are approved by the General Board or General Assembly. Its officials may hold opinions and actions which extend beyond these pronouncements but these do not necessarily reflect on the policy of the National Council of Churches.

The Council was established on the premise that all Christians can speak co-operatively to personal and national problems. The Christian Faith is concerned with all of a man's activities. We cannot place God off in a corner and instruct Him to stick to "missionary and other related charitable work." God is always uncomfortably concerned with all of our activities and His churches can do nothing less. So the Church must speak to the vital issues of our lives. This is what the member churches of the National Council of Churches seek to do in a co-operative way.

One insinuation must be corrected in the editorial. The National Council of Churches is not influenced by or "infiltrated" by Communism. The General Board, meeting in Seattle, June 4, 1959, reaffirmed "the consistent position of the National Council of Churches expressed in many official actions opposing the evils, the violence, and the violation of human rights by communist and other tyrannies." It is a council of Christian churches and thus is unalterably in conflict with the atheism which lies at the heart of today's Communism.

That you may disagree with some of the actions of the National Council of Churches does not mean that the whole council should be thrown out. The National Council has more than 50 divisions, Commissions, and departments which are concerned with everything from Bible research to Church Building. I hope that in the future you will be more fair with the National Council of Churches so that the readers of this paper may form their opinions by a fair presentation of the issues.

Free Electors Vain

Mer Rouge, La.

To the Editor:

In a way, free electors would be an ideal way of keeping Kennedy out of the White House for the next four years. But the free electors system reacts only theoretically. Unfortunately, for the South, few political theoretical eggs ever hatch into chicks of reality. The South can't eat that kind of eggs and expect to fatten.

Mr. George W. Shannon, with his "The South's Way Out," would, by employing free electors, throw the election of the next President in the lap of the House of Representatives. We have nine Representatives in the House from Louisiana. Taking Mr. Otto Passman as an exception the other eight, if their past record of voting in the House for Kennedy measures is taken as a criterion for the future, they are to be trusted no farther than Jonah could have thrown the whale that had swallowed him. And do not get the idea under your scalp that the rest of the South's Representatives in Congress have altogether snow white skirts.

The resentment of the South will have no more effect on the Election than a snow flake will effect the temperature on the equator if we depend on voting the old Democratic way. It is the resentment of the reluctant North combined with the South that will give the South ease from the spleen of the Kennedys, the Supreme Court, the Army and forty other termites.

If free electors will bring the South any nearer to their ideal of things that should be, why has it not been put in high gear many times since 1860?

Mr. Shannon puts enough ifs in his "THE SOUTH'S WAY OUT" to create a state of Utopia, but, not in the history of civilization has any one ever been elected by ifs. Ifs do not count at the Polls. God save the country from Kennedy, free electors, Rockefeller and our own men in Congress.

We are battling socialism, parasitism, incompetence and all the wire-haired isms that flow out of Europe, Asia and Africa so freely.

Vote for Goldwater and get half a loaf or you will get Kennedy and no bread.

Pet Dog Poisoned

West Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

There was a death in our family last week — a violent death. He died in my arms in a rigid convulsion. There was nothing I could do to save him. Less than half an hour before he had seemed perfectly healthy, full of life and vitality. Then suddenly the death agony struck, and minutes later the spark of life was gone. He was a victim of strychnine poisoning.

"Your child?" — you may be asking with bated breath. No, but it might have been. He was Reb, our pet dog. "Oh," you sign with relief, "only a dog." Yes, perhaps we callous adults might consider him only a dog, but to my grief-stricken children he was much more than a dog. How does one describe the interplay of joy, love and devotion which springs up between children and pets? Suffice it to say that this particular dog had so endeared himself to our family during his brief five years of life that the void created by his senseless death can never be completely filled by another.

Was he poisoned with malicious intent, or by the careless use of strychnine as a rat poison? We may never know. In either case, there is an ominous danger threatening our community. The poisoner who uses food as a bait is a potential killer of children, as well as of animals. Very young children have a fondness for tasting many substances. If food is used as a bait for a poison, the chances that a child might sample it are increased.

Let the public beware! Is there a poisoner in your neighborhood? If so, your family's pet may be the first to succumb. Or could it be possible that your own unsuspecting child might be the poisoner's next tragic victim?

Solid Foundation

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

As you start to build a house, the most important thing to remember is to have a solid foundation, so it will be safe to live in. Life should be built on a solid foundation, spiritually, not materially, as you build a house.

God is the spiritual architect of life. He gives us plans to live by on this Foundation of Life. This foundation is not put together by nails, lumber, brick, etc., but by doing good deeds, being kind, truthfulness, respect to others, obeying God's commandments and love, as well as charity and good will.

This foundation will hold fast if we take time to give ourselves to others each day the above acts and then and only then will we be powered with joy coming from our hearts.

A foundation formed through God's mighty power is a true example for all of us to live by and to practice it each day.

We love the material foundation built by man — a beautiful home where your family can be together. That is fine, but do we take time to bring up the spiritual foundation by God, as your architect in your everyday living.

Lastly, God must be considered more as you go on and live in this house, with a spiritual foundation to enrich us to a better place to go, after we have finished our work here on earth.

Integration Anger Hits New England

MANCHESTER, New Hampshire — New England, which sired the abolitionist movement and gave it some of its most fiery spokesmen, seems to have undergone a change of heart. This would be minor Intelligence but for one reason. It affects the outcome of the 1964 Presidential election and the chances of President Kennedy. It is starting to hear labor leaders, businessmen, and civic leaders talk of the Administration's civil rights program and its stance on the Negro issue in terms which would make some Southerners blush.

What has happened, simply, is that many people here who took it for granted that civil rights legislation and the "Negro question" were a Southern problem have been made to feel that the Federal government is now jumping down their own throats. A labor leader became almost apoplectic as he discussed what he considered the Federal government's attempts to tell him how to run his union.

"We don't discriminate," he said, "but no one is going to tell us that we have to give Negroes preference when they are not qualified. We had a number of Negroes in our union, but if this keeps up, you can bet there won't be a one pretty soon. I've known some absolute down-the-line Kennedy men who have swung the other way completely because of this civil rights nonesense. It's a terrible thing that an election should swing on something like this, but that's what's happening."

This same outrage is expressed by some who have no real cause to feel concern — and no real contact with the Negro issue. What was once academic for them suddenly looms very big and real. However their motives may be judged — and leaving out the rights and wrongs of the matter — they suddenly see their world threatened. The specter of a Federal government, armed with the new legislation now pending in Congress, moving in on all their activities shocks them.

IT SHOULD BE noted here that the anger and bitterness are not aimed at the Negro but at the Administration — and Mr. Kennedy in particular. Manchester is a Democratic city in a usually Republican state. It is an industrial city as well. The union member feels that his livelihood is being put in jeopardy by the White House as strongly as do the more prosperous citizens. There is considerable comment here on the recent local Boston election in which opponents of an "integrationist" school program were handily re-elected, despite the zealous campaign of Negro organizations. ("In the President's home town," is the ironic comment.)

The sentiments on civil rights here corroborate recent polls which show that whereas the preponderance of Americans feel that the Negro has not gotten a fair shake, the same group is equally convinced that the Federal government is moving irresponsibly and too rapidly to right the wrong. Justice is one thing, but the consensus here is that the President believes in giving preferential status to Negroes. Sons and grandsons of immigrants remark that there was strong prejudice against those of their race and nationality but "no one went crying to the government for help."

IT IS POSSIBLE that this rising anti-Administration feeling will become, as one newspaperman here said, the "gut issue" of 1964. If this is so, it casts a new light on the chances of Senator Barry Goldwater in the New Hampshire primary of March, 1964. Mr. Goldwater is not a segregationist, nor would any of the people I spoke to want him to become one. But he takes a position that these matters should be left up to the states. And to New Englanders, this makes sense. The problems to be faced are entirely different for New Hampshire and, let us say, Georgia. A single uniform and punitive law cannot do the job.

Between the position of President Kennedy and that of New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller there is little difference. Other things being equal, Senator Goldwater will benefit if the present temper of the voters prevails. It would not surprise me, in fact, if a good many of the old AFL unionists quietly cast their votes (in the privacy of the polls) for Barry Goldwater simply on the civil rights issue.

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U.S. Senator From Arizona

THE CAMPAIGN TO downgrade Congress, which began shortly after the present administration came to office and slowed temporarily last year because of adverse public reaction, again is building up a head of steam.

Leading the current march toward centralization of all power under the President are those prophets of press, radio and television who traditionally preach New Frontier gospel and have spent many years presuming to advise the nation on all things political.

One such pundit recently went so far as to express the suspicion that Congress may be "a grave danger to the Republic." Others have expressed similar, but not-so-extreme fears apparently based upon the liberal assumption that Congressional refusal to jump through the legislative hoop at every snap of President Kennedy's fingers constitutes national catastrophe.

To abide by this theory, of course, one must accept unflinchingly and support to the end every one of the President's legislative whims and fancies.

Mr. Kennedy's views on all subjects mentioned legislatively since he hit the campaign trail in 1960, however, have been somewhat unstable. Thus, the blind following recommended by the liberals could lead Congress into trouble far more quickly than the campaign to downgrade it, no matter how successfully implemented.

CONSTITUENTS, even the most gullible of them, are not prone to give their unflagging support at the polls to office holders who change their minds at the least excuse. That the obedient members of the House and Senate would be required to do just this can be attested by the most cursory examination of Mr. Kennedy's speeches, statements and actions. The enormity of his contradictions is surpassed only by the minuteness of the danger posed in the current campaign against Congress.

Overlooked completely by the pro-New Frontier commentators and columnists is the number of powers the two-to-one Democratic Senate and three-to-two Democratic House already have sacrificed to their leader. Certainly, no one can say that Mr. Kennedy has been shy or reluctant in requesting new authority. Nor can it be stated with even the slightest degree of accuracy that his "persuasion" of Congressional Democrats has not obtained for him much of what he sought.

IN SHORT, MR. Kennedy, perhaps more than any President in our history, has maneuvered House and Senate Democrats as though they were the actors of a Punch and Judy show. If it is true that Congressional puppets have not danced to the satisfaction and pleasure of their critics, and are indeed "a danger to the Republic," it can only be because the man at the other end of the strings does not want them to. Thus, the correction of the imagined evils rests not so much in rewriting our Constitution to do away with governmental checks and balances as in more properly weighting the scales to restore balance.

President Kennedy, no matter what his other shortcomings, is a shrewd and calculating politician. If, as I have predicted, Congress fails to enact both civil rights and tax-cut legislation this year, it will not be the fault of Congress on its procedures, but the fault of the White House. Through the transparency of almost every New Frontier executive action, from the timely get-tough order for removal of Soviet missiles in Cuba just before the 1960 elections to the recent "non-political" tour by Mr. Kennedy, can be seen the faint outlines of self-perpetuation in office.

Most major national polls and the preponderance of constituency mail have revealed that the White House handling of both the tax legislation and the Civil rights issue have seriously pockmarked Mr. Kennedy's public image.

New Monroe Air Terminal For '64 To Be Among Best

MONROE AIR TERMINAL slated for opening next year will cost $455,000. Officials forecast it will be one of "most modern and beautiful" terminals in the nation. Architect's concept is shown here.

FIRST AIRPORT building at Monroe was constructed by Delta Air Service Inc. in 1932. Crop dusting was the primary service at that time.

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Monroe's new airport terminal, a $455,000 ultra modern structure, should be ready for air traffic by late next year. Construction begins next week.

Need for the new building is shown by the increase in air traffic passengers from 6,174 in 1945 to 65,000 per year now using commercial airlines at Monroe.

Mayor W. L. Howard explains, "Since the airport is our show-window to visitors and prospective new business leaders, the City Council felt we ought to build a new facility that would not only be useful and serve the travelling public, but also one which would reflect pride on the city and give visitors an extremely good impression of Monroe."

Jesse F. Heard & Sons Inc. are general contractors on the project, described as "a turn-key job" by architects Roy Johns and John I. Neel.

FROM BOND ISSUE

Part of the city's $11,250,000 civic improvement bond issue is financing the terminal — the first building begun under the bond issue funds. Contracts will be awarded next year and in 1965 on the downtown civic center and municipal auditorium.

The new terminal will contrast sharply with the old building, which "was completed in 1948 and which has grown more obsolete every day since then," according to Hank Hargrove, airport manager.

Huge lobby, plus restaurant seating 80 people and an electric coffee shop and grille.

21,280 square feet of floor space, including 16,800 square feet on the main floor plus a 4,480 square foot mezzanine area being considered as a future observation deck.

Space for four airlines.

"Floating on air" concrete roof.

It will be composed of folded concrete plate, forming gables. It will overhang 18 feet from the building on the field and street sides.

Inside the roof will be visible and will rest on solar gray glass to create the "floating" effect.

A 70-car parking area will be located on the south side of the building, so as not to interfere with the landscaping and circular entrance drive in front of the terminal.

The instrument runway will be extended, probably in 1965, and taxiway lights will be installed to tie in with the new terminal.

"Monroe Air Terminal" is the name of the building.

The airport's first terminal building was constructed in 1932 by Delta Airlines, when crop dusting was still its primary business.

OLD AIRPORT

The old airport is now the extreme northwest corner of the Selman Field reservation. The old 2,000-foot runways, since plowed up, are still visible from the air.

"Then when World War 2 started," recalls Hargrove, "the parish (Ouachita) and the city got together on the land and gave it to the Army Air Corps to establish present Selman Field as a navigation school.

"After the war, the Army deeded this property to the city of Monroe in 1946, with the exception of 12 acres which were deeded to Ouachita parish.

"At that time, the property consisted of 2,696 acres. Since that time, we have added 32 acres for establishment of the recently completed center line sequence flashing light approach system, the 'running rabbit'."

Runways have expanded from 2,000 feet asphalt runways in the 1930's to 5,000-foot-long concrete facilities.

The present terminal contains two stories and 5400 square feet of space.

It will continue in use for expanded Federal Aviation Agency Flight Service and general aviation including private planes.

Monroe now has all of the modern Very High Frequency and Ultra High Frequecy electronic facilities such as VOR TACAN and ILS to guide airplanes. In the near future the airport will receive VHF direction finding equipment. It already has distance measuring equipment.

The Control Tower and approach light system have been installed in the last three years.

CAN BE EXPANDED

One of the shortcomings of the present building "it's not built for expansion at all", will be remedied in the new structure.

The new terminal will be 240 feet long by 70 feet wide, and can be extended an additional 160 feet.

It will be located between the old building and the control tower.

"It's my opinion," says Mayor Howard, "that this new facility is going to be one of the most modern and beautiful air terminals of any that I know of in the country."

Residents of the 15-parish Fifth Congressional District of northeast Louisiana and commuters from south Arkansas using the terminal will find the following features:

THE FEATURES

Large lobby and waiting room areas with spacious ceiling heights, 72-foot-long continuous ticket counter used by three airlines, ticket counter concourse and waiting area, electric coffee shop and grille, restaurant with seating for 80, large kitchen and storage room, built-in cold storage room, public toilets, mechanical equipment room, janitor's closet, alcove area off main lobby for vending machines and luggage lockers, central baggage return room, large airport storage room opening to outside.

Business officers, operations rooms and baggage rooms will be provided for Delta Air Lines, Southern Airways, Inc., and Trans-Texas Airways, with space left for a fourth future airline.

Lobby areas will include new counters for two car-rental firms now serving the terminal.

On the mezzanine, facilities will be available for a second level walkway overlooking the first floor lobby areas, airport manager's office, secretary's office, conference room, telephone equipment room, mechanical equipment room, janitor's storage room and large unfinished area for future office rental space or observation area.

The building will be constructed of poured - in - place reinforced concrete structural system of 12-inch by 18-inch concrete columns. No interior columns will be needed.

Exterior walls will be Roman brick cavity construction, exposed inside and out. Redwood lines will be inset in the brick.

Double - insulated solar-gray glass walls will be featured on the field side of the lobby and restaurant area, with principal views toward the airstrip.

A complete intercom and paging system is included for each airline, with speakers indoors and out.

The roof will be pre-fabricated Dupont "Tedlar" plastic film laminated on 43-pound felt laminated on one and one-half inches of polystyrene roof insulation.

TWO ENTRANCES

Two glass entrances will be on the street side, a third on the south end near the new parking area, a fourth as an exit from the north concourse and the fifth on the field side.

The fifth entrance will contain four doors and lead directly to an anodized aluminum covered walkway going directly to the airplanes.

Four passenger gates will be served by the covered walkway, which extends 50 feet out from the main building, then 380 feet north and south parallel to the existing concrete aprons.

Passengers will be able to claim return luggage from a 36-inch wide rubber belt conveyor connecting the outdoor area with the baggage claim room.

The building will have an 80-foot long lawn area on the south end for future expansion.

Future plans call for two additional parking areas to be located across the street from the terminal.

The City Council, composed of Finance and Utilities Commissioner H. W. McSherry, Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez, and Mayor Howard, also have scheduled new furnishings and a complete interior decorating plan for the building.

The three commercial airlines serving Monroe utilize the following types of aircraft: 26-passenger DC-3's, 40-passenger Martin 404's and 44-passenger Convair 440's.

Delta will inaugurate four-engine service with 68-passenger DC-6's on October 27.

Delta long-range plans are expected to bring 85-passenger jet aircraft — DC-9's—into Monroe by 1970.

Erhard Ends Long Waiting For Top Post

BONN, Germany, (AP) — Ludwig Erhard, after patiently waiting in the wings for years, at last becomes West Germany's new chancellor next week.

Konrad Adenauer, the retiring chancellor, did not want Erhard, his popular economics minister, to succeed him. Adenauer delayed his retirement because he believed Erhard did not have the political talent to follow him. Erhard built up his following until he became the only choice of the Christian Democratic party and its coalition ally, the Free Democratic party. Together they control the majority in Parliament needed to elect him.

Erhard, fat, jovial and 66, is taking over one of the toughest political assignments in the world. He has to govern with a coalition. He takes over a country with politically explosive problems. He has to triumph over a Social Democratic opposition gaining more and more favor with the voters.

EXPERIENCE

Erhard brings to the chancellorship 14 years of experience as a Cabinet member and great personal popularity as the "father of the economic miracle" of postwar recovery. He opposes the government's mixing in business and supports U.S.-favored policies on Europe and the Atlantic alliance.

Erhard is inheriting a stable, prosperous country but also many problems that could blow up in his face during the next two years. That is all the time left before the next election, in which he must lead his party to a strong showing if he hopes to be re-elected chancellor.

A steady rise in the federal budget threatens to force an unpopular tax increase in 1964 or 1965. Labor unions are pressing for big wage boosts. Economic growth has slowed down, making inflation a danger.

In foreign affairs West Germany is entangled in contradictory policies. It has entered into a special close relation with France but professes full loyalty to the United States. It generally champions freer trade in the Western world but because of farm and other pressure groups supports some protectionist measures in the Common Market.

Adenauer has sought to give West Germany the reputation of a peace-loving country but at the same time has opposed U.S.-Soviet moves to lessen East-West tensions. He has refused to accept the present borders in Europe, which would end hopes for winning back East Germany from the Communist bloc.

Border Patrol Work Is Most Interesting

EDITOR'S NOTE — The border between the United States and Mexico is a friendly one, and an easy one to cross. That's why U.S. Border Patrol agents are kept on the hop—tracking down Mexicans who stroll across without benefit of passport.

By TOM HENSHAW

Around him, children splashed in the shallow, muddy water. Behind him, across a blanket of green mesquite shimmering in the afternoon heat, music blared from the cantinas of old Mexico.

High on the opposite bank, half hidden in mesquite and salt cedar trees, Jim Fennell watched the old man for a long moment through his binoculars.

"He's got a line in the water," he told his companion, Lewis Underdown, and they went back to watching the children at play and older Mexicans stringing their trot-lines in midstream.

The old man was only fishing so Fennell and Underdown lost interest. But he might have been readying himself for a dash across the waist-deep Rio Grande. Then, as an illegal alien — a "wetback" —he would have been their quarry.

OPERATING

Journeyman Officer Fennell, 34, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Senior Inspector Underwood, 38, of Clarendon, Tex., are members of the U.S. Border Patrol, opreating out of its busy Laredo station.

This day, they were on watch at a river crossing known as D-2, one mile downstream from the bridge where legal traffic crosses the Rio Grande between Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, its twin city on the Mexican side.

This year, the Border Patrol has been especially watchful, for drought and hard times in northern Mexico have sent increasing numbers of Mexicans across the river illegally, seeking work in the United States.

The number of illegal aliens apprehended by the 74 patrolmen of the Laredo sector this year is running about double that of 1962 when 713 were run down and shipped back home.

"Our advantage is that we know the terrain," says Jim Kelly, chief patrol inspector of the Laredo sector since 1958. "They have the advantage of darkness and distance. It's amazing how fast they can walk at night."

Most crossers like to start across the Rio Grande about 30 minutes after dusk, when they will have possibly 10 hours of darkness in which to put distance between them and the river.

The best crossing points are widely known on both sides of the river. There are 89 of them in the 118 miles of river patrolled by the Laredo sector but only 18 are regarded as heavily travelled.

A good crossing is one in which the river bed has no potholes or quicksand. Usually it also has a landmark on the American side from which a course can be drawn by dead reckoning.

The hunt for the night's crossers begins at daybreak when teams of officers in jeeps fan out to "cut sign" on the patrol's carefully tended and strategically placed drag strips and sand traps.

CUTTING SIGN

Cutting sign means gathering evidence of crossers; a drag strip is a section of a seldom-used ranch road which has been smoothed to reveal footprints; a sand trap serves the same purpose across a railroad track.

Recently, Fennell and his partner cut sign of two men on a drag strip a few miles north of Laredo. They radioed the information to other units and began following the sign across the range.

After a time they lost the tracks. So, as every border patrolman learns to do, they went to the nearest windmill, which signifies a water tank for cattle and an oasis for thirsty crossers.

Sure enough, there were the aliens. They had dug a hole and buried themselves in the underbrush. One of them was arrested for the second time; the other for the sixth.

The two were brought to Laredo, fingerprinted, checked out for criminal records — they had none —and then were flown at U.S. expense deep into Mexico and released.

Usually a first-time crosser is simply escorted over the bridge into Nuevo Laredo. A frequent repeater is formally deported. Then, if he's caught again, he faces prosecution under the immigration laws.

Veteran crossers have a bagful of tricks.

They walk the numerous cattle trails around Laredo, knowing that the cattle will obliterate their tracks; they walk backwards in the sand, hoping patrolmen will think they're headed for the river and ignore them.

ONE CROSSER

Deputy Chief Inspector Charles Frear recalls one crosser who cut the soles and heels off his shoes and tacked them on backward. Suspicious officers backtracked him and caught him anyway.

Sometimes daylight crossers will send an American citizen of Mexican descent over the river first to see if the crossing is being watched.

Despite the ruses, Kelly estimates that at least 90 per cent of those who cross the Rio Grande around Laredo are caught before they get out of the sector.

The others are picked up in the interior, some as far away as Chicago, Detroit or Cleveland, where they find unskilled work as farm hands or as laborers in industrial plants.

Eventually almost all are caught since, sooner or later, they are called upon to produce a draft card or a Social Security number.

The Laredo station also has a two-plane, four-pilot air force, operating out of a dirt landing strip at patrol headquarters on the grounds of old Ft. McIntosh.

Pilots like Noel Williams, 37, of Andrews, Tex., and LeRoy Harris, 38, of Chicago, have become adept at spotting tracks while maneuvering their planes at 70 miles an hour about 70 feet off the ground.

The planes — single-engine observer types which can land and take off on the rough ranch roads —also are used to "pin down" crossers until ground patrolmen arrive.

While the sign-cutters are roaming the range, other officers are checking suspicious persons in rail and bus stations, bars and restaurants in downtown Laredo.

Others are manning checkpoints on the four major highways — the Pan-American Highway is one— and still others are making the rounds of farm and ranchhouses, checking identification and asking about suspicious persons.

"Good relations with the ranchers is a must," says Kelly. "Most of the roads around here are private and we have to get permission to open gates and set up drag strips."

Mexican border stations like Laredo are training ground for border patrolmen now stationed all over the country.

Recruits spend 16 weeks at the Border Patrol Academy at Port Isabel, near Brownsville and then two years on duty somewhere between California and the Gulf of Mexico.

They start at $5,540 a year and move up in yearly jumps to $7,935 plus a 15 per cent bonus for "hazardous duty and uncontrollable overtime." Patrolmen are armed but they rarely have to use their guns.

"Most crossers give up without a fight once they realize they are caught," says Kelly. "The exceptions are unpredictable drunks, mental cases and narcotics addicts."

The Week In Focus

by Jack Gates

THE U. S. WHEAT DEAL

President Kennedy made official the past week what had been expected for several days — the U. S. will permit private businessmen to sell some $250-million worth of surplus wheat to the Soviet Union and her European satellites.

In announcing the plan, the President said he knew there "will be some who will disagree with this decision" but said it is "very much in the interest of the United States."

Reaction throughout the nation was mixed. Some wheat farmers in the Midwest were for the sale; others opposed it. Republicans generally in Congress opposed the plan and one, Rep. Stephen B. Derounian of New York said the trade "simply means that the American housewife will subsidize the Moscow housewife."

The sale will take nearly 200 million bushels out of American storage bins and cut the surplus supply by more than one-fifth. The surplus now is about 900 million bushels. Later, additional wheat may be sold to Hungary, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia. The Soviets will pay for the wheat in U. S. dollars or gold. But at that they will get the wheat at bargain prices — and only time will tell if the move is actually in the best interest of the U. S.

KHRUSHCHEV

There can be no doubt but what the Soviet Union is in trouble because of crop failures. In fact the economic failure is much worse than Western experts at first envisioned. Reports now indicate that the wheat yield in the vast "new lands" planting dropped to as low as three to four bushels per acre, compared with about 11 normally and about 25 or more in the U. S. In fact, Premier Khrushchev has admitted a lot about bad crops, which is unusual in itself, particularly when he tells the Russian people.

What has really made the U. S. economists perk up their ears was the fact that Khrushchev was willing to sell more than a half a billion dollars worth of gold on the London market in order to raise dollars for wheat purchase. The size of the Soviet gold reserve is not public knowledge, but intelligence experts say it is no bigger than $3 billion and may even be somewhat less. For the administrators of a planned economy to use up 15 to 20 per cent of their gold to buy not capital goods, but a perishable commodity, is a big admission of failure.

In view of the major problem involved, many wonder which nation — the U. S. or Russia — will receive the most benefit from the sale — and just what is actually behind it from our side of the fence.

BEHIND THE VALACHI SONGFEST

Mobster-informer Joseph Valachi completed his testimony before the Senate Investigations subcommittee the past week on the murderous Cosa Nostra crime syndicate of which he was a member.

Valachi, 60, who is under a life sentence for murder, capped his testimony with a witness stand confession that he engineered the 1952 murder of a New York mobster, Eugene Gianinni, who had been spotted as an informer for the federal narcotics bureau. He said he had volunteered to handle the killing, and that it had the sanction of New York mobster Vito Genovese, whom he called Cosa Nostra's dominant figure.

No doubt Valachi's testimony is important, although most of it probably was already known to law enforcement agencies, it came at an opportune time for Attorney General Robert Kennedy who obviously expects big dividends from the sensational headlines. Opponents claim Kennedy's Justice Department pushed Valachi into the spotlight for the specific purpose of creating an atmosphere favorable to passage of two of the attorney general's pet congressional requests — wiretapping and immunity legislation.

R. KENNEDY

Until the Valachi hearings, both proposals faced strong opposition on the grounds they gave the justice department too much power.

Opponents point out the measures are dangerous, and will, in effect, create a weapon that could be used as a political blackjack. Some even have described it as bordering on Gestapo methods.

U. S. BUSINESS IS HIT

Foreign investment in the U. S. is now $7.6 billion—more than twice what it was 10 years ago—and the move in is speeding up. The reason — the tough U. S. anti-trust laws.

It works like this: a large chunk of the $7.6 billion represents purchase by foreign companies of U. S. firms in the same field who are having difficulties. At the same time, American firms who would like to make similar maneuvers are stopped by anti-trust laws, since they may face expensive drawn-out litigation to prove that the take over is lawful.

The Commerce Department cites as a case in point the purchase of Underwood typewriter by Olivetti of Italy. An attempt by Remington to buy Underwood might well have been attacked by federal trust-busters.

INTERESTING NOTES BRIEFLY

Senator John J. Williams of Delaware has blasted the Kennedy Administration for what he terms "false claims" that it has reduced government expenditures and the federal payroll. Williams, ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, says the administration has added 152,000 government employes in its first 30 months, an addition of 5,000 each month or 250 each working day . . .

A NEW TWIST has been added to the possible link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer. Reports say now it might lie, not in the tobacco's tar, but in its radioactivity. Though tobacco has long been known to contain radioactive substances, they were not considered important, because, compared to the radioactivity inhaled from the air, the tobacco's content was thought to be small. Now two British scientists, Sir Ernest Marsden and Michael Collins, report that most radioactivity inhaled from air is exhaled before it can do any damage. On the other hand, they say, the radioactive-contents of tobacco produce relatively large radiation doses before being breathed out. They report there is a correlation over the last decade between lung cancer statistics and the increasing use of tobaccos with high radioactivity . . .

EISENHOWER

FORMER President Dwight D. Eisenhower wants it known that while he's not putting his chips on the table yet, he's not part of a stop-Goldwater movement. To make as much known publicly, Ike sent an emissary to Goldwater to suggest that if Goldwater would make some friendly gesture toward him, Ike would return a gesture in kind . . .

DURING HIS visit to Brazil, Yugoslavian President Tito shocked and angered officials by his preoccupation with security measures. In the first place, Tito brought 2,000 bodyguards along on the visit. The last straw was when he was invited to the historic city of Belo Horizonte and insisted on the preventive arrest of all Yugoslavs living there. The invitation was withdrawn . . .

THE EXECUTIVE eye-opener, a flask of pure oxygen in a leather case, will be marketed as a Christmas gift this year. Selling for $9.95, it is designed to refresh or sober high-pressure executives at board meetings, office breaks and 19th holes . . .

BERLIN TROUBLE

There is trouble in Berlin again.

Through noon Friday, communist troops had harassed U. S. Army convoys through East Germany for two consecutive days. During that period, the Soviets had delayed three convoys, one of them twice, but had cleared two other groups for the trip between West Berlin and West Germany.

On Thursday, an 18-vehicle convoy with 61 men aboard was delayed for 16 hours as it tried to cross the East German border. It was stopped again Friday as it tried to enter West Berlin.

The Soviets had demanded that the soldiers alight to be counted. The convoy commander refused, upholding the U. S. contention that military convoys are not subject to interference if their papers are in order.

Communist harassment of U. S. Army convoys occurs at irregular intervals, but this was the most serious such incident since 1959.

Washington And Domestic Reports

A SLIGHT scandal seems to be brewing inside Democratic ranks. The FBI has launched an investigation into the business affairs of Robert G. Baker, 36, who resigned his $19,600 a year post as secretary to the Democratic majority in the Senate. The charge is that Baker used his office to help win contracts with a government defense subcontractor for an automatic vending machine company with which he had financial dealings. Baker was considered a protege of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson . . .

THE GOVERNMENT'S top economist predicts that the national economy will hit the $600 billion level for the first time early next year — and bring more benefits to consumers. The forecast was made by Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of President Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers in connection with the submission of the first report to Kennedy of the Consumer advisory council . . .

MEANWHILE, the Senate Commerce Committee has approved a public accommodations bill aimed at outlawing racial discrimination in all but small neighborhood businesses. The measure would in effect leave it up to the courts to define which privately owned establishments catering to the public would be exempted. In the House, the civil rights package is making its way through the Judiciary Committee. The measures are stronger than those requested by the President and most agree that the bills, in their present form, have very little chance of approval. There are reports also that if it comes to a showdown, the President may junk the civil rights bill for this year in favor of his tax cut proposal, which he has described as the most important legislation to come before Congress in 15 years . . .

TWELVE more Americans have died in the South Viet Nam war. They were killed when two Marine Corps helicopters crashed in the central highland jungles, possibly shot down by Communist ground fire. This brings to 124 the number of Americans who have died in that strife-torn country since the U. S. began all-out aid in the fight against the Communist Viet Cong rebels . . .

ABOUT THE only tangible result of two days of talks between the Kennedy administration officials and Maurice Couve de Murville, French foreign minister, was an agreement for French President Charles de Gaulle to visit Washington next year. However, no sharp changes in present cool relations between the two nations are expected . . .

TALKING LIKE a candidate, Senator Barry Goldwater the past week told a group of Republicans at Hershey, Pa., that President Kennedy has forged a "cynical alliance" with big city political bosses." Said the Arizona Senator: "A party and an administration so beholden to the bosses must be prepared also to play precinct politics with the hopes of the world."

MEANWHILE, in New York, former vice president Richard M. Nixon said that President Kennedy's decision to sell wheat to Russia will prove "the major foreign policy mistake of this administration." Nixon claimed the wheat deal will cost American taxpayers $100 million, and that the mistake will be greater than "fouling up the Bay of Pigs invasion attempt." . . .

THE DEFENSE Department has announced that Sgt. Jack E. Dunlap of Bogalusa, La., who killed himself while under investigation, sold U. S. secrets to Soviet agents over a two-year period. Authorities said the material did not include U. S. codes and ciphers — the most sensitive items handled by the super secret National Security Agency where the Army sergeant had been assigned . . .

IN THE HOUSE, that chamber voted the past week to ban U. S. cooperation with any Communist country in exploration of the moon. It wrote the ban into the 1964 National Aeronautics and Space Administration's appropriation bill which contained $612 million less than President Kennedy had requested. Earlier, Kennedy had proposed that this nation and the Soviet Union mount a joint effort to put a man on the moon by 1970 . . .

NEWS FROM OVERSEAS

The major news development of the week came from Blackpool, England where Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, in a letter from his hospital bed, surrendered leadership of the conservative party and disclosed his intention to resign as Britain's prime minister. Macmillan earlier in the week underwent a successful operation, but said he would be unable to carry on long as prime minister and has so informed Queen Elizabeth.

MACMILLAN

The move split the ruling Conservative party into a bitter three-man fight. Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler led the field to succeed Macmillan despite a dramatic challenge Thursday night by Lord Hailsham, science minister and party leader in the House of Lords. The dark horse candidate is Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling, 46, the Tory version of a New Frontiersman.

The mad scramble now on could hurt the party's chances in the next election — and could possibly damage the present setup between the U. S. and Britain . . .

IN DAMASCUS, Syria and Iraq have jointly proclaimed a military union and creation of a supreme defense council headed by a supreme commander. Strongman Gen. Amin Hafez, president of Syria's National Revolutionary Council, told his people that the union will take in all troops of both countries. . .

IN ITALY one of the worst disasters in history. It developed when a catastrophic flood, caused by a mammoth mountain landslide into a hydroelectric dam reservoir turned the once beautiful Alpine area of Belluno into a vast mud-covered grave. Estimates of the casualty toll ranged up to 4,000. They were killed swiftly when the gigantic wall of water from the Vaiont Dam reservoir crashed down. Scientists suspected an earthquake loosed the avalanche . . .

AN ANTI-Castro group says the devastation wrought in Cuba by Hurricane Flora has struck a major blow at Fidel Castro's dictatorship and almost anything could happen to him now. It still is not known how many were killed in Cuba, but it is known that entire valleys were flooded. During the hurricane there was a report that Castro fell from a boat during rescue operations and nearly drowned . . .

Highlight Story On Wallace Of Alabama

EDITOR'S NOTE — Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace has drawn both condemnation and praise for his controversial stand in Alabama's bitter civil rights crisis. In this rare personal closeup, he graphically reveals through his own words his motivations and aims in the continuing integration struggle that grips his state.

By JULES LOH

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— The third quarter was nearly over and Clayton High, in the characteristically earthy idiom of the governor of Alabama, was getting its tail beat.

Beyond the six-foot chain link fence surrounding the lighted field beyond the cluster of Negro boys watching the game from the darkness on the other side, the town of Clayton, home town of George C. Wallace Jr., was closed for the night. The whole town, as they say, had turned out for the game —and not because the governor was there; his visit was a surprise.

Wallace raised his arm in a sweeping gesture, taking in the rather typical scene: football field; wooden bleachers 10 rows deep on each side of the 50-yard-line; talkative women in folding chairs flanking the benches; groups of men along the sidelines; three ladies at a card table selling chances on a cake — the governor bought six; teen-age girls dispensing soft drinks, coffee and hot dogs from a covered booth; boys cavorting beneath the stands.

This Is Why

"This is why we can't integrate the schools in Alabama," Wallace said.

"This isn't just a football game; it's a social function. It's the same in every little city in Alabama. The school is the center of social life. Hell, these people just plain don't want to mix. Ask 'em. Ask 'em if they're in favor of what I'm doing."

There was hardly need to ask. From the moment he arrived in his year-old Chevvy, borrowed $20 from his driver, bought tickets for himself and his wife ("No, no, let me pay, I insist, it's for the school,") and stepped through the gate, George Wallace was besieged by worshippers.

"Heighdy, George!" they shouted.

"We're with you, little man!"

"Keep fighting, judge!"

He signed every wrinkled scrap of paper thrust at him by jostling youngsters, autographed the white boots of the cheerleaders and the bass drum of the Samson High band. He scaled the crossbeams of the rear of the grandstand to reach the microphone and tell them, "It sure is good to be home and see all you folks. Y'all come up to Montgomery sometime and visit us. You're always welcome." He called most of the people by name. One woman rushed up and threw her arms around his neck.

"God bless you, George," she whispered. "I pray for you every day."

"Thank you, Ruth. Thank you for saying that."

It is true that these were his friends, the people who twice had sent him to the legislature and had elected him their circuit judge. But a similar sentiment, or close to it, is evident to many observers throughout the state, especially in the rural areas.

Wallace won his office by the largest vote and greatest majority ever given an Alabama governor and there are those who believe his popularity has soared even more since he took office last January.

If his bluster over federal integration orders, his "stand at the schoolhouse door" and his raw segregationist outbursts have galled Northern critics, they seem to have convinced vast numbers of Alabamians that they have a St. George willing to sally forth and risk his all to stave off the federal dragon.

The risks are real enough, but so far Wallace has shown he knows how far he can go without violating federal court orders restraining him from interfering with school integration.

He vowed, "Segregation now, segregation tomorrow, segregation forever," and the day he was inaugurated he said, "I draw the line in the dust and toss the gauntlet . . ." But the fact is Negroes have crossed the line and entered classrooms in five Alabama cities.

Despite this, thousands of Alabamians believe Wallace, now and in the past, actually has defied the federal government and gotten by with it. They believe it because he says so.

Once he refused to hand over voter registration records to a Federal Civil Rights Commission and pleaded guilty of contempt of court. The federal judge, an old law school chum, refused to cite Wallace because in the end he did get the records.

Wallace spluttered that he was in contempt and if that judge says he wasn't he's "an integrating, carpetbagging, scalawagging, race-mixing, bald-faced liar."

The football game ended—Samson 30, Clayton 0—and Gov. and Mrs. Wallace decided to stop by their house for a visit with Mother Mae, his grandmother, before driving the 85 miles back to Montgomery.

Relaxing

George Wallace was relaxing. It was his third visit home since he became governor. He had received a letter saying the Samson High band planned to form a W at halftime and play, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and the governor decided to knock off early —he usually quits work after 10 p.m.—and accept the accolade in person.

As the car turned into the driveway of his home Wallace pushed the handle and held the door ajar, ready to leap out before it came to a stop.

"Be careful, George," said his wife.

"He does that all the time," said the driver, J. C. Fowler. "You can't open a door for that man. He won't give you time."

Before going inside the governor strolled around to the back yard. Unbuttoning his suit coat he sucked in a long breath of the cool country air "Man, look at those pecan trees," he said. "I've never seen them so full. Figs look good and aplump too."

He stood for a moment silently studying the dark treetops silhouetted against the moon-bright sky Birmingham's woes, presidential primaries, court injunctions, an office piled high with half a million letters from across the country—all these, for a quiet moment, were light years away.

George Wallace is a disarming governor. One of his closest friends describes him as a man with "an astonishing faculty for making you feel you are his mammy and have to help him." At 44 he is a small man—5 feet 7, and 150 pounds—with a quick step, flat stomach, nervous hands. A one-inch scar over his right eyebrow attests that he is a former boxer, bantamweight champ of Alabama back in 1936 and 1937.

He shuns the pomp and personal attention that go with his office and puts visitors completely at ease. "Hell, ain't no reason why a governor has to be stiff." He buys his suits off the rack and eats his lunch at the Capitol cafeteria.

One more deep breath and then he said, "Let's go inside."

The house is a typical old Southern home—broad front porch, high ceilings, large kitchen. Wallace scooped up a handful of cookies, poured a glass of buttermilk, then went to the sitting room and slumped in the corner of a couch. Inevitably, the conversation drifted to his favorite topic.

"What is law," he said, "but the crystalization of public opinion? For 100 years our laws, segregation laws, have reflected the opinion of the people of this state—and the federal Supreme Court upheld them all that time.

"Now they want to come along and change them. They didn't ask us. Didn't care a damn thing about our opinion. Didn't give a thought to the separate school systems we built with their blessing. Now tell me, is that right?"

No Malice

"I tell you," he said, "them damn Kennedy's are going to ruin this country. I hold no personal malice toward the President," he said. "Get that straight. Everything I say about him is in a political vein."

He plucked a copy of "Profiles in Courage" from the shelf and opened it to the flyleaf. The inscription read: "To Judge George Wallace with very best wishes. John Kennedy."

"Hell, at the 1956 convention I voted for John Kennedy on the second ballot for vice president. I escorted his sister to the Alabama delegation so she could speak in his behalf. And I voted for him for president. I'm not so proud of that, though."

He snatched a pocket comb from within his coat and ran it nervously through his thick black hair.

"Kennedy's a nice fellow, personally. I rode with him in that helicopter a few weeks ago and told him then that I had the highest regard for him and his family and there was nothing personal in all this. I'm sure as hell going to do my best to see he doesn't get elected again."

Alabamians regard it as a sure bet Wallace will enter several presidential primaries in Northern states, though the governor says he hasn't yet made up his mind.

He says he has no illusions about being nominated. "But I could sure stir things up. I could show Kennedy there's a hell of a lot of folks up North who feel the same way we do down here. You saw all that mail, all those people asking me to run for president.

"And you should have seen the folks swarm around me up in Baltimore. There was twice as many people as the paper said. And Gettysburg, at the governors' conference. I got more applause than any other governor. Ask anybody that was there who got the most applause."

Wallace returned to the couch, jammed a fresh cigar two inches deep in the corner of his mouth and began chewing. The women were in the kitchen brewing coffee. There was a knock at the back door.

Doors Open

"George, you in there?"

"Hey, Tom. Come on in," Wallace called. "Door's open."

"Just don't, that's all," said Ventress, apparently surprised anyone would even ask the question.

"Look," said Wallace, "it's hard for me to talk about this because it might come out sounding like I hate Negroes. I don't hate Negroes and neither do any of these folks down here. Ain't that right, Tom?" Ventress nodded.

"I've defended more Negroes in criminal court than I have white folks. I pleaded for a condemned colored man at a clemency hearing and saved his life. And I was the judge in a trial over at Eufaula in 1954 and sent a white man off for life for killing a Negro. I used to be a trustee of Tuskegee Institute—that's a Negro school."

Wallace strode again to the bookcase. His eyes darted up and down the shelves.

"I wrote the bill in the legislature that set up trade schools all over this state. First one built was in Birmingham—for Negroes. That was in 1949. I dedicated the school and spoke at the first graduation. They sent me a copy of their yearbook. I've got it here some place."

The governor gave up the search. It was getting late, time to start back to Montgomery.

He said goodby to Mother Mae and the neighbors, sprinted out to the car, jerked open the door and jumped in the back seat. Mrs. Wallace climbed in beside him, obviously tired. Before the car was out of town she had taken off her shoes and curled up in the corner, eyes closed. The driver, Fowler, also was obviously exhausted.

In Silence

Wallace sat in silence for several miles but soon was on the edge of the seat, leaning forward, talking.

"Did you hear they're blaming me for that bombing in Birmingham? Isn't that a hell of a note. There were more bombings in Birmingham before I became governor than since. Do they blame me for them too?"

He pulled a ring of about two dozen keys from his pocket and fidgeted with them.

"They say my defiance of the federal law caused the climate that led to the bombings. — Martin Luther King was the one who started breaking laws in Alabama. Why don't they blame him? He broke our laws, but he says he doesn't have to obey them because they're unjust. Well, for 100 years the Supreme Court thought they were just, and we still think so. And I say the 1954 Supreme Court decision is the most unjust law on the books."

LIFE'S INTERESTING SIDE

New Monroe Air Terminal For '64 To Be Among Best

MONROE AIR TERMINAL slated for opening next year will cost $455,000. Officials forecast it will be one of "most modern and beautiful" terminals in the nation. Architect's concept is shown here.

FIRST AIRPORT building at Monroe was constructed by Delta Air Service Inc. in 1932. Crop dusting was the primary service at that time.

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Monroe's new airport terminal, a $455,000 ultra modern structure, should be ready for air traffic by late next year. Construction begins next week.

Need for the new building is shown by the increase in air traffic passengers from 6,174 in 1945 to 65,000 per year now using commercial airlines at Monroe.

Mayor W. L. Howard explains, "Since the airport is our show-window to visitors and prospective new business leaders, the City Council felt we ought to build a new facility that would not only be useful and serve the travelling public, but also one which would reflect pride on the city and give visitors an extremely good impression of Monroe."

Jesse F. Heard & Sons Inc. are general contractors on the project, described as "a turn-key job" by architects Roy Johns and John I. Neel.

FROM BOND ISSUE

Part of the city's $11,250,000 civic improvement bond issue is financing the terminal — the first building begun under the bond issue funds. Contracts will be awarded next year and in 1965 on the downtown civic center and municipal auditorium.

The new terminal will contrast sharply with the old building, which "was completed in 1948 and which has grown more obsolete every day since then," according to Hank Hargrove, airport manager.

Huge lobby, plus restaurant seating 80 people and an electric coffee shop and grille.

21,280 square feet of floor space, including 16,800 square feet on the main floor plus a 4,480 square foot mezzanine area being considered as a future observation deck.

Space for four airlines.

"Floating on air" concrete roof.

It will be composed of folded concrete plate, forming gables. It will overhang 18 feet from the building on the field and street sides.

Inside the roof will be visible and will rest on solar gray glass to create the "floating" effect.

A 70-car parking area will be located on the south side of the building, so as not to interfere with the landscaping and circular entrance drive in front of the terminal.

The instrument runway will be extended, probably in 1965, and taxiway lights will be installed to tie in with the new terminal.

Lobby areas will include new counters for two car-rental firms now serving the terminal.

On the mezzanine, facilities will be available for a second level walkway overlooking the first floor lobby areas, airport manager's office, secretary's office, conference room, telephone equipment room, mechanical equipment room, janitor's storage room and large unfinished area for future office rental space or observation area.

The building will be constructed of poured - in - place reinforced concrete structural system of 12-inch by 18-inch concrete columns. No interior columns will be needed.

Exterior walls will be Roman brick cavity construction, exposed inside and out. Redwood lines will be inset in the brick.

Double - insulated solar-gray glass walls will be featured on the field side of the lobby and restaurant area, with principal views toward the airstrip.

A complete intercom and paging system is included for each airline, with speakers indoors and out.

The roof will be pre-fabricated Dupont "Tedlar" plastic film laminated on 43-pound felt laminated on one and one-half inches of polystyrene roof insulation.

TWO ENTRANCES

Two glass entrances will be on the street side, a third on the south end near the new parking area, a fourth as an exit from the north concourse and the fifth on the field side.

The fifth entrance will contain four doors and lead directly to an anodized aluminum covered walkway going directly to the airplanes.

Four passenger gates will be served by the covered walkway, which extends 50 feet out from the main building, then 380 feet north and south parallel to the existing concrete aprons.

Passengers will be able to claim return luggage from a 36-inch wide rubber belt conveyor connecting the outdoor area with the baggage claim room.

The building will have an 80-foot long lawn area on the south end for future expansion.

Future plans call for two additional parking areas to be located across the street from the terminal.

The City Council, composed of Finance and Utilities Commissioner H. W. McSherry, Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez, and Mayor Howard, also have scheduled new furnishings and a complete interior decorating plan for the building.

The three commercial airlines serving Monroe utilize the following types of aircraft: 26-passenger DC-3's, 40-passenger Martin 404's and 44-passenger Convair 440's.

Delta will inaugurate four-engine service with 68-passenger DC-6's on October 27.

Delta long-range plans are expected to bring 85-passenger jet aircraft — DC-9's—into Monroe by 1970.

"Monroe Air Terminal" is the name of the building.

The airport's first terminal building was constructed in 1932 by Delta Airlines, when crop dusting was still its primary business.

OLD AIRPORT

The old airport is now the extreme northwest corner of the Selman Field reservation. The old 2,000-foot runways, since plowed up, are still visible from the air.

"Then when World War 2 started," recalls Hargrove, "the parish (Ouachita) and the city got together on the land and gave it to the Army Air Corps to establish present Selman Field as a navigation school.

"After the war, the Army deeded this property to the city of Monroe in 1946, with the exception of 12 acres which were deeded to Ouachita parish.

"At that time, the property consisted of 2,696 acres. Since that time, we have added 32 acres for establishment of the recently completed center line sequence flashing light approach system, the 'running rabbit'."

Runways have expanded from 2,000 feet asphalt runways in the 1930's to 5,000-foot-long concrete facilities.

It will continue in use for expanded Federal Aviation Agency Flight Service and general aviation including private planes.

Monroe now has all of the modern Very High Frequency and Ultra High Frequecy electronic facilities such as VOR TACAN and ILS to guide airplanes. In the near future the airport will receive VHF direction finding equipment. It already has distance measuring equipment.

The Control Tower and approach light system have been installed in the last three years.

CAN BE EXPANDED

One of the shortcomings of the present building "it's not built for expansion at all", will be remedied in the new structure.

The new terminal will be 240 feet long by 70 feet wide, and can be extended an additional 160 feet.

It will be located between the old building and the control tower.

"It's my opinion," says Mayor Howard, "that this new facility is going to be one of the most modern and beautiful air terminals of any that I know of in the country."

Residents of the 15-parish Fifth Congressional District of northeast Louisiana and commuters from south Arkansas using the terminal will find the following features:

THE FEATURES

Large lobby and waiting room areas with spacious ceiling heights, 72-foot-long continuous ticket counter used by three airlines, ticket counter concourse and waiting area, electric coffee shop and grille, restaurant with seating for 80, large kitchen and storage room, built-in cold storage room, public toilets, mechanical equipment room, janitor's closet, alcove area off main lobby for vending machines and luggage lockers, central baggage return room, large airport storage room opening to outside.

Business officers, operations rooms and baggage rooms will be provided for Delta Air Lines, Southern Airways, Inc., and

FROM BESIDE their jeep, Senior Inspector Ronald Johnson (left) of Murrieta, Calif., and Inspector Arnold Holthus of Denver, Colo., direct a low flying plane of the U.S. border patrol toward tracks which may be those of a wetback who has crossed the Rio Grande from Mexico to the U.S. near Laredo, Tex. Holthus is talking to the plane over a radio transmitter. The Laredo station of the patrol service has two planes and four pilots to aid in the hunt for Mexicans trying to enter the U.S. illegally. Fenn (right) trains his field glasses on the Rio Grande while Senior Inspector Lewis Underdown also watches a boat being rowed from the Mexican to the United States side of the river, near Laredo, Tex. Border Patrol Work Is Most Interesting

EDITOR'S NOTE — The border between the United States and Mexico is a friendly one, and an easy one to cross. That's why U.S. Border Patrol agents are kept on the hop—tracking down Mexicans who stroll across without benefit of passport.

By TOM HENSHAW

Around him, children splashed in the shallow, muddy water. Behind him, across a blanket of green mesquite shimmering in the afternoon heat, music blared from the cantinas of old Mexico.

High on the opposite bank, half hidden in mesquite and salt cedar trees, Jim Fennell watched the old man for a long moment through his binoculars.

"He's got a line in the water," he told his companion, Lewis Underdown, and they went back to watching the children at play and older Mexicans stringing their trot-lines in midstream.

The old man was only fishing so Fennell and Underdown lost interest. But he might have been readying himself for a dash across the waist-deep Rio Grande. Then, as an illegal alien — a "wetback" —he would have been their quarry.

OPERATING

Journeyman Officer Fennell, 34, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Senior Inspector Underwood, 38, of Clarendon, Tex., are members of the U.S. Border Patrol, opreating out of its busy Laredo station.

This day, they were on watch at a river crossing known as D-2, one mile downstream from the bridge where legal traffic crosses the Rio Grande between Laredo and Nuevo Laredo, its twin city on the Mexican side.

This year, the Border Patrol has been especially watchful, for drought and hard times in northern Mexico have sent increasing numbers of Mexicans across the river illegally, seeking work in the United States.

The number of illegal aliens apprehended by the 74 patrolmen of the Laredo sector this year is running about double that of 1962 when 713 were run down and shipped back home.

"Our advantage is that we know the terrain," says Jim Kelly, chief patrol inspector of the Laredo sector since 1958. "They have the advantage of darkness and distance. It's amazing how fast they can walk at night."

Most crossers like to start across the Rio Grande about 30 minutes after dusk, when they will have possibly 10 hours of darkness in which to put distance between them and the river.

The best crossing points are widely known on both sides of the river. There are 89 of them in the 118 miles of river patrolled by the Laredo sector but only 18 are regarded as heavily travelled.

A good crossing is one in which the river bed has no potholes or quicksand. Usually it also has a landmark on the American side from which a course can be drawn by dead reckoning.

The hunt for the night's crossers begins at daybreak when teams of officers in jeeps fan out to "cut sign" on the patrol's carefully tended and strategically placed drag strips and sand traps.

CUTTING SIGN

Cutting sign means gathering evidence of crossers; a drag strip is a section of a seldom-used ranch road which has been smoothed to reveal footprints; a sand trap serves the same purpose across a railroad track.

Recently, Fennell and his partner cut sign of two men on a drag strip a few miles north of Laredo. They radioed the information to other units and began following the sign across the range.

After a time they lost the tracks. So, as every border patrolman learns to do, they went to the nearest windmill, which signifies a water tank for cattle and an oasis for thirsty crossers.

Sure enough, there were the aliens. They had dug a hole and buried themselves in the underbrush. One of them was arrested for the second time; the other for the sixth.

The two were brought to Laredo, fingerprinted, checked out for criminal records — they had none —and then were flown at U.S. expense deep into Mexico and released.

Usually a first-time crosser is simply escorted over the bridge into Nuevo Laredo. A frequent repeater is formally deported. Then, if he's caught again, he faces prosecution under the immigration laws.

Veteran crossers have a bagful of tricks.

They walk the numerous cattle trails around Laredo, knowing that the cattle will obliterate their tracks; they walk backwards in the sand, hoping patrolmen will think they're headed for the river and ignore them.

ONE CROSSER

Deputy Chief Inspector Charles Frear recalls one crosser who cut the soles and heels off his shoes and tacked them on backward. Suspicious officers backtracked him and caught him anyway.

Sometimes daylight crossers will send an American citizen of Mexican descent over the river first to see if the crossing is being watched.

Despite the ruses, Kelly estimates that at least 90 per cent of those who cross the Rio Grande around Laredo are caught before they get out of the sector.

The others are picked up in the interior, some as far away as Chicago, Detroit or Cleveland, where they find unskilled work as farm hands or as laborers in industrial plants.

Eventually almost all are caught since, sooner or later, they are called upon to produce a draft card or a Social Security number.

The Laredo station also has a two-plane, four-pilot air force, operating out of a dirt landing strip at patrol headquarters on the grounds of old Ft. McIntosh.

Pilots like Noel Williams, 37, of Andrews, Tex., and LeRoy Harris, 38, of Chicago, have become adept at spotting tracks while maneuvering their planes at 70 miles an hour about 70 feet off the ground.

The planes — single-engine observer types which can land and take off on the rough ranch roads —also are used to "pin down" crossers until ground patrolmen arrive.

While the sign-cutters are roaming the range, other officers are checking suspicious persons in rail and bus stations, bars and restaurants in downtown Laredo.

Others are manning checkpoints on the four major highways — the Pan-American Highway is one—and still others are making the rounds of farm and ranchhouses, checking identification and asking about suspicious persons.

"Good relations with the ranchers is a must," says Kelly. "Most of the roads around here are private and we have to get permission to open gates and set up drag strips."

Mexican border stations like Laredo are training ground for border patrolmen now stationed all over the country.

Recruits spend 16 weeks at the Border Patrol Academy at Port Isabel, near Brownsville and then two years on duty somewhere between California and the Gulf of Mexico.

They start at $5,540 a year and move up in yearly jumps to $7,935 plus a 15 per cent bonus for "hazardous duty and uncontrollable overtime." Patrolmen are armed but they rarely have to use their guns.

"Most crossers give up without a fight once they realize they are caught," says Kelly. "The exceptions are unpredictable drunks, mental cases and narcotics addicts."

Erhard Ends Long Waiting For Top Post

BONN, Germany, (AP) — Ludwig Erhard, after patiently waiting in the wings for years, at last becomes West Germany's new chancellor next week.

Konrad Adenauer, the retiring chancellor, did not want Erhard, his popular economics minister, to succeed him. Adenauer delayed his retirement because he believed Erhard did not have the political talent to follow him. Erhard built up his following until he became the only choice of the Christian Democratic party and its coalition ally, the Free Democratic party. Together they control the majority in Parliament needed to elect him.

Erhard, fat, jovial and 66, is taking over one of the toughest political assignments in the world. He has to govern with a coalition. He takes over a country with politically explosive problems. He has to triumph over a Social Democratic opposition gaining more and more favor with the voters.

EXPERIENCE

Erhard brings to the chancellorship 14 years of experience as a Cabinet member and great personal popularity as the "father of the economic miracle" of postwar recovery. He opposes the government's mixing in business and supports U.S.-favored policies on Europe and the Atlantic alliance.

Erhard is inheriting a stable, prosperous country but also many problems that could blow up in his face during the next two years. That is all the time left before the next election, in which he must lead his party to a strong showing if he hopes to be re-elected chancellor.

A steady rise in the federal budget threatens to force an unpopular tax increase in 1964 or 1965. Labor unions are pressing for big wage boosts. Economic growth has slowed down, making inflation a danger.

Texas Longhorns Romp To Upset Win Over Top Rated Oklahoma

Duke Carlisle Engineers Big Steer Attack

DALLAS (UPI) — Daring Duke Carlisle engineered an almost flawless offense and baffled Oklahoma's No. 1 ranked Sooners with perfect execution of the option play Saturday to spark second-ranking Texas to a 28-7 upset victory.

The 6-1, 174-pound quarterback, whose starting role seems always in danger of being wrested away, drove Texas 68 yards with the opening kickoff for a 7-0 lead to set the tempo of the game and Texas' terrific defensive duo of Scott Appleton and Timmy Doerr saw to it personally that the Oklahoma offensive gears seldom meshed.

Oklahoma didn't cross midfield until midway in the third quarter after Carlisle and halfbacks Tommy Ford and Phil Harris had erected a 21-0 lead on the way to the Cotton Bowl's second-major upset in less than 24 hours. Southern Methodist beat sixth-ranked Navy on the same sod 32-28 Friday night.

Sixth In Row

The victory, sixth in a row for a Darrell Royal-coached Texas team over his alma mater, ended any doubts that last year's fourth-ranked Texas entry was ready to make an immpressive bid for this year's national championship. It was Texas' fourth win in a row.

Texas so dominated the play that Oklahoma managed only three first downs in the first half and ran only 14 plays to Texas' 40.

Carlisle contributed 37 yards on Texas' opening 68-yard drive all of them with the option play to the left or right, and capped it with a three-yard scoring surge.

He directed Texas 22 yards for a second period score, which Ford scored from 12 yards out, after a short Oklahoma punt and a personal foul penalty against the Sooners gave them the short-yardage opportunity.

Carlisle got the same chance again in the opening minutes of the third period when Appleton recovered an Oklahoma fumble on the Sooner 18. This time, Ford moved it down to the three and Harris took it over from their on fourth down after the Oklahoma line stiffened momentarily.

Reserves Score

Reserves got Texas the final touchdown with just 51 seconds on the clock when Marv Kristynik tossed a 14-yard pass to end George Sauer.

Fourth-string quarterback John Hammond put Oklahoma's only points on the scoreboard in the third period with a three-yard run to cap a 62 - yard Sooner drive.

Texas ripped the Oklahoma line for 239 yards on the ground and its only pass completion in three tries went for a touchdown. Oklahoma managed 127 yards rushing, most of it the one sustained drive.

Ford was the top ground gainer with 77 yards, followed by Carlisle with 62. Jim Grisham, Oklahome fullback, accounted for 74 yards.

Texas Froggies Take 35-3 Jump Past Texas Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Crutcher spurred Texas Christian's fumbling Frogs to a 35-3 victory over Texas Tech in a bungling Southwest Conference football game Saturday night.

The aggressive 210-pound senior set up two touchdowns, scored one himself and threw the key block that sprung quarterback Gary Mills loose on another.

He added a 34-yard romp to lay the groundwork for the first Frog marker and streaked 53 yards with a Mills' aerial to open the door for the second.

Five times the Frogs fumbled away the ball, several times in their own end of the field, but the Red Raiders' sputtering offense could never muster a touchdown thrust.

The Frogs punched across for two touchdowns in the first quarter, added another in the third and then cut the desperate Raiders' throat with a couple more in the finale.

Crutcher scored the original on a 11-yard burst and then cut down the lone opposition to send Mills in from the six.

Swift Jim Fauver notched the third on a four-yard scamper, halfback Marvin Chipman sped 60 yards over his right end for the fourth and Dan ones wrapped it up with a 43-yard return of an intercepted pass.

Texas Tech' lit the scoreboard for its one and only time in the second stanza when H.L. Daniels booted a 32-yard field goal. The three - pointer, Daniels' 11th, eclipsed the Southwest Conference record of 10 set by Baylor's Wesley Bradshaw in 1921-1922.

SEC VICTORY

State Tramples Greenies, 31-10

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Undefeated Mississippi State overcame early overconfidence Saturday night and whipped Tulane 31-10 in a Southeastern Conference game.

Showing a balanced ground attack, the once-tied Maroons spotted Tulane's winless Greenies 10 points early in the second quarter, then turned on the steam to send the Green Wave reeling into defeat.

Halfbacks Price (Buddy) Hodges and Ode Burrell, fullback Hoyle Granger and quarterback Sonny Fisher put State back in the game with a 77-yard touchdown march in 17 plays. The Maroons went ahead a minute later when halfback John Sparks picked off a pass by Tulane quarterback Al Burguieres and ran 27 yards for another touchdown.

It was all Mississippi State for the remainder of the game.

Guard Paul Walters of Tulane set up a 20-yard field goal by fullback Don Bright when he recovered a Burrell fumble on the Maroon eight.

End Jim Saxon recovered a Hodges fumble on the ensuing kickoff at the State 22 to set up Tulane's first touchdown in 23 quarters of play. The payoff came on an eight-yard heave from Burgueres to end Clem Dellenger, with Bright converting.

It was Hodges who capped the first Maroon touchdown drive with a six-yard sweep that Tulane defenders had not anticipated. Fisher fooled the Tulane defense by calling a series of quick thrusts into the middle of the line by Granger and Burrell. Canale booted the first of four extra points—the last of which covered 33 yards because of a penalty.

After intermission, the Maroons tallied on a 39-yard march following a short Tulane punt. Burrell knifed the final yard for the marker.

Reserves played much of the final period for State, when the Maroons drove 51-yards for another score and 60-yards to set up a 25-yard field goal by Canale.

The touchdown came in a three-yard run by fullback Bobby Jones.

It was the 15th straight loss for Tulane, which has the longest current winless streak in the SEC.

Cruce Scores Two TD's For Canines

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

The Howard College Bulldogs lost their star halfback because of illness and promptly found a new one who led them to a trim 13-7 victory over a gang of fighting Northeast State Indians before some 3,600 fans at Brown Stadium here Saturday night.

Howard's Little All-American candidate Reggie Allen had to miss the game because of a leg infection, but junior halfback Richard Cruce took up the slack, scoring on a 16-yard pass from quarterback Larry Wyatt in the first period, then dashing 95-yards with the second half kickoff to give the Bulldogs their win.

Northeast, plagued by injuries all season, but refusing to quit anyway, roared back 79-yards in 13 plays on a third quarter march and sent senior fullback Willie Ragan plunging over from the one for the score.

Ragan, who pushed his career total to over 1,000 yards and was one of the main cogs in the touchdown drive added the extra point to make it 13-7.

Northeast, ignited by the TD, controlled the ball much of the final period and came close to scoring two more times.

Howard punter Rex Keeling punted to the Howard 36 on first down and the Indians were off and running again. Four plays, including a nine-yard slice by fullback Ronnie Graham, gained down to the Howard 19 before Cruce came up with Graham's bobble to kill the threat.

Cruce got off a great, twisting 31-yard run to the Indian 38 before Alton Thomas brought him down. The play got Howard out of trouble, but late in the game end Carlyle Williams recovered Dave Currey's fumble on the Bulldog 42.

This time Northeast punched down to the 29 where Howard guard Don Shurbet pounced on quarterback Bookie Shillcut's bobble, ending the Indians' last threat.

Ragan, the backbone of the Northeast ground attack all season, lead all rushers with 99 yards on 21 carries. He was followed by freshman halfback Alton Thomas, who had 33 on five runs. Thomas, a never-quit type of runner who twists and turns for extra yardage, teamed with Ragan on the Indian touchdown drive.

Cruce was the big gainer for Howard with 61 yards on 12 tries. Fullback Ed Donahoo followed with 33 on 10.

Wyatt paced Howard's passing, completing two of two for 53 yards. Mike Cooper had two of seven to gain 21 yards for Northeast.

The Indians also piled up 13 first downs to eight for the visitors and 197 yards rushing to 137.

Howard scored early in the first quarter, marching 59-yards in seven plays with Wyatt's 16-yard pass to Cruce the big payoff. Cruce took the ball in on or about the goal line, bobbled it with a tackler hanging on him, then grabbed it and twisted around to go into the end zone for the score. Cruce, a junior halfback tried to run over a two-point conversion after a penalty moved the ball half the distance to the goal, but was swarmed under and Howard had a 6-0 lead with 6:50 left in the quarter.

Northeast returned the kick to its 37 and marched down to the Howard 23 where Williams bobbled Cooper's pass and Bobby Austin recovered for Howard.

Late in the second quarter, Howard took over on the Indian 49 and marched to the three in 10 plays. From here Cruce circled left end to apparently score again. The play was called back on a 15-yard holding penalty and the Indians held on downs.

Cruce took the second half kickoff at the five, went down the left sideline, cut inside on a block and then went back to the sideline to race all the way untouched. Fullback Larry Lackey knifed down the last two Indian pursuers at the 10 and Cruce crossed the goal line with 15 seconds gone in the period. Kicker Rex Keeling added the extra point for the 13-0 lead.

Northeast made its touchdown march after Donahue had quicked 53-yards to the Tribe 21.

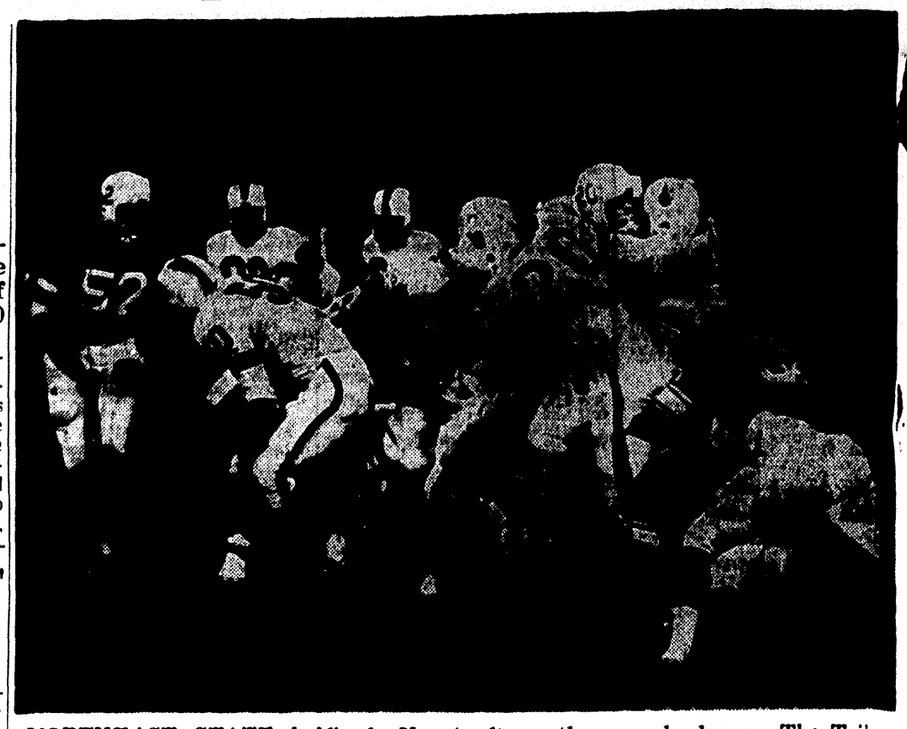

Thomas and Ragan alternated carrying the ball almost every play with Thomas contributing two nine-yard runs and a 13-yarder. Ragan blasted the ball from the 11 to the three on three straight cracks, Cooper kept to the one and Willie blasted into the end zone with one minute in the period.

BRYANT'S FIRST HOME LOSS

3rd Ranked Alabama Defeated By Florida

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Underdog Florida swept third-ranked Alabama off its feet Saturday, scoring a 10-6 football victory and handing Coach Paul Bryant his first loss at home since coming to Alabama six yaers ago.

The Gators, who had a 1-1-1 record, went ahead 3-0 in the first quarter on Bob Lyle's 42-yard field goal and rolled their lead up to 10-0 in the final quarter on halfback Dick Kirk's 41 - yard touchdown dash. This climaxed a 75-yard drive.

It was only then that vaunted Alabama scored. Quarterback Joe Namath plunged over from one-foot out. The two-point conversion play was smothered.

A 41-yard touchdown dash by halfback Dick Kirk was the difference in the rugged Southeastern Conference duel.

Pass interceptions and fumbles killed Alabama's chances of continuing its unbeaten string. The Gator line refused to be buffaloed by the vaunted Alabama offense, repeatedly causing Alabama backs to fumble.

It was Florida's second victory of the season against one loss and a tie. Alabama won its previous three games.

The Gators, two touchdown underdogs, scored the first time they got the ball when Lyle booted the 42-yard field goal. Alabama had been unable to move and nearly lost the ball in the end zone when punter Buddy French fumbled on third down. He recovered, but his punt was short and gave the Gators their early scoring opporutnity.

Florida's heavier line dominated play throughout most of the game, and was led by such stalwarts as co-captain Jimmy Morgan and tackle Sydney McLean.

Fumblitis cost the Tide several scoring opportunities and alert Florida backfield defenders led by Hagood Clarke snatched several errant passes by Alabama quarterback Joe Namath.

Twice in the second period, Florida drove deep into Alabama territory. The first drive faltered at the 1 after four tries from the 2. Moments later the Tide line held at the 7.

Florida's big fullback, Larry Dupree, kept the Alabama line hopping and Gator quarterback Tom Shannon swept the Tide defenders off balance with some fancy passing. Dupree ground out 83 yards.

In the final quarter, Florida started a drive on its 25. Dupree pounded out 17 yards and Shannon whipped an 18-yard pass to end Barry Brown. On the following play, Kirk broke through Alabama's right tackle and raced into the end zone.

Alabama's offense finally jelled and Namath began hitting receivers Jimmy Dill, Benny Nelson and Tommy Tolleson, driving to the Florida one-foot - line where Namath plunged through. The two-point conversion play was smothered.

Texas Aggies Win 1st Game Over Houston

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M took full advantage of mistakes Saturday night to beat the University of Houston 23-13 in a battle of winless football teams.

Quarterback Jim Keller scored two Aggie touchdowns himself as his teammates shook the football away from the Cougars or intercepted passes.

Jack Skog passed for both of Houston's touchdowns, one for 48 yards and the other for seven as he gained 194 yards in the air.

Rafter took a pass from Skog to the Aggie seven but lost it into the end zone where Dan McIlhany pounced on it for a touchback. From the 20 the Aggies used 15 plays before Keller went up the middle for one yard and the first score.

Houston moved the kickoff to the Aggie 48 on three passes before Skog connected in the left flat with Mike Payte. Payte took the ball on the 30 and outraced Aggie defenders for the goal line.

Bill McMillan's kick gave Houston a 7-6 lead with 1:50 left in the first quarter. But it didn't last long because early in the second period Tuffy Fletcher reached high to intercept a Skog pass on Houston's 30 and returned it to the four.

In three plays the Aggies were back to Houston's 12. San Antonia's Bobby Lee stepped into the breach for A&M and kicked a 30-yard field goal.

Arlington Nips Lions 14-13 On Missed PAT Try

The Texans, who dominated the first half, opened the scoring in the second period when Kenneth Vaughn snagged a 25-yard pass from Doug Wilson and Al Smith made the first of two conversions.

Jimmy Campbell raced 68 yards to pay dirt with a punt return in the third period to close the Arlington scoring.

SLC then made its first touchdown on a one-yard run by Ellis Johnson. Brent Russell booted the conversion. SLC's Jerry Jo Dunaway plunged from one yard out for another TD. Rather than settle for a tie, SLC tried a two-point conversion but halfback Butch Poe's run around right end fell short.

Tech Bulldogs Rip USL On Aillet Day

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

RUSTON — Louisiana Tech, playing its heart out for Coach Joe Aillet, scored three times in the opening period and went on to crush Southwestern University 45-0 before an overflow crowd of 8,300 on a beautiful sun-filled Homecoming Day here Saturday.

It was a day of tribute in many ways for the veteran of 37 years in the coaching profession. He was honored at halftime with gifts and tributes by the athletes and alumni whose lives he has touched in his 23 years at the Bulldog helm.

STATISTICS	USL	LA. TECH
First Downs	3	15
Rushing Yardage	44	134
Passing Yardage	34	162
Passes (At., Comp)	11-5	28-12
Passes Interc. By	1	0
Punts, Average	11-39.3	6-43.7
Yards Penalized	5-45	8-70
Fumbles Lost	4	0

But perhaps the finest plaudit came from his current team. In past years, Aillet, a graduate of the old Southwestern Louisiana Institute, has had more trouble with USL than any other club in the Gulf States Conference. But the Bulldogs made sure Saturday would be completely his.

Looking more than slightly reminescent of the great Tech teams of old, the Canines unwound a powerful ground and air attack to score six touchdowns and a field goal. But it was the lineplay which told the real story. The Bulldogs turned a solid wall of white shirts to Southwestern's offensive efforts all through the warm, summer - like afternoon, holding USL to three first downs, 44-yards rushing and 34 passing.

Senior end Charles Bourgeois scored the first touchdown early in the opening period, recovering fullback Gerald McDowell's fumble in the end zone. McDowell capped a 4-play Tech drive from the USL 31, by breaking loose on the 23 and romping down to the two where he was hit and fumbled.

With 11:07 left in the period Freshmen end Speedy Campbell started what proved to be a stellar day, kicking the first of six extra points. Before it was over he added a 35-yard field goal and caught a 15-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Bruce Weaver.

The Bulldogs scored again with 4:35 to go in the quarter when fullback Wayne Noland smashed over from the two after guard Richard Enis recovered a fumble at the USL five.

Six plays later sophomore quarterback Billy Laird hit junior end Pat Lynch with a 13-yard aerial and it was 21-0 Tech with 1:33 to go in the first period.

Again Southwestern was unable to move and Tech was off and running again at the visitors 44.

Five plays marched the ball to the 18 before two passes fell incomplete. On fourth down Campbell, a highly sought former prepster from Sulphur, booted his 35-yard field goal with 11:07 remaining in the half.

Neither team could move as Aillet began substituting freely, but the Techsters, with David Lee punting, kept good field position and Southwestern picked up its only first down of the half with 2:10 remaining.

Tech scored again with 7:48 to play in the third period.

The Bulldogs took the second half kickoff, Corky Corkern returning the ball from the 12 to the USL 39. Twelve plays got down to the Southwestern 10, where the "Raging Cajuns" rose up and took over. But on the first play from scrimmage linebacker Wally Martin recovered Camile Guoyeser's fumble at the 11. Four plays later McDowell tore through a hole in the line to score standing up. Campbell's kick made it 31-0.

Later in the third period Tech started a drive from its 25 with converted end Billy Keever calling the signals. It took the Bulldogs' 11 plays to go the 75-yards. Keever fired a 29-yard pass to Lee at the USL 47 for the big gain of the drive and freshman fullback Tommy Linder rammed over from the two with 13:35 left in the fourth quarter. It was 38-0 after Campbell's kick.

As the game drew to a close the Techmen took over at the 50 with a group of reserves seeing action. Weaver fired a pass to Jonesboro freshman Jimmy Jones on a 33-yard play down to the 17 and then hit Campbell in the end zone from the 15 with four seconds left in the game. A penalty nullified Campbell's first kick so he backed up to the 27 and put a second try through the uprights for the 45-0 count.

Laird completed eight of 18 passes for 78 yards and had a number of other accurate ones dropped. Weaver hit two of two for 48.

McDowell led the Canines' running attack with 52 yards on 15 trips. He was followed by Linder with 34 in six.

Lee averaged 45 yards on five kicks to up his season mark a notch or two. He entered the contest, ninth in the nation among small colleges.

Chester Gosnell was USL's top rusher with 21 yards on 10 trips and freshman quarterback Bill Bayard had 16 on six runs. Bayard also completed four of eight passes for 33 yards.

Tidwell, Martin, Ennis, tackle Robert Malone and center J. R. Williamson were outstanding for Tech on defense.

DURING HOMECOMING

Joe Aillet Is Honored For Years Of Service

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Ruston — Louisiana Tech honored its coach here Saturday, holding "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day" ceremonies for its venerable and most successful mentor under nearly cloudless and brilliantly sunny skies at the annual Homecoming game.

Aillet, veteran of 23 years as Tech athletic director and head coach was presented a suit, color TV, golf cart and clubs, a luggage set and a car and trailer while a standing-room-only crowd of alumni and other well-wishers stood and applauded their approval.

Tech's football team, sympolizing the feeling Bulldog athletes have held for their coach through the years, responded with a rousing 45-0 thrashing of Gulf States Conference opponent Southwestern University.

Aillet, obviously touched, said, "I don't hold myself up as a model of modesty, but I wish I deserved all this.

"I have had plenty of help at Tech, the finest young men in America, many other friends and associations. It has not been a one man job.

"I owe a special debt to Mrs. Aillet, and my family," he said. "There should be a special heaven for coach's wives and families.

"The material gifts are beyond all reason, but I will use them with a great deal of pleasure.

"As I leave the mike it is with a great deal of love in my heart for all of you."

The Tech band then played the Alma Mater and formed "Aillet" on the field.

Main speaker for the activities was U. S. Rep. Joe Waggonner Jr. of Plain Dealing, who cited Aillet for three traits of character, "concentration, courage and commitment to better things."

Waggonner traced the Aillet career through 37 years in coaching, the 131-60-8 record in 22 seasons at Tech, the formation of the North Louisiana High School Coaches Association, the formation of the Gulf States Conference, and the 12 titles Aillet's Canine teams have won or tied for.

Tech President Dr. F. Jay Taylor said the school was "as proud of its alumni as the alumni are of Tech."

"We are honoring a man who symbolizes the intercollegiate athletic atmosphere at Tech," he said, "a man who has earned our respect and admiration and who has given us many victories on and off the gridiron.

DON TRULL SPARKLES

Baylor Upends Arkansas, 14-10

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The great rifle arm of Don Trull shot holes in powerful Arkansas Saturday night and Baylor beat the football Porkers from the Ozarks 14-10.

It was a vicious blow to Arkansas, rated at the start of the season as riding alongside Texas as top contender for the Southwest Conference title.

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Statistics of the Arkansas-Baylor football game:	ARK	BAYLOR
First downs	13	18
Rushing yardage	99	55
Passing yardage	126	241
Passes	10-21	21-34
Passes intercepted by	2	1
Punts	6-40.1	6-37
Fumbles lost	1	0
Yards penalized	30	59

Baylor thus vaulted into the position of a major threat in the conference with its important victory.

Trull, greatest one-year pass gainer in Southwest Conference history, showed he still has it.

He held no fears about passing from deep in his own territory, once hurling from his own nine to Lawrence Elkins for 43 yards.

Arkansas first scored on a field goal by Tom McKnelly, Baylor went ahead with a touchdown and conversion. Arkansas took the lead on a one-yard run by Charles Daniel, and then the Bears went ahead to stay.

The loss made Arkansas 1-1 in the conference and 2-2 for the season. It was Baylor's first conference game and left the Bears 2-1 for this fall.

Trull's passing won for Baylor but it was running game stronger than last year that kept Arkansas from concentrating on Trull alone.

The play that felled Arkansas came in the high - scoring third quarter on a 17-yard pass to Elkins straight over the middle.

The play was set up by a break at a critical moment when Baylor's Bobby Crenshaw intercepted a Bill Gray pass and ran it back 26 yards to the Arkansas 14.

Trull lost three on the ground before the offensive team could be substituted. He passed for the winning score on the next play. Tom Davies' extra point conversion was just frosting.

Arkansas	0	3	7	0	10
Baylor	0	7	7	0	14

Ark — FG McKnelly 32
Bay — Elkins 3 pass from Trull (Davies kick)
Ark — Daniel 1 run (McKnelly kick)
Bay — Elkins 17 pass from Trull (Davies kick)
Attendance — 33,000.

Kentucky Blasts Detroit 35-18

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Sometimes overwhelming, sometimes sloppy, Kentucky outlasted Detroit 35-18 Saturday night in an intersectional football game.

Kentucky was guilty of just about every rule infraction in the book but at times displayed a bright running attack and sharp passing.

The Wildcats opened with a pair of touchdowns in the first period, one on an 82-yard run by Bob Kosid and another on a 10-play, 48-yard drive.

But the Wildcats ran into penalty trouble in the second quarter and all but gave Detroit its first touchdown.

In all, the Wildcats heard the whistle blow five times during the period—all for long yardage and all for different penalties.

But the Wildcats' hard-charging Perky Bryant and Darrell Cox were too much for the outmanned Titans.

Bryant gained 25 yards on seven carries, most of them for the crucial first down short yardage. Cox got 45 yards in four carries.

Quarterback Rick Norton, who has had passing trouble this season, seemed far more poised as he completed eight of 17 for 171 yards.

McNeese State Hands Tampa 37-12 Setback

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — McNeese State punched across four touchdowns in the third stanza Saturday night to hand Tampa a 37-12 setback.

Fullback Darrell Lester ran for three McNeese tallies as the Cowboys remained undefeated this season with three straight triumphs.

Lester, a 220-pound senior, netted 117 yards rushing—half of the 324 yards the Cowboys gained on the ground. He carried the ball 21 times.

The Cowboys got their other tallies on a 33-yard pass from quarterback Tommy Thompson to end Robert Young and an 85-yard kickoff run by Carol LeBlanc.

Isaacson Hurls Air Force Past Nebraska, 17-13

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Terry Isaacson, brilliant Air Force quarterback, bombed Nebraska with a 38-yard come-from behind touchdown pass in the final three minutes of play Saturday for a 17-13 football upset of the favored Corn huskers.

Trailing 13-10 after a two-touchdown rally by Nebraska in the third quarter, Air Force buckled down to an 80-yard drive in the final period.

It was Fritz Greenlee, 201-pound end, who snatched the aerial and sprinted into the end zone with two minutes and 41 seconds remaining.

Sophs Guide Rice Owls To Victory

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Larry Rice and Dale Callihan, a pair of sophomores, led a 10-point Rice surge in the final four minutes Saturday night as the Owls broke up a battle of fumbles and took a 23-13 football victory over Stanford.

A 22-yard field goal by Rice climaxed a 52-yard drive and broke a 13-13 tie but Callihan provided the clincher second later by intercepting a Stanford pass and racing 45 yards untouched for a touchdown.

The Texans had been favored by from two to three touchdowns but the Californians turned two fumbles and a 40-yard pass interference penalty into a touchdown and two field goals by Braden Beck to take a 13-6 halftime lead.

The Owls pounced on a Stanford fumble at the Indian 48, however, early in the third period and Walter McReynolds passed 30 yards to John Sylvester three plays later to tie the score.

The 13-13 deadlock appeared safe until the Owls, with power provided by Paul Piper, cut loose with the late 52-yard drive that set up Rice's 22-yard three pointer.

Callihan's interception of the pass thrown by Dick Berg came on the first play after the kickoff.

Stanford then took to the air and drove 65 yards to the Rice five before another interception, this one by George Parry, a senior, preserved the 10-point Owl victory.

Mike Connelly had passed eight yards to Steve Thurlow to give Stanford a 7-0 lead in the first period after the Indians recovered a fumble at the Owls 26.

A 40-yard run by Gene Fleming cut the Owl deficit to 6-7 but Rice's conversion attempt was wide.

Beck then restored the Indians' seven point advantage by kicking field goals of 38 and 26 yards. A 40-yard pass interference penalty at the Rice 26 aided in paving the way for the first kick and a fumble recovery at the Rice 49 put Stanford in range for the second.

Fred Riddle Hits 5 For Iowa's Win

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Quarterback Fred Riddle threw five touchdown passes — a Big Ten record — in Iowa's 37-26 football victory over error-prone Indiana Saturday.

The 6-foot-3 junior fired a host of scoring tosses after three early Indiana miscues, hit halfback Paul Krause with a 76-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter and then flipped a four-yard scoring toss to Krause midway in the final period.

Jim Sidle Stars As Auburn Rolls By Chattanooga

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Quarterback Jimmy Sidle engineered Auburn's Tigers to their fourth consecutive victory of the season Saturday, a 28-0 decision over Chattanooga.

George Rose added a 73-yard punt return to the score.

But a Sidle pass and a Sidle run knocked the steam out of the Moccasins.

Auburn abandoned a conservative, ball-controlling game midway through the second period when Sidle hit George Rose with a 21-yard aerial in the end zone, then went 32 yards around right end behind a host of blockers in the third.

Auburn added its final score with only seconds remaining in the game. Third - string quarterback Philip Creel threw a pass to Franklin Fuller, who bobbled it into the hands of Howard Nixon.

Several of Sidle's passes which picked up big chunks of yardage were called back because of penalties.

PRE-ENGINEERED BUILDING FRANCHISE AVAILABLE

The dramatic growth of the pre-engineered steel building market in this area represents an unusual profit potential for an individual or organization experienced in building construction. Stran-Steel Corporation, a unit of National Steel Corporation, will select a Franchised Builder in this territory to represent our complete line of buildings. The choice will be made within a few weeks.

Complete knowledge of all phases of building construction is essential. If not a general contractor, the prospective Franchised Builder must have the ability to sell a complete building "package," and then coordinate the sub-contracted construction.

The principal requirement of the Franchised Builder would be the development of a full-time, hard-hitting sales organization. Aggressive merchandising would be required to produce maximum sales volume in all phases of the market.

Sufficient managerial capacities and capital backing are required to sustain a number of separate projects, simultaneously, without diluting new business efforts. No large storage and handling facilities are necessary as there is no inventory; factory-produced, pre-engineered buildings are shipped direct to the job site. The Franchised Builder selected in this area can expect a fast return on his capital investment.

Stran-Steel produces the most complete line of high-quality, pre-engineered steel buildings for commercial and industrial use. A program of national and local advertising is geared to help sell and to produce inquiries for immediate follow-up.

Duke Carlisle Engineers Big Steer Attack

DALLAS (UPI) — Daring Duke Carlisle engineered an almost flawless offense and baffled Oklahoma's No. 1 ranked Sooners with perfect execution of the option play Saturday to spark second-ranking Texas to a 28-7 upset victory.

The 6-1, 174-pound quarterback, whose starting role seems always in danger of being wrested away, drove Texas 68 yards with the opening kickoff for a 7-0 lead to set the tempo of the game and Texas' terrific defensive duo of Scott Appleton and Timmy Doerr saw to it personally that the Oklahoma offensive gears seldom meshed.

Rushing yardage	127	239
Passing yardage	63	14

Oklahoma didn't cross midfield until midway in the third quarter after Carlisle and halfbacks Tommy Ford and Phil Harris had erected a 21-0 lead on the way to the Cotton Bowl's second-major upset in less than 24 hours. Southern Methodist beat sixth-ranked Navy on the same sod 32-28 Friday night.

Sixth In Row

The victory, sixth in a row for a Darrell Royal-coached Texas team over his alma mater, ended any doubts that last year's fourth-ranked Texas entry was ready to make an immpressive bid for this year's national championship. It was Texas' fourth win in a row.

Texas so dominated the play that Oklahoma managed only three first downs in the first half and ran only 14 plays to Texas' 40.

Carlisle contributed 37 yards on Texas' opening 68-yard drive all of them with the option play to the left or right, and capped it with a three-yard scoring surge.

He directed Texas 22 yards for a second period score, which Ford scored from 12 yards out, after a short Oklahoma punt and a personal foul penalty against the Sooners gave them the short-yardage opportunity.

Carlisle got the same chance again in the opening minutes of the third period when Appleton recovered an Oklahoma fumble on the Sooner 18. This time, Ford moved it down to the three and Harris took it over from their on fourth down after the Oklahoma line stiffened momentarily.

Reserves Score

Reserves got Texas the final touchdown with just 51 seconds on the clock when Marv Kristynik tossed a 14-yard pass to end George Sauer.

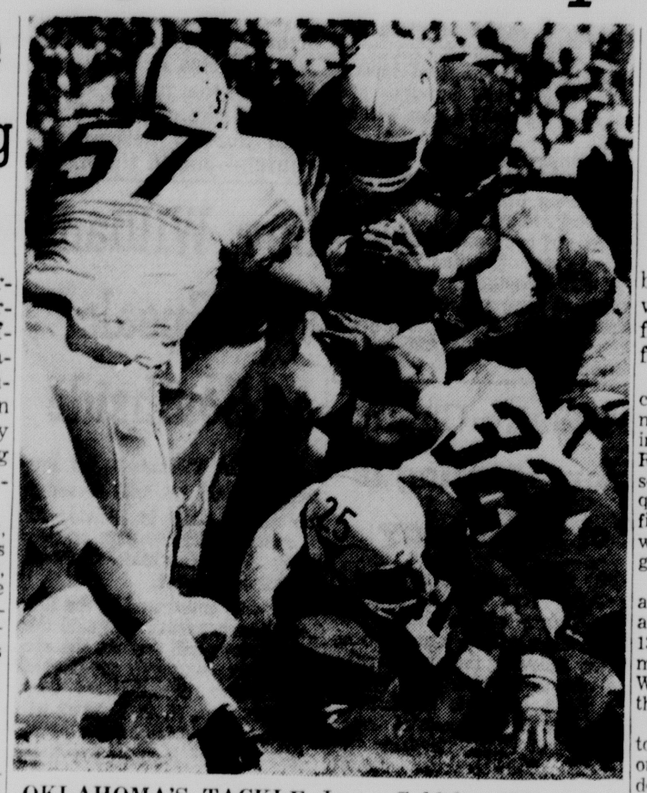

Fourth-string quarterback John Hammond put Oklahoma's only points on the scoreboard in the third period with a three-yard run to cap a 62 - yard Sooner drive.

Texas ripped the Oklahoma line for 239 yards on the ground and its only pass completion in three tries went for a touchdown. Oklahoma managed 127 yards rushing, most of it the one sustained drive.

Ford was the top ground gainer with 77 yards, followed by Carlisle with 62. Jim Grisham, Oklahome fullback, accounted for 74 yards.

Cruce Scores Two TD's For Canines

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

The Howard College Bulldogs lost their star halfback because of illness and promptly found a new one who led them to a trim 13-7 victory over a gang of fighting Northeast State Indians before some 3,600 fans at Brown Stadium here Saturday night.

Howard's Little All-American candidate Reggie Allen had to miss the game because of a leg infection, but junior halfback Richard Cruce took up the slack, scoring on a 16-yard pass from quarterback Larry Wyatt in the first period, then dashing 95-yards with the second half kickoff to give the Bulldogs their win.

Northeast, plagued by injuries all season, but refusing to quit anyway, roared back 79-yards in 13 plays on a third quarter march and sent senior fullback Willie Ragan plunging over from the one for the score.

Ragan, who pushed his career total to over 1,000 yards and was one of the main cogs in the touchdown drive added the extra point to make it 13-7.

Northeast, ignited by the TD, controlled the ball much of the final period and came close to scoring two more times.

Howard punter Rex Keeling punted to the Howard 36 on first down and the Indians were off and running again. Four plays, including a nine-yard slice by fullback Ronnie Graham, gained down to the Howard 19 before Cruce came up with Graham's bobble to kill the threat.

Cruce got off a great, twisting 31-yard run to the Indian 38 before Alton Thomas brought him down. The play got Howard out of trouble, but late in the game end Carlyle Williams recovered Dave Currey's fumble on the Bulldog 42.

This time Northeast punched down to the 29 where Howard guard Don Shurbet pounced on quarterback Bookie Shillcut's bobble, ending the Indians' last threat.

Ragan, the backbone of the Northeast ground attack all season, lead all rushers with 99 yards on 21 carries. He was followed by freshman halfback Alton Thomas, who had 33 on five runs. Thomas, a never-quit type of runner who twists and turns for extra yardage, teamed with Ragan on the Indian touchdown drive.

Cruce was the big gainer for Howard with 61 yards on 12 tries. Fullback Ed Donahoo followed with 33 on 10.

Wyatt paced Howard's passing, completing two of two for 53 yards. Mike Cooper had two of seven to gain 21 yards for Northeast.

The Indians also piled up 13 first downs to eight for the visitors and 197 yards rushing to 137.

Howard scored early in the first quarter, marching 59-yards in seven plays with Wyatt's 16-yard pass to Cruce the big payoff. Cruce took the ball in on or about the goal line, bobbled it with a tackler hanging on him, then grabbed it and twisted around to go into the end zone for the score. Cruce, a junior halfback tried to run over a two-point conversion after a penalty moved the ball half the distance to the goal, but was swarmed under and Howard had a 6-0 lead with 6:50 left in the quarter.

Northeast returned the kick to its 37 and marched down to the Howard 23 where Williams bobbled Cooper's pass and Bobby Austin recovered for Howard.

Late in the second quarter, Howard took over on the Indian 49 and marched to the three in 10 plays. From here Cruce circled left end to apparently score again. The play was called back on a 15-yard holding penalty and the Indians held on downs.

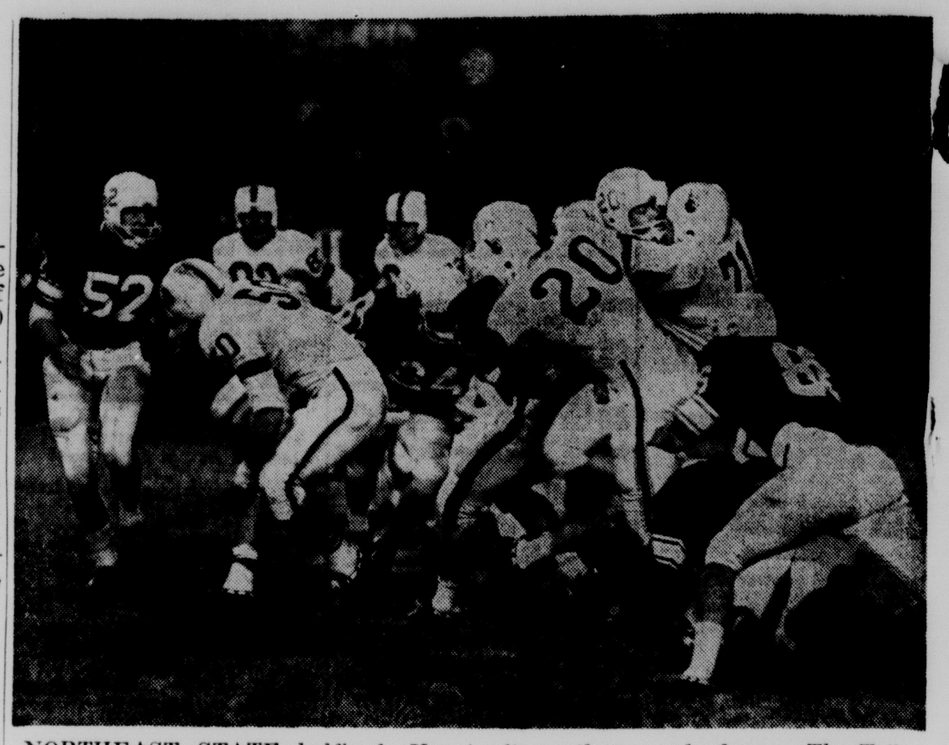

Cruce took the second half kickoff at the five, went down the left sideline, cut inside on a block and then went back to the sideline to race all the way untouched. Fullback Larry Lackey knifed down the last two Indian pursuers at the 10 and Cruce crossed the goal line with 15 seconds gone in the period. Kicker Rex Keeling added the extra point for the 13-0 lead.

Northeast made its touchdown march after Donahue had quicked 53-yards to the Tribe 21.

Thomas and Ragan alternated carrying the ball almost every play with Thomas contributing two nine-yard runs and a 13-yarder. Ragan blasted the ball from the 11 to the three on three straight cracks, Cooper kept to the one and Willie blasted into the end zone with one minute in the period.

SEC VICTORY

State Tramples Greenies, 31-10

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Undefeated Mississippi State overcame early overconfidence Saturday night and whipped Tulane 31-10 in a Southeastern Conference game.

Showing a balanced ground attack, the once-tied Maroons spotted Tulane's winless Greenies 10 points early in the second quarter, then turned on the steam to send the Green Wave reeling into defeat.

Halfbacks Price (Buddy) Hodges and Ode Burrell, fullback Hoyle Granger and quarterback Sonny Fisher put State back in the game with a 77-yard touchdown march in 17 plays. The Maroons went ahead a minute later when halfback John Sparks picked off a pass by Tulane quarterback Al Burgueres and ran 27 yards for another touchdown.

It was all Mississippi State for the remainder of the game.

Guard Paul Walters of Tulane set up a 20-yard field goal by fullback Don Bright when he recovered a Burrell fumble on the Maroon eight.

End Jim Saxon recovered a Hodges fumble on the ensuing kickoff at the State 22 to set up Tulane's first touchdown in 23 quarters of play. The payoff came on an eight-yard heave from Burgueres to end Clem Dellenger, with Bright converting.

It was Hodges who capped the first Maroon touchdown drive with a six-yard sweep that Tulane defenders had not anticipated. Fisher fooled the Tulane defense by calling a series of quick thrusts into the middle of the line by Granger and Burrell. Canale booted the first of four extra points—the last of which covered 33 yards because of a penalty.

After intermission, the Maroons tallied on a 39-yard march following a short Tulane punt. Burrell knifed the final yard for the marker.

Reserves played much of the final period for State, when the Maroons drove 51-yards for another score and 60-yards to set up a 25-yard field goal by Canale.

The touchdown came in a three-yard run by fullback Bobby Jones.

It was the 15th straight loss for Tulane, which has the longest current winless streak in the SEC.

BRYANT'S FIRST HOME LOSS

3rd Ranked Alabama Defeated By Florida

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Underdog Florida swept third-ranked Alabama off its feet Saturday, scoring a 10-6 football victory and handing Coach Paul Bryant his first loss at home since coming to Alabama six yaers ago.

The Gators, who had a 1-1-1 record, went ahead 3-0 in the first quarter on Bob Lyle's 42-yard field goal and rolled their lead up to 10-0 in the final quarter on halfback Dick Kirk's 41 - yard touchdown dash. This climaxed a 75-yard drive.

It was only then that vaunted Alabama scored. Quarterback Joe Namath plunged over from one-foot out. The two-point conversion play was smothered.

A 41-yard touchdown dash by halfback Dick Kirk was the difference in the rugged Southeastern Conference duel.

Pass interceptions and fumbles killed Alabama's chances of continuing its unbeaten string. The Gator line refused to be buffaloed by the vaunted Alabama offense, repeatedly causing Alabama backs to fumble.

It was Florida's second victory of the season against one loss and a tie. Alabama won its previous three games.

The Gators, two touchdown underdogs, scored the first time they got the ball when Lyle booted the 42-yard field goal. Alabama had been unable to move and nearly lost the ball in the end zone when punter Buddy French fumbled on third down. He recovered, but his punt was short and gave the Gators their early scoring opporutnity.

Florida's heavier line dominated play throughout most of the game, and was led by such stalwarts as co-captain Jimmy Morgan and tackle Sydney McLean.

Fumblitis cost the Tide several scoring opportunities and alert Florida backfield defenders led by Hagood Clarke snatched several errant passes by Alabama quarterback Joe Namath.

Twice in the second period, Florida drove deep into Alabama territory. The first drive faltered at the 1 after four tries from the 2. Moments later the Tide line held at the 7.

Florida's big fullback, Larry Dupree, kept the Alabama line hopping and Gator quarterback Tom Shannon swept the Tide defenders off balance with some fancy passing. Dupree ground out 83 yards.

In the final quarter, Florida started a drive on its 25. Dupree pounded out 17 yards and Shannon whipped an 18-yard pass to end Barry Brown. On the following play, Kirk broke through Alabama's right tackle and raced into the end zone.

Alabama's offense finally jelled and Namath began hitting receivers Jimmy Dill, Benny Nelson and Tommy Tolleson, driving to the Florida one-foot - line where Namath plunged through. The two-point conversion play was smothered.

Texas Aggies Win 1st Game Over Houston

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M took full advantage of mistakes Saturday night to beat the University of Houston 23-13 in a battle of winless football teams.

Quarterback Jim Keller scored two Aggie touchdowns himself as his teammates shook the football away from the Cougars or intercepted passes.

Jack Skog passed for both of Houston's touchdowns, one for 48 yards and the other for seven as he gained 194 yards in the air.

Rafter took a pass from Skog to the Aggie seven but lost it into the end zone where Dan McIlhany pounced on it for a touchback. From the 20 the Aggies used 15 plays before Keller went up the middle for one yard and the first score.

Houston moved the kickoff to the Aggie 48 on three passes before Skog connected in the left flat with Mike Payte. Payte took the ball on the 30 and outraced Aggie defenders for the goal line.

Bill McMillan's kick gave Houston a 7-6 lead with 1:50 left in the first quarter. But it didn't last long because early in the second period Tuffy Fletcher reached high to intercept a Skog pass on Houston's 30 and returned it to the four.

In three plays the Aggies were back to Houston's 12. San Antonia's Bobby Lee stepped into the breach for A&M and kicked a 30-yard field goal.

Arlington Nips Lions 14-13 On Missed PAT Try

The Texans, who dominated the first half, opened the scoring in the second period when Kenneth Vaughn snagged a 25-yard pass from Doug Wilson and Al Smith made the first of two conversions.

Jimmy Campbell raced 68 yards to pay dirt with a punt return in the third period to close the Arlington scoring.

SLC then made its first touchdown on a one-yard run by Ellis Johnson. Brent Russell booted the conversion. SLC's Jerry Jo Dunaway plunged from one yard out for another TD. Rather than settle for a tie, SLC tried a two-point conversion but halfback Butch Poe's run around right end fell short.

Texas Froggies Take 35-3 Jump Past Texas Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Tommy Crutcher spurred Texas Christian's fumbling Frogs to a 35-3 victory over Texas Tech in a bungling Southwest Conference football game Saturday night.

The aggressive 210-pound senior set up two touchdowns, scored one himself and threw the key block that sprung quarterback Gary Mills loose on another.

He added a 34-yard romp to lay the groundwork for the first Frog marker and streaked 53 yards with a Mills' aerial to open the door for the second.

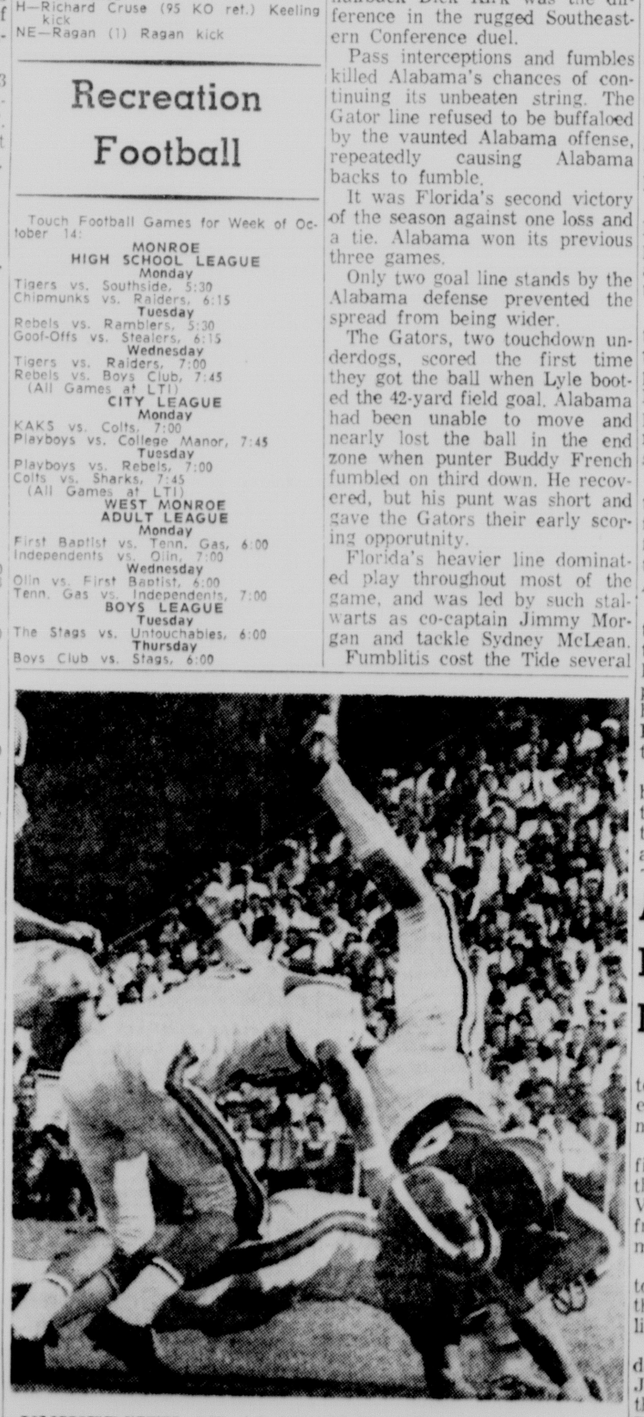

Five times the Frogs fumbled away the ball, several times in their own end of the field, but the Red Raiders' sputtering offense could never muster a touchdown thrust.

The Frogs punched across for two touchdowns in the first quarter, added another in the third and then cut the desperate Raiders' throat with a couple more in the finale.

Crutcher scored the original on a 11-yard burst and then cut down the lone opposition to send Mills in from the six.

Swift Jim Fauver notched the third on a four-yard scamper, halfback Marvin Chipman sped 60 yards over his right end for the fourth and Dan ones wrapped it up with a 43-yard return of an intercepted pass.

Texas Tech' lit the scoreboard for its one and only time in the second stanza when H.L. Daniels booted a 32-yard field goal. The three - pointer, Daniels' 11th, eclipsed the Southwest Conference record of 10 set by Baylor's Wesley Bradshaw in 1921-1922.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA halfback Billy Moseley (20) is upended by another halfback, Jerry Newcomer (22) of the University of Florida, in the third quarter of the game in Tuscaloosa Saturday. Florida also spilled Alabama in the scoring column, defeating the previously unbeaten third ranked power 10-6 in the SEC contest. (AP Wirephoto)

DURING HOMECOMING

Joe Aillet Is Honored For Years Of Service

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

Ruston — Louisiana Tech honored its coach here Saturday, holding "Joe Aillet Appreciation Day" ceremonies for its venerable and most successful mentor under nearly cloudless and brilliantly sunny skies at the annual Homecoming game.

Aillet, veteran of 23 years as Tech athletic director and head coach was presented a suit, color TV, golf cart and clubs, a luggage set and a car and trailer while a standing-room-only crowd of alumni and other well-wishers stood and applauded their approval.

Tech's football team, sympolizing the feeling Bulldog athletes have held for their coach through the years, responded with a rousing 45-0 thrashing of Gulf States Conference opponent Southwestern University.

Aillet, obviously touched, said, "I don't hold myself up as a model of modesty, but I wish I deserved all this.

"I have had plenty of help at Tech, the finest young men in America, many other friends and associations. It has not been a one man job.

"I owe a special debt to Mrs. Aillet, and my family," he said. "There should be a special heaven for coach's wives and families.

"The material gifts are beyond all reason, but I will use them with a great deal of pleasure.

"As I leave the mike it is with a great deal of love in my heart for all of you."

The Tech band then played the Alma Mater and formed "Aillet" on the field.

Main speaker for the activities was U. S. Rep. Joe Waggonner Jr. of Plain Dealing, who cited Aillet for three traits of character, "concentration, courage and commitment to better things."

Waggonner traced the Aillet career through 37 years in coaching, the 131-60-8 record in 22 seasons at Tech, the formation of the North Louisiana High School Coaches Association, the formation of the Gulf States Conference, and the 12 titles Aillet's Canine teams have won or tied for.

Tech President Dr. F. Jay Taylor said the school was "as proud of its alumni as the alumni are of Tech."

"We are honoring a man who symbolizes the intercollegiate athletic atmosphere at Tech," he said, "a man who has earned our respect and admiration and who has given us many victories on and off the gridiron.

DON TRULL SPARKLES

Baylor Upends Arkansas, 14-10

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The great rifle arm of Don Trull shot holes in powerful Arkansas Saturday night and Baylor beat the football son as riding alongside Texas as top contender for the Southwest Conference title.

Baylor thus vaulted into the position of a major threat in the conference with its important victory.

Trull, greatest one-year pass gainer in Southwest Conference history, showed he still has it.

He held no fears about passing from deep in his own territory, once hurling from his own nine to Lawrence Elkins for 43 yards.

Arkansas first scored on a field goal by Tom McKnelly. Baylor went ahead with a touchdown and conversion. Arkansas took the lead on a one-yard run by Charles Daniel, and then the Bears went ahead to stay.

The loss made Arkansas 1-1 in the conference and 2-2 for the season. It was Baylor's first conference game and left the Bears 2-1 for this fall.

Trull's passing won for Baylor but it was running game stronger than last year that kept Arkansas from concentrating on Trull alone.

The play that felled Arkansas came in the high - scoring third quarter on a 17-yard pass to Elkins straight over the middle.

The play was set up by a break at a critical moment when Baylor's Bobby Crenshaw intercepted a Bill Gray pass and ran it back 26 yards to the Arkansas 14.

Trull lost three on the ground before the offensive team could be substituted. He passed for the winning score on the next play. Tom Davies' extra point conversion was just frosting.

Kentucky Blasts Detroit 35-18

Kentucky was guilty of just about every rule infraction in the book but at times displayed a bright running attack and sharp passing.

The Wildcats opened with a pair of touchdowns in the first period, one on an 82-yard run by Bob Kosid and another on a 10-play, 48-yard drive.

But the Wildcats ran into penalty trouble in the second quarter and all but gave Detroit its first touchdown.

In all, the Wildcats heard the whistle blow five times during the period—all for long yardage and all for different penalties.

But the Wildcats' hard-charging Perky Bryant and Darrell Cox were too much for the outmanned Titans.

Bryant gained 25 yards on seven carries, most of them for the crucial first down short yardage. Cox got 45 yards in four carries.

Quarterback Rick Norton, who has had passing trouble this season, seemed far more poised as he completed eight of 17 for 171 yards.

McNeese State Hands Tampa 37-12 Setback

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — McNeese State punched across four touchdowns in the third stanza Saturday night to hand Tampa a 37-12 setback.

Fullback Darrell Lester ran for three McNeese tallies as the Cowboys remained undefeated this season with three straight triumphs.

Lester, a 220-pound senior, netted 117 yards rushing—half of the 324 yards the Cowboys gained on the ground. He carried the ball 21 times.

The Cowboys got their other tallies on a 33-yard pass from quarterback Tommy Thompson to end Robert Young and an 85-yard kickoff run by Carol LeBlanc.

Tech Bulldogs Rip USL On Aillet Day

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

RUSTON — Louisiana Tech, playing its heart out for Coach Joe Aillet, scored three times in the opening period and went on to crush Southwestern University 45-0 before an overflow crowd of 8,300 on a beautiful sun-filled Homecoming Day here Saturday.

It was a day of tribute in many ways for the veteran of 37 years in the coaching profession. He was honored at halftime with gifts and tributes by the athletes and alumni whose lives he has touched in his 23 years at the Bulldog helm.

STATISTICS	USL	LA. TECH
First Downs	3	15
Rushing Yardage	44	134
Passing Yardage	34	162
Passes (At., Comp)	11-5	28-12
Passes Interc. By	1	0
Punts, Average	11-39.3	6-43.7
Yards Penalized	5-45	8-70
Fumbles Lost	4	0

But perhaps the finest plaudit came from his current team. In past years, Aillet, a graduate of the old Southwestern Louisiana Institute, has had more trouble with USL than any other club in the Gulf States Conference. But the Bulldogs made sure Saturday would be completely his.

Looking more than slightly reminescent of the great Tech teams of old, the Canines unwound a powerful ground and air attack to score six touchdowns and a field goal. But it was the lineplay which told the real story. The Bulldogs turned a solid wall of white shirts to Southwestern's offensive efforts all through the warm, summer - like afternoon, holding USL to three first downs, 44-yards rushing and 34 passing.

Senior end Charles Bourgeois scored the first touchdown early in the opening period, recovering fullback Gerald McDowell's fumble in the end zone. McDowell capped a 4-play Tech drive from the USL 31, by breaking loose on the 23 and romping down to the two where he was hit and fumbled.

With 11:07 left in the period Freshmen end Speedy Campbell started what proved to be a stellar day, kicking the first of six extra points. Before it was over he added a 35-yard field goal and caught a 15-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Bruce Weaver.

The Bulldogs scored again with 4:35 to go in the quarter when fullback Wayne Noland smashed over from the two after guard Richard Enis recovered a fumble at the USL five.

Six plays later sophomore quarterback Billy Laird hit junior end Pat Lynch with a 13-yard aerial and it was 21-0 Tech with 1:33 to go in the first period.

Again Southwestern was unable to move and Tech was off and running again at the visitors 44.

Five plays marched the ball to the 18 before two passes fell incomplete. On fourth down Campbell, a highly sought former prepster from Sulphur, booted his 35-yard field goal with 11:07 remaining in the half.

Neither team could move as Aillet began substituting freely, but the Techsters, with David Lee punting, kept good field position and Southwestern picked up its only first down of the half with 2:10 remaining.

Tech scored again with 7:48 to play in the third period.

The Bulldogs took the second half kickoff, Corky Corkern returning the ball from the 12 to the USL 39. Twelve plays got down to the Southwestern 10, where the "Raging Cajuns" rose up and took over. But on the first play from scrimmage linebacker Wally Martin recovered Camile Guoyeser's fumble at the 11. Four plays later McDowell tore through a hole in the line to score standing up. Campbell's kick made it 31-0.

Later in the third period Tech started a drive from its 25 with converted end Billy Keever calling the signals. It took the Bulldogs' 11 plays to go the 75-yards. Keever fired a 29-yard pass to Lee at the USL 47 for the big gain of the drive and freshman fullback Tommy Linder rammed over from the two with 13:35 left in the fourth quarter. It was 38-0 after Campbell's kick.

As the game drew to a close the Techmen took over at the 50 with a group of reserves seeing action. Weaver fired a pass to Jonesboro freshman Jimmy Jones on a 33-yard play down to the 17 and then hit Campbell in the end zone from the 15 with four seconds left in the game. A penalty nullified Campbell's first kick so he backed up to the 27 and put a second try through the uprights for the 45-0 count.

Laird completed eight of 18 passes for 78 yards and had a number of other accurate ones dropped. Weaver hit two of two for 48.

McDowell led the Canines' running attack with 52 yards on 15 trips. He was followed by Linder with 34 in six.

Lee averaged 45 yards on five kicks to up his season mark a notch or two. He entered the contest, ninth in the nation among small colleges.

Chester Gosnell was USL's top rusher with 21 yards on 10 trips and freshman quarterback Bill Bayard had 16 on six runs. Bayard also completed four of eight passes for 33 yards.

Tidwell, Martin, Ennis, tackle Robert Malone and center J. R. Williamson were outstanding for Tech on defense.

Sophs Guide Rice Owls To Victory

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Larry Rice and Dale Callihan, a pair of sophomores, led a 10-point Rice surge in the final four minutes Saturday night as the Owls broke up a battle of fumbles and took a 23-13 football victory over Stanford.

A 22-yard field goal by Rice climaxed a 52-yard drive and broke a 13-13 tie but Callihan provided the clincher second later by intercepting a Stanford pass and racing 45 yards untouched for a touchdown.

The Texans had been favored by from two to three touchdowns but the Californians turned two fumbles and a 40-yard pass interference penalty into a touchdown and two field goals by Braden Beck to take a 13-6 halftime lead.

The Owls pounced on a Stanford fumble at the Indian 48, however, early in the third period and Walter McReynolds passed 30 yards to John Sylvester three plays later to tie the score.

The 13-13 deadlock appeared safe until the Owls, with power provided by Paul Piper, cut loose with the late 52-yard drive that set up Rice's 22-yard three pointer.

Callihan's interception of the pass thrown by Dick Berg came on the first play after the kickoff.

Stanford then took to the air and drove 65 yards to the Rice five before another interception, this one by George Parry, a senior, preserved the 10-point Owl victory.

Mike Connelly had passed eight yards to Steve Thurlow to give Stanford a 7-0 lead in the first period after the Indians recovered a fumble at the Owls 26.

A 40-yard run by Gene Fleming cut the Owl deficit to 6-7 but Rice's conversion attempt was wide.

Beck then restored the Indians' seven point advantage by kicking field goals of 38 and 26 yards. A 40-yard pass interference penalty at the Rice 26 aided in paving the way for the first kick and a fumble recovery at the Rice 49 put Stanford in range for the second.

Fred Riddle Hits 5 For Iowa's Win

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Quarterback Fred Riddle threw five touchdown passes — a Big Ten record — in Iowa's 37-26 football victory over error-prone Indiana Saturday.

The 6-foot-3 junior fired a host of scoring tosses after three early Indiana miscues, hit halfback Paul Krause with a 76-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter and then flipped a four-yard scoring toss to Krause midway in the final period.

Jim Sidle Stars As Auburn Rolls By Chattanooga

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—Quarterback Jimmy Sidle engineered Auburn's Tigers to their fourth consecutive victory of the season Saturday, a 28-0 decision over Chattanooga.

But a Sidle pass and a Sidle run knocked the steam out of the Moccasins.

Auburn abandoned a conservative, ball-controlling game midway through the second period when Sidle hit George Rose with a 21-yard aerial in the end zone, then went 32 yards around right end behind a host of blockers in the third.

Auburn added its final score with only seconds remaining in the game. Third - string quarterback Philip Creel threw a pass to Franklin Fuller, who bobbled it into the hands of Howard Nixon.

Several of Sidle's passes which picked up big chunks of yardage were called back because of penalties.

Isaacson Hurls Air Force Past Nebraska, 17-13

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Terry Isaacson, brilliant Air Force quarterback, bombed Nebraska with a 38-yard come-from behind touchdown pass in the final three minutes of play Saturday for a 17-13 football upset of the favored Corn huskers.

Trailing 13-10 after a two-touchdown rally by Nebraska in the third quarter, Air Force buckled down to an 80-yard drive in the final period.

It was Fritz Greenlee, 201-pound end, who snatched the aerial and sprinted into the end zone with two minutes and 41 seconds remaining.

PRE-ENGINEERED BUILDING FRANCHISE AVAILABLE

The dramatic growth of the pre-engineered steel building market in this area represents an unusual profit potential for an individual or organization experienced in building construction. Stran-Steel Corporation, a unit of National Steel Corporation, will select a Franchised Builder in this territory to represent our complete line of buildings. The choice will be made within a few weeks.

Complete knowledge of all phases of building construction is essential. If not a general contractor, the prospective Franchised Builder must have the ability to sell a complete building "package," and then coordinate the sub-contracted construction.

The principal requirement of the Franchised Builder would be the development of a full-time, hard-hitting sales organization. Aggressive merchandising would be required to produce maximum sales volume in all phases of the market.

Sufficient managerial capacities and capital backing are required to sustain a number of separate projects, simultaneously, without diluting new business efforts. No large storage and handling facilities are necessary as there is no inventory; factory-produced, pre-engineered buildings are shipped direct to the job site. The Franchised Builder selected in this area can expect a fast return on his capital investment.

Stran-Steel produces the most complete line of high-quality, pre-engineered steel buildings for commercial and industrial use. A program of national and local advertising is geared to help sell and to produce inquiries for immediate follow-up.

BIRDIE BINGE

Palmer, Finsterwald Lead U.S. Victories

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ATLANTA (AP) — A dazzling birdie-bagging exhibition by Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, who were 13 under par for 30 holes, featured an American near sweep of the best-ball team matches Saturday which turned the 15th Ryder Cup series with Britain into a catastrophic runaway.

At the halfway point of the biennial series between the top professionals of the two nations, Uncle Sam's forces had a total of 12 points to 4 for the visitors.

BOB GOALBY hits an iron shot from the rough at East Lake Club during the Ryder Cup golf matches at Atlanta Saturday. He was paired with Dave Ragan against Neil Coles and Christy O'Conner of Britain. (AP Wirephoto)

The red-hot Yanks have to win only five of today's final 16 individual matches to clinch the gold trophy which they have never lost at home.

Only the superb putting of Christy O'Connor, a plucky Irishman and Ryder Cup veteran, slowed the American golfing juggernaut.

Christy rolled in a 35-foot birdie putt over a tricky knoll on the final hole to give him and his partner, Neil Coles, a 1-up triumph over Bob Goalby and Dave Ragan, newcomers to the U.S. team.

It was Britain's only clean-cut triumph in a rather frustrating day which saw the Americans win five of the eight best-ball matches and draw two others.

O'Connor also sank putts of 40, 18 and 10 feet in a remarkable exhibition on the greens in his morning match. He also ran in putts of 12 and 40 feet on two of the closing holes in the afternoon duel against Palmer and Finsterwald.

This was about all the plucky Britons had to cheer about for their day's efforts on the 6,893-yard, par 70 East Lake course renowned as the home of Bobby Jones.

Palmer and Finsterwald first crushed Dave Thomas and Brian Huggert 5 and 4, without losing a hole and then trounced Coles and O'Connor, 3 and 2.

In the 14 holes of the morning match, Palmer and his long-time playing partner snared six birdies—three each.

They reeled off six birdies through the first nine holes of the afternoon, including three straight by Palmer at the seventh, eighth and ninth.

Although they were the birdie makers, Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., former U. S. Open champion, became the chief point maker, figuring in four triumphs—the only American to do so.

He and Billy Maxwell, the sandy-haired Texan out of Las Vegas Nev., beat Harry Weetman and George Will, 3 and 2, and then won over 48-year-old Tom Haliburton and young Geoffrey Hunt, 2 and 1.

Casper chipped in from 60 feet and sank putts of 20 and 15 feet in the morning match and rolled in a difficult downhiller of 20 feet in the afternoon. Maxwell, driving sensationally and putting well, was a strong asset to the team.

ATLANTA (AP)—Summaries of best-ball team matches Saturday in the 15th Ryder Cup competition between the United States and Britain.

Neil Coles and Christy O'Connor, Britain, defeated Bob Goalby and Dave Ragan, U.S., 1 up.

Clemson Rallies To Tie Georgia

The intra-conference deadlock was nearly broken late in the game when Georgia's Bill McCollough tried a field goal from 34 yards out. But the boot was wide. Clemson also blocked two Georgia field goal efforts.

Gergia scored the first time it got the ball when tackle Ben Boyd recovered a fumble at the Clemson 32. Quarterback Larry Rakestraw plunged over from six inches a few plays later.

Clemson bounced back to knock at Georgia's door four times without success before fullback Bob Swift plunged over from half-yard out. Swift's score capped a march that began at midfield just after the half.

Both teams were rushing the passers. Clemson, however, had some success with its running game.

A halftime thunder, rain and hail torm that drove fans under the stands left the field wet and slippery for the second half. This appeared to make offensive work erratic for both teams.

After Georgia's quick score, Clemson moved 90 yards but the Tigers were held at the Georgia 2. On its next series, Clemson pushed to the Georgia 13. Again Georgia held.

Georgia threatened just before the half when center Ken Davis intercepted a Clemson pass near midfield. Georgia moved to the 28 and McCollough tried a field goal that was blocked by a surge of Clemson linemen.

With less than one minute to play, Georgia guard Joel Darden intercepted a pass at the Clemson 31. Passes failed and again McCollough tried a field goal, but it also was blocked, this time by center Ted Bunton.

Georgia's short touchdown march featured Rakestraw on short runs and his 14-yard pass to halfback Billy Knowles.

Swift, punching out short yardage into the line, was Clemson's principle weapon in its scoring drive.

Van Raaphorst Breaks Record, Leads Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dick Van Raaphorst broke the Big Ten field goal record for the second straight week Saturday as he kicked a 49-yarder in the last two minutes to pull Ohio State up to a 20-20 tie with Illinois.

A crowd of 84,712, biggest in Buckeye history, sat quietly in the last two seconds as the senior from Ligonier, Pa., missed an almost impossible one from 57 yards. That would have pulled the game out for Ohio State.

Van Raaphorst's boot, which eclipsed his 48-yarder against Indiana last week, provided a fitting climax to as wild a game as these teams have played since before the turn of the century.

North Carolina Hands Maryland 4th Loss, 14-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—North Carolina needed half a dozen pass interceptions, one with Maryland only 13 yards from a tying touchdown in the last three minutes, to preserve a 14-7 football victory Saturday.

The third triumph in four games moved North Carolina into a tie for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference while Maryland absorbed its fourth straight setback.

The winners went for both their touchdowns in the last two quarters after stealing Maryland aerials.

At that, the Terps came close to pulling a tie out of the fire when their ailing quarterback Dick Shiner mounted their one and only real offensive thrust.

Memphis State Takes 21-0 Win Over N. Texas

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Quarterback Russell Vollmer's generalship carried Memphis State to an effortless 21-0 football victory over North Texas State Saturday night.

Vollmer scored two of the Tiger touchdowns and his precision passing set up two.

The North Texas Eagles pressed a tricky offense against the Tigers but mustered only one threat—a field goal attempt that was blocked.

Memphis State broke the ice after taking over on its own 30 and driving all the way. Fullback Dave Casinelli carried it over after a 20-yard pass from Vollmer to Ray Farmer put it on the one-yard line.

The Tigers scored again quickly when Eagle quarterback Tim Falgout was pressed back into the end zone, where John Fred Robilio nailed him for a saftey.

Vollmer tossed 25 yards to end Chuck Brooks just before the half ended and slipped over himself from the one. He scored again in the third quarter from the six.

The Eagles' deepest penetration went to the Memphis State 26 late in the first period, where Robilio drove quarterback Bobby Smith back for 10 yards. Joe Ferguson's field goal try from the 36 struck a wall of blue jerseys.

North Texas State's fullback Dwain Bean was the leading ground gainer with 61 yards in 16 carries. Vollmer completed six of eight passes for 110 yards.

West Virginia Takes 20-6 Win Over Indians

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—West Virginia found a lightning thrust in the passes and runs of Jerry Yost and came from behind Saturday for a 20-16 Southern Conference football victory over a William and Mary team that was its own worst enemy.

Yost passed for two of the Mountaineer touchdowns and scored the third while leading West Virginia to its first conference victory of the season.

But only fumbles kept the battling Indians, who lost the conference lead by their defeat, from coming home in front in the W&M homecoming day clash before 11,500 at Cary Field.

One Indian fumble set up West Virginia's first touchdown on the William and Mary 11 in the opening quarter. Another stalled an Indian drive on the Mountaineer 6 in the third period. And another ended a W&M advance on the West Virginia 30.

Colorado Tops Oklahoma State

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Colorado turned three fumbles and a bad punt into second half touchdowns that demolished Oklahoma State 25-0 in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

After a scoreless, frustrating first half Colorado fullback Noble Milton recovered an Oklahoma State pitchout fumble on the Oklahomans seven and two plays later quarterback Frank Cesarek faked a handoff to the fullback and bolted four yards through left tackle for a touchdown after five minutes of the third period.

TOPPLE TENNESSEE

Lothridge Back In Saddle As He Sparks Jacket Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's do-it-all quarterback, ran for one touchdown, passed for another and kicked a field goal Saturday in leading the Yellowjackets to a 23-7 victory over Tennessee.

A shirt-sleeved throng of 51,527—largest ever to see an athletic event in Tennessee—watched the bruising Southeastern Conference game.

Tech scored twice in the second period and added another in the third for good measure before Wayne Bush, a third-string tailback, rallied the Vols for a six-pointer in the fourth quarter.

Lothridge's running, faking, passing and kicking were too much for the Vols as he maneuvered the Yellowjackets to their third triumph of the season against one loss. It was Tennessee's third setback in a row.

The brilliant Tech field general set up two of Tech's touchdowns with pass to end Ted Davis, his favorite target, and connected with a 54-yard home run pass to Davis for another.

Lothridge capped a great performance by kicking a 28-yard field goal, his sixth of the year, for Tech's final score with seconds remaining.

The Engineers drove 76 yards for their first touchdown. Lothridge leaping over from the 1 after passing 14 yards to Davis on the 2. Bruce Fischer kicked the extra point.

Lothridge hit on three successive passes in this drive. In all, he completed 6 of 13 tosses for 112 yards.

Davis pulled the sideline sleeper play on the Vols for the Jackets' second touchdown. A pass play failed and Davis, instead of returning to the huddle, loitered on the sideline.

Lothridge dropped back, hit Davis on the dead run on the Vol 20 and the big end, after juggling the ball momentarily, sped across untouched. In one of the few things he failed to do right all afternoon, Lothridge missed the kick from placement.

Fullback Ray Mendheim went over from the 2 for Tech's final TD after a 78-yard power drive in the third period. Lothridge converted.

Bush ran over from the 2 to cap a 53-yard Tennessee march midway in the fourth period.

This came after Tech held on its 8 to stem a 72-yard drive by the Vols, their longest of the game.

IN LAST QUARTER

Tom Myers Hurls 'Cats To Triumph

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Passing star Tommy Myers, badly harassed for three quarters, suddenly found the range with two touchdown passes in a wild last period which gave Northwestern a 15-8 Big Ten football victory over Minnesota Saturday.

The nationally televised contest went scoreless until the first play of the fourth quarter when Myers, seemingly headed for the worst day of his career, completed a 64-yard touchdown pass to soph end Mike Buckner.

This broken open what had been almost a dull struggle in which Myers had three passes intercepted and fumbled the ball away a fourth time and Minnesota played a plodding, possession game.

After Northwestern's 80-yard first scoring strike, Minnesota came to life under substitute quarterback Larry Peterson and went 75 yards in 15 plays to score. Halfback Al Harris' 20-yard sprint around Northwestern's left end produced the touchdown.

But with about eight minutes left, Myers really began hitting the target and led Northwestern on another 80-yard scoring drive.

Myers, the nation's leading passer, found halfback Willie Stinson wide open down the middle and fired a 25-yard touchdown pass. Stinson grabbing the ball in full stride on the Gopher three.

Myers also hit on a two-point conversion pass to Buckner and the Wildcats had the game on ice 15-8.

In the last Northwestern drive, Myers flipped passes to 18 and 14 yards to ends Chuck Logan and Gary Crum.

The Gophers showed plenty of fight with time running out, but it was all over when Dick McCauley intercepted regular quarterback Bob Sadek's pass in midfield.

Until the explosive fourth quarter, Minnesota punted eight times and Northwestern six times. There was not a punt in the final period.

FIRST TO REPEAT

Merrill Carlsmith Wins Senior Play

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Merrill L. Carlsmith, a Hilo, Hawaii, attorney, recovered after a bad start Saturday and became the first golfer to repeat as champion in the U.S.G.A. Seniors Amateur Tournament.

Completing a week-long battle over the Ocean Edge Sea Island course, Carlsmith won the first hole with a birdie but saw Higgins take the next three with pars.

Carlsmith was 1-down as they turned the first nine.

Then the pace told on Higgins, who like Carlsmith, is a golfing regular at 57. He lost the 10th, 11th, 13th and 16th as Carlsmith matched par and it was all over.

Carlsmith was a quarter-finalist in his first Seniors tournament two years ago and won the title last year. The minimum age for competitors is 55. There were 128 in the field when play opened Monday.

Iowa State Gets 17-14 Triumph

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Dick Limerick's 31-yard field goal with one minute 20 seconds left lifted an inspired Iowa State team to a 17-14 football upset Saturday over Kansas. It was Iowa State's first victory over the Jayhawks in five years.

Dave Hoover, Iowa State's senior tailback, was the hero of the Cyclone drive which set up the winning field goal. Fulback Tom Vaugh, a swift and powerful junior, punished the Jayhawks both on wide plays and plunges all day. He ripped the Jayhawks for 138 yards in 23 plays.

Hoover came back 15 yards to his 33 with an intercepted pass to ignite the winning drive. He fired passes of six, 10 and 15 yards to Limerick before the drive stalled at the Kansas five, and Limerick kicked the field goal.

Coach Clay Stapleton's club survived a last minute scare, as Kansas reached the eight yard line on a desperation 70-yard pass from Steve Renko to halfback Ron Oelschlager. After a penalty and three Renko passes fell incomplete in the end zone, Gary Duffs' try for a 35-yard field goal was wide with 12 seconds left.

FIELD GOAL DOES IT

Fighting Irish Upset Trojans

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Sophomore Ken Ivan's 33-yard field goal in the final six minutes of the game gave Notre Dame a 17-14 football upset of Southern California Saturday as the Irish unveiled a smashing new backfield combination.

Notre Dame took senior quarterback Frank Budka out of mothballs and turned loose rookie running whiz Bill Wolsfi for the first time. They ripped the seventh-ranked Trojans apart before a screaming overflow crowd of 59,135.

It has been years since Notre Dame has demonstrated the brand of action that made them the scourge of the nation as the Fighting Irish.

Budka, making his first start this season as signal-caller after being employed as a defensive back last year, piled up yardage with keep-it plays and always held the threat of passing.

Wolski, a 195-pounder from Muskegon, Mich., slammed and battered the Trojan defenses into submission and kept USC without victory at Notre Dame since 1939.

Until Saturday Wolski had carried the ball only three times for 14 yards.

The Irish churned 273 yards on the ground, Budka contributing 84 and Wolski 87.

It was Budka's smashes that mainly drove the Irish 74 yards in the final quarter. And when the Trojans held, Ivan, 190-pound end from Massillon, Ohio, calmly planted the ball through the uprights for the winning three points.

Tigers Romp By Vocational Team By 39-6

GRAMBLING (Special) Grambling powered passed Mississippi Vocational College 39-6, with consistant, consumate, ease Saturday night to setup a SWAC showdown with Prairie View A&M.

With typical distain, the Tigers stormed to three first half touchdowns and dug the rut to the end-zone deeper by piling up eighteen points aftre intermission.

J. D. Garrett grabbed a nine yard pass from Lawerence Hunter for the initial TD, and stepped on the accelerator on a brilliant 36 yard run for the second score.

Peterson Mathews rammed over from the four.

Vocational turned on its turmentor for its only score at this point. The Delta Devils clawed out eighty yards in ten plays with Eurnice McGee, and Thoedore Scott clicking on a 17 yard pass for the score.

Grambling was obviously looking ahead to Prairie View and reserves turned the second half into a horror movie for MVC supporters.

Carter sprinted five yards, Mango hooked up with Eddie Robinson Jr. on a 20 yard pass, and Wilson rambled 21 yards to pay dirt in an awkard jig of elation.

Cal Underdogs Tie Duke, 22-22 In Last Period

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California's underdog Bears scored on a pass in the fourth quarter Saturday and added a two-point conversion for a 22-22 tie with undefeated Duke in a wild football battle.

The 31-yard touchdown throw went from Craig Morton to end Jack Schraub. Morton then pitched to halfback Jerry Mosher for the tying two points.

ahead with 16 seconds left and the ball on the California 13. When the kicking tee was thrown in from the sideline on a field goal attempt, the Blue Devils were penalized 15 yards for coaching from the sideline. Mike Curtis then missed a desperation 45-yard field goal try.

Boston College Rips Villanova

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)—Trigger man Jack Concannon, the nation's fifth-ranking player in total offense, passed for three Boston College touchdowns and ran for another in a 34-0 football victory over Villanova Saturday.

The big quarterback also threw for a two-point conversion and held for the point-after kicks yet had to share the spotlight with sophomore linebacker Bob Risio during the Eagles' third straight triumph.

BIRDIE BINGE

Palmer, Finsterwald Lead U.S. Victories

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ATLANTA (AP) — A dazzling birdie-bagging exhibition by Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, who were 13 under par for 30 holes, featured an American near sweep of the best-ball team matches Saturday which turned the 15th Ryder Cup series with Britain into a catastrophic runaway.

At the halfway point of the biennial series between the top professionals of the two nations, Uncle Sam's forces had a total of 12 points to 4 for the visitors.

BOB GOALBY hits an iron shot from the rough at East Lake Club during the Ryder Cup golf matches at Atlanta Saturday. He was paired with Dave Ragan against Neil Coles and Christy O'Conner of Britain. (AP Wirephoto)

The red-hot Yanks have to win only five of today's final 16 individual matches to clinch the gold trophy which they have never lost at home.

Only the superb putting of Christy O'Connor, a plucky Irishman and Ryder Cup veteran, slowed the American golfing juggernaut.

Christy rolled in a 35-foot birdie putt over a tricky knoll on the final hole to give him and his partner, Neil Coles, a 1-up triumph over Bob Goalby and Dave Ragan, newcomers to the U.S. team.

It was Britain's only clean-cut triumph in a rather frustrating day which saw the Americans win five of the eight best-ball matches and draw two others.

O'Connor also sank putts of 40, 18 and 10 feet in a remarkable exhibition on the greens in his morning match. He also ran in putts of 12 and 40 feet on two of the closing holes in the afternoon duel against Palmer and Finsterwald.

This was about all the plucky Britons had to cheer about for their day's efforts on the 6,893-yard, par 70 East Lake course renowned as the home of Bobby Jones.

Palmer and Finsterwald first crushed Dave Thomas and Brian Huggert 5 and 4, without losing a hole and then trounced Coles and O'Connor, 3 and 2.

In the 14 holes of the morning match, Palmer and his long-time playing partner snared six birdies—three each.

They reeled off six birdies through the first nine holes of the afternoon, including three straight by Palmer at the seventh, eighth and ninth.

Although they were the birdie makers, Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., former U. S. Open champion, became the chief point maker, figuring in four triumphs —the only American to do so.

He and Billy Maxwell, the sandy-haired Texan out of Las Vegas Nev., beat Harry Weetman and George Will, 3 and 2, and then won over 48-year-old Tom Haliburton and young Geoffrey Hunt, 2 and 1.

Casper chipped in from 60 feet and sank putts of 20 and 15 feet in the morning match and rolled in a difficult downhiller of 20 feet in the afternoon. Maxwell, driving sensationally and putting well, was a strong asset to the team.

ATLANTA (AP)—Summaries of best-ball team matches Saturday in the 15th Ryder Cup competition between the United States and Britain.

Clemson Rallies To Tie Georgia

The intra-conference deadlock was nearly broken late in the game when Georgia's Bill McCollough tried a field goal from 34 yards out. But the boot was wide. Clemson also blocked two Georgia field goal efforts.

Gergia scored the first time it got the ball when tackle Ben Boyd recovered a fumble at the Clemson 32. Quarterback Larry Rakestraw plunged over from six inches a few plays later.

Clemson bounced back to knock at Georgia's door four times without success before fullback Bob Swift plunged over from half-yard out. Swift's score capped a march that began at midfield just after the half.

Both teams were rushing the passers. Clemson, however, had some success with its running game.

A halftime thunder, rain and hail torm that drove fans under the stands left the field wet and slippery for the second half. This appeared to make offensive work erratic for both teams.

After Georgia's quick score, Clemson moved 90 yards but the Tigers were held at the Georgia 2. On its next series, Clemson pushed to the Georgia 13. Again Georgia held.

Georgia threatened just before the half when center Ken Davis intercepted a Clemson pass near midfield. Georgia moved to the 28 and McCollough tried a field goal that was blocked by a surge of Clemson linemen.

With less than one minute to play, Georgia guard Joel Darden intercepted a pass at the Clemson 31. Passes failed and again McCollough tried a field goal, but it also was blocked, this time by center Ted Bunton.

Georgia's short touchdown march featured Rakestraw on short runs and his 14-yard pass to halfback Billy Knowles.

Swift, punching out short yardage into the line, was Clemson's principle weapon in its scoring drive.

Van Raaphorst Breaks Record, Leads Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Dick Van Raaphorst broke the Big Ten field goal record for the second straight week Saturday as he kicked a 49-yarder in the last two minutes to pull Ohio State up to a 20-20 tie with Illinois.

A crowd of 84,712, biggest in Buckeye history, sat quietly in the last two seconds as the senior from Ligonier, Pa., missed an almost impossible one from 57 yards. That would have pulled the game out for Ohio State.

Van Raaphorst's boot, which eclipsed his 48-yarder against Indiana last week, provided a fitting climax to as wild a game as these teams have played since before the turn of the century.

North Carolina Hands Maryland 4th Loss, 14-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)— North Carolina needed half a dozen pass interceptions, one with Maryland only 13 yards from a tying touchdown in the last three minutes, to preserve a 14-7 football victory Saturday.

The third triumph in four games moved North Carolina into a tie for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference while Maryland absorbed its fourth straight setback.

The winners went for both their touchdowns in the last two quarters after stealing Maryland aerials.

At that, the Terps came close to pulling a tie out of the fire when their ailing quarterback Dick Shiner mounted their one and only real offensive thrust.

Memphis State Takes 21-0 Win Over N. Texas

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Quarterback Russell Vollmer's generalship carried Memphis State to an effortless 21-0 football victory over North Texas State Saturday night.

Vollmer scored two of the Tiger touchdowns and his precision passing set up two.

The North Texas Eagles pressed a tricky offense against the Tigers but mustered only one threat—a field goal attempt that was blocked.

Memphis State broke the ice after taking over on its own 30 and driving all the way. Fullback Dave Casinelli carried it over after a 20-yard pass from Vollmer to Ray Farmer put it on the one-yard line.

The Tigers scored again quickly when Eagle quarterback Tim Falgout was pressed back into the end zone, where John Fred Robilio nailed him for a saftey.

Vollmer tossed 25 yards to end Chuck Brooks just before the half ended and slipped over himself from the one. He scored again in the third quarter from the six.

The Eagles' deepest penetration went to the Memphis State 26 late in the first period, where Robilio drove quarterback Bobby Smith back for 10 yards. Joe Ferguson's field goal try from the 36 struck a wall of blue jerseys.

North Texas State's fullback Dwain Bean was the leading ground gainer with 61 yards in 16 carries. Vollmer completed six of eight passes for 110 yards.

West Virginia Takes 20-6 Win Over Indians

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)— West Virginia found a lightning thrust in the passes and runs of Jerry Yost and came from behind Saturday for a 20-16 Southern Conference football victory over a William and Mary team that was its own worst enemy.

Yost passed for two of the Mountaineer touchdowns and scored the third while leading West Virginia to its first conference victory of the season.

But only fumbles kept the battling Indians, who lost the conference lead by their defeat, from coming home in front in the W&M homecoming day clash before 11,500 at Cary Field.

One Indian fumble set up West Virginia's first touchdown on the William and Mary 11 in the opening quarter. Another stalled an Indian drive on the Mountaineer 6 in the third period. And another ended a W&M advance on the West Virginia 30.

Colorado Tops Oklahoma State

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Colorado turned three fumbles and a bad punt into second half touchdowns that demolished Oklahoma State 25-0 in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

After a scoreless, frustrating first half Colorado fullback Noble Milton recovered an Oklahoma State pitchout fumble on the Oklahomans seven and two plays later quarterback Frank Cesarek faked a handoff to the fullback and bolted four yards through left tackle for a touchdown after five minutes of the third period.

Louise Suggs Regains Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Veteran Louise Suggs of DelRay Beach, Fla., shot a 73 to recapture the lead Saturday in the $15,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship.

TOPPLE TENNESSEE

Lothridge Back In Saddle As He Sparks Jacket Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's do-it-all quarterback, ran for one touchdown, passed for another and kicked a field goal Saturday in leading the Yellowjackets to a 23-7 victory over Tennessee.

A shirt-sleeved throng of 51,527 —largest ever to see an athletic event in Tennessee—watched the bruising Southeastern Conference game.

Tech scored twice in the second period and added another in the third for good measure before Wayne Bush, a third-string tailback, rallied the Vols for a six-pointer in the fourth quarter.

Lothridge's running, faking, passing and kicking were too much for the Vols as he maneuvered the Yellowjackets to their third triumph of the season against one loss. It was Tennessee's third setback in a row.

The brilliant Tech field general set up two of Tech's touchdowns with pass to end Ted Davis, his favorite target, and connected with a 54-yard home run pass to Davis for another.

The Engineers drove 76 yards for their first touchdown, Lothridge leaping over from the 1 after passing 14 yards to Davis on the 2. Bruce Fischer kicked the extra point.

Lothridge hit on three successive passes in this drive. In all, he completed 6 of 13 tosses for 112 yards.

Davis pulled the sideline sleeper play on the Vols for the Jackets' second touchdown. A pass play failed and Davis, instead of returning to the huddle, loitered on the sideline.

Lothridge dropped back, hit Davis on the dead run on the Vol 20 and the big end, after juggling the ball momentarily, sped across untouched. In one of the few things he failed to do right all afternoon, Lothridge missed the kick from placement.

Fullback Ray Mendheim went over from the 2 for Tech's final TD after a 78-yard power drive in the third period. Lothridge converted.

Bush ran over from the 2 to cap a 53-yard Tennessee march midway in the fourth period.

This came after Tech held on its 8 to stem a 72-yard drive by the Vols, their longest of the game.

IN LAST QUARTER

Tom Myers Hurls 'Cats To Triumph

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Passing star Tommy Myers, badly harassed for three quarters, suddenly found the range with two touchdown passes in a wild last period which gave Northwestern a 15-8 Big Ten football victory over Minnesota Saturday.

The nationally televised contest went scoreless until the first play of the fourth quarter when Myers, seemingly headed for the worst day of his career, completed a 64-yard touchdown pass to soph end Mike Buckner.

This broken open what had been almost a dull struggle in which Myers had three passes intercepted and fumbled the ball away a fourth time and Minnesota played a plodding, possession game.

After Northwestern's 80 - yard first scoring strike, Minnesota came to life under substitute quarterback Larry Peterson and went 75 yards in 15 plays to score. Halfback Al Harris' 20-yard sprint around Northwestern's left end produced the touchdown.

But with about eight minutes left, Myers really began hitting the target and led Northwestern on another 80-yard scoring drive.

Myers, the nation's leading passer, found halfback Willie Stinson wide open down the middle and fired a 25-yard touchdown pass, Stinson grabbing the ball in full stride on the Gopher three.

Myers also hit on a two-point conversion pass to Buckner and the Wildcats had the game on ice 15-8.

In the last Northwestern drive, Myers flipped passes to 18 and 14 yards to ends Chuck Logan and Gary Crum.

The Gophers showed plenty of fight with time running out, but it was all over when Dick McCauley intercepted regular quarterback Bob Sadek's pass in midfield.

Until the explosive fourth quarter, Minnesota punted eight times and Northwestern six times. There was not a punt in the final period.

FIRST TO REPEAT

Merrill Carlsmith Wins Senior Play

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Merrill L. Carlsmith, a Hilo, Hawaii, attorney, recovered after a bad start Saturday and became the first golfer to repeat as champion in the U.S.G.A. Seniors Amateur Tournament.

Completing a week-long battle over the Ocean Edge Sea Island course, Carlsmith won the first hole with a birdie but saw Higgins take the next three with pars.

Carlsmith was 1-down as they turned the first nine.

Then the pace told on Higgins, who like Carlsmith, is a golfing regular at 57. He lost the 10th, 11th, 13th and 16th as Carlsmith matched par and it was all over.

Carlsmith was a quarter-finalist in his first Seniors tournament two years ago and won the title last year. The minimum age for competitors is 55. There were 128 in the field when play opened Monday.

Iowa State Gets 17-14 Triumph

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Dick Limerick's 31-yard field goal with one minute 20 seconds left lifted an inspired Iowa State team to a 17-14 football upset Saturday over Kansas. It was Iowa State's first victory over the Jayhawks in five years.

Dave Hoover, Iowa State's senior tailback, was the hero of the Cyclone drive which set up the winning field goal. Fulback Tom Vaugh, a swift and powerful junior, punished the Jayhawks both on wide plays and plunges all day. He ripped the Jayhawks for 138 yards in 23 plays.

Hoover came back 15 yards to his 33 with an intercepted pass to ignite the winning drive. He fired passes of six, 10 and 15 yards to Limerick before the drive stalled at the Kansas five, and Limerick kicked the field goal.

Coach Clay Stapleton's club survived a last minute scare, as Kansas reached the eight yard line on a desperation 70-yard pass from Steve Renko to halfback Ron Oelschlager. After a penalty and three Renko passes fell incomplete in the end zone, Gary Duffs' try for a 35-yard field goal was wide with 12 seconds left.

Fighting Irish Upset Trojans

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Sophomore Ken Ivan's 33-yard field goal in the final six minutes of the game gave Notre Dame a 17-14 football upset of Southern California Saturday as the Irish unveiled a smashing new backfield combination.

Notre Dame took senior quarterback Frank Budka out of mothballs and turned loose rookie running whiz Bill Wolsfi for the first time. They ripped the seventh-ranked Trojans apart before a screaming overflow crowd of 59,135.

It has been years since Notre Dame has demonstrated the brand of action that made them the scourge of the nation as the Fighting Irish.

Budka, making his first start this season as signal-caller after being employed as a defensive back last year, piled up yardage with keep-it plays and always held the threat of passing.

Wolski, a 195-pounder from Muskegon, Mich., slammed and battered the Trojan defenses into submission and kept USC without victory at Notre Dame since 1939.

Until Saturday Wolski had carried the ball only three times for 14 yards.

The Irish churned 273 yards on the ground, Budka contributing 84 and Wolski 87.

It was Budka's smashes that mainly drove the Irish 74 yards in the final quarter. And when the Trojans held, Ivan, 190-pound end from Massillon, Ohio, calmly planted the ball through the uprights for the winning three points.

Tigers Romp By Vocational Team By 39-6

GRAMBLING (Special) Grambling powered passed Mississippi Vocational College 39-6, with consistant, consumate, ease Saturday night to setup a SWAC showdown with Prairie View A&M.

With typical distain, the Tigers stormed to three first half touchdowns and dug the rut to the end-zone deeper by piling up eighteen points aftre intermission.

J. D. Garrett grabbed a nine yard pass from Lawerence Hunter for the initial TD, and stepped on the accelerator on a brilliant 36 yard run for the second score.

Peterson Mathews rammed over from the four.

Vocational turned on its turmentor for its only score at this point. The Delta Devils clawed out eighty yards in ten plays with Eurnice McGee, and Thoedore Scott clicking on a 17 yard pass for the score.

Grambling was obviously looking ahead to Prairie View and reserves turned the second half into a horror movie for MVC supporters.

Carter sprinted five yards, Mango hooked up with Eddie Robinson Jr. on a 20 yard pass, and Wilson rambled 21 yards to pay dirt in an awkard jig of elation.

EASTERN DIVISION SHOWDOWN

Browns Risk Record Against N. Y. Giants

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The Cleveland Browns risk their spotless record Sunday in an Eastern Division showdown against the New York Giants while the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers face easy pickings in the West.

A sellout crowd of more than 62,000 will pack Yankee Stadium to watch Cleveland match the rushing thunder of Jimmy Brown against the aerial bobs of Y. A. Tittle in the Giants' home-opener.

In Sunday's other games, the St. Louis Cardinals (3-1) make their home debut against the Pittsburgh Steelers (2-1-1); the Dallas Cowboys (0-4) seek their season's first win in a home game with the Detroit Lions (2-2) the Washington Redskins (2-2) are at home against the Philadelphia Eagles (1-2-1) and the Baltimore Colts (1-3) entertain the San Francisco Forty Niners (0-4).

Here is the "line" on Sunday's games: The Giants are favored by 3 points over Cleveland; the Bears, Packers and Colts all are 13-point picks; the Lions are the choice by 5 over Dallas; and the Cards and Redskins are choices by 3.

Victories by the Giants and Cardinals would throw the Eastern Conference race into a three-team tie among Cleveland, New York and St. Louis.

Jimmy Brown, off to the finest start of his career, has a rushing haul of 664 yards that exceeds the entire Giants' ground production of 509.

Yet coach Al Sherman of the Giants insists that his team's defense will not be geared primarily to stop Brown.

"We can't afford to focus our defense on one man," said Sherman. "If that broke down, we'd have no place to go. Don't forget they have a fellow named Frank Ryan who throws that ball pretty well, too."

With fullback Alex Webster back in action, the Giants will have their offensive unit intact for the first time since their season-opener. The Browns also are in excellent shape.

Both Brown and Tittle can become all-time NFL leaders in their specialties. Brown goes into Sunday's game 73 rushing yards behind the career total of Joe. (The Jet) Perry of the Forty Niners. And Tittle needs 15 pass completions to break Bobby Layne's record of 1,814.

The Cards, strictly dark-horses in this eastern race, were expected to reactivate John David Crow and safetyman Billy Stacy for their game against Pittsburgh. The Cards have their usual injured list, though, with linebacker Garland Boyette out of action and tight end Taz Anderson doubtful.

Pittsburgh will have to play without fullback John Henry Johnson and linebackers John Reger and Bob Schmitz. Johnson's admittance to the NFL's 5,000-yard rushing club thus will be delayed

Chicago and Green Bay both are in top physical shape but must guard against a letdown against underdog opponents.

The Lions, dropped back to third place in the West, cannot afford to take the Cowboys too lightly. Dallas, tabbed during the pre-season as a leading eastern contender, has an offensive potential that is bound to explode any game now.

The Eagles will be strengthened by the return of rookie pass-catcher Ron Goodwin, but they lose two defensive stalwarts, Bill Quinlan and Bob Harrison. Washington's weak pass defense will have to play without Johnny Sample.

With Ray Berry out and Jimmy Orr limping, Johnny Unitas is somewhat shy of experienced pass-receivers, but Baltimore still should have enough to add to the misery of the Forty Niners' new head coach, Jack Christiansen.

REBUILDING JOB

Northeast Cagers End Initial Week

Northeast, which opens the 1963-64 campaign here November 26 against Arkansas A&M, lost four lettermen from last year's team, three of them starters. After two successful years in which the Indians won 32 of 51 games, captured one Gulf States Conference championship and narrowly missed another, Fant rates this campaign as "definitely a rebuilding season."

The lost lettermen are Stuart Toms, who will serve as team manager, Robert Cook, Milton Linder and Malcolm George. Cook was a starter for four years and Linder and Toms, all-GSC, third team all-America and holder of a pocketful of school records were regulars for three years.

Fant has two proven stars available — Jimmy Walker (6-4) of Jonesboro and Irby Gamble (5-7) of Marthaville, both returning starters. Walker has been one of the GSC's best for two years. He was the league's No. 2 rebounder last winter with 279 retrieves in 26 games and was second in Indian scoring with a 14.5point average. Gamble, despite spending most of the season as a substitute, averaged 10.1 points and led the conference in field goal accuracy with 50.5 per cent. Both are seniors.

Other returnees are big Larry Butler (6-5), a junior from Forest, and sophomores Lawson Swearingen (6-6), Ruston; Billy Brooks (6-2), Jonesville; Tommy Enloe (5-9), Saline; Albert Krause (5-10), Sicily Island; James "Polk" Brian (6-3), Pleasant Hill; and Truett Nolan (6-1), Monroe. Krause, with 12 points in four games, was the only member of this group to average more than two points last year.

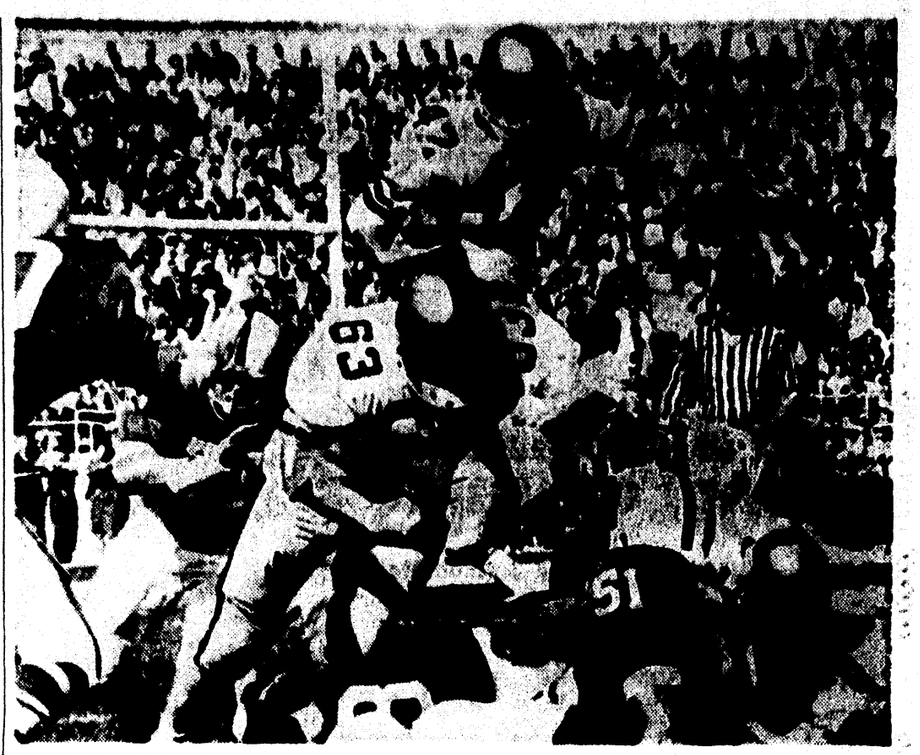

Tops among the newcomers working out appear to be rookie Glynn Saulters, former Lisbon ace, and junior college transfers Dick Wiliams (6-2), of East Orange, N.J., and Walter Snelling (5-9), Converse, a brother of former Indian Jerry Snelling who participated in spring practice.

Saulters (6-2) was one of Louisiana's finest high school players last year, a two-time all-stater who was selected the top player in the Louisiana All-Star Game last summer. Williams led the Little Dixie Junior College Conference in scoring last season at Marion, Ala., Institute while Snellings was a standout at Panola (Tex.) J.C.

Army's Cadets Get Upset Triumph Over Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—The Cadets of Army combined a crunching ground attack with a tough defense Saturday to upset ninth-ranked Penn State 10-7 before an estimated record crowd of 48,850.

Army gained more than 220 yards on the ground in upsetting an unbeaten Penn State team for the second straight year. All the scoring came in the first half with Army marching 85 yards for its touchdown after Dick Heydt booted a 32-yard field goal.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Statistics of the Army-Penn State football game:

Army threw only one pass in the first half, but that was enough as Carl Stichwech connected with Sam Champi in the end zone for a two-yard touchdown. The play climaxed an 85-yard drive and made it 10-0.

A fumble recovery by Dick Nowak on the State 34 set up Heydts field goal. Army moved to the State 22 in six plays and when the State defense stiffened, Heydt came through with his three-pointer.

Army almost blew its big upset in the final three minutes when Ken Waldrop fumbled on the Cadet 31, and Glenn Ressler recovered for State. But the fired-up Army defense knocked down a pair of passes after holding two running plays to two yards and took over on downs.

The State touchdown play was the only offense the Nittany Lions were able to muster. Army held the wide open State offense to 38 yards on the ground and 99 yards in the air, which included the 69-yard TD pass play.

Waldrop and Stichweh were the workhorses of the Army offense, accounting for 144 of the Cadet ground yardage.

Another highlight came in the second period when State had Army pinned in its own territory, but Dick Peterson boomed a 58-yard punt from the Cadet 13 to ease the pressure.

Florida State Smashes Wake Forest, 35-0

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Heavily Favored Florida State pasted Wake Forest 35-0 for an easy football victory Saturday, but never dimmed the spirit of the Deacons, now losers of 14 straight games.

Playing chin-to-chin throughout the first quarter, the teams appeared to be equal.

Then Florida State quarterback Steve Tensi unlimbered his throwing arm and tossed three touchdown passes and set up another Florida State score.

The Seminoles lived up to their pre-game billing as a four-touchdown victor. But Wake Forest quarterback Karl Sweetan played as though he never looked at the scoreboard.

Sweetan and fullback Brian Piccolo staged two late-game drives but the Seminoles stopped one on the 35-yard line and the other on the 12. Earlier, Sweetan attempted a 50-yard field goal that failed.

SEASON OPENS WEDNESDAY

Closer Finishes Predicted In NBA

By SANDY PADWE
UPI Sports Writer

The National Basketball Association opens its 1963-64 season Wednesday night with everyone predicting close pennant races in both divisions.

The retirement of Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, the addition of Jerry Lucas to the Cincinnati Royals and the "transformation" of Wilt Chamberlin from a scoring machine to an all-round team performer are expected to make the NBA a tighter organization this season.

"This year's race will be the toughest in the history of the league," Harry Gallatin, Coach of the St. Louis Hawks said. "In the past you could count on some easy sailing against certain opponents but this year every game will be a tough one."

The coming season also marks the re-entry of two old franchises — Baltimore and Philadelphia. Baltimore inherited the Chicago Zephyrs and Philadelphia gave a home to the old Syracuse Nationals.

Changing the NBA's looks even more are new coaches in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Detroit and Cincinnati.

Alex Hannum, who coached the Syracuse team last season, has taken over for Bob Feerick in San Francisco; Charley Wolf, formerly of Cincinnati replaces Dick McGuire at Detroit; Jack McMahon, who coaches Chicago for a short time, inherits Wolf's job with the Royals; and Dolph Schayes, the all-time NBA scoring king, takes over at Philadelphia.

Although the NBA didn't have quite as strong a draft last season, there are a number of promising newcomers. San Francisco is happy with Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green while the New York Knicks are talking about the rookie of the year honors for Art Heyman of Duke.

Lucas of course, is with Cincinnati and the Boston Celtics have high hopes for Larry Siegfried, one of Lucas' ex-teammates at Ohio State. Former AAU star Don Kojis has impressed the Baltimore front office and Eddie Miles, an ex-Seattle performer, could surprise in Detroit.

Wednesday's openers find Boston at Baltimore, Philadelphia at Detroit, and Cincinnati at St. Louis. The following night Boston will be at Cincinnati and Baltimore at New York.

Southerners Collect Victory Over Richmond

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Southern Mississippi, bouncing back from two straight opening losses for the first time since 1952, broke into the victory column Saturday with a 7-0 decision over the University of Richmond.

The Southerners capitalized on a fumble recovery on the Richmond 34 early in the second period for the game's only touchdown. It took four plays to cover the distance after end Ben McLeod pounced on the loose ball.

The only serious threat by Southern after its scoring surge came just before the end of the game. They moved from their 43 to the Richmond 7 at the final whistle.

The game opened the Big Eight Conference season for the Tigers. The Wildcats lost last week to Colorado.

Only penalties and an infrequent lapse in the Tiger offensive line kept the score close as Missouri dominated play. The Tigers had two field goal attempts miss.

Lane bottlegged around left end for his scoring run as Missouri went 80 yards in the eight plays the first time the Tigers got the ball.

Michigan Elevens Battle To 7-7 Tie

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan and Michigan State battled to a 7-7 tie Saturday before 101,450, largest crowd of the 1963 college football season.

With only one minute to play Bob Timberlake of Michigan tried a 43-yard field goal but it was wide.

Michigan scored first in the opening period on a 15-yard touchdown pass from Bob Chandler to John Henderson, and Timberlake converted.

Michigan State, a one-touchdown favorite going into the game, evened things up in the third on an 84-yard march in 14 plays, with 152-pound Sherman Lewis scoring on a seven-yard pass from Steve Juday. Lou Bobich, the soccer-type kicker, converted.

The tiny Lewis was the individual star of the game, and in the last period made a valiant effort to pull out a victory when he intercepted one of Chandler's passes on the Michigan 45 and darted back to the Michigan 22.

The Michigan line braced, however, and Bobich tried a field goal from the 33, but it failed.

Michigan last defeated Michigan State in 1955, 14-7, but earned a 12-12 tie in 1958, so it was a moral victory for the home team. Michigan's touchdown was the first scored against State by the Wolverines in the last three games.

Feelings between the arch-rivals ran so high that when State took over the ball in the last minute of play a personal penalty was called against both teams after a melee in the line.

Michigan's line was a major factor in earning the tie for the underdogs and kept constant pressure on Juday.

Michigan's touchdown was set up early in the game when Jack Clancy took one of Bobich's long punts on his 17 and ran it back to State's 41, a 42-yard return.

Three running plays carried to the 29 and Mel Anthony then made it first down on the 19, with a 15-yard touchdown pass following.

State's touchdown drive was a methodical march from the Spartan 16. Short punches carried to the 38 where Juday passed to Lewis for 20 yards. Then Lewis passed to Juday for a first down on the Michigan 32.

Roger Lopes took a pitchout to the 19 and Lewis broke off right tackle to the eight. With the ball on the seven, Lewis scampered into the end zone and caught Juday's pass untouched.

The Bengals hung to a 2 to 0 score until the final minutes of their game when McMakin threw to Herrington for a touch down to bring their team a hard fought 9 to 0 victory. Birckhead and Portman were the Steelers leaders on defense.

In the tackle football leagues action the Cowboys opened the season with a 21 to 0 victory over the giants. The running of Mitchell and line play of Seale and Williams accounted heavily in the victory.

In the other Blue league game the Cardinals were able to score only once in the first half but added three in the last to overcome the Bears 26 to 0. Sale score two times for the victors. Blumenthal was the spark on defense for the victors. Murphy was the Bear leader.

EASTERN DIVISION SHOWDOWN

Browns Risk Record Against N. Y. Giants

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The Cleveland Browns risk their spotless record Sunday in an Eastern Division showdown against the New York Giants while the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers face easy pickings in the West.

A sellout crowd of more than 62,000 will pack Yankee Stadium to watch Cleveland match the rushing thunder of Jimmy Brown against the aerial bobs of Y. A Tittle in the Giants' home-opener.

In Sunday's other games, the St. Louis Cardinals (3-1) make their home debut against the Pittsburgh Steelers (2-1-1); the Dallas Cowboys (0-4) seek their season's first win in a home game with the Detroit Lions (2-2) the Washington Redskins (2-2) are at home against the Philadelphia Eagles (1-2-1) and the Baltimore Colts (1-3) entertain the San Francisco Forty Niners (0-4).

Here is the "line" on Sunday's games: The Giants are favored by 3 points over Cleveland; the Bears, Packers and Colts all are 13-point picks; the Lions are the choice by 5 over Dallas; and the Cards and Redskins are choices by 3.

Victories by the Giants and Cardinals would throw the Eastern Conference race into a three-team tie among Cleveland, New York and St. Louis.

Jimmy Brown, off to the finest start of his career, has a rushing haul of 664 yards that exceeds the entire Giants' ground production of 509.

Yet coach Al Sherman of the Giants insists that his team's defense will not be geared primarily to stop Brown.

"We can't afford to focus our defense on one man," said Sherman. "If that broke down, we'd have no place to go. Don't forget they have a fellow named Frank Ryan who throws that ball pretty well, too."

With fullback Alex Webster back in action, the Giants will have their offensive unit intact for the first time since their season-opener. The Browns also are in excellent shape.

Both Brown and Tittle can become all-time NFL leaders in their specialties. Brown goes into Sunday's game 73 rushing yards behind the career total of Joe. (The Jet) Perry of the Forty Niners. And Tittle needs 15 pass completions to break Bobby Layne's record of 1,814.

The Cards, strictly dark-horses in this eastern race, were expected to reactivate John David Crow and safetyman Billy Stacy for their game against Pittsburgh. The Cards have their usual injured list, though, with linebacker Garland Boyette out of action and tight end Taz Anderson doubtful.

Pittsburgh will have to play without fullback John Henry Johnson and linebackers John Reger and Bob Schmitz. Johnson's admittance to the NFL's 5,000-yard rushing club thus will be delayed.

Chicago and Green Bay both are in top physical shape but must guard against a letdown against underdog opponents.

The Lions, dropped back to third place in the West, cannot afford to take the Cowboys too lightly. Dallas, tabbed during the pre-season as a leading eastern contender, has an offensive potential that is bound to explode any game now.

The Eagles will be strengthened by the return of rookie pass-catcher Ron Goodwin, but they lose two defensive stalwarts, Bill Quinlan and Bob Harrison. Washington's weak pass defense will have to play without Johnny Sample.

With Ray Berry out and Jimmy Orr limping, Johnny Unitas is somewhat shy of experienced pass-receivers, but Baltimore still should have enough to add to the misery of the Forty Niners' new head coach, Jack Christiansen.

REBUILDING JOB

Northeast Cagers End Initial Week

Northeast, which opens the 1963-64 campaign here November 26 against Arkansas A&M, lost four lettermen from last year's team, three of them starters. After two successful years in which the Indians won 32 of 51 games, captured one Gulf States Conference championship and narrowly missed another, Fant rates this campaign as "definitely a rebuilding season."

The lost lettermen are Stuart Toms, who will serve as team manager, Robert Cook, Milton Linder and Malcolm George. Cook was a starter for four years and Linder and Toms, all-GSC, third team all-America and holder of a pocketful of school records were regulars for three years.

Fant has two proven stars available — Jimmy Walker (6-4) of Jonesboro and Irby Gamble (5-7) of Marthaville, both returning starters. Walker has been one of the GSC's best for two years. He was the league's No. 2 rebounder last winter with 279 retrieves in 26 games and was second in Indian scoring with a 14.5point average. Gamble, despite spending most of the season as a substitute, averaged 10.1 points and led the conference in field goal accuracy with 50.5 per cent. Both are seniors.

Other returnees are big Larry Butler (6-5), a junior from Forest, and sophomores Lawson Swearingen (6-6), Ruston; Billy Brooks (6-2), Jonesville; Tommy Enloe (5-9), Saline; Albert Krause (5-10), Sicily Island; James "Polk" Brian (6-3), Pleasant Hill; and Truett Nolan (6-1), Monroe. Krause, with 12 points in four games, was the only member of this group to average more than two points last year.

Tops among the newcomers working out appear to be rookie Glynn Saulters, former Lisbon ace, and junior college transfers Dick Wiliams (6-2), of East Orange, N.J., and Walter Snelling (5-9), Converse, a brother of former Indian Jerry Snelling who participated in spring practice.

Saulters (6-2) was one of Louisiana's finest high school players last year, a two-time all-stater who was selected the top player in the Louisiana All-Star Game last summer. Williams led the Little Dixie Junior College Conference in scoring last season at Marion, Ala., Institute while Snellings was a standout at Panola (Tex.) J.C.

Army's Cadets Get Upset Triumph Over Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —The Cadets of Army combined a crunching ground attack with a tough defense Saturday to upset ninth-ranked Penn State 10-7 before an estimated record crowd of 48,850.

Army gained more than 220 yards on the ground in upsetting an unbeaten Penn State team for the second straight year. All the scoring came in the first half with Army marching 85 yards for its touchdown after Dick Heydt booted a 32-yard field goal.

Army threw only one pass in the first half, but that was enough as Carl Stichweh connected with Sam Champi in the end zone for a two-yard touchdown. The play climaxed an 85-yard drive and made it 10-0.

A fumble recovery by Dick Nowak on the State 34 set up Heydts field goal. Army moved to the State 22 in six plays and when the State defense stiffened, Heydt came through with his three-pointer.

Army almost blew its big upset in the final three minutes when Ken Waldrop fumbled on the Cadet 31, and Glenn Ressler recovered for State. But the fired-up Army defense knocked down a pair of passes after holding two running plays to two yards and took over on downs.

The State touchdown play was the only offense the Nittany Lions were able to muster. Army held the wide open State offense to 38 yards on the ground and 99 yards in the air, which included the 69-yard TD pass play.

Waldrop and Stichweh were the workhorses of the Army offense, accounting for 144 of the Cadet ground yardage.

Another highlight came in the second period when State had Army pinned in its own territory, but Dick Peterson boomed a 58-yard punt from the Cadet 13 to ease the pressure.

Florida State Smashes Wake Forest, 35-0

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Heavily Favored Florida State pasted Wake Forest 35-0 for an easy football victory Saturday, but never dimmed the spirit of the Deacons, now losers of 14 straight games.

Playing chin-to-chin throughout the first quarter, the teams appeared to be equal.

Then Florida State quarterback Steve Tensi unlimbered his throwing arm and tossed three touchdown passes and set up another Florida State score.

The Seminoles lived up to their pre-game billing as a four-touchdown victor. But Wake Forest quarterback Karl Sweetan played as though he never looked at the scoreboard.

Sweetan and fullback Brian Piccolo staged two late-game drives but the Seminoles stopped one on the 35-yard line and the other on the 12. Earlier, Sweetan attempted a 50-yard field goal that failed.

SEASON OPENS WEDNESDAY

Closer Finishes Predicted In NBA

By SANDY PADWE
UPI Sports Writer

The National Basketball Association opens its 1963-64 season Wednesday night with everyone predicting close pennant races in both divisions.

The retirement of Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, the addition of Jerry Lucas to the Cincinnati Royals and the "transformation" of Wilt Chamberlin from a scoring machine to an all-round team performer are expected to make the NBA a tighter organization this season.

"This year's race will be the toughest in the history of the league," Harry Gallatin, Coach of the St. Louis Hawks said. "In the past you could count on some easy sailing against certain opponents but this year every game will be a tough one."

The coming season also marks the re-entry of two old franchises — Baltimore and Philadelphia. Baltimore inherited the Chicago Zephyrs and Philadelphia gave a home to the old Syracuse Nationals.

Changing the NBA's looks even more are new coaches in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Detroit and Cincinnati.

Alex Hannum, who coached the Syracuse team last season, has taken over for Bob Feerick in San Francisco; Charley Wolf, formerly of Cincinnati replaces Dick McGuire at Detroit; Jack McMahon, who coaches Chicago for a short time, inherits Wolf's job with the Royals; and Dolph Schayes, the all-time NBA scoring king, takes over at Philadelphia.

Although the NBA didn't have quite as strong a draft last season, there are a number of promising newcomers. San Francisco is happy with Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green while the New York Knicks are talking about the rookie of the year honors for Art Heyman of Duke.

Lucas of course, is with Cincinnati and the Boston Celtics have high hopes for Larry Siegfried, one of Lucas' ex-teammates at Ohio State. Former AAU star Don Kojis has impressed the Baltimore front office and Eddie Miles, an ex-Seattle performer, could surprise in Detroit.

Wednesday's openers find Boston at Baltimore, Philadelphia at Detroit, and Cincinnati at St. Louis. The following night Boston will be at Cincinnati and Baltimore at New York.

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Southern Mississippi, bouncing back from two straight opening losses for the first time since 1952, broke into the victory column Saturday with a 7-0 decision over the University of Richmond.

The Southerners capitalized on a fumble recovery on the Richmond 34 early in the second period for the game's only touchdown. It took four plays to cover the distance after end Ben McLeod pounced on the loose ball.

In the other Blue league game the Cardinals were able to score only once in the first half but added three in the last to overcome the Bears 26 to 0. Sale score two times for the victors. Blumenthal was the spark on defense for the victors. Murphy was the Bear leader.

Top action of the day saw the Indians successful carry an undefeated streak from last year through the first game of this campaign with a hard fought 14 to 7 victory over the Colts. Armstrong and Brown tallied for the winners with Durham scoring the only colt TD.

In a runnaway game the Tigers defeated the Packers 39 to 0 on the running of Dyer and Dickens. Touchstone and Liles were the Packer standouts.

Legally Dead Priest, Young Scholar Arrive In U.S. After Russian Ordeal

NEW YORK (AP) — A legally dead priest, held for 23 years in Siberia, and a young scholar, a Russian prisoner for two years, came home to America Saturday in a swap for two accused Soviet spies.

The Rev. Walter M. Ciszek, 58, Shenandoah, Pa., and Marvin W. Makinen, 24, Ashburnham, Mass., stepped together from the jetliner, each hard put to describe his ordeal.

Makinen's parents stood on a ramp, waving, as he approached.

He and the priest walked side by side into an Idlewild Airport building where Father Ciszak's relatives waited. There, both families were reunited.

"It's like a dream come true, like a dream come true," the Makinens repeated.

Father Ciszek, serving a Roman Catholic mission in Poland until he disappeared in 1940, not to be heard from again for 15 years, found speech difficult in his native tongue. He spoke first in Russian and Polish through an interpreter, only hesitantly trying English.

A reporter addressed him as "father" and suddenly, a pleased words of English came back to him.

"The last time I was called that was in 1941," he said.

Makinen, too, found speech difficult, but for different reason. He appeared subdued, reluctant to answer questions. Repeatedly he answered, "I have no comment right now."

But the former Fulbright scholar's sister, Kathy, 9, broke through his reserve. She dashed into his arms and he sobbed as he kissed her.

Kissing and hugging her son, Mrs. Makinen wept in joy.

"I knew he finally would come back, but I didn't expect it would be so soon," she said.

Her husband added, "We never lost faith. During all the sleepless nights, the headaches and frustrations we maintained our strong hope and faith and this is the result."

BIRDIE BINGE

Palmer, Finsterwald Lead U.S. Victories

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ATLANTA (AP) — A dazzling birdie-bagging exhibition by Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, who were 13 under par for 30 holes, featured an American near sweep of the best-ball team matches Saturday which turned the 15th Ryder Cup series with Britain into a catastrophic runaway.

At the halfway point of the biennial series between the top professionals of the two nations, Uncle Sam's forces had a total of 12 points to 4 for the visitors.

The red-hot Yanks have to win only five of today's final 16 individual matches to clinch the gold trophy which they have never lost at home.

Only the superb putting of Christy O'Connor, a plucky Irishman and Ryder Cup veteran, slowed the American golfing juggernaut.

Christy rolled in a 35-foot birdie putt over a tricky knoll on the final hole to give him and his partner, Neil Coles, a 1-up triumph over Bob Goalby and Dave Ragan, newcomers to the U.S. team.

It was Britain's only clean-cut triumph in a rather frustrating day which saw the Americans win five of the eight best-ball matches and draw two others.

O'Connor also sank putts of 40, 18 and 10 feet in a remarkable exhibition on the greens in his morning match. He also ran in putts of 12 and 40 feet on two of the closing holes in the afternoon duel against Palmer and Finsterwald.

This was about all the plucky Britons had to cheer about for their day's efforts on the 6,898-yard, par 70 East Lake course renowned as the home of Bobby Jones.

Palmer and Finsterwald first crushed Dave Thomas and Brian Huggert 5 and 4, without losing a hole and then trounced Coles and O'Connor, 3 and 2.

In the 14 holes of the morning match, Palmer and his long-time playing partner snared six birdies—three each.

They reeled off six birdies through the first nine holes of the afternoon, including three straight by Palmer at the seventh, eighth and ninth.

Although they were the birdie makers, Bill Casper Jr. of Apple Valley, Calif., former U. S. Open champion, became the chief point maker, figuring in four triumphs —the only American to do so.

He and Billy Maxwell, the sandy-haired Texan out of Las Vegas Nev., beat Harry Weetman and George Will, 3 and 2, and then won over 43-year-old Tom Haliburton and young Geoffrey Hunt, 2 and 1.

Casper chipped in from 60 feet and sank putts of 20 and 15 feet in the morning match and rolled in a difficult downhiller of 20 feet in the afternoon. Maxwell, driving sensationally and putting well, was a strong asset to the team.

ATLANTA (AP)—Summaries of best-ball team matches Saturday in the 15th Ryder Cup competition between the United States and Britain.

MORNING

Bill Casper and Billy Maxwell, U.S., defeated Harry Weetman and George Will, Britain, 3 and 2.

AFTERNOON

Casper and Maxwell defeated Tom Haliburton and Geoffrey Hunt, 2 and 1.

Goalby and Ragan drew with Huggett and Thomas.

Clemson Rallies To Tie Georgia

The intra-conference deadlock was nearly broken late in the game when Georgia's Bill McCollough tried a field goal from 34 yards out. But the boot was wide. Clemson also blocked two Georgia field goal efforts.

Gergia scored the first time it got the ball when tackle Ben Boyd recovered a fumble at the Clemson 32. Quarterback Larry Rakestraw plunged over from six inches a few plays later.

Clemson bounced back to knock at Georgia's door four times without success before fullback Bob Swift plunged over from half-yard out. Swift's score capped a march that began at midfield just after the half.

Both teams were rushing the passers. Clemson, however, had some success with its running game.

A halftime thunder, rain and hail torm that drove fans under the stands left the field wet and slippery for the second half. This appeared to make offensive work erratic for both teams.

After Georgia's quick score, Clemson moved 90 yards but the Tigers were held at the Georgia 2. On its next series, Clemson pushed to the Georgia 13. Again Georgia held.

Georgia threatened just before the half when center Ken Davis intercepted a Clemson pass near midfield. Georgia moved to the 23 and McCollough tried a field goal that was blocked by a surge of Clemson linemen.

With less than one minute to play, Georgia guard Joel Darden intercepted a pass at the Clemson 31. Passes failed and again McCollough tried a field goal, but it also was blocked, this time by center Ted Bunton.

Georgia's short touchdown march featured Rakestraw on short runs and his 14-yard pass to halfback Billy Knowles.

Swift, punching out short yardage into the line, was Clemson's principle weapon in its scoring drive.

Van Raaphorst Breaks Record, Leads Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Dick Van Raaphorst broke the Big Ten field goal record for the second straight week Saturday as he kicked a 49-yarder in the last two minutes to pull Ohio State up to a 20-20 tie with Illinois.

A crowd of 84,712, biggest in Buckeye history, sat quietly in the last two seconds as the senior from Ligonier, Pa., missed an almost impossible one from 57 yards. That would have pulled the game out for Ohio State.

Van Raaphorst's boot, which eclipsed his 48-yarder against Indiana last week, provided a fitting climax to as wild a game as these teams have played since before the turn of the century.

North Carolina Hands Maryland 4th Loss, 14-7

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)— North Carolina needed half a dozen pass interceptions, one with Maryland only 13 yards from a tying touchdown in the last three minutes, to preserve a 14-7 football victory Saturday.

The third triumph in four games moved North Carolina into a tie for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference while Maryland absorbed its fourth straight setback.

The winners went for both their touchdowns in the last two quarters after stealing Maryland aerials.

At that, the Terps came close to pulling a tie out of the fire when their ailing quarterback Dick Shiner mounted their one and only real offensive thrust.

West Virginia Takes 20-6 Win Over Indians

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)— West Virginia found a lightning thrust in the passes and runs of Jerry Yost and came from behind Saturday for a 20-16 Southern Conference football victory over a William and Mary team that was its own worst enemy.

Yost passed for two of the Mountaineer touchdowns and scored the third while leading West Virginia to its first conference victory of the season.

But only fumbles kept the battling Indians, who lost the conference lead by their defeat, from coming home in front in the W&M homecoming day clash before 11,500 at Cary Field.

One Indian fumble set up West Virginia's first touchdown on the William and Mary 11 in the opening quarter. Another stalled an Indian drive on the Mountaineer 6 in the third period. And another ended a W&M advance on the West Virginia 30.

Memphis State Takes 21-0 Win Over N. Texas

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Quarterback Russell Vollmer's generalship carried Memphis State to an effortless 21-0 football victory over North Texas State Saturday night.

Vollmer scored two of the Tiger touchdowns and his precision passing set up two.

The North Texas Eagles pressed a tricky offense against the Tigers but mustered only one threat—a field goal attempt that was blocked.

Memphis State broke the ice after taking over on its own 30 and driving all the way. Fullback Dave Casinelli carried it over after a 20-yard pass from Vollmer to Ray Farmer put it on the one-yard line.

The Tigers scored again quickly when Eagle quarterback Tim Falgout was pressed back into the end zone, where John Fred Robillio nailed him for a saftey.

Vollmer tossed 25 yards to end Chuck Brooks just before the half ended and slipped over himself from the one. He scored again in the third quarter from the six.

The Eagles' deepest penetration went to the Memphis State 26 late in the first period, where Robillio drove quarterback Bobby Smith back for 10 yards. Joe Ferguson's field goal try from the 36 struck a wall of blue jerseys.

North Texas State's fullback Dwain Bean was the leading ground gainer with 61 yards in 16 carries. Vollmer completed six of eight passes for 110 yards.

Colorado Tops Oklahoma State

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Colorado turned three fumbles and a bad punt into second half touchdowns that demolished Oklahoma State 25-0 in a Big Eight Conference football game Saturday.

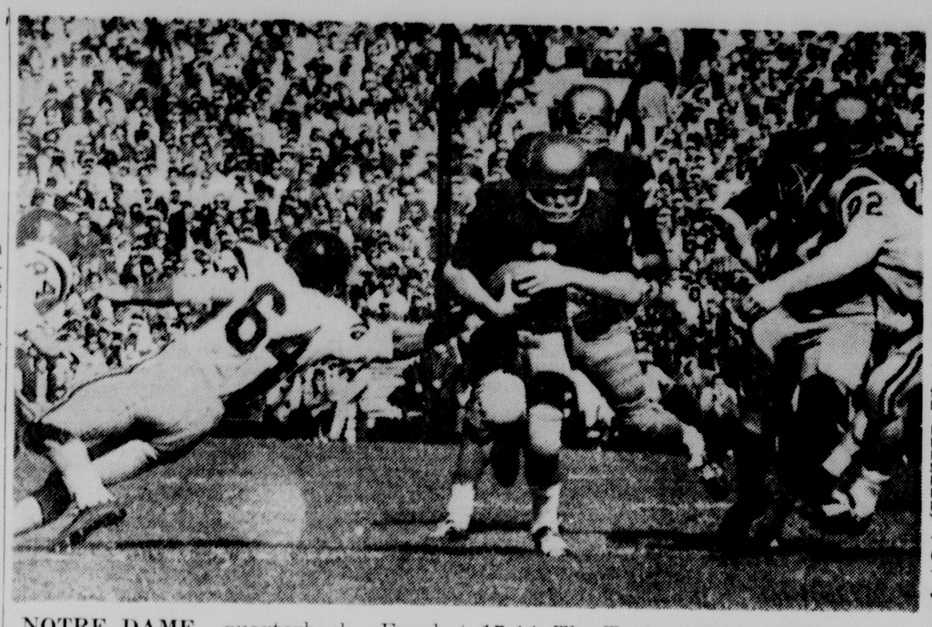

After a scoreless, frustrating first half Colorado fullback Noble Milton recovered an Oklahoma State pitchout fumble on the Oklahomans seven and two plays later quarterback Frank Cesarek faked a handoff to the fullback and bolted four yards through left tackle for a touchdown after five minutes of the third period.

Louise Suggs Regains Lead

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Veteran Louise Suggs of DelRay Beach, Fla., shot a 73 to recapture the lead Saturday in the $15,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship.

TOPPLE TENNESSEE

Lothridge Back In Saddle As He Sparks Jacket Win

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Billy Lothridge, Georgia Tech's do-it-all quarterback, ran for one touchdown, passed for another and kicked a field goal Saturday in leading the Yellowjackets to a 23-7 victory over Tennessee.

A shirt-sleeved throng of 51,527 —largest ever to see an athletic event in Tennessee—watched the bruising Southeastern Conference game.

Tech scored twice in the second period and added another in the third for good measure before Wayne Bush, a third-string tailback, rallied the Vols for a six-pointer in the fourth quarter.

Lothridge's running, faking, passing and kicking were too much for the Vols as he maneuvered the Yellowjackets to their third triumph of the season against one loss. It was Tennessee's third setback in a row.

The brilliant Tech field general set up two of Tech's touchdowns with pass to end Ted Davis, his favorite target, and connected with a 54-yard home run pass to Davis for another.

Lothridge capped a great performance by kicking a 28-yard field goal, his sixth of the year, for Tech's final score with seconds remaining.

The Engineers drove 76 yards for their first touchdown, Lothridge leaping over from the 1 after passing 14 yards to Davis on the 2. Bruce Fischer kicked the extra point.

Lothridge hit on three successive passes in this drive. In all, he completed 6 of 13 tosses for 112 yards.

Davis pulled the sideline sleeper play on the Vols for the Jackets' second touchdown. A pass play failed and Davis, instead of returning to the huddle, loitered on the sideline.

Lothridge dropped back, hit Davis on the dead run on the Vol 20 and the big end, after juggling the ball momentarily, sped across untouched. In one of the few things he failed to do right all afternoon, Lothridge missed the kick from placement.

Fullback Ray Mendheim went over from the 2 for Tech's final TD after a 78-yard power drive in the third period. Lothridge converted.

Bush ran over from the 2 to cap a 53-yard Tennessee march midway in the fourth period.

This came after Tech held on its 8 to stem a 72-yard drive by the Vols, their longest of the game.

IN LAST QUARTER

Tom Myers Hurls 'Cats To Triumph

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Passing star Tommy Myers, badly harassed for three quarters, suddenly found the range with two touchdown passes in a wild last period which gave Northwestern a 15-8 Big Ten football victory over Minnesota Saturday.

The nationally televised contest went scoreless until the first play of the fourth quarter when Myers, seemingly headed for the worst day of his career, completed a 64-yard touchdown pass to soph end Mike Buckner.

This broken open what had been almost a dull struggle in which Myers had three passes intercepted and fumbled the ball away a fourth time and Minnesota played a plodding, possession game.

After Northwestern's 80-yard first scoring strike, Minnesota came to life under substitute quarterback Larry Peterson and went 75 yards in 15 plays to score. Halfback Al Harris' 20-yard sprint around Northwestern's left end produced the touchdown.

But with about eight minutes left, Myers really began hitting the target and led Northwestern on another 80-yard scoring drive.

Myers, the nation's leading passer, found halfback Willie Stinson wide open down the middle and fired a 25-yard touchdown pass, Stinson grabbing the ball in full stride on the Gopher three.

Myers also hit on a two-point conversion pass to Buckner and the Wildcats had the game on ice 15-8.

In the last Northwestern drive, Myers flipped passes to 18 and 14 yards to ends Chuck Logan and Gary Crum.

The Gophers showed plenty of fight with time running out, but it was all over when Dick McCauley intercepted regular quarterback Bob Sadek's pass in midfield.

Until the explosive fourth quarter, Minnesota punted eight times and Northwestern six times. There was not a punt in the final period.

FIRST TO REPEAT

Merrill Carlsmith Wins Senior Play

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Merrill L. Carlsmith, a Hilo, Hawaii, attorney, recovered after a bad start Saturday and became the first golfer to repeat as champion in the U.S.G.A. Seniors Amateur Tournament.

Completing a week-long battle over the Ocean Edge Sea Island course, Carlsmith won the first hole with a birdie but saw Higgins take the next three with pars.

Carlsmith was 1-down as they turned the first nine.

Then the pace told on Higgins, who like Carlsmith, is a golfing regular at 57. He lost the 10th, 11th, 13th and 16th as Carlsmith matched par and it was all over.

Carlsmith was a quarter-finalist in his first Seniors tournament two years ago and won the title last year. The minimum age for competitors is 55. There were 128 in the field when play opened Monday.

Iowa State Gets 17-14 Triumph

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Dick Limerick's 31-yard field goal with one minute 20 seconds left lifted an inspired Iowa State team to a 17-14 football upset Saturday over Kansas. It was Iowa State's first victory over the Jayhawks in five years.

Dave Hoover, Iowa State's senior tailback, was the hero of the Cyclone drive which set up the winning field goal. Fulback Tom Vaugh, a swift and powerful junior, punished the Jayhawks both on wide plays and plunges all day. He ripped the Jayhawks for 138 yards in 23 plays.

Hoover came back 15 yards to his 33 with an intercepted pass to ignite the winning drive. He fired passes of six, 10 and 15 yards to Limerick before the drive stalled at the Kansas five, and Limerick kicked the field goal.

Coach Clay Stapleton's club survived a last minute scare, as Kansas reached the eight yard line on a desperation 70-yard pass from Steve Renko to halfback Ron Oelschlager. After a penalty and three Renko passes fell incomplete in the end zone, Gary Duffs' try for a 35-yard field goal was wide with 12 seconds left.

FIELD GOAL DOES IT

Fighting Irish Upset Trojans

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)— Sophomore Ken Ivan's 33-yard field goal in the final six minutes of the game gave Notre Dame a 17-14 football upset of Southern California Saturday as the Irish unveiled a smashing new backfield combination.

Notre Dame took senior quarterback Frank Budka out of mothballs and turned loose rookie running whiz Bill Wolsfi for the first time. They ripped the seventh-ranked Trojans apart before a screaming overflow crowd of 59,135.

It has been years since Notre Dame has demonstrated the brand of action that made them the scourge of the nation as the Fighting Irish.

Budka, making his first start this season as signal-caller after being employed as a defensive back last year, piled up yardage with keep-it plays and always held the threat of passing.

Wolski, a 195-pounder from Muskegon, Mich., slammed and battered the Trojan defenses into submission and kept USC without victory at Notre Dame since 1939.

Until Saturday Wolski had carried the ball only three times for 14 yards.

The Irish churned 273 yards on the ground, Budka contributing 84 and Wolski 87.

It was Budka's smashes that mainly drove the Irish 74 yards in the final quarter. And when the Trojans held, Ivan, 190-pound end from Massillon, Ohio, calmly planted the ball through the uprights for the winning three points.

Tigers Romp By Vocational Team By 39-6

GRAMBLING (Special) Grambling powered passed Mississippi Vocational College 39-6, with consistant, consumate, ease Saturday night to setup a SWAC showdown with Prairie View A&M.

With typical distain, the Tigers stormed to three first half touchdowns and dug the rut to the end-zone deeper by piling up eighteen points aftre intermission.

J. D. Garrett grabbed a nine yard pass from Lawerence Hunter for the initial TD, and stepped on the accelerator on a brilliant 36 yard run for the second score.

Peterson Mathews rammed over from the four.

Vocational turned on its turmentor for its only score at this point. The Delta Devils clawed out eighty yards in ten plays with Eurnice McGee, and Thoedore Scott clicking on a 17 yard pass for the score.

Grambling was obviously looking ahead to Prairie View and reserves turned the second half into a horror movie for MVC supporters.

Carter sprinted five yards, Mango hooked up with Eddie Robinson Jr. on a 20 yard pass, and Wilson rambled 21 yards to pay dirt in an awkard jig of elation.

EASTERN DIVISION SHOWDOWN

Browns Risk Record Against N. Y. Giants

By NORMAN MILLER
UPI Sports Writer

The Cleveland Browns risk their spotless record Sunday in an Eastern Division showdown against the New York Giants while the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers face easy pickings in the West.

A sellout crowd of more than 62,000 will pack Yankee Stadium to watch Cleveland match the rushing thunder of Jimmy Brown against the aerial bobs of Y. A. Tittle in the Giants' home-opener.

In Sunday's other games, the St. Louis Cardinals (3-1) make their home debut against the Pittsburgh Steelers (2-1-1); the Dallas Cowboys (0-4) seek their season's first win in a home game with the Detroit Lions (2-2) the Washington Redskins (2-2) are at home against the Philadelphia Eagles (1-2-1) and the Baltimore Colts (1-3) entertain the San Francisco Forty Niners (0-4).

Here is the "line" on Sunday's games: The Giants are favored by 3 points over Cleveland; the Bears, Packers and Colts all are 13-point picks; the Lions are the choice by 5 over Dallas; and the Cards and Redskins are choices by 3.

Victories by the Giants and Cardinals would throw the Eastern Conference race into a three-team tie among Cleveland, New York and St. Louis.

Jimmy Brown, off to the finest start of his career, has a rushing haul of 664 yards that exceeds the entire Giants' ground production of 509.

Yet coach Al Sherman of the Giants insists that his team's defense will not be geared primarily to stop Brown.

"We can't afford to focus our defense on one man," said Sherman. "If that broke down, we'd have no place to go. Don't forget they have a fellow named Frank Ryan who throws that ball pretty well, too."

With fullback Alex Webster back in action, the Giants will have their offensive unit intact for the first time since their season-opener. The Browns also are in excellent shape.

Both Brown and Tittle can become all-time NFL leaders in their specialties. Brown goes into Sunday's game 73 rushing yards behind the career total of Joe. (The Jet) Perry of the Forty Niners. And Tittle needs 15 pass completions to break Bobby Layne's record of 1,814.

The Cards, strictly dark-horses in this eastern race, were expected to reactivate John David Crow and safetyman Billy Stacy for their game against Pittsburgh. The Cards have their usual injured list, though, with linebacker Garland Boyette out of action and tight end Taz Anderson doubtful.

Pittsburgh will have to play without fullback John Henry Johnson and linebackers John Reger and Bob Schmitz. Johnson's admittance to the NFL's 5,000-yard rushing club thus will be delayed

Chicago and Green Bay both are in top physical shape but must guard against a letdown against underdog opponents.

The Lions, dropped back to third place in the West, cannot afford to take the Cowboys too lightly. Dallas, tabbed during the pre-season as a leading eastern contender, has an offensive potential that is bound to explode any game now.

The Eagles will be strengthened by the return of rookie pass-catcher Ron Goodwin, but they lose two defensive stalwarts, Bil' Quinlan and Bob Harrison. Washington's weak pass defense will have to play without Johnny Sample.

With Ray Berry out and Jimmy Orr limping, Johnny Unitas is somewhat shy of experienced pass-receivers, but Baltimore still should have enough to add to the misery of the Forty Niners' new head coach, Jack Christiansen.

REBUILDING JOB

Northeast Cagers End Initial Week

Northeast, which opens the 1963-64 campaign here November 26 against Arkansas A&M, lost four lettermen from last year's team, three of them starters. After two successful years in which the Indians won 32 of 51 games, captured one Gulf States Conference championship and narrowly missed another, Fant rates this campaign as "definitely a rebuilding season."

The lost lettermen are Stuart Toms, who will serve as team manager, Robert Cook, Milton Linder and Malcolm George. Cook was a starter for four years and Linder and Toms, all-GSC, third team all-America and holder of a pocketful of school records were regulars for three years.

Fant has two proven stars available — Jimmy Walker (6-4) of Jonesboro and Irby Gamble (5-7) of Marthaville, both returning starters. Walker has been one of the GSC's best for two years. He was the league's No. 2 rebounder last winter with 279 retrieves in 26 games and was second in Indian scoring with a 14.5point average. Gamble, despite spending most of the season as a substitute, averaged 10.1 points and led the conference in field goal accuracy with 50.5 per cent. Both are seniors.

Other returnees are big Larry Butler (6-5), a junior from Forest, and sophomores Lawson Swearingen (6-6), Ruston; Billy Brooks (6-2), Jonesville; Tommy Enloe (5-9), Saline; Albert Krause (5-10), Sicily Island; James "Polk" Brian (6-3), Pleasant Hill; and Truett Nolan (6-1), Monroe. Krause, with 12 points in four games, was the only member of this group to average more than two points last year.

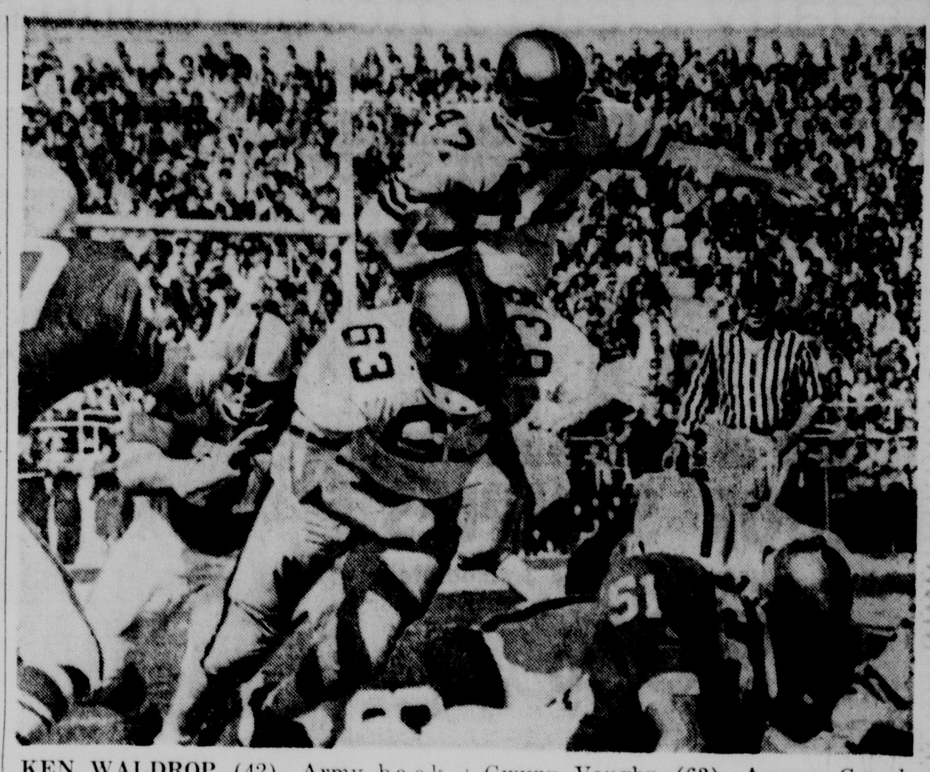

Tops among the newcomers working out appear to be rookie Glynn Saulters, former Lisbon ace, and junior college transfers Dick Wiliams (6-2), of East Orange, N.J., and Walter Snelling (5-9), Converse, a brother of former Indian Jerry Snelling who participated in spring practice.

Saulters (6-2) was one of Louisiana's finest high school players last year, a two-time all-stater who was selected the top player in the Louisiana All-Star Game last summer. Williams led the Little Dixie Junior College Conference in scoring last season at Marion, Ala., Institute while Snellings was a standout at Panola (Tex.) J.C.

Army's Cadets Get Upset Triumph Over Penn State

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —The Cadets of Army combined a crunching ground attack with a tough defense Saturday to upset ninth-ranked Penn State 10-7 before an estimated record crowd of 48,850.

Army gained more than 220 yards on the ground in upsetting an unbeaten Penn State team for the second straight year. All the scoring came in the first half with Army marching 85 yards for its touchdown after Dick Heydt booted a 32-yard field goal.

Army threw only one pass in the first half, but that was enough as Carl Stichweh connected with Sam Champi in the end zone for a two-yard touchdown. The play climaxed an 85-yard drive and made it 10-0.

A fumble recovery by Dick Nowak on the State 34 set up Heydts field goal. Army moved to the State 22 in six plays and when the State defense stiffened, Heydt came through with his three-pointer.

Army almost blew its big upset in the final three minutes when Ken Waldrop fumbled on the Cadet 31, and Glenn Ressler recovered for State. But the fired-up Army defense knocked down a pair of passes after holding two running plays to two yards and took over on downs.

The State touchdown play was the only offense the Nittany Lions were able to muster. Army held the wide open State offense to 38 yards on the ground and 99 yards in the air, which included the 69-yard TD pass play.

Waldrop and Stichweh were the workhorses of the Army offense, accounting for 144 of the Cadet ground yardage.

Another highlight came in the second period when State had Army pinned in its own territory, but Dick Peterson boomed a 58-yard punt from the Cadet 13 to ease the pressure.

Florida State Smashes Wake Forest, 35-0

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Heavily Favored Florida State pasted Wake Forest 35-0 for an easy football victory Saturday, but never dimmed the spirit of the Deacons, now losers of 14 straight games.

Playing chin-to-chin throughout the first quarter, the teams appeared to be equal.

Then Florida State quarterback Steve Tensi unlimbered his throwing arm and tossed three touchdown passes and set up another Florida State score.

The Seminoles lived up to their pre-game billing as a four-touchdown victor. But Wake Forest quarterback Karl Sweetan played as though he never looked at the scoreboard.

Sweetan and fullback Brian Piccolo staged two late-game drives but the Seminoles stopped one on the 35-yard line and the other on the 12. Earlier, Sweetan attempted a 50-yard field goal that failed.

SEASON OPENS WEDNESDAY

Closer Finishes Predicted In NBA

By SANDY PADWE
UPI Sports Writer

The National Basketball Association opens its 1963-64 season Wednesday night with everyone predicting close pennant races in both divisions.

The retirement of Bob Cousy of the Boston Celtics, the addition of Jerry Lucas to the Cincinnati Royals and the "transformation" of Wilt Chamberlin from a scoring machine to an all-round team performer are expected to make the NBA a tighter organization this season.

"This year's race will be the toughest in the history of the league," Harry Gallatin, Coach of the St. Louis Hawks said. "In the past you could count on some easy sailing against certain opponents but this year every game will be a tough one."

The coming season also marks the re-entry of two old franchises — Baltimore and Philadelphia. Baltimore inherited the Chicago Zephyrs and Philadelphia gave a home to the old Syracuse Nationals.

Changing the NBA's looks even more are new coaches in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Detroit and Cincinnati.

Alex Hannum, who coached the Syracuse team last season, has taken over for Bob Feerick in San Francisco; Charley Wolf, formerly of Cincinnati replaces Dick McGuire at Detroit; Jack McMahon, who coaches Chicago for a short time, inherits Wolf's job with the Royals; and Dolph Schayes, the all-time NBA scoring king, takes over at Philadelphia.

Although the NBA didn't have quite as strong a draft last season, there are a number of promising newcomers. San Francisco is happy with Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green while the New York Knicks are talking about the rookie of the year honors for Art Heyman of Duke.

Lucas of course, is with Cincinnati and the Boston Celtics have high hopes for Larry Siegfried, one of Lucas' ex-teammates at Ohio State. Former AAU star Don Kojis has impressed the Baltimore front office and Eddie Miles, an ex-Seattle performer, could surprise in Detroit.

Wednesday's openers find Boston at Baltimore, Philadelphia at Detroit, and Cincinnati at St. Louis. The following night Boston will be at Cincinnati and Baltimore at New York.

Southerners Collect Victory Over Richmond

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Southern Mississippi, bouncing back from two straight opening losses for the first time since 1952, broke into the victory column Saturday with a 7-0 decision over the University of Richmond.

The Southerners capitalized on a fumble recovery on the Richmond 34 early in the second period for the game's only touchdown. It took four plays to cover the distance after end Ben McLeod pounced on the loose ball.

Halfback Tommy Walters gained three yards, quarterback Vic Purvis picked up 10 yards, then passed to end Bill Gorney for 11. Halfback Herman Nall dashed the final yards around left end. John Laird booted the conversion.

Laird's fine punting kept Richmond in the hole all afternoon.

Richmond never was in possession of the ball in Southern territory. The visitors' deepest advance was to their 48 yard line early in the first period.

The only serious threat by Southern after its scoring surge came just before the end of the game. They moved from their 43 to the Richmond 7 at the final whistle.

Richmond never could get its passing attack clicking and wound up with three completions in 13 attempts for 17 yards. Southern outgained Richmond 195-64 on the ground and tacked on another 35 yards through the air.

Missouri Romps To Beat Kansas

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Jerry Lane sprinted 50 yards for one touchdown and set up two more with passes as Missouri ground out a 21-11 football victory over Kansas State Saturday before 36,000.

The game opened the Big Eight Conference season for the Tigers. The Wildcats lost last week to Colorado.

Only penalties and an infrequent lapse in the Tiger offensive line kept the score close as Missouri dominated play. The Tigers had two field goal attempts miss.

Lane bottlegged around left end for his scoring run as Missouri went 80 yards in the eight plays the first time the Tigers got the ball.

Carl Reese, another of the all-sophomore Missouri backfield, scored the final two touchdowns in the last half on one-yard rushes.

The Wildcats were unable to penetrate Missouri's territory only four times.

Michigan Elevens Battle To 7-7 Tie

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan and Michigan State battled to a 7-7 tie Saturday before 101,450, largest crowd of the 1963 college football season.

With only one minute to play Bob Timberlake of Michigan tried a 43-yard field goal but it was wide.

Michigan scored first in the opening period on a 15-yard touchdown pass from Bob Chandler to John Henderson, and Timberlake converted.

Michigan State, a one-touchdown favorite going into the game, evened things up in the third on an 84-yard march in 14 plays, with 152-pound Sherman Lewis scoring on a seven-yard pass from Steve Juday. Lou Bobich, the soccer-type kicker, converted.

The tiny Lewis was the individual star of the game, and in the last period made a valiant effort to pull out a victory when he intercepted one of Chandler's passes on the Michigan 45 and darted back to the Michigan 22.

The Michigan line braced, however, and Bobich tried a field goal from the 33, but it failed.

Michigan last defeated Michigan State in 1955, 14-7, but earned a 12-12 tie in 1958, so it was a moral victory for the home team. Michigan's touchdown was the first scored against State by the Wolverines in the last three games.

Feelings between the arch-rivals ran so high that when State took over the ball in the last minute of play a personal penalty was called against both teams after a melee in the line.

Michigan's line was a major factor in earning the tie for the underdogs and kept constant pressure on Juday.

Michigan's touchdown was set up early in the game when Jack Clancy took one of Bobich's long punts on his 17 and ran it back to State's 41, a 42-yard return.

Three running plays carried to the 29 and Mel Anthony then made it first down on the 19, with a 15-yard touchdown pass following.

State's touchdown drive was a methodical march from the Spartan 16. Short punches carried to the 38 where Juday passed to Lewis for 20 yards. Then Lewis passed to Juday for a first down on the Michigan 32.

Roger Lopes took a pitchout to the 19 and Lewis broke off right tackle to the eight. With the ball on the seven, Lewis scampered into the end zone and caught Juday's pass untouched.

YMCA Football

In flag league action the Lakers jumped to a 12 to 7 half time lead and added 13 more in the last half to take a 25 to 7 victory over the Rams. Bruce Harrell and Bruce Harrison led the Lakers to the victory.

The Bengals hung to a 2 to 0 score until the final minutes of their game when McMakin threw to Herrington for a touch down to bring their team a hard fought 9 to 0 victory. Birckhead and Portman were the Steelers leaders on defense.

In the tackle football leagues action the Cowboys opened the season with a 21 to 0 victory over the giants. The running of Mitchell and line play of Seale and Williams accounted heavily in the victory.

In the other Blue league game the Cardinals were able to score only once in the first half but added three in the last to overcome the Bears 26 to 0. Sale score two times for the victors. Blumenthal was the spark on defense for the victors. Murphy was the Bear leader.

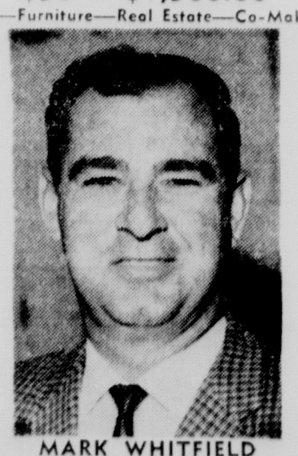

Top action of the day saw the Indians successful carry an undefeated streak from last year through the first game of this campaign with a hard fought 14 to 7 victory over the Colts. Armstrong and Brown tallied for the winners with Durham scoring the only colt TD.

In a runnaway game the Tigers defeated the Packers 39 to 0 on the running of Dyer and Dickens. Touchstone and Liles were the Packer standouts.

Applique motifs of the Alencon lace also embellished the floor length bell shaped skirt. She wore a mantilla of Belgium lace and carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Faulk, mother of the bridegroom, was wearing a cocktail gown of tangerine chiffon and lace with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

For travel when the couple left on a wedding trip through the New England states the bride was wearing a moss green suit with tan accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The couple will establish a home in Brookline, Mass.

Mrs. W. T Davis, president, called the meeting to order and following a short business session welcomed a guest, Mrs. M. A. Sullivan, Jackson, Miss., mother of Mrs. W. M. Inabnet.

The program, "The Mind Alive," was introduced by Mrs. DeWitt Henry. Mrs. C. P. Gray Jr. reviewed the first book, Campus U.S.A., by David Boroff. The second book "Lord of the Flies," by William Golding was reviewed by Mrs. George T. Walker. This book depicts the recession of a group of shipwrecked schoolboys into a lawless and nearly savage state. She stated the book, heavily laden with symbolism and allegory has become increasingly popular with American undergraduates.

At conclusion of the program refreshments were served in the dining room where the autumn theme was predominant. Fall colors were noted in the fruit arrangement on the dining table while a brass footed compote held colorful foliage on the buffet.

Members present were Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Calvin B. Folds, Mrs. H. A. Gentry Jr., Mrs. Allen Givens, Mrs. Gray Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld, Mrs. Inabnet, Mrs. Ralph King Jr., Mrs. John C. Loftin, Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Claude Smith, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. N. R. Spencer and Mrs. Walker.

It's going to be some encrusted evening for Fall. Bewitching nights are on their way with long gowns encrusted in crystal flowers and dazzling jewels, embroidered jets and spangles. One of the most luxurious shown is a Jacquard sweater over an evening gown, its spots sprinkled with jets.

GOLDEN LOOK

Set your face subtly ablaze after dark with one of the new Golden-Diamond make-ups. It is described as a diamond-dusted powder, a golden base and gold eyeshadow for a devastatingly discreet nocturnal glitter.

Legally Dead Priest, Young Scholar Arrive In U.S. After Russian Ordeal

NEW YORK (AP) — A legally dead priest, held for 23 years in Siberia, and a young scholar, a Russian prisoner for two years, came home to America Saturday in a swap for two accused Soviet spies.

The Rev. Walter M. Ciszek, 58, of Shenandoah, Pa., and Marvin W. Makinen, 24, Ashburnham, Mass., stepped together from the jetliner, each hard put to describe his ordeal.

Makinen's parents stood on a ramp, waving, as he approached.

He and the priest walked side by side into an Idlewild Airport building where Father Ciszak's relatives waited. There, both families were reunited.

"It's like a dream come true, like a dream come true," the Makinens repeated.

Father Ciszek, serving a Roman Catholic mission in Poland until he disappeared in 1940, not to be heard from again for 15 years, found speech difficult in his native tongue. He spoke first in Russian and Polish through an interpreter, only hesitantly trying English.

A reporter addressed him as "father" and suddenly, a pleased words of English came back to him.

"The last time I was called that was in 1941," he said.

Makinen, too, found speech difficult, but for different reason. He appeared subdued, reluctant to answer questions. Repeatedly he answered, "I have no comment right now."

But the former Fulbright scholar's sister, Kathy, 9, broke through his reserve. She dashed into his arms and he sobbed as he kissed her.

Kissing and hugging her son, Mrs. Makinen wept in joy.

"I knew he finally would come back, but I didn't expect it would be so soon," she said.

Her nusband added, "We never lost faith. During all the sleepless nights, the headaches and frustrations we maintained our strong hope and faith and this is the result."

Floral Prints Add Glamor To Tissues

Cleansing tissues have gradually taken on glamor since their inception as a practical and sanitary throwaway handkerchief.

Makers have jazzed up the packages, even taken the writing off, and have produced the tissues themselves in delicate pastel hues.

The most recent innovation is the floral printed facial tissue. The dainty pink, blue or yellow roses with green stems are on white backgrounds. There are matching bathroom tissues of the same print.

Space Age Seen In Millinery

If anybody doubts this is the space age, he should visit the millinery shops this fall. Space helmets are here in sleek leather, lizard, suede and wool. They are the order of the day for skiwear, as well as ordinary streetwear. White and wooly ones are as shaggy as a lion's mane.

Done in opulent furs, such as sable and ermine, the space helmets are astronomically expensive.

LIGHT IN WEIGHT

If you're allowing yourself just 50 calories at snack time, the U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests you have three apricots or two large plums or one medium orange.

Interesting visitors here last weekend from New Orleans were DR. and MRS. DONOVAN BROWNE. Occasion for the trip was a talk given by Dr. Browne for a professional group, and the couple also visited two of their daughters, JEAN DAVIS and DONNA WICKER, here.

Jean and JACK DAVIS honored the Brownes at a small open house on Saturday evening at the Davis home. Invited guests included friends made by the honorees on previous visits to Monroe. Jean centered her dining table with a silver candelabra arranged with Tropicana roses and orange artificial grapes. The buffet menu included ham, turkey, whole shrimp, and clam dip.

A pink and red theme was carried out when Donna entertained at luncheon Friday at Bayou DeSiard country club honoring her mother. The party was held in the private dining room, where the table was centered with roses in varying shades. Pink candles and ruby glasses completed the appointments. The Brownes returned home Sunday after a three day visit.

Here to spend the day last Saturday was LIB HALL, who moved with her family to El Dorado, Arkansas, this past summer. A group of Lib's friends were invited for a morning party at the home of MARIE LOUISE SNELLINGS, with DOT BREARD cohostess. Arrangements of mixed greenery decorated the reception rooms at the Snellings residence. Roses in shades of pink-to-red centered the dining table. A choice of orange juice, coffee, or bottled soft drinks was offered with shrimp sandwiches, Welch rabbit, cheese straws, and pecan kisses. Nancy Garrett and Day Oakley assisted in courtesies.

The family room is straight ahead from the entrance hall and uses the same brick floor. To the right as one enters is the old brick fireplace, with an antique clock on the mantel. Cabinets are built into the wall at each side of the hearth. These and panelling on other walls are of pecan. Opposite the fireplace, the green piano is spotlighted in a wall of shelves built around it. Wide sliding glass panels open onto the back gallery from this room.

To the left of the family room is the informal dining room, and kitchen and utility areas beyond. Here is Corlon flooring, and walls and cabinets of pecan. Kitchen appliances are built in, as is the desk which serves as a planning center. A white linen printed in blue and green is use for draperies.

In the master bedroom are white walls, with carpet and draperies of blue. The quilted bedspread is striped in shades of blue and green. A white chaise lounge and blue occasional chair stand before the wide windows which overlook the back gallery.

Today, in lieu of a poem, we quote an essay on anatomy by an anonymous small boy:

"Your head is kind of hard and round and your branes are in it and your hair on it. Your face is the front of your head where you eat and make faces. Your neck is what keeps your head out of your collar. It's hard to keep clean.

Your shoulders are sort of shelves where you hook your suspenders on them. Your stummick is something that if you do not eat often enough it hurts. And spinnage don't help it none.

Your spine is a long bone in your back that keeps you from folding up. Your back is always behind you no matter how quick you turn around. Your arms you got to have to pitch with, and so you can reach the batter. Your fingers stick out of your hand so you can throw a curve and add up rithmatick.

Your legs is what if you have not got two of you cannot get to first base. Your feet are what you run on. Your toes are what always get stubbed.

And that's all there is of you except what's inside and I never saw it.

Green-Spears Vows Read In Candlelight Setting

Miss Sue Carole Spears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Spears, and Ronnie Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matas Green, all of Farmerville, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony on Saturday October 5. The double ring vows were performed at 7:30 p.m. in Zion Hill Baptist Church, north of Farmerville by Rev. James C. Houston.

An arch of candelabra holding white cathedral tapers, entwined with minature ivy and two large white urns mounted on white pedestals overflowing with all white floral arrangements formed a setting for the wedding party.

Mrs. Frank Yelton presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Marianne Eldred.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie featuring elbow length lace sleeves and scoop neckline encircled with appliques of re-embroidered lace. A line of lace medallions enhanced the waistline and extended down sides of the bell shaped skirt which terminated in a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of imported illusion, drifted from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid and showered with streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Melvin Silmon served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Green, sister, of the bridegroom; Miss Judy Armor and Miss Maxine Washam of Louisiana Tech. Miss Virginia Beth Spears, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of blue silk peau de soie with matching pillbox hats and carried a large chrysanthemum tinted pink, in colonial holder surrounded by poufs of pink tulle and pink streamers.

Candles were lighted by James Earl Wiley, cousin of the bridegroom and Thomas Lane Ledbetter, cousin of the bride. Gordon Spears, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Terry Douglas Ryals of Morgan City. Groomsmen-ushers were Harry Vasco Farrar, Mickey Denton, Gary Green, brother of the groom and Michael D. Spears, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spears was wearing a mauve silk linen sheath with lace Channel jacket, and matching accessories. Mrs. Green, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gown of beige peau de soie with matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

A large gold cupid holding aloft an arrangement of white stock, pink carnations, caspia and white tapers was the central decor for the bride's table which was covered with a linen cutwork cloth. Miss Nancy Parnell of El Dorado, presided at the punch bowl and

After a trip to the Ozarks the couple will be at home in Franklin where Mr. Green is employed. For travel the bride wore a beige wool suit with olive trim and matching olive hat. Her accessories were brown and she wore the orchid from her bouquet. Both are graduates of Farmerville high school and attended Louisiana Tech in Ruston.

Chrysanthemums and foliage in autumn tones decorated the room and the tea table, where Mrs. James A. Noe and Mrs. A. Sloan Oliver poured. Approximately 30 guests were invited to meet Mrs.

A number of other courtesies were given during the weekend to honor Mrs. Stewart. Mrs. James A. Noe entertained at dinner Thursday night at The Embers and Mrs. Travis Brown was hostess for luncheon Friday noon to fete the visitor. Saturday morning's compliment was a coffee given by Mrs. A. Sequin Falls From Reign

Some fashions become so popular that they seem forced to run an ever ascending course to a dizzy climax, from which they fall with amazing speed.

Such is the history of the beaded and sequinned evening gown. Only last year there was hardly a dress to be found that wasn't paved from shoulder to hem in glitter. Fabulous embroideries of beads and sequins were invented to outdo the glitter of seasons before.

Then the sportive trend really hit, and this fall you can't find a sequin even in a dark corner of some workroom. The poor sequin has fallen from its throne.

Exception: Geoffrey Beane has an evening suit whose blouse is a funnel collar sleeveless slip-on, very sportive, and it's paved with paisley-embroidered white paillettes on black chiffon. The last sportswear gasp, as it were, of the sequin.

Navy Mothers To Hold Drive

A membership drive luncheon is planned by the Navy Mothers Club No. 760 to be held Thursday, October 17 in the home of Mrs. E. C. Cobb, 1107 N. Sixth, Monroe.

The commander urges all members to attend and bring a prospective member. The event will begin at 12 noon.

Instant Hairdos Getting Closer

Instant hairdos are not here yet, but they are getting closer.

Another step was taken recently by the makers of professional beauty supplies. They are now marketing a six - pound portable dryer for home use that dries short hair in 10 to 15 minutes and long hair in 20 to 30 minutes.

Cotton Suede, Fake Fur Star In Fall Classics

There's a free wheeling, action packed look about the new fall classics for campus or general leisure wear. It starts with the fabrics and the importance of the animal look especially in fake leather and fur — such as cotton suede for whole garments or trim and fake fur in coats and jackets.

And the look of vitality continues in design which makes a positive statement and has a strong personality.

Sweaters make new impact in dramatic prints such as stylized primitive warriors and artifacts. In this group, cardigan styling is standard but the pullovers have high, squared off necklines. The V neck is important in all pullovers, especially in the bulky ones worn with slacks. Turtle necks, always an exciting look in sweaters, have been reborn and appear not only on sweaters but also as dickeys for fashion pick up to the classic overblouse.

Another sweater development is in mohair - loved for the silkiness it adds to wool plus a new textured depth. The development is that mohair sweaters are now being manufactured in depth in the United States. Until now most have been imported from Europe and the sizing did not always conform to the American anatomy and standards. With the sweaters made domestically, we can be sure of correct sizing.

Skirt news focuses on the front wrap, and pleated skirts, flat at the waists, are also in the fashion forefront. The natural silhouette and the A line star in shifts which can solo as sleeveless dresses or double as a jumper over a sweater or blouse.

Top fashion colors are teal blue and cranberry followed by the neutral string tones, black and gray heather.

Underdressing Is Not Elegant

So says Simonetta, the super-elegant Italian designer now based in Paris. Darkly beautiful, she doesn't think that elegance means not being noticed. Simonetta believes that a truly elegant woman rivets all eyes, because she has found her own type and knows how to play it up, not down.

Some other Simonetta opinions on elegance: without hats, no elegance. Color and the right accessories, elegance. And how delightful to learn that "elegance is found mostly in older women."

Above all, elegance must be worked for, since it is the result of courage and experimentation. A woman terrified of being overdressed, says Simonetta, will be merely underdressed.

HAIRLESS KNITS

Be prepared to shave off the fuzz on your mohair sweaters. Some of the Italian knitters are saying they are tired of the shaggy stuff.

They are whipping up hairless knits for spring.

Corduroy Top Fashion For Entire Family

A flame - red Garbo slouch hat, a pair of knee - length boots, an Empire - line evening dress, a little girl's shift, a little boy's Eton suit, a man's hacking suit — this season all have one thing in common: they're all designed in corduroy.

Corduroy, that rich, ribbed pile fabric, has long been a staple for children's wear, because of long-wearing qualities, versatility and ease in upkeep. But this year, corduroy has emerged as one of the top fabrics for high fashion for every member of the family.

Designers cite many reasons for their choice of corduroy as a fashion fabric, but stylists of the country's top manufacturer of the fabric, says that most likely it is due to new techniques permitting unusual designs in the fabric. Corduroy, for years, was a simple, ribbed pile fabric. In recent years the ribs — or wales, as they are known — were able to be varied in size, from the very finest, to rich, wide ribs, which are fashion's favorite this season. Cone Mills also has achieved carved or "sculptured" effects, including braid, plaid and random - ribbed patterns. Corduroy prints, too, have widened the areas in which the fabric can be used.

Sportswear — for men, women and children, has always been an important part of the corduroy fashion picture. This year, because the "sportive" look takes the style spotlight, it is only natural corduroy should be part of this casual elegance in fashion. Casual - styled evening clothes, equally suitable for the opera or at home, place corduroy along side brocades and satin for evening wear.

Wide wale corduroys are being fashioned into daytime suits, occasionally with the ribs running horizontally to create a more unusual effect.

Children are receiving high fashion treatment corduroy, too. Leading designers of children's wear have devised "copies" of "big girl" clothes for little ladies. A-line coats and dresses with intricate pocket detailing can be seen in plain colored and printed corduroys, and slack suits feature many of the dressmaker details found on adult clothes. For boys there are slacks with vests — including "gold" watch chains and fobs, or striped corduroy blazers over solid color shorts.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY WAYNE McDONALD

Home Ceremony Unites Students At Northeast

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Janis L. Holloway and Larry Wayne McDonald, both students at Northeast Louisiana State College, in a double ring ceremony Saturday, October 5 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Holloway of Sterlington. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McDonald of Rayville.

Baskets of gladioli and pompons formed a background for the ceremony at 7 p.m. performed by Rev. Paul Ray Raddin.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a suit of pastel blue wool, featuring a rolled collar and bracelet length sleeves. Her shoes were of matching blue and she wore a short white veil attached to a tiny pillbox and carried a white Bible crested with an orchid and showers of satin streamers.

Miss Patricia Ann Holloway was maid of honor and only attendant for her sister's wedding. She wore a rose wool suit with matching whimsey hat and a corsage of white pompons.

Serving as best man for Mr. McDonald was his brother-in-law, James W. Beaver.

A reception was held in the home following the exchange of vows. Centerpiece for the bride's table covered in a white linen cutwork cloth, was an arrangement of pink pompons and carnations, flanked by white tapers. The wedding cake and punch were served from opposite ends of the table by Miss Jean Shaughnessy, Miss Kay Cross and Miss Helen Russell.

Rice bags were distributed by Lisa and Linda Beaver, nieces of the bridegroom.

The couple has established a home at 3511 Madison in Monroe where they will continue studies at Northeast. The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school and Mr. McDonald graduated at Rayville.

Waterproof Mittens New For Youngsters

Waterproof mittens that help to prevent hand chapping will soon be on the market for youngsters.

They are made of poron, a material which the makers say breathes continuously, eliminating the moisture vapor generated by hand warmth. The trapped moisture is the chief reason for hand-chapping.

Industrially the material is used as sweat bands in construction safety helmets.

New Shape In Furs For Fall

Fur styles for fall and winter stress shape, whether lean or natural or lightly fitted at front. Capes and cape effects get attention. Sleeves are standouts, newly important, long and lovely.

WANDERING WAISTLINE

Floral Prints Add Glamor To Tissues

Cleansing tissues have gradually taken on glamor since their inception as a practical and sanitary throwaway handkerchief.

Makers have jazzed up the packages, even taken the writing off, and have produced the tissues themselves in delicate pastel hues.

The most recent innovation is the floral printed facial tissue. The dainty pink, blue or yellow roses with green stems are on white backgrounds. There are matching bathroom tissues of the same print.

Space Age Seen In Millinery

If anybody doubts this is the space age, he should visit the millinery shops this fall. Space helmets are here in sleek leather, lizard, suede and wool. They are the order of the day for skiwear, as well as ordinary streetwear. White and wooly ones are as shaggy as a lion's mane.

Done in opulent furs, such as sable and ermine, the space helmets are astronomically expensive.

LIGHT IN WEIGHT

Miss Sandra J. Brady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Brady, 4504 Lee Avenue, Monroe, became the bride of Aubrey Maurice Simpkins, 212 Alpha, West Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Simpkins, 1708 S. 7th, Monroe, on Friday, October 4. Rev. F. D. Wall performed the double ring ceremony at 8 p. m. in the United Pentecostal Church, West Monroe.

Baskets of white gladioli, Southern smilax and branched candelabra holding white tapers flanked an arch from which wedding bells were suspended to form a setting for the exchange of vows. A prie dieu and potted philodendrons completed the scene.

Mrs. Bonnie Fordham, organist, accompanied the soloist, Joe Wilkes and also played traditional wedding marches.

Miss Peggy Hill, maid of honor, wore a street length gown of deep turquoise peau de soie, styled with fitted bodice, bell shaped skirt and three quarter sleeves. Bridesmaids, dressed identically to the maid of honor in lighter shade of turquoise peau de soie were Mrs. Gladys Ainsworth, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Rebecca Campbell, sister of the bride and Miss Dianne Netherland. The attendants wore half hats with circular scalloped veils, dyed to match shoes and white gloves and carried bouquets of turquoise carnations intermingled with deep blue turquoise peacock feathers.

Flower girl, Wanda Simpkins, niece of the groom, wore a full-skirted turquoise frock with matching bow headpiece, white gloves and black velvet slippers. She carried a miniature bouquet identical to those carried by the other attendants.

Candles were lighted by Harry Brady, brother of the bride and Miss Susan Black. Miss Black wore a dress of deep turquoise peau de soie, white gloves, black velvet shoes and a corsage of white carnations.

David Reeves attended Mr. Simpkins as best man and groomsmen were J. C. Ainsworth, Dean Campbell and Jim Barrentine. Serving as ushers were Wayne Fordham and Gene Simpkins. Tommy Tenney acted as ring bearer.

Mrs. Brady chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of Oriental blue crepe with matching satin hat and gloves, brown shoes and bag and a white carnation corsage. The groom's mother was wearing a toast wool crepe model with hat and gloves to match, brown lizard shoes and bag and a white carnation corsage.

For travel when the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a blue and green silk hopsacking suit with overblouse of blue, hat and gloves to match and brown lizard shoes and bag. Her corsage was of white carnations. The couple will be at home at 213 Alpha in West Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school and Mr. Simpkins a graduate of West Monroe. Both attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

Avoid
6 common traps
in carpet buying
Choose TREND HOUSE carpet

1. THE BUYING-BY-PRICE-TRAP. It's baited with catchwords: "discount," "bargain." Beware. A "bargain" carpet has to skimp somewhere. Trend House won't sell you a "discount" carpet. It'd cost you too much in the long run.

2. THE BUYING-ONLY-BY-LOOKS-TRAP. It lures you with color. (But are the dyes stable? Tempts you with texture. (Are the yarns right for the job?) Don't let a pretty face fool you. Find out what it is made of and if it is made for the job you want it to do.

3. THE BUYING-FROM-AN-UNKNOWN-DEALER-TRAP. Tricky. A Mr. X may do anything to sell you a carpet. But will he be equally quick to honor complaints, if any? Can he install your carpet properly? Does he know which carpet to recommend, and why? Does he care? Trend House cares. Our trained, supervised carpet mechanics install every Trend House carpet with professional dedication.

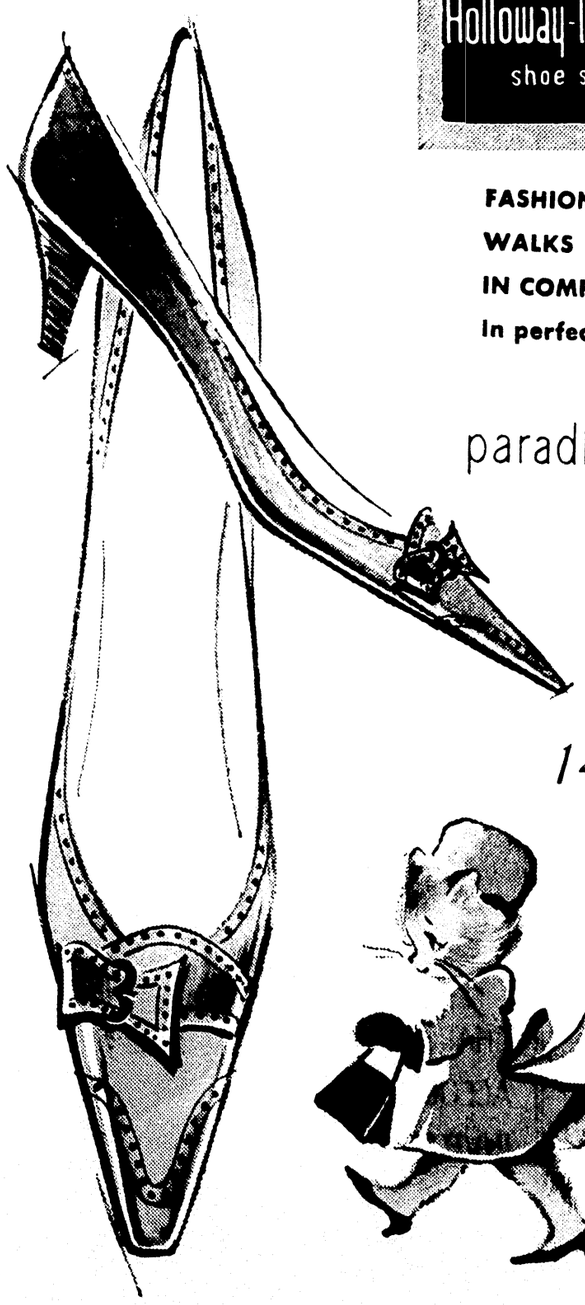

4. THE BUYING - BY - HEARSAY - TRAP. There's the Mother-Aunt Millie variety (who wouldn't have anything but wool). And all her opinions (some confused) about the great new man-made fibers. Discuss your requirements with our experienced carpet men. Keeping you out of traps is their business.

5. THE BUYING-BY-FIBER-TRAP. This one says, "just name a fiber and you've got nothing to worry about." Nonsense. Different fibers are engineered for different purposes, and a fiber is just a bunch of fluff until somebody makes it into a carpet. The somebody should be a reputable carpet mill.

6. THE BUYING-WITHOUT-KNOWING-WHO-MADE-IT-TRAP. The biggest, but easiest to avoid. Look for a good carpet-maker. One who scours the world for the best raw materials. Who tests every carpet before it's made for you. Who inspects every square yard for flaws. We save you the trouble of looking for such a carpet-maker, because we sell only first-quality carpeting from distinguished manufacturers who stand behind every yard of carpet you buy from Trend House.

You spend too much money
on carpet to make mistakes.

Formals Go To Black Tie Affair

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Q: If an affair is listed as black tie, must a long gown be worn? For several reasons it would be more practical for me to wear a short one. I have a coral chiffon with low back.

A: Black tie means either short or long for the women, as long as the dress has a sufficiently formal look. Yours sounds right.

Q: You generally recommend pumps with just about everything. When can sandal-type shoes be worn?

A: When making recommendations sight unseen, as I do, it's safest to advise plain pumps. Sandals can be worn at any time, but must be chosen with more care. With the wrong clothes, sandals can look awfully vulgar.

Q: What silhouette really makes a woman look slimmer, a loose one or a sheath? I have been having a discussion with friends who believe in sheaths, but I can't see that sheaths do any good.

A: You are right. A sheath merely emphasizes what you would conceal. However, not all loose silhouettes are slimming. It depends on whether bust and waist are good, when princess, pleated or A-line silhouette with fitted torso may be best.

Q: If I can buy only one coat for fall, what style and color would you advise? It will have to do for dress, too.

A: I would get it in the color you love best, since you will soon grow sick of it in any other color. I would get it in either a shirt-sleeved sports-look style, or in the now classic front fit and loose back. By the way, if the color you love best isn't a so-called "basic," you will have to watch colors of your other clothes. But it's worth it for the greater pleasure.

COTTON KNITS

Fall fashions include a wide variety of cotton knit dresses in beautiful colors and flattering styles. Hand tags should be read carefully before buying. Look for garments that claim shrinkage control. Those guaranteed not to shrink can be washed and dried in automatic machines.

Interesting visitors here last weekend from New Orleans were DR. and MRS. DONOVAN BROWNE. Occasion for the trip was a talk given by Dr. Browne for a professional group, and the couple also visited two of their daughters, JEAN DAVIS and DONNA WICKER, here.

Jean and JACK DAVIS honored the Brownes at a small open house on Saturday evening at the Davis home. Invited guests included friends made by the honorees on previous visits to Monroe. Jean centered her dining table with a silver candelabra arranged with Tropicana roses and orange artificial grapes. The buffet menu included ham, turkey, whole shrimp, and clam dip.

A pink and red theme was carried out when Donna entertained at luncheon Friday at Bayou DeSiard country club honoring her mother. The party was held in the private dining room, where the table was centered with roses in varying shades. Pink candles and ruby glasses completed the appointments. The Brownes returned home Sunday after a three day visit.

Here to spend the day last Saturday was LIB HALL, who moved with her family to El Dorado, Arkansas, this past summer. A group of Lib's friends were invited for a morning party at the home of MARIE LOUISE SNELLINGS, with DOT BREARD cohostess. Arrangements of mixed greenery decorated the reception rooms at the Snellings residence. Roses in shades of pink-to-red centered the dining table. A choice of orange juice, coffee, or bottled soft drinks was offered with shrimp sandwiches, Welch rabbit, cheese straws, and pecan kisses. Nancy Garrett and Day Oakley assisted in courtesies.

Members of NORTHEAST LOUISIANA CONCERT ASSOCIATION can look forward to another outstanding program which was confirmed this week. The St. Louis Symphony orchestra has signed to appear in Neville auditorium Thursday evening, March 12, for association members only.

This coming Tuesday, October 15, second reports are due from volunteers who are helping with the concert association membership drive. Workers are asked to report to Lee-Edwards Volkswagen agency between the hours of nine and five. Programs previously announced for this year's series are "Tosca", Wittemore and Lowe, the Chicago Ballet, and "Camelot."

Second meeting of the year for Monroe Garden club is set for tormorrow at Bayou DeSiard country club at 2 p.m. MRS. W. E. CONGER of Arcadia will speak on "Birds In Our Gardens."

Members of Lt. Jospeh Bowmar Society, Children of the American Revolution are sponsoring local observance of National Patriotic Education week. Yesterday the group held a memorial service at the Catholic cemetery on Washington street, and placed a wreath on the grave of Edmund Landry Grammont Filhiol, son of Don Juan Filhiol. Today CAR members are to attend Covenant Presbyterian church together. Other programs planned during the coming week are televisions programs and presentation of American flags to Plum street, Lakeshore, Georgia Tucker, and Sherrouse Elementary schools. Next Saturday the group will tour the Ouachita Valley museum and the parish court house before having a picnic lunch on the courthouse lawn.

The family room is straight ahead from the entrance hall and uses the same brick floor. To the right as one enters is the old brick fireplace, with an antique clock on the mantel. Cabinets are built into the wall at each side of the hearth. These and panelling on other walls are of pecan. Opposite the fireplace, the green piano is spotlighted in a wall of shelves built around it. Wide sliding glass panels open onto the back gallery from this room.

To the left of the family room is the informal dining room, and kitchen and utility areas beyond. Here is Corlon flooring, and walls and cabinets of pecan. Kitchen appliances are built in, as is the desk which serves as a planning center. A white linen printed in blue and green is use for draperies.

In the master bedroom are white walls, with carpet and draperies of blue. The quilted bedspread is striped in shades of blue and green. A white chaise lounge and blue occasional chair stand before the wide windows which overlook the back gallery.

Today, in lieu of a poem, we quote an essay on anatomy by an anonymous small boy:

"Your head is kind of hard and round and your branes are in it and your hair on it. Your face is the front of your head where you eat and make faces. Your neck is what keeps your head out of your collar. It's hard to keep clean.

Your shoulders are sort of shelves where you hook your suspenders on them. Your stummick is something that if you do not eat often enough it hurts. And spinnage don't help it none.

Your spine is a long bone in your back that keeps you from folding up. Your back is always behind you no matter how quick you turn around. Your arms you got to have to pitch with, and so you can reach the batter. Your fingers stick out of your hand so you can throw a curve and add up rithmatick.

Your legs is what if you have not got two of you cannot get to first base. Your feet are what you run on. Your toes are what always get stubbed.

And that's all there is of you except what's inside and I never saw it.

ENGAGEMENT and approaching marriage of Miss Lee Ann Wroten to William Franklin Arbuckle of Tallulah, son of Mrs. Lloyd Arbuckle and the late Mr. Arbuckle of Lake Village, Ind., is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wroten of Tallulah. The wedding will be an event of November 30 at 6:30 p.m. in the First Baptist church, Tallulah with Rev. Oster R. Daniels officiating.

Mrs. M. C. Wilson Fetes Guest From California

Mrs. Hascal Stewart arrived Thursday from Carmel, California to be the houseguest of Col. and Mrs. M. C. Wilson, 1049 Park Avenue, until Monday.

Complimenting her visitor, Mrs. Wilson entertained a group of guests at the Lotus Club with a Musicale and coffee on Friday, October 11, at 2:30 p.m.

Playing for the occasion were Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, cellist and Mrs. Helen Tucker Wooldridge of Ruston, at the piano.

Chrysanthemums and foliage in autumn tones decorated the room and the tea table, where Mrs. James A. Noe and Mrs. A. Sloan Oliver poured. Approximately 30 guests were invited to meet Mrs.

A number of other courtesies were given during the weekend to honor Mrs. Stewart. Mrs. James A. Noe entertained at dinner Thursday night at The Embers and Mrs. Travis Brown was hostess for luncheon Friday noon to fete the visitor. Saturday morning's compliment was a coffee given by Mrs. A. Sloan Oliver.

Sequin Falls From Reign

Some fashions become so popular that they seem forced to run an ever ascending course to a dizzy climax, from which they fall with amazing speed.

Such is the history of the beaded and sequinned evening gown. Only last year there was hardly a dress to be found that wasn't paved from shoulder to hem in glitter. Fabulous embroideries of beads and sequins were invented to outdo the glitter of seasons before.

Then the sportive trend really hit, and this fall you can't find a sequin even in a dark corner of some workroom. The poor sequin has fallen from its throne.

Exception: Geoffrey Beane has an evening suit whose blouse is a funnel collar sleeveless slip-on, very sportive, and it's paved with paisley-embroidered white paillettes on black chiffon. The last sportswear gasp, as it were, of the sequin.

Green-Spears Vows Read In Candlelight Setting

Miss Sue Carole Spears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Spears, and Ronnie Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matas Green, all of Farmerville, were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony on Saturday October 5. The double ring vows were performed at 7:30 p.m. in Zion Hill Baptist Church, north of Farmerville by Rev. James C. Houston.

An arch of candelabra holding white cathedral tapers, entwined with minature ivy and two large white urns mounted on white pedestals overflowing with all white floral arrangements formed a setting for the wedding party.

Mrs. Frank Yelton presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Marianne Eldred.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of ivory peau de soie featuring elbow length lace sleeves and scoop neckline encircled with appliques of re-embroidered lace. A line of lace medallions enhanced the waistline and extended down sides of the bell shaped skirt which terminated in a chapel train. Her elbow length veil of imported illusion, drifted from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with a white orchid and showered with streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Melvin Silmon served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Green, sister, of the bridegroom; Miss Judy Armor and Miss Maxine Washam of Louisiana Tech. Miss Virginia Beth Spears, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of blue silk peau de soie with matching pillbox hats and carried a large chrysanthemum tinted pink, in colonial holder surrounded by poufs of pink tulle and pink streamers.

Candles were lighted by James Earl Wiley, cousin of the bridegroom and Thomas Lane Ledbetter, cousin of the bride. Gordon Spears, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Terry Douglas Ryals of Morgan City. Groomsmen-ushers were Harry Vasco Farrar, Mickey Denton, Gary Green, brother of the groom and Michael D. Spears, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Spears was wearing a mauve silk linen sheath with lace Channel jacket, and matching accessories. Mrs. Green, mother of the bridegroom, chose a gown of beige peau de soie with matching accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

A large gold cupid holding aloft an arrangement of white stock, pink carnations, caspia and white tapers was the central decor for the bride's table which was covered with a linen cutwork cloth. Miss Nancy Parnell of El Dorado, presided at the punch bowl and Miss Shirley Ward at the silver coffee service placed at opposite ends of the table. Miss Lita Tugwell served the tiered wedding cake.

Tea girls were Miss Rosemary Edwards of Benton, Misses Jo Anne and Jimmye Carolyn Wiley, Janice Edwards of Benton and Vicki Lynn Green of Farmerville, presented rice bags to the guests.

After a trip to the Ozarks the couple will be at home in Franklin where Mr. Green is employed. For travel the bride wore a beige wool suit with olive trim and matching olive hat. Her accessories were brown and she wore the orchid from her bouquet. Both are graduates of Farmerville high school and attended Louisiana Tech in Ruston.

END OF SUMMER

Summer clothing should be stored clean and dry so that fabrics won't be damaged by soil and stains. It is recommended wrapping white linens and cottons in blue tissue to prevent yellowing. Swish bathing suits through suds to remove sea salt, oily scum and particles of sand that may cut the fibers.

Sleeves Make Comeback In Fall Dress Silhouette

Fashion has something different up its sleeve for fall dresses! It's the sleeved look, making a big comeback in new and exciting styles for daytime and dressy wear.

For daytime, fall's relaxed body-conscious dress silhouettes feature raglan sleeves, cap sleeves, shirtsleeves, cuffed sleeves, bishop sleeves, deep armhole sleeves, and kimono sleeves.

After-five, butterfly sleeves flutter on feminine chiffon cocktail dresses, and even evening gowns cover-up with olng sleeves trimmed with embroidery or encrusted with "jewels."

MAKE NECKLINE NEWS

Fall dresses make ncekline news, too, by muffling up for day and baring beautifully for evening.

Daytime dresses display turtle necks, stovepipe collars, scarfs or ascot-filled V-necks, detachable cuffed or rolled collars, and bowed "Oliver-look" necklines. Dropped shoulder jumpers are worn over soft choirboy or Byron collared long-sleeve blouses, or turtle neck sweaters.

For evening dresses feature front or back decolletage, and are often accompanied by jackets.

Skirts for fall's skimmer, sheath and shift dresses are soft and slim shaped into easy A-lines, center pleats, panel fronts or bias cuts. They remain the same flattering length for daytime, but drop to-the-floor for the most feminine and romantic evening dresses seen in years.

Fashion's "long look" is at its most luxurious in dresses for elegant evenings out or at-home. Floor-length crepes are everywhere, as casually styled as shirtwaists, or real "femme fatales" ready to slink into evening with side or back slits, "naked necklines" and opulent cover-ups.

COSTUMES IMPORTANT

The costume is important for both day and dress wear. Simple one or two piece daytime dresses are worn under matching or co-ordinated jackets or coats. Evening accompaniments are luxurious capes, jackets and floor-length coats.

Fall's waist is lifted for high-rise effects; slightly raised in front and dropped in back; slung low for a flattering stretched-out torso; or unmarked. Dressier styles have a high, fitted front and a fall-away back.

REFLECTING FASHION

The two faces of fall fashion are reflected in dress fabrics for autumn. In daytime dresses, fabrics have a casual, countrified air. The emphasis is on herringbones, pinstripes and "mannish" tweeds, along with "dressier" mohairs, worsteds and wool crepes. Coat dresses come in real coating weight tweeds and woolens. Nighttime's the right time for opulent crepes, velvets, silks, brocades, chiffons and matelasses, often richly adorned with jet, braid or beading.

It promises to be a colorful fall in dresses, with plenty of cranberry, teal and other blues, vintage tones, winter navy, gold, topaz, brown.

WEDDING DATE for Miss Julia Erlene Neal whose engagement and forthcoming marriage to Connie Lee Overby is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Neal of Lake Providence, has been set for Thursday, November 28 at 3 p.m. in the First Methodist Church of Lake Providence. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Enos L. Overby, also of Lake Providence.

Cotton Suede, Fake Fur Star In Fall Classics

There's a free wheeling, action packed look about the new fall classics for campus or general leisure wear. It starts with the fabrics and the importance of the animal look especially in fake leather and fur — such as cotton suede for whole garments or trim and fake fur in coats and jackets.

And the look of vitality continues in design which makes a positive statement and has a strong personality.

Sweaters make new impact in dramatic prints such as stylized primitive warriors and artifacts. In this group, cardigan styling is standard but the pullovers have high, squared off necklines. The V neck is important in all pullovers, especially in the bulky ones worn with slacks. Turtle necks, always an exciting look in sweaters, have been reborn and appear not only on sweaters but also as dickeys for fashion pick up to the classic overblouse.

Another sweater development is in mohair - loved for the silkiness it adds to wool plus a new textured depth. The development is that mohair sweaters are now being manufactured in depth in the United States. Until now most have been imported from Europe and the sizing did not always conform to the American anatomy and standards. With the sweaters made domestically, we can be sure of correct sizing.

Skirt news focuses on the front wrap, and pleated skirts, flat at the waists, are also in the fashion forefront. The natural silhouette and the A line star in shifts which can solo as sleeveless dresses or double as a jumper over a sweater or blouse.

Top fashion colors are teal blue and cranberry followed by the neutral string tones, black and gray heather.

Underdressing Is Not Elegant

So says Simonetta, the super-elegant Italian designer now based in Paris. Darkly beautiful, she doesn't think that elegance means not being noticed. Simonetta believes that a truly elegant woman rivets all eyes, because she has found her own type and knows how to play it up, not down.

Some other Simonetta opinions on elegance: without hats, no elegance. Color and the right accessories, elegance. And how delightful to learn that "elegance is found mostly in older women."

Above all, elegance must be worked for, since it is the result of courage and experimentation. A woman terrified of being overdressed, says Simonetta, will be merely underdressed.

HAIRLESS KNITS

Be prepared to shave off the fuzz on your mohair sweaters. Some of the Italian knitters are saying they are tired of the shaggy stuff.

They are whipping up hairless knits for spring.

Corduroy Top Fashion For Entire Family

A flame - red Garbo slouch hat, a pair of knee - length boots, an Empire - line evening dress, a little girl's shift, a little boy's Eton suit, a man's hacking suit — this season all have one thing in common: they're all designed in corduroy.

Corduroy, that rich, ribbed pile fabric, has long been a staple for children's wear, because of long-wearing qualities, versatility and ease in upkeep. But this year, corduroy has emerged as one of the top fabrics for high fashion for every member of the family.

Designers cite many reasons for their choice of corduroy as a fashion fabric, but stylists of the country's top manufacturer of the fabric, says that most likely it is due to new techniques permitting unusual designs in the fabric. Corduroy, for years, was a simple, ribbed pile fabric. In recent years the ribs — or wales, as they are known — were able to be varied in size, from the very finest, to rich, wide ribs, which are fashion's favorite this season. Cone Mills also has achieved carved or "sculptured" effects, including braid, plaid and random - ribbed patterns. Corduroy prints, too, have widened the areas in which the fabric can be used.

Sportswear — for men, women and children, has always been an important part of the corduroy fashion picture. This year, because the "sportive" look takes the style spotlight, it is only natural corduroy should be part of this casual elegance in fashion. Casual - styled evening clothes, equally suitable for the opera or at home, place corduroy along side brocades and satin for evening wear.

Wide wale corduroys are being fashioned into daytime suits, occasionally with the ribs running horizontally to create a more unusual effect.

Children are receiving high fashion treatment corduroy, too. Leading designers of children's wear have devised "copies" of "big girl" clothes for little ladies. A-line coats and dresses with intricate pocket detailing can be seen in plain colored and printed corduroys, and slack suits feature many of the dressmaker details found on adult clothes. For boys there are slacks with vests — including "gold" watch chains and fobs, or striped corduroy blazers over solid color shorts.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY WAYNE McDONALD

Home Ceremony Unites Students At Northeast

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Janis L. Holloway and Larry Wayne McDonald, both students at Northeast Louisiana State College, in a double ring ceremony Saturday, October 5 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Holloway of Sterlington. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McDonald of Rayville.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a suit of pastel blue wool, featuring a rolled collar and bracelet length sleeves. Her shoes were of matching blue and she wore a short white veil attached to a tiny pillbox and carried a white Bible crested with an orchid and showers of satin streamers.

Miss Patricia Ann Holloway was maid of honor and only attendant for her sister's wedding. She wore a rose wool suit with matching whimsey hat and a corsage of white pompons.

Serving as best man for Mr. McDonald was his brother-in-law, James W. Beaver.

A reception was held in the home following the exchange of vows. Centerpiece for the bride's table covered in a white linen cutwork cloth, was an arrangement of pink pompons and carnations, flanked by white tapers. The wedding cake and punch were served from opposite ends of the table by Miss Jean Shaughnessy, Miss Kay Cross and Miss Helen Russell.

Rice bags were distributed by Lisa and Linda Beaver, nieces of the bridegroom.

The couple has established a home at 3511 Madison in Monroe where they will continue studies at Northeast. The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school and Mr. McDonald graduated at Rayville.

Waterproof Mittens New For Youngsters

Waterproof mittens that help to prevent hand chapping will soon be on the market for youngsters.

They are made of poron, a material which the makers say breathes continuously, eliminating the moisture vapor generated by hand warmth. The trapped moisture is the chief reason for hand-chapping.

Industrially the material is used as sweat bands in construction safety helmets.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Would you take a five year lease on an apartment at the age of 95? One man did and lived to be 102 years old. This is reported in a new fascinating public affairs pamphlet called "A Full Life After 65." Its author is Edith M Stern who has written many articles concerning mental health.

Among other things, Miss Stern emphasizes the tremendous importance of looking forward rather than back. Keep looking forward. This is important at any age and especially so from middle age on.

While the book is aimed at the 65 or older group, its message and information is of the greatest value to anyone approaching middle age since that is the time when one should begin preparing for older years. Remember, too that women reach retirement. The pamphlet is also helpful to the younger generation who have aging parents.

There is nothing drearv about Miss Stern's dope. They sing with well-founded optimism. She says: "There is not any more real, discernible break between middle age and older age than there is between youth and middle age. The figure 65, used for statistical purposes and convenience, is an arbitrary one. Moreover, it is outdated; for with better medical care and sanitation, the 75-year-olds of the 1960's are like the 65-year-olds of the 1880's."

Flexibility and adaptability at any age are essential to happy living. All through life we must adapt to changing circumstances. Old age is pretty much what we make it just as life is at any other period in our experience.

Miss Stern covers many vital subjects in this pamphlet such as the learning ability of older persons, adult education, nursing homes, work after retirement, the yearly physical checkup, how to select a doctor, adaptability, the importance of physical health in mental health, living with one's children, replacing old interests with new "this should be done all through life), the necessary adjustments of husbands and wives after his retirement whether or not to move to a new part of the country, retirement communities, widowhood and many others.

The stunning and stimulating thread of thought which runs through this little booklet is the terrific difference individual approach and viewpoint make during older years. Of course this is true at any age.

Fall Jewelry Matches Mood Of Fashion

Emphasis is on pins and earrings.

Fashion adds the finishing touches to fall's easy styles with country-casual jewelry. Very much in the sportive spirit are chunky pins, bar pins, fob pins, and stick pins for scarves, along with cuff links, "heavy" bracelets and necklaces, and wooden beads.

Baubles, bangles and beads look very new for fall in leather, suede, lizard, alligator and leopard.

The gold rush is on for fall, with fashion prospecting for golden jewelry to accent fall's sporty styles. Casual, yet feminine, are gold earrings, woven gold chain bracelets and necklaces.

After-five, femininity comes to the fore in exquisite jewelry to accent fall's elegant evening wear. Fashion likes a luxurious "antique look" in jewelry inspired by actual heirloom pieces.

Black Is Back In Fashion

Black is back, exclaim the fashion experts, as if black had ever been gone in the first place.

Black which is both sexy and slimming, simple and demure, or very dressy is almost always found in a woman's closet.

Happily, both the French and American couturiers have been partial to black, a fact that has inspired cosmetics makers to consider the effect of the somber cloth against the skin.

As a result, at least one company has turned out a whole new basic job calculated to brighten the complexion subtly.

YOUR PROBLEMS

High School Election Draws Pan From Loser

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on the problem of class elections. Recently we had an election at our high school. Petitions were circulated for signatures. Then the students of each class voted for president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, student council representative, and members of the executive committee.

Who was elected? The same bunch as last year — the cutest girls, the best looking fellows, the sharpest dressers and the kids from the richest families.

These kids who always win the elections don't deserve it. I know because I've tried to work with them (decorating the halls for dances and stuff like that) and they are the biggest goof-offs of all!

Please print my letter for the benefit of kids who elect leaders who have no leadership qualifications. — NOT ELECTED

Dear Not: Your letter sounds like a bleat from a lousy loser.

I've met a good many high school officeholders these past several years and they didn't look like goof-offs to me. Almost invariably they were attractive but they were also excellent students, and extremely well-mannered. (If I'm wrong kids, please tell me.)

Dear Ann: I am a young woman, 29, married and have four children. We all get along fine.

Recently my mother's youngest brother passed away. Mom was very close to this brother and she is shattered with grief over his death. In a week mom will be visiting us for several days. She feels a change of scenery might do her good.

How shall we treat her? Should we encourage her to talk about her brother? Or would it best if we changed the subject and tried to turn the conversation to more cheerful things? I hope you don't think this question is too silly to print. Thank you. — MRS. U.N.C.

Dear U.N.C.: There is no rigid rule for dealing with people who are suffering from grief. It's best to play it by ear.

If your mother wants to talk about her brother, listen. Your conservation, however, should be steered along generally cheerful lines.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 years old and have been going with this boy for 10 months. He has told me he loves me so many times I've lost count. He asked me to marry him and I have said I would. Although it has not been announced, and I am not wearing a ring, we are as good as engaged.

Suddenly he doesn't want to be tied down. He says he still wants to see me but he also wants to be free to see other girls if he feels like it. I asked him if he had any girls in mind and he swears he has not. He also said he would feel better if I went with other fellows.

I have been out of circulation for so long now no other fellows know I m alive. This is a terrible spot to be in and I'd like to know what to do about it. — VERY HURT

Dear Very: The first thing you can do is kick yourself for getting tied up for almost one whole, precious year. Next, consider yourself lucky you didn't marry this fellow, only to find out then he doesn't want to be tied down.

My desk is piled high with letters from young kids who mistake biological urges for love. When the bloom is off the rose they start looking around, longingly, at what they've missed, and then somebody signs a letter "Very Hurt." This is only one of the reasons I'm so strongly opposed to going steady.

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDERS' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of Monroe Morning World, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Variety Of Patterns Mark Season's New Woolknits

No matter who you are, where you are, or what you do, there's a forceful trend in the feminine fashion world that's going to affect your existence. It's the great knitted wool and double-knit wool explosion.

A fabulous variety of textures, weights and patterns has stimulated the style diversification of the season's new woolknits. They range from fluttery wool jerseys as light as a whisper, to burly dimensional tweeds and giant ribs. Pliant, full-bodied double-knit wools, smooth-surfaced or in dramatic patterns such as brocades, give free-flowing dimension to coats, suits, dresses, blouses and slacks. Newest innovation is the knitted wool jersey with its own permanently-bonded lining, accentuating its draping qualities, and giving the wearer a divine, satiny smooth fabric against her skin.

Gadabout of the wardrobe is the knitted wool sweater, most versatile wardrobe scene-changer of all with it myriad faces and styles, from the merest little sleeveless shell that goes as formal as you please or brightens up daytime suits, to bulky V-pullovers layered with dickeys or lightweight turtleneck pullovers, to glorious printed pull overs and cardigans, to the lively big and thick ski styles. And watch for the season's favorite, the sweater dress, long and supple, in both bulky and smooth knits.

Fantastic knitted wools have captured the place of honor in every wardrobe category, from the most formal to the most sportive. They're preferred for skiing, dancing, schooling, careering, traveling, homebodying — new and exciting in style concept, unchanged in the matchless comfort and unruffled chic that have made them the fashion symbols of the modern way of life.

DRAMA RANGE

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The second season of the Tyrone Guthrie theatre is to have both Elizabethan and modern drama.

The agenda, that starts next spring, includes Shakespeare's "Henry V," Shaw's "Saint Joan," en Jonson's "Volpone," and Tennessee Williams, "The Glass Menagerie."

Long Skirts At Home Vie With Ski Look

Basic skirts are out as A-lines, eased styles, flares, culottes and wraps take over. Everyone's getting into the long skirt act for at-home and apres-ski in Orlon pile, tweeds, mohair and tartans.

The scrambled look and the layered look are the newest directions in coordinates, according to Women's Wear Dailey. There is a tremendous interest in vests and sleeveless jackets (some with dropped shoulder) worn over turtlenecks and shirts. Long-sleeved shirts are more important than in past seasons, particularly ascot and Oliver styles. In active wear, the ski look (stretch pants, turtleneck pullovers, parkas) is another accepted expression of the layered theory.

Jumpers are better than ever. Skimmers, shifts, easy flares are most popular . . . many with wandering waistlines or no waistline at all. Newest have dropped shoulders and are being shown with full-sleeved blouses or turtleneck sweaters.

Top knit styles include vests and V-neck pullovers in nubby tweeds and mohair . . . shetland tunics and jackets with tweed skirts . . . and turtleneck sweaters everywhere.

Stretch is "in" for Fall. Stretch pants in solids, plaids, checks and prints will be seen (both horizontal and vertical stretch). In addition, stretch tops are gaining more acceptance spurred by the ski trend for suburban and campus wear.

Tweeds, checks, men's wear fabrics take the spotlight in this fall's sportswear picture, and colors tend to be brighter and livelier than in past seasons, often in mixtures of two and three colors or patterns.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white lace fashioned on slim lines with an open front overdress of delustered satin, featuring long tapered sleeves and terminating in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a pillbox headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white carnations showered with satin streamers.

Miss Peggy Hill, maid of honor, wore a street length gown of deep turquoise peau de soie, styled with fitted bodice, bell shaped skirt and three quarter sleeves. Bridesmaids, dressed identically to the maid of honor in lighter shade of turquoise peau de soie were Mrs. Gladys Ainsworth, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Rebecca Campbell, sister of the bride and Miss Dianne Netherland. The attendants wore half hats with circular scalloped veils, dyed to match shoes and white gloves and carried bouquets of turquoise carnations intermingled with deep blue turquoise peacock feathers.

Flower girl, Wanda Simpkins, niece of the groom, wore a full-skirted turquoise frock with matching bow headpiece, white gloves and black velvet slippers. She carried a miniature bouquet identical to those carried by the other attendants.

Candles were lighted by Harry Brady, brother of the bride and Miss Susan Black. Miss Black wore a dress of deep turquoise peau de soie, white gloves, black velvet shoes and a corsage of white carnations.

David Reeves attended Mr. Simpkins as best man and groomsmen were J. C. Ainsworth, Dean Campbell and Jim Barrentine. Serving as ushers were Wayne Fordham and Gene Simpkins. Tommy Tenney acted as ring bearer.

Mrs. Brady chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of Oriental blue crepe with matching satin hat and gloves, brown shoes and bag and a white carnation corsage. The groom's mother was wearing a toast wool crepe model with hat and gloves to match, brown lizard shoes and bag and a white carnation corsage.

For travel when the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a blue and green silk hopsacking suit with overblouse of blue, hat and gloves to match and brown lizard shoes and bag. Her corsage was of white carnations. The couple will be at home at 213 Alpha in West Monroe.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish high school and Mr. Simpkins a graduate of West Monroe. Both attended Northeast Louisiana State College.

Avoid
6 common traps
in carpet buying
Choose TREND HOUSE carpet

1. THE BUYING-BY-PRICE-TRAP. It's baited with catchwords: "discount," "bargain." Beware. A "bargain" carpet has to skimp somewhere. Trend House won't sell you a "discount" carpet. It'd cost you too much in the long run.

2. THE BUYING-ONLY-BY-LOOKS-TRAP. It lures you with color. (But are the dyes stable? Tempts you with texture. (Are the yarns right for the job?) Don't let a pretty face fool you. Find out what it is made of and if it is made for the job you want it to do.

3. THE BUYING-FROM-AN-UNKNOWN-DEALER-TRAP. Tricky. A Mr. X may do anything to sell you a carpet. But will he be equally quick to honor complaints, if any? Can he install your carpet properly? Does he know which carpet to recommend, and why? Does he care? Trend House cares. Our trained, supervised carpet mechanics install every Trend House carpet with professional dedication.

4. THE BUYING - BY - HEARSAY - TRAP. There's the Mother-Aunt Millie variety (who wouldn't have anything but wool). And all her opinions (some confused) about the great new man-made fibers. Discuss your requirements with our experienced carpet men. Keeping you out of traps is their business.

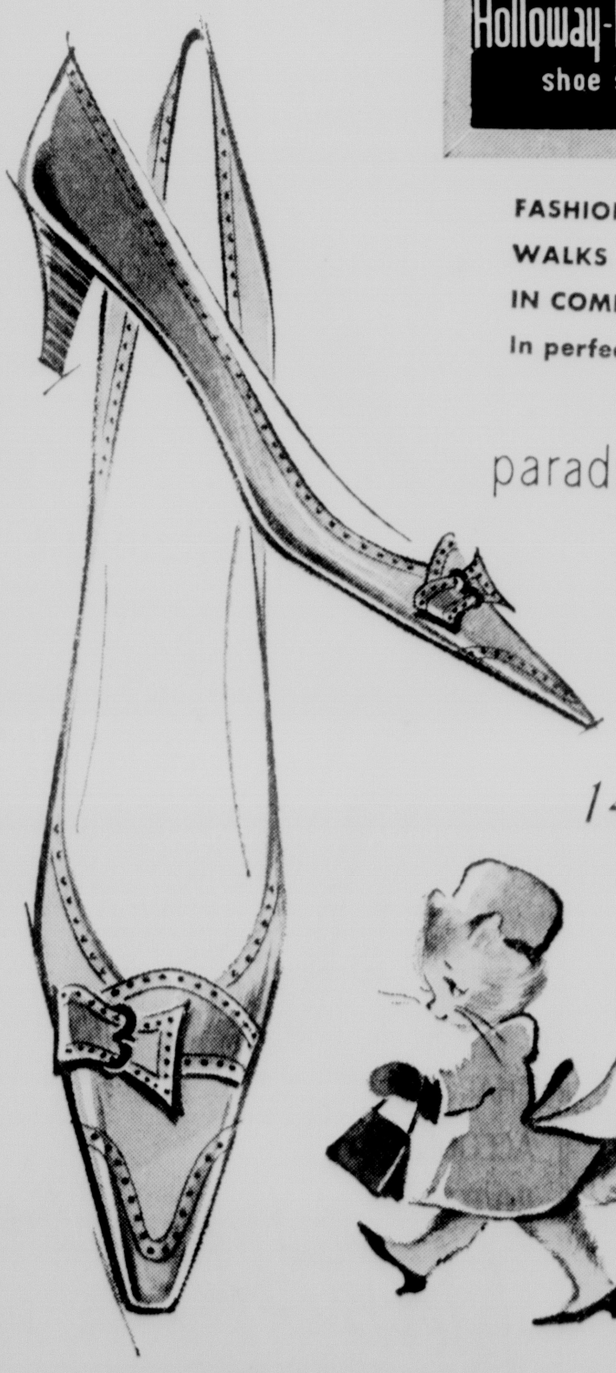

5. THE BUYING-BY-FIBER-TRAP. This one says, "just name a fiber and you've got nothing to worry about." Nonsense. Different fibers are engineered for different purposes, and a fiber is just a bunch of fluff until somebody makes it into a carpet. The somebody should be a reputable carpet mill.

6. THE BUYING-WITHOUT-KNOWING-WHO-MADE-IT-TRAP. The biggest, but easiest to avoid. Look for a good carpet-maker. One who scours the world for the best raw materials. Who tests every carpet before it's made for you. Who inspects every square yard for flaws. We save you the trouble of looking for such a carpet-maker, because we sell only first-quality carpeting from distinguished manufacturers who stand behind every yard of carpet you buy from Trend House.

You spend too much money

Formals Go To Black Tie Affair

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Q: If an affair is listed as black tie, must a long gown be worn? For several reasons it would be more practical for me to wear a short one. I have a coral chiffon with low back.

A: Black tie means either short or long for the women, as long as the dress has a sufficiently formal look. Yours sounds right.

Q: You generally recommend pumps with just about everything. When can sandal-type shoes be worn?

A: When making recommendations sight unseen, as I do, it's safest to advise plain pumps. Sandals can be worn at any time, but must be chosen with more care. With the wrong clothes, sandals can look awfully vulgar.

Q: What silhouette really makes a woman look slimmer, a loose one or a sheath? I have been having a discussion with friends who believe in sheaths, but I can't see that sheaths do any good.

A: You are right. A sheath merely emphasizes what you would conceal. However, not all loose silhouettes are slimming. It depends on whether bust and waist are good, when princess, pleated or A-line silhouette with fitted torso may be best.

Q: If I can buy only one coat for fall, what style and color would you advise? It will have to do for dress, too.

A: I would get it in the color you love best, since you will soon grow sick of it in any other color. I would get it in either a shirt-sleeved sports-look style, or in the now classic front fit and loose back. By the way, if the color you love best isn't a so-called "basic," you will have to watch colors of your other clothes. But it's worth it for the greater pleasure.

END OF SUMMER

Summer clothing should be stored clean and dry so that fabrics won't be damaged by soil and stains. It is recommended wrapping white linens and cottons in blue tissue to prevent yellowing. Swish bathing suits through suds to remove sea salt, oily scum and particles of sand that may cut the fibers.

Sleeves Make Comeback In Fall Dress Silhouette

Fashion has something different up its sleeve for fall dresses! It's the sleeved look, making a big comeback in new and exciting styles for daytime and dressy wear.

For daytime, fall's relaxed body-conscious dress silhouettes feature raglan sleeves, cap sleeves, shirtsleeves, cuffed sleeves, bishop sleeves, deep armhole sleeves, and kimono sleeves.

After-five, butterfly sleeves flutter on feminine chiffon cocktail dresses, and even evening gowns cover-up with olng sleeves trimmed with embroidery or encrusted with "jewels."

MAKE NECKLINE NEWS

Fall dresses make ncekline news, too, by muffling up for day and baring beautifully for evening.

Daytime dresses display turtle necks, stovepipe collars, scarfs or ascot-filled V-necks, detachable cuffed or rolled collars, and bowed "Oliver-look" necklines. Dropped shoulder jumpers are worn over soft choirboy or Byron collared long-sleeve blouses, or turtle neck sweaters.

For evening dresses feature front or back decolletage, and are often accompanied by jackets.

Skirts for fall's skimmer, sheath and shift dresses are soft and slim shaped into easy A-lines, center pleats, panel fronts or bias cuts. They remain the same flattering length for daytime, but drop to-the-floor for the most feminine and romantic evening dresses seen in years.

Fashion's "long look" is at its most luxurious in dresses for elegant evenings out or at-home. Floor-length crepes are everywhere, as casually styled as shirtwaists, or real "femme fatales" ready to slink into evening with side or back slits, "naked necklines" and opulent cover-ups.

COSTUMES IMPORTANT

The costume is important for both day and dress wear. Simple one or two piece daytime dresses are worn under matching or co-ordinated jackets or coats. Evening accompaniments are luxurious capes, jackets and floor-length coats.

Fall's waist is lifted for high-rise effects; slightly raised in front and dropped in back; slung low for a flattering stretched-out torso; or unmarked. Dressier styles have a high, fitted front and a fall-away back.

REFLECTING FASHION

The two faces of fall fashion are reflected in dress fabrics for autumn. In daytime dresses, fabrics have a casual, countrified air. The emphasis is on herringbones, pinstripes and "mannish" tweeds, along with "dressier" mohairs, worsteds and wool crepes. Coat dresses come in real coating weight tweeds and woolens. Nighttime's the right time for opulent crepes, velvets, silks, brocades, chiffons and matelasses, often richly adorned with jet, braid or beading.

It promises to be a colorful fall in dresses, with plenty of cranberry, teal and other blues, vintage tones, winter navy, gold, topaz, brown.

Camellias Need Care

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Proper care of camellias is important in early fall. Flower buds are forming. To prevent the loss of healthy desirable flower buds, camellias should be watered often. Do not apply fertilizer to camellias at this season. The fertilizer would stimulate new growth which would be quite susceptible to early freezes. Check for scale on your camellias. It is easily identified by light yellow, mottled leaves with white frothed web-like material covering a tiny dark scaled insect on the under side of the leaves. If oil emulsion is used for control of scale apply when daytime temperature reaches the moderate range. You may use dimethoate (cygon) as a spray using one tablespoon in three gallons of water or as a soil drench with two tablespoons per gallon water per plant. It is safer to use cygon at this season.

Saw seed of these annuals in October: Pansy, calendula, stock, candytuft, snapdragon and sweet pea (early).

At this season of the year fields and forest are abundant with seed pods produced by trees shrubs and weeds. For dried arrangements collect these and use them in arrangements. Nearly everything can be preserved either by one or more of the following methods; hanging, sand and borax, silicia gel and cornmeal and borax.

REMINDER

Remember the drapery demonstration and workshop at 9:30 A.M. Thursday, and Friday, at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe. The demonstration will be over by noon. If you need help in making one panel, bring your material and correct measurements and you will be given help Thursday afternoon or anytime Friday.

FASHION NEWS

In planning your head to toe wardrobe you will discover that the total look is natural and smooth. Hair styles are close to the head and away from the puffy look of yesteryear. Look for the new sleeve at the wrists lovely cuff links. Pearls seem to be made for the fall fabrics. The shoulder slung purse fashioned of soft finished leather is just right for the busy days ahead—football games and the like.

This season brings fresh interpretations of textures and patterns too. Mohair and suede cloth made their debut not so very long ago and have since become great successes. As to color wines and rasberry shades appear on the scene rich and feminine in jersey and scouffle wools.

TILE BLUES

Out of the spring category come the fresh tile blues. The tawny new brooms will tempt you when you begin your sportswear plans. You will find them in nubby tweeds sparkled with white.

To preserve the nutritive value of canned fruits and vegetables, store them in a cool place. Canned foods as well as fresh lose nutritients during storage, cool temperatures, however, will keep this loss to a minimum.

Canned vegetables for example, lose up to 15 per cent of their thiamine when stored for a year at 65 degrees F. But at 80 degrees this loss increases to about 25 per cent. Similarity, more ascorbic acid or vitamin C is lost at high temperature than low. When stored at 80 degrees F. the ascorbic acid content drops as much as 25 per cent at 65 degrees only 10 per cent a year.

Carotene is more stable than either vitamin C or thiamine. Losses average only 10 per cent at 80 degrees F.

DID YOU KNOW

Did you know that according to U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, today an hour's work in a factory will buy nine quarts of milk compared to 6½ quarts in 1947-49.

A THOUGHT

City Dweller Has Problem In Gardens

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

The city dweller frequently is forgotten in picturing the joys and woes of gardening. The inhabitants of crowded urban canyons and the owners of sunless or rooftop patios get short shrift.

We set out to remedy this situation from our suburban workshop, looking out on a snow-lightened yard where only a short while ago roses bloomed.

We recalled a recent tree-raising ceremony atop the new 50 - story Americana Hotel in New York City and figured we couldn't get a much higher authority into the discussion than the man who planned the lofty hotel's living decor.

Landscape architect Charles Middeleer says it is a mistake to plan a rural garden in an urban center. Each should have its own special charm.

MAGNITUDE

"The magnitude of the city environment presents special problems," he relates. "The site itself is generally surrounded by walls or it may be on a rooftop. A major problem is the air, permeated as it is with soot, dust and fumes. When it rains, a slimy film is deposited on the leaves, cutting out necessary light and air.

"Some plants survive while others do not. It is therefore wise to make the garden dependent on successful integration of decorative pavements, sculpture, benches and other ornaments and a minimal amounts of plants.

"Success with plants depends to a large extent on the quality and the depth of the soil. The soil must be porous enough for the penetration of water and air. There must be good drainage as stagnant water will eliminate much air.

"The soil should have enough humus to be able to retain moisture. One - third peat moss mixed with sandy soil is generally satisfactory, but nourishment must be administered. Cottonseed meal, Millorganite or Agrinite mixed with steamed, ground bone meal, give slow and lasting results. It should be applied before the new growth starts in the spring. Chemical fertilizers dissipate quickly and must be applied more often and precisely than organic products.)

"In nature, plants generally obtain their water from rain and in drier periods from deep in the ground by capillary action. Plants growing in planters or pots are cut off from this ground water and depend entirely on applied water.

NEEDS VARY

"A potted plant located against a wall with full sun exposure may require water twice a day in the extreme heat of summer. A similar pot in the shade of a north wall may require water only twice a week.

"Where space is limited and where there are large expanses of wall, some shrubs can be trimmed to grow vertically and flat (espalier fruit trees, for example). Several shrubs and evergreens are adaptable to this treatment and do not necessarily have to be trimmed in any formal pattern."

Any selection of plants, Middeleer advises, must take into account the amount of light and sun exposure.

Plant Bulbs Ahead Of Cold Season

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Spring - blooming bulbs such as scilla, tulips, hyacinth, daffodil and crocus should be planted before the ground becomes too hard and cold to work easily.

Be careful in setting them in the ground that they are not too deep, to make their task of poking into the sunlight difficult next spring, nor too shallow, to endanger them from the winter elements.

Digging holes for the bulbs is to us one of the dullest chores of autumn. And the later in the fall you wait, the tougher will be the job.

TOOL AID

There is a tool that will make the job easier. It has a shovel - like handle, is of adequate circular width to handle the largest of the spring bulbs, and has notched edges to facilitate cutting into the ground. There are inch-depth markings to make digging to proper depth no task at all.

Scilla and crocus, two of the earliest bits of color to emerge after the long winter, should be planted (bottoms of the bulbs) three inches deep. Grape hyacinth goes an inch deeper, tulip goes to five inches, hyacinth to six, and daffodil, seven.

If the soil is extremely sandy, bulbs should be planted a little deeper. If you have heavy clay soil, set the bigger bulbs closer to the surface.

Your choice of tulips is wide and handsome. There are at least 800 varieties in cultivation, divided into 23 classes. Some bloom very early, some weeks later. There are short and long-stemmed types.

One new tulip we noted is called Sparkling Fringed. It has frosty, fringed edges, and blooms in May.

OTHER BULBS

There are other bulbs that do well when planted early in the fall. Among them are galanthus and muscari.

Colorful perennials for fall planting include iris, sweet william, painted daisy, columbine, carnations, canterbury bells, delphinium, lynthrum, baby's breath, oriental poppies, pincushion (scabiosa), bleeding heart, lupines, achillea and peonies.

There is a wide selection of hardy lilies, including redbanded rubrum, midcentury hybrids, Olympic hybrids, which have big trumpet-shape blooms, madonna and gold band.

INTERNATIONAL

Bulb Selections Are Announced

The 1963 International Holland Bulb Selections, for planting now, have been announced by the Netherlands Flower-bulb Institute. The selection is made by an international jury of bulb experts and specialists on the basis of a poll of spring visitors made at the world's largest bulb garden, the Keukenhof, at Lisse in Holland.

The selections of the "most admired varieties" include nine tulips, one hyacinth, and one daffodil.

TULIPS: Tulipa Kaufmanniana, Stresa; Tulipa Greigii, Red Riding Hood; Triumph Tulip, First Lady; Darwin Hybrid Tulip, Holland's Glory; Darwin Tulip, Paul Ritcher; Double Late Tulip, Nizza; Lily - Flowered Tulip, Mariette; Cottage Tulip, Rosy Wings; Parrot Tulip, Texas Gold.

HYACINTH: Delft Blue.
DAFFODIL: Unsurpassable.

DESCRIPTION

Following is a brief description of the selections which should be planted this fall to bloom in the garden next Spring.

Stresa has a yellow inside and red outside. This type of marking is characteristic of the Kaufmanniana class of Species tulips to which Stresa belongs. They are still growing wild in Turkestan, and closely resemble waterlilies, so that they are sometimes called Water-lily tulips.

First Lady is greatly admired for its lovely colors of reddish-violet and flushed purple. As a Triumph class tulip, it is especially adaptable for indoor growing in pots as well as for use in garden beds.

Holland's Glory is a very large orange-scarlet flower with a black base. Tulips in the Darwin Hybrid class, to which it belongs, result from crossing Darwins with Fosteriana tulips. This class is noted for its huge flowers, generally red, on strong stems; and Holland's Glory is an outstanding example of the type.

Paul Richter is a Darwin tulip of bright scarlet-red. Darwins, which bloom late in the Spring, are the largest tulips, having blossoms as wide as they are deep. Paul Richter is a favorite of florists for indoor forcing.

Nizza is an intermix of yellow and red, and like others in the Double Late class, it has a round, full peony-like appearance. These tulips are growing more popular, but are still unusual enough to stand out in the average garden, where they fit well into bed and border plantings.

Mariette has received three awards. This flower is a deep satin - rose and is in the Lily-Flowered class of tulips, which are known for being an exceptionally graceful flower, resulting from a cross between the Darwin and Cottage tulips.

RADIANT PINK

Rosy Wings is a radiant pink flower with a white base. It was unveiled in 1944 as a welcome addition to the Cottage class. These tulips are a curious group — some have long stems, others short; some have pointed cups, like Rosy Wings; and others have square cups.

Texas Gold, as the name implies, is big and golden. It has a narrow red edge and the fringed petals of the Parrot class. The strange, exotic shapes and colors of the Parrot tulips makes them a conversation piece in any garden, particularly when planted in groups of a dozen or more as patches in garden borders. The Dutch have been fascinated by these flowers since they were first discovered and described in Holland in 1665.

Unsurpassable lives up to its name, as a yellow trumpet daffodil. One of the largest daffodils yet produced, its grand trumpet is flanged and serrated at the mouth. A strikingly brilliant flower of fine substance, with blooms of enormous size. Unsurpassable combines extraordinary depth and brilliant intensity of deepest gold color.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Flower Show Is Colorful

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

College Height's Garden Club of Monroe presented a very colorful flower show for T.V. and Fifth District Garden Center last Wednesday. Five members brought designs at the request of their president, Mrs. Paul Newcomer.

Without using too many adjectives to describe the designs (because this happens to be my garden club), I will attempt to tell you in word pictures just how elegant these design were.

Mrs. C. E. Pickering used the colorful Joseph's Coat for line material in the slight Hogarth (line of beauty) design she made in a tan colored compote container. One large red dahlia formed the focal interest. This was accented by the use of brilliant red plumosa (celosia) as a filler throughout the line. Both sides of the design were finished completely, thus, making it very suitable for the coffee table to be used before a mirror on a console.

DRIED ARRANGEMENTS

Mrs. E. M. Baber made an all dried arrangement using the graceful sea oats for the line of the triangle design in a low rectangular bowl in colors of tan into brown tones — blending perfectly with the materials used in the design. Okra pods which had dried into colors of white into deep brown were used to strengthen the primary line throughout the design. The focal area contained three wood roses that were accented on all sides with dried pink celosia. This gave color to the design. Dried dock was used as a filler throughout. Just the arrangement for the den or family room now and on through the winter months.

Always a favorite — the banana buds and leaves were used by Mrs. J. M. Gilstrap for her exotic triangle design. The ribs of the banana leaves which are a rose color were used for the primary line in the design. Three of these were tiered to form the vertical placement. These blended with the color of the banana buds. These buds on curving stems were placed within the triangle design, one facing the front at the basic part of the design forming the focal interest. The container was a low black, round bowl.

TRIANGLE FORMED

Small banana leaves were placed within the design forming a triangle, adding background and strength to the line. Exotic is the best word to use to describe this arrangement which shows much distinction and creative ability of the designer. Before cutting back your banana plants try making a few designs. Also, save the small banana stalks with bananas attached and dry them. They turn black in color and dry firm. They are interesting to use in dried arrangements.

"In the Oriental Manner," could easily be the title of the design made by Mrs. J. E. Braley. The graceful cedar branches formed the primary line in a tall black bottle. Three light orchid colored mums were placed within this line — the larger Fugi mum was placed as the basic part of the design forming the focal interest. Two alamanda leaves followed low, hanging over the neck of the bottle. These folowed by a lower branch of the cedar. The height of the cedar was balanced by the placement of a small black base under the bottle, thus adding weight. This design would suit the narrow wall space in one of our modern homes — or better still — a recessed niche in the entrance hall would be quite suitable for it. This would further the feeling of the Orient. The tokonoma is a small recess in the wall of the Japanese home, with the base slightly higher than the floor, where floral displays were and still are placed. This is the place of honor in a Japanese home.

TROPICAL FOLIAGE

Mrs. Morris L. Johnson used the very unusual and beautiful tropical foliage with the blossoms and buds of the alamanda. This plant grows in her garden. She told me that she will probably make cuttings from it for next year's plants since this plant will not stand our cold winters outside and hers is quite large to try to move into the house.

Both foliage and blooms of this plant serve as distinctive flower arrangement material. Mrs. Johnson created the crescent line for her design using the curving branches of the alamanda with leaves and buds attached. The full blown flowers formed the focal interest. Her container was a tall rust brown compote. This shade of brown blended perfectly with the outer petals of the buds. The flowers are a soft deep yellow color. The bright green of the shiny leaves, the golden yellow of the flowers, and the rust brown of the buds and container made a very pleasing color harmony.

"Growing to Show," and, in such an excellent manner, is my tribute to Mrs. Johnson. This seems a timely place to remind all the garden clubbers of our Fifth Distict that Mrs. Johnson is our state "plant improvement" chairman. Most of you may already know. We are proud of her. Please make a note of these important dates—

The Louisiana Delta Fair, Tallulah, Oct. 14 - 18. Garden clubbers will be especially interested in the Woman's Flower Division. The Design Division theme is "Floral Arrangements Attune to Our Times".

Oct. 16 — Wednesday, the Fifth District LGCF Judges Council will meet in Ruston at the Agriculture Building at 2:00 P.M. All Judges are urged to attend — also, Junior Judges.

Oct. 24 — The LGCF Fifth District Meeting will be held in Tallulah.

Details are as follows: 9:00 A.M. — 10:00 A.M. Registration and coffee — at the Tallulah Book Club, 513 Dabney Street.

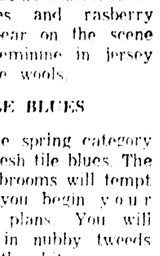

10:00 A.M. Business Meeting — at the Tallulah Book Club.

12:15 P.M. Lunch — Methodist Church.

1:15 P.M. — 3:00 P.M. Lecture Demonstration—Dr. John Wright.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Conifers Attractive

The needle evergreens (conifers) have been a great comfort during the past few severe winters when some of the broadleaf evergreens were either killed back or damaged. Conifers in yards and gardens and parks stood out in the winter landscape like jewels.

This performance of the conifers should remind us of the winter beauty and the great importance of these trees and shrubs. There are conifers for almost any landscape use, from ground covers and bank coverings to shade trees. The creeping and trailing junipers cover enormous areas on beeches and on the high, snow-covered mountains all over the world, while the tree junipers grow into large specimens like our native red-cedars in their maturity.

CONIFERS FOR SHADE

While we usually think of conifers as needing the full sun, there are some kinds which tolerate quite a bit of shade. Some of the old garden show places of the South which are shady places indeed owe much of their variety and character to combinations of old conifers and great specimens of broadleaf evergreens like camellias and azaleas.

Places like Bonaventure Cemetery in Savannah and the cemetery in Bainbridge, Georgia are full of live oaks and cedars, camellias and oriental arborvitae. Without the conifers in these dreamy places the masses of camellias would be a shining monotonous jungle with little background except the trunks of large trees.

On The House

AP Newsfeatures
By ANDY LANG

An autumn home check-up in preparation for the winter heating season should include inspection, repair, and if necessary, installation of a humidification system. Excessive dryness can damage the house, cause discomfort, even illness, and at the same time waste fuel. Aside from the loss of fuel, the destructive qualities of lack of humidity are just as bad in areas where artificial heating is not necessary but where the air is too dry much of the year.

The relative humidity in heated unhumidified homes averages between 10 and 15 per cent in the winter. And in many homes, the relative humidity drops as low as 3 per cent when the inside temperature is 70 degrees Fahrenheit and the outside temperature hits zero. When one shivers in the house, puts on a sweater and pushes up the thermostat, the real need may be higher humidity and not higher temperature.

With the proper humidity, one can be comfortable at temperatures three to eight degrees lower than the reading required for a relative humidity of 10 to 15 per cent.

DAMAGE

Excessive dryness can cause veneers on furniture to peel. Moldings shrink. Paintings tend to dry out and crack. Fine leather bookbindings crack and the pages become brittle. Leather furniture dries out. Rugs and carpeting create static. Their fibers become brittle, break loose and wear life is shortened. Wallpaper loosens or puckers. Floorboards separate and annoying creaks result.

A variety of minor household troubles also occur: house plants wilt and the piano goes out of tune.

More serious is the effect of excessive dryness upon human health. The head of the ear, nose and throat section of New York's Lincoln Hospital, Dr. Joseph Lubard, says there is a definite correlation between colds and humidity.

"It is significant," says Dr. Lubard, "that coincidental with the institution of furnace heat in the fall, individuals, especially children, become subject to repeated attacks of the usual seasonal upper respiratory infections. Examination of the nose and throat of these patients will show the characteristic dry spots, incriminating evidence against the low humidity. The irritations of the nose and throat will usually persist until the air in the living quarters, especially the bedroom, is properly humidified."

Lack of moisture in the air also has an unpleasant cosmetic effect. Overheated dry air evaporates the natural moisture from the skin, causing rough, chapped skin and lifeless dry hair.

Relative humidity (the amount of moisture in the air to what the air could hold if completely saturated) should be related to outdoor temperature. An authority on the subject, James H. Manecke, says that, for example, when the outdoor temperature is 10 degrees, the relative humidity inside the home should be 30; when the temperature is 20, the humidity should be 35. As the executive of a company that manufactures automatic controls, he naturally believes that the best way to make home humidifiers work properly is to equip them with such controls, which automatically turn the moisture on or off according to the relative humidity setting. He adds that, for the best performance, the humidity control should be mounted on the inside wall, not in the direct path of furnace discharge air or drafts from open doors or windows.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Would you take a five year lease on an apartment at the age of 95? One man did and lived to be 102 years old. This is reported in a new fascinating public affairs pamphlet called "A Full Life After 65." Its author is Edith M. Stern who has written many articles concerning mental health.

Among other things, Miss Stern emphasizes the tremendous importance of looking forward rather than back. Keep looking forward. This is important at any age and especially so from middle age on.

While the book is aimed at the 65 or older group, its message and information is of the greatest value to anyone approaching middle age since that is the time when one should begin preparing for older years. Remember, too, that women reach semi-retirement. The pamphlet is also helpful to the younger generation who have aging parents.

There is nothing dreary about Miss Stern's ideas. They sing with well-founded optimism. She says, "There is not any more real, discernible break between middle age and older age than there is between youth and middle age. The figure 65, used for statistical purposes and convenience, is an arbitrary one. Moreover, it is outdated; for with better medical care and sanitation, the 75-year-olds of the 1960's are like the 65-year-olds of the 1880's."

Flexibility and adaptability at any age are essential to happy living. All through life we must adapt to changing circumstances. Old age is pretty much what we make it just as life is at any other period in our experience.

Miss Stern covers many vital subjects in this pamphlet such as the learning ability of older persons, adult education, nursing homes, work after retirement, the yearly physical checkup, how to select a doctor, adaptability, the importance of physical health in mental health, living with one's children, replacing old interests with new (this should be done all through life), the necessary adjustments of husbands and wives after his retirement whether or not to move to a new part of the country, retirement communities, widowhood and many others.

The stunning and stimulating thread of thought which runs through this little booklet is the terrific difference individual approach and viewpoint make during older years. Of course this is true at any age.

If you would like to have this pamphlet send 25 cents with your request to the Public Affairs Committee, at 22 East 38th Street, New York, N.Y.

Black Is Back In Fashion

Black is back, exclaim the fashion experts, as if black had ever been gone in the first place.

Black which is both sexy and slimming, simple and demure, or very dressy is almost always found in a woman's closet.

Happily, both the French and American couturiers have been partial to black, a fact that has inspired cosmetics makers to consider the effect of the somber cloth against the skin.

As a result, at least one company has turned out a whole new paint job calculated to brighten the complexion subtly.

A FALL WEDDING is planned by Miss Frances Strange and Roscoe (Bo) Ballance, whose engagement is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Strange of West Monroe. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ballance of Harrisonburg. The wedding will take place November 14 in Bawcome Apostolic Church at 7 p.m. with Rev. W. T. Hemphill officiating.

YOUR PROBLEMS

High School Election Draws Pan From Loser

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on the problem of class elections. Recently we had an election at our high school. Petitions were circulated for signatures. Then the students of each class voted for president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, student council representative, and members of the executive committee.

Who was elected? The same bunch as last year — the cutest girls, the best looking fellows, the sharpest dressers and the kids from the richest families.

These kids who always win the elections don't deserve it. I know because I've tried to work with them (decorating the halls for dances and stuff like that) and they are the biggest goof-offs of all.

Please print my letter for the benefit of kids who elect leaders who have no leadership qualifications. — NOT ELECTED

Dear Not: Your letter sounds like a bleat from a lousy loser.

I've met a good many high school officeholders these past several years and they didn't look like goof-offs to me. Almost invariably they were attractive but they were also excellent students, and extremely well-mannered. (If I'm wrong kids, please tell me.)

Dear Ann: I am a young woman, 29, married and have four children. We all get along fine.

Recently my mother's youngest brother passed away. Mom was very close to this brother and she is shattered with grief over his death. In a week mom will be visiting us for several days. She feels a change of scenery might do her good.

How shall we treat her? Should we encourage her to talk about her brother? Or would it best if we changed the subject and tried to turn the conversation to more cheerful things? I hope you don't think this question is too silly to print. Thank you. — MRS. U.N.C.

Dear U.N.C.: There is no rigid rule for dealing with people who are suffering from grief. It's best to play it by ear.

If your mother wants to talk about her brother, listen. Your conservation, however, should be steered along generally cheerful lines.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 17 years old and have been going with this boy for 10 months. He has told me he loves me so many times I've lost count. He asked me to marry him and I have said I would. Although it has not been announced, and I am not wearing a ring, we are as good as engaged.

Suddenly he doesn't want to be tied down. He says he still wants to see me but he also wants to be free to see other girls if he feels like it. I asked him if he had any girls in mind and he swears he has not. He also said he would feel better if I went with other fellows.

I have been out of circulation for so long now no other fellows know I'm alive. This is a terrible spot to be in and I'd like to know what to do about it. — VERY HURT

Dear Very: The first thing you can do is kick yourself for getting tied up for almost one whole, precious year. Next, consider yourself lucky you didn't marry this fellow, only to find out then he doesn't want to be tied down.

My desk is piled high with letters from young kids who mistake biological urges for love. When the bloom is off the rose they start looking around, longingly, at what they've missed, and then somebody signs a letter "Very Hurt." This is only one of the reasons I'm so strongly opposed to going steady.

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDERS' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of Monroe Morning World, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Long Skirts At Home Vie With Ski Look

Basic skirts are out as A-lines, eased styles, flares, culottes and wraps take over. Everyone's getting into the long skirt act for at-home and apres-ski in Orlon pile, tweeds, mohair and tartans.

The scrambled look and the layered look are the newest directions in coordinates, according to Women's Wear Dailey. There is a tremendous interest in vests and sleeveless jackets (some with dropped shoulder) worn over turtlenecks and shirts. Long-sleeved shirts are more important than in past seasons, particularly ascot and Oliver styles. In active wear, the ski look (stretch pants, turtleneck pullovers, parkas) is another accepted expression of the layered theory.

Jumpers are better than ever. Skimmers, shifts, easy flares are most popular . . . many with wandering waistlines or no waistline at all. Newest have dropped shoulders and are being shown with full-sleeved blouses or turtleneck sweaters.

Top knit styles include vests and V-neck pullovers in nubby tweeds and mohair . . . shetland tunics and jackets with tweed skirts . . . and turtleneck sweaters everywhere.

Stretch is "in" for Fall. Stretch pants in solids, plaids, checks and prints will be seen (both horizontal and vertical stretch). In addition, stretch tops are gaining more acceptance spurred by the ski trend for suburban and campus wear.

Tweeds, checks, men's wear fabrics take the spotlight in this fall's sportswear picture, and colors tend to be brighter and livelier than in past seasons, often in mixtures of two and three colors or patterns.

14 VIRGINIA WOOLFS

NEW YORK (AP) — Fourteen overseas productions are scheduled this winter for Edward Albee's prize - winning drama, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?".

Variety Of Patterns Mark Season's New Woolknits

No matter who you are, where you are, or what you do, there's a forceful trend in the feminine fashion world that's going to affect your existence. It's the great knitted wool and double-knit wool explosion.

A fabulous variety of textures, weights and patterns has stimulated the style diversification of the season's new woolknits. They range from fluttery wool jerseys as light as a whisper, to burly dimensional tweeds and giant ribs. Pliant, full-bodied double-knit wools, smooth-surfaced or in dramatic patterns such as brocades, give free-flowing dimension to coats, suits, dresses, blouses and slacks. Newest innovation is the knitted wool jersey with its own permanently-bonded lining, accentuating its draping qualities, and giving the wearer a divine, satiny smooth fabric against her skin.

Gadabout of the wardrobe is the knitted wool sweater, most versatile wardrobe scene-changer of all with it myriad faces and styles, from the merest little sleeveless shell that goes as formal as you please or brightens up daytime suits, to bulky V-pullovers layered with dickeys or lightweight turtleneck pullovers, to glorious printed pullovers and cardigans, to the lively big and thick ski styles. And watch for the season's favorite, the sweater dress, long and supple, in both bulky and smooth knits.

Fantastic knitted wools have captured the place of honor in every wardrobe category, from the most formal to the most sportive. They're preferred for skiing, dancing, schooling, careering, traveling, homebodying — new and exciting in style concept, unchanged in the matchless comfort and unruffled chic that have made them the fashion symbols of the modern way of life.

DRAMA RANGE

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The second season of the Tyrone Guthrie theatre is to have both Elizabethan and modern drama. The agenda, that starts next spring, includes Shakespeare's "Henry V," Shaw's "Saint Joan," en Jonson's "Volpone," and Tennessee Williams, "The Glass Menagerie."

Fall Jewelry Matches Mood Of Fashion

Emphasis is on pins and earrings.

Fashion adds the finishing touches to fall's easy styles with country-casual jewelry. Very much in the sportive spirit are chunky pins, bar pins, fob pins, and stick pins for scarves, along with cuff links, "heavy" bracelets and necklaces, and wooden beads.

The gold rush is on for fall, with fashion prospecting for golden jewelry to accent fall's sporty styles. Casual, yet feminine, are gold earrings, woven gold chain bracelets and necklaces.

After-five, femininity comes to the fore in exquisite jewelry to accent fall's elegant evening wear. Fashion likes a luxurious "antique look" in jewelry inspired by actual heirloom pieces.

CURTAIN CALL

As everyone must know by now, "Auntie Mame" opens at Strauss Playhouse this coming Friday, October 18, preceded by the gala Patron Preview on Thursday. After performances on Saturday and Sunday nights, the 19th and 20th, there will be a break in the run until Thursday, October 24, when "Auntie Mame" reopens for four more nights, closing Sunday, October 27. Curtain time is 8:15 each night.

The intent of the split schedule is to cater to the average member's preference for weekend performances. The Thursday, October 24 date is aimed at those with full weekends of hunting or football.

Patrons are urged to reserve at once if they wish to attend the preview on Thursday. With the patron list at the breath-taking total of 202, the equivalent of 404 individuals, reservations must be taken in the order of receipt until the house capacity of 275 is reached. If any must be disappointed, they still have a choice of seven other nights.

RESERVATIONS

Advance reservations in response to the mailing are being processed now. Starting Tuesday, October 15, reservations may be made in person or by calling FAirfax 3-1235 at the Lamy Lane box office from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. through the run of the show. Memberships may be secured at the same time, but should be paid for at least 24 hours before the performance date for which reservations have been made.

On Monday and Tuesday, October 21 and 22, executive director Richard Clark has called try-outs for the second show of the season, "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams, at 7:30 p.m. at the playhouse. This calls for a cast of two men and two women, each a lead.

Little Theatre was saddened to learn of the deaths of Mrs. Nellie Hirsch and Tom Serwich. The late Rabbi F. K. Hirsch was the second president of our group. Tom Serwich was not only president for two seasons, but was very active on stage and backstage for eight years.

COAT LOANED

Mrs. J. B. Pickens has loaned the mink coat we needed for "Auntie Mame." and Scherck Bogen has the silver foxes on call. Through the kindness of W. E. Whetstone, Southern Bell Telephone has provided us with an old magneto switchboard for Mame's brief employment as a telephone operator. Betty Slakter has loaned the dictating equipment.

Doyle and Jean Hamilton found us a treasure trove of costumes which belonged to the family of Miss Lily Green, some of which went into immediate service for the "Twenties" scenes in "Auntie Mame." We could still use some summer dresses from that period. Mrs. D. I. Hirsch has also found some costumes for us.

PROP LIST

The prop list for the 22 scenes in "Auntie Mame," is both long and exotic. Bob Jones has been scouring Monroe for items like old steering wheels, elephant tusks, alpenstocks, side saddles and the like that are not found in every household. Dr. and Mrs. Garnier have once more come to the rescue on riding clothes, but we are still frustrated on Indian hunting trophies — Asian India, that is. Tiger skins, anyone?

Membership vice president Mary Lee Milam and technical director Lonny Fraze had a fine interview with Harry Arthur on KNOE-TV's Clearing House. Publicity chairman Lallage Feazel entertained the Newcomers Club with a luncheon talk on the history of Little Theatre.

NEW TILES

Just when we are getting ready to place the Green Room on display for "Auntie Mame," we have the good fortune to add six new tiles. Harvey A. McDonald chose "The Damask Cheek," "Guest In The House," and "My Sister Eileen," to honor his daughters, Gail McDonald Massey, while Francis Payne of Shreveport took tiles for his wife, the former Ann Platt, for her appearances in "Her Husband's Wife," "The Drunkard," and "The Royal Family." Norma Brandle again did the skillful lettering.

In getting out last week's mailing, we were pleased to note that we have members living in 40 different towns. Nearly 400 live outside of Monroe and West Monroe, which reminds us that radio stations like KMAR in Winnsboro and KTRY and KVOB in Bastrop help us keep these members informed, as the broadcasters in the Twin Cities do locally.

Stamp News

THE 5-CENT U.S. stamp honoring the Red Cross centenary and that organization's helping hand in the Cuban prisoner exchange program will feature a group of refugees on the deck of the S.S. MORNING LIGHT silhouetted against the night sky. Above the scene flies the Red Cross flag. It goes on sale Oct. 29 in Washington.

The design of this new stamp was based on a photograph made by Rudolph Vetter at the moment the boat docked at Port Everglades, Fla. (May 24, 1963).

Collectors desiring first day covers may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington, D.C. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers International Red Cross stamp." Cover requests MUST be postmarked not later than Oct. 29.

H. E. Harris has published a new looseleaf World Stamp Album containing spaces for 50,000 stamps in its 1,000 pages. There are more than 30,000 illustrations making it easy for beginners to identify their stamps. Also included is an illustrated stamp finder to help identification plus the stamp collectors dictionary. A U. S. stamp identifier tells rare stamps from common "look-alikes." The looseleaf album, available in nine colors, has a new mechanism which allows pages to lie open for maximum possible flatness. The big book is available for $11.95 at H. E. Harris & Co., Box A, Boston 17, Mass.

Belgium has announced the issuance of a three franc stamp to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Belgian Airlines. The design features a Caravelle plane flying over the Brussels National Airport.

VARIETY IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE (AP) — For its first season, the Seattle Repertory Theater is scheduling a wide variety of five plays to be given over a 30-week span starting Nov. 13.

"King Lear" is to open the new civic project. Other offerings are to be Max Frisch's "The Firebugs," Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning," Robert Audrey's "Shadow of Heroes" and Anton Chekhov's "The Sea Gull." Over-all director is Stuart Vaughn, formerly with New York's Phoenix Company.

TWO P. T.s

NEW YORK (AP) — Rival musicals about the flamboyant career of Phineas T. Barnum are in the Broadway offing. And each has been simply labeled "Barnum."

Mark Forbes has announced a January opening for a show written by Franklin Lacey, an aide to Meredith Willson on "The Music Man" story. Score is to be by Eddie Heyman and Milton Kaye.

Alexander H. Cohen has set April 22 for entry on the Main Stem of his production. Its book is by Jerome Chodorov, the score by Marian Grudeff and Ray Jessel.

MAN-ABOUT-TOWN attorney, Kirk Douglas, has a bevy of beautiful blondes, Julie Newmar, Leslie Parrish and Mitzi Gaynor, as his problem in Universial's sophisticated comedy in color, "For Love or Money," which starts Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Two items caught my attention this week. One is an "instant" projection screen; the second is a new approach to get people interested in making their own enlargements at home.

You and I have fussed many a time in setting up a screen for home movies or a color slide show. You have to open the tripod legs, raise the center bar, swing the screen around to a horizontal position, pull it up and adjust the tension.

Suppose you were challenged to find a quicker, easier way to set up a screen. How would you tackle it?

It would take a very unusual inventor to solve the problem as simply and ingeniously as we now see in the new Radiant "AutoMaster" screen. They did it by forgetting the conventional method of unrolling a screen from to top like a window shade. Instead they open and close it from side to side like an accordion. The screen always remains in position, even closed, and does not have to be swung around.

To that basically simple idea, they have added a complete coiled spring tension system which coordinates all the steps and parts. The very action of starting to open the screen like an accordion sets the hidden mechanism into automatic reaction: the screen opens to its full width, fully tensioned; the tripod legs spring into position.

To close: with a hand at each side of the screen, a slight "pushing - together - and-downward" pressure is exerted. The hidden tension system completes the task automatically: the screen recedes into its protective case; the tripod legs retract into a compact package behind the case. Either one-step operation takes from two to three seconds!

The "AutoMaster" mechanism is permanently lubricated and the screens will be available in 40 and 48 inches square with a new bright silica textured surface.

Many camera fans would like to make their own enlargements at home but several factors tend to discourage them. One is the initial investment in an enlarger and other darkroom equipment.

Wicker Furniture Making Comeback

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Wicker is having a coming - in party. It has long been identified with sunporch and patio, although it adapts itself to many rooms in the home in many ways, not just for casual comfort.

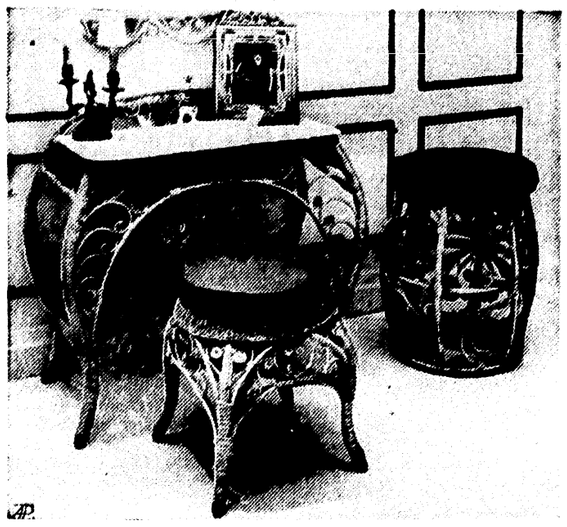

Designers illustrated by using wicker in room settings in a wide variety of designs in every price range, much of it ideally suited to the budgets of newly - weds.

A graceful Victorian dressing table and mirror with matching stools in natural wicker covered in Peacock blue vinyl upholstery in a setting designed by Steve Gasperez employs the graceful lines of the Victorian period when wicker achieved high recognition, its airiness offsetting the stuffiness of elaborate draperies and upholsteries.

A product of nature, wicker is made from the osier of the willow tree, long flexible shoots or twigs. A durable, flexible material, it affords many treatments to new furniture. Some rods are peeled and split into skeins. Some are boiled, peeled and soaked to make them especially pliant to be bent, some are used as - is. Combinations of these treatments provide interesting effects achieved in many furniture pieces and accessories, such as chaises, beds, benches, chests, bird cages.

Curtains For Duo Room Suggested

By BETTY PEPIS

Q. In our kitchen-dining combination room, we have two distinct areas. The kitchen is in red and white check with a red brick linoleum and white curtains. The living room has three walls in antique white and a sage green carpet. Furniture is cherry wood and the accessories are milk glass. I'd like draperies on one wall in double-tier or straight hanging. What color should I select?

A. For a more interesting effect, I'd choose double-tier curtains in the dining area. These could be either in an appropriate small-scale print, one in a white ground with sage green and red, or, if space is small, the curtains would be best in a crisp white cotton.

Q. In our living room, we have a beige sectional sofa and chair, a brown chair and a cocoa colored rug. Would like to paint walls off-white and have draperies white with yellow and coral. What do you think of this, also what color accessories?

A. Besides yellow and coral, the print should also have some beige to relate it to the furniture. Have bright yellow accessories, and, if young can, change the dark brown chair to a bright yellow.

Q. Our three-year-old son's room is small. His bed and chest are light, lime oak. His rug is a fluffy white bear. My husband wants to paint the walls and ceiling a cocoa brown. Would an orange bedspread brighten the room? What if we purchased shutters; could the bottom ones be orange and the top ones white?

A. Cocoa sounds rather a dark shade for such a young fellow's room. Wouldn't you rather have pale, sunny yellow instead? Then your idea for shutters would be especially nice. If walls are yellow, have yellow bedspread with orange and white trim.

Q. My living room is 24 by 14 feet. Walls are fairly dark wood panel. Windows are located at north, south and east, so room is quite light. Rugs are oriental with red, blue and beige predominating. Furniture is teak. I need slip covers, draperies, lamps and accessories and would appreciate any assistance you can give.

A. Have beige (of carpet) for tie-back draperies, for slip covers and lamps. Pick up rich red and blue in rug for accessories, toss pillows and glass objects.

Camellias Need Care

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

Proper care of camellias is important in early fall. Flower buds are forming. To prevent the loss of healthy desirable flower buds, camellias should be watered often. Do not apply fertilizer to camellias at this season. The fertilizer would stimulate new growth which would be quite susceptible to early freezes. Check for scale on your camellias. It is easily identified by light yellow, mottled leaves with white frothed web-like material covering a tiny dark scaled insect on the under side of the leaves. If oil emulsion is used for control of scale apply when daytime temperature reaches the moderate range. You may use dimethoate (cygon) as a spray using one tablespoon in three gallons of water or as a soil drench with two tablespoons per gallon water per plant. It is safer to use cygon at this season.

Saw seed of these annuals in October: Pansy, calendula, stock, candytuff, snapdragon and sweet pea (early).

At this season of the year fields and forest are abundant with seed pods produced by trees shrubs and weeds. For dried arrangements collect these and use them in arrangements. Nearly everything can be preserved either by one or more of the following methods; hanging, sand and borax, silicia gel and cornmeal and borax.

REMINDER

Remember the drapery demonstration and workshop at 9:30 A.M. Thursday, and Friday, at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe. The demonstration will be over by noon. If you need help in making one panel, bring your material and correct measurements and you will be given help Thursday afternoon or anytime Friday.

FASHION NEWS

In planning your head to toe wardrobe you will discover that the total look is natural and smooth. Hair styles are close to the head and away from the puffy look of yesteryear. Look for the new sleeve-at the wrists lovely cuff links. Pearls seem to be made for the fall fabrics. The shoulder slung purse fashioned of soft finished leather is just right for the busy days ahead—football games and the like.

This season brings fresh interpretations of textures and patterns too. Mohair and suede cloth made their debut not so very long ago and have since become great successes. As to color wines and rasberry shades appear on the scene rich and feminine in jersey and scouffle wools.

TILE BLUES

Out of the spring category come the fresh tile blues. The tawny new brooms will tempt you when you begin your sportswear plans. You will find them in nubby tweeds sparkled with white.

To preserve the nutritive value of canned fruits and vegetables, store them in a cool place. Canned foods as well as fresh lose nutritients during storage, cool temperatures, however, will keep this loss to a minimum.

Canned vegetables for example, lose up to 15 per cent of their thiamine when stored for a year at 65 degrees F. But at 80 degrees this loss increases to about 25 per cent. Similarity, more ascorbic acid or vitamin C is lost at high temperature than low. When stored at 80 degrees F. the ascorbic acid content drops as much as 25 per cent at 65 degrees only 10 per cent a year.

Carotene is more stable than either vitamin C or thiamine. Losses average only 10 per cent at 80 degrees F.

DID YOU KNOW

Did you know that according to U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, today an hour's work in a factory will buy nine quarts of milk compared to 6½ quarts in 1947-49.

A THOUGHT

City Dweller Has Problem In Gardens

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

The city dweller frequently is forgotten in picturing the joys and woes of gardening. The inhabitants of crowded urban canyons and the owners of sunless or rooftop patios get short shrift.

We set out to remedy this situation from our suburban workshop, looking out on a snow-lightened yard where only a short while ago roses bloomed.

We recalled a recent tree-raising ceremony atop the new 50 - story Americana Hotel in New York City and figured we couldn't get a much higher authority into the discussion than the man who planned the lofty hotel's living decor.

Landscape architect Charles Middeleer says it is a mistake to plan a rural garden in an urban center. Each should have its own special charm.

MAGNITUDE

"The magnitude of the city environment presents special problems," he relates. "The site itself is generally surrounded by walls or it may be on a rooftop. A major problem is the air, permeated as it is with soot, dust and fumes. When it rains, a slimy film is deposited on the leaves, cutting out necessary light and air.

"Some plants survive while others do not. It is therefore wise to make the garden dependent on successful integration of decorative pavements, sculpture, benches and other ornaments and a minimal amounts of plants.

"Success with plants depends to a large extent on the quality and the depth of the soil. The soil must be porous enough for the penetration of water and air. There must be good drainage as stagnant water will eliminate much air.

"The soil should have enough humus to be able to retain moisture. One - third peat moss mixed with sandy soil is generally satisfactory, but nourishment must be administered. Cottonseed meal, Millorganite or Agrinite mixed with steamed, ground bone meal, give slow and lasting results. It should be applied before the new growth starts in the spring. (Chemical fertilizers dissipate quickly and must be applied more often and precisely than organic products.)

"In nature, plants generally obtain their water from rain and in drier periods from deep in the ground by capillary action. Plants growing in planters or pots are cut off from this ground water and depend entirely on applied water.

NEEDS VARY

"A potted plant located against a wall with full sun exposure may require water twice a day in the extreme heat of summer. A similar pot in the shade of a north wall may require water only twice a week.

"Where space is limited and where there are large expanses of wall, some shrubs can be trimmed to grow vertically and flat (espalier fruit trees, for example). Several shrubs and evergreens are adaptable to this treatment and do not necessarily have to be trimmed in any formal pattern."

Any selection of plants, Middeleer advises, must take into account the amount of light and sun exposure.

Plant Bulbs Ahead Of Cold Season

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Spring - blooming bulbs such as scilla, tulips, hyacinth, daffodil and crocus should be planted before the ground becomes too hard and cold to work easily.

Be careful in setting them in the ground that they are not too deep, to make their task of poking into the sunlight difficult next spring, nor too shallow, to endanger them from the winter elements.

Digging holes for the bulbs is to us one of the dullest chores of autumn. And the later in the fall you wait, the tougher will be the job.

TOOL AID

There is a tool that will make the job easier. It has a shovel - like handle, is of adequate circular width to handle the largest of the spring bulbs, and has notched edges to facilitate cutting into the ground. There are inch-depth markings to make digging to proper depth no task at all.

Scilla and crocus, two of the earliest bits of color to emerge after the long winter, should be planted (bottoms of the bulbs) three inches deep. Grape hyacinth goes an inch deeper, tulip goes to five inches, hyacinth to six, and daffodil, seven.

If the soil is extremely sandy, bulbs should be planted a little deeper. If you have heavy clay soil, set the bigger bulbs closer to the surface.

Your choice of tulips is wide and handsome. There are at least 300 varieties in cultivation, divided into 23 classes. Some bloom very early, some weeks later. There are short and long-stemmed types.

One new tulip we noted is called Sparkling Fringed. It has frosty, fringed edges, and blooms in May.

OTHER BULBS

There are other bulbs that do well when planted early in the fall. Among them are galanthus and muscari.

Colorful perennials for fall planting include iris, sweet william, painted daisy, columbine, carnations, canterbury bells, delphinium, lynthrum, baby's breath, oriental poppies, pincushion (scabiosa), bleeding heart, lupines, achillea and peonies.

There is a wide selection of hardy lilies, including redbanded rubrum, midcentury hybrids, Olympic hybrids, which have big trumpet-shape blooms, madonna and gold band.

INTERNATIONAL

Bulb Selections Are Announced

The 1963 International Holland Bulb Selections, for planting now, have been announced by the Netherlands Flower-bulb Institute. The selection is made by an international jury of bulb experts and specialists on the basis of a poll of spring visitors made at the world's largest bulb garden, the Keukenhof, at Lisse in Holland.

The selections of the "most admired varieties" include nine tulips, one hyacinth, and one daffodil.

TULIPS: Tulipa Kaufmanniana, Stresa; Tulipa Greigii, Red Riding Hood; Triumph Tulip, First Lady; Darwin Hybrid Tulip, Holland's Glory; Darwin Tulip, Paul Ritcher; Double Late Tulip, Nizza; Lily - Flowered Tulip, Mariette; Cottage Tulip, Rosy Wings; Parrot Tulip, Texas Gold.

HYACINTH: Delft Blue.
DAFFODIL: Unsurpassable.

DESCRIPTION

Following is a brief description of the selections which should be planted this fall to bloom in the garden next Spring.

Stresa has a yellow inside and red outside. This type of marking is characteristic of the Kaufmanniana class of Species tulips to which Stresa belongs. They are still growing wild in Turkestan, and closely resemble waterlilies, so that they are sometimes called Water-lily tulips.

First Lady is greatly admired for its lovely colors of reddish-violet and flushed purple. As a Triumph class tulip, it is especially adaptable for indoor growing in pots as well as for use in garden beds.

Holland's Glory is a very large orange-scarlet flower with a black base. Tulips in the Darwin Hybrid class, to which it belongs, result from crossing Darwins with Fosteriana tulips. This class is noted for its huge flowers, generally red, on strong stems; and Holland's Glory is an outstanding example of the type.

Paul Richter is a Darwin tulip of bright scarlet-red. Darwins, which bloom late in the Spring, are the largest tulips, having blossoms as wide as they are deep. Paul Richter is a favorite of florists for indoor forcing.

Nizza is an intermix of yellow and red, and like others in the Double Late class, it has a round, full peony-like appearance. These tulips are growing more popular, but are still unusual enough to stand out in the average garden, where they fit well into bed and border plantings.

Mariette has received three awards. This flower is a deep satin - rose and is in the Lily-Flowered class of tulips, which are known for being an exceptionally graceful flower, resulting from a cross between the Darwin and Cottage tulips.

RADIANT PINK

Rosy Wings is a radiant pink flower, with a white base. It was unveiled in 1944 as a welcome addition to the Cottage class. These tulips are a curious group — some have long stems, others short; some have pointed cups, like Rosy Wings; and others have square cups.

Texas Gold, as the name implies, is big and golden. It has a narrow red edge and the fringed petals of the Parrot class. The strange, exotic shapes and colors of the Parrot tulips makes them a conversation piece in any garden, particularly when planted in groups of a dozen or more as patches in garden borders. The Dutch have been fascinated by these flowers since they were first discovered and described in Holland in 1665.

Unsurpassable lives up to its name, as a yellow trumpet daffodil. One of the largest daffodils yet produced, its grand trumpet is flanged and serrated at the mouth. A strikingly brilliant flower of fine substance, with blooms of enormous size. Unsurpassable combines extraordinary depth and brilliant intensity of deepest gold color.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Flower Show Is Colorful

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

College Height's Garden Club of Monroe presented a very colorful flower show for T.V. and Fifth District Garden Center last Wednesday. Five members brought designs at the request of their president, Mrs. Paul Newcomer.

Without using too many adjectives to describe the designs (because this happens to be my garden club), I will attempt to tell you in word pictures just how elegant these design were.

Mrs. C. E. Pickering used the colorful Joseph's Coat for line material in the slight Hogarth (line of beauty) design she made in a tan colored compote container. One large red dahlia formed the focal interest. This was accented by the use of brilliant red plumosa (celosia) as a filler throughout the line. Both sides of the design were finished completely, thus, making it very suitable for the coffee table to be used before a mirror on a console.

DRIED ARRANGEMENTS

Mrs. E. M. Baber made an all dried arrangement using the graceful sea oats for the line of the triangle design in a low rectangular bowl in colors of tan into brown tones — blending perfectly with the materials used in the design. Okra pods which had dried into colors of white into deep brown were used to strengthen the primary line throughout the design. The focal area contained three wood roses that were accented on all sides with dried pink celosia. This gave color to the design. Dried dock was used as a filler throughout. Just the arrangement for the den or family room now and on through the winter months.

Always a favorite — the banana buds and leaves were used by Mrs. J. M. Gilstrap for her exotic triangle design. The ribs of the banana leaves which are a rose color were used for the primary line in the design. Three of these were tiered to form the vertical placement. These blended with the color of the banana buds. These buds on curving stems were placed within the triangle design, one facing the front at the basic part of the design forming the focal interest. The container was a low black, round bowl.

TRIANGLE FORMED

Small banana leaves were placed within the design forming a triangle, adding background and strength to the line. Exotic is the best word to use to describe this arrangement which shows much distinction and creative ability of the designer. Before cutting back your banana plants try making a few designs. Also, save the small banana stalks with bananas attached and dry them. They turn black in color and dry firm. They are interesting to use in dried arrangements.

"In the Oriental Manner," could easily be the title of the design made by Mrs. J. E. Braley. The graceful cedar branches formed the primary line in a tall black bottle. Three light orchid colored mums were placed within this line — the larger Fugi mum was placed as the basic part of the design forming the focal interest. Two alamanda leaves followed low, hanging over the neck of the bottle. These folowed by a lower branch of the cedar. The height of the cedar was balanced by the placement of a small black base under the bottle, thus adding weight. This design would suit the narrow wall space in one of our modern homes — or better still — a recessed niche in the entrance hall would be quite suitable for it. This would further the feeling of the Orient. The tokonoma is a small recess in the wall of the Japanese home, with the base slightly higher than the floor, where floral displays were and still are placed. This is the place of honor in a Japanese home.

TROPICAL FOLIAGE

Mrs. Morris L. Johnson used the very unusual and beautiful tropical foliage with the blossoms and buds of the alamanda. This plant grows in her garden. She told me that she will probably make cuttings from it for next year's plants since this plant will not stand our cold winters outside and hers is quite large to try to move into the house.

Both foliage and blooms of this plant serve as distinctive flower arrangement material. Mrs. Johnson created the crescent line for her design using the curving branches of the alamanda with leaves and buds attached. The full blown flowers formed the focal interest. Her container was a tall rust brown compote. This shade of brown blended perfectly with the outer petals of the buds. The flowers are a soft deep yellow color. The bright green of the shiny leaves, the golden yellow of the flowers, and the rust brown of the buds and container made a very pleasing color harmony.

"Growing to Show," and, in such an excellent manner, is my tribute to Mrs. Johnson. This seems a timely place to remind all the garden clubbers of our Fifth Distict that Mrs. Johnson is our state "plant improvement" chairman. Most of you may already know. We are proud of her. Please make a note of these important dates—

The Louisiana Delta Fair, Tallulah, Oct. 14 - 18. Garden clubbers will be especially interested in the Woman's Flower Division. The Design Division theme is "Floral Arrangements Attune to Our Times".

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Conifers Attractive

The needle evergreens (conifers) have been a great comfort during the past few severe winters when some of the broadleaf evergreens were either killed back or damaged. Conifers in yards and gardens and parks stood out in the winter landscape like jewels.

This performance of the conifers should remind us of the winter beauty and the great importance of these trees and shrubs. There are conifers for almost any landscape use, from ground covers and bank coverings to shade trees. The creeping and trailing junipers cover enormous areas on beeches and on the high, snow-covered mountains all over the world, while the tree junipers grow into large specimens like our native red-cedars in their maturity.

CONIFERS FOR SHADE

While we usually think of conifers as needing the full sun, there are some kinds which tolerate quite a bit of shade. Some of the old garden show places of the South which are shady places indeed owe much of their variety and character to combinations of old conifers and great specimens of broadleaf evergreens like camellias and azaleas.

Places like Bonaventure Cemetery in Savannah and the cemetery in Bainbridge, Georgia are full of live oaks and cedars, camellias and oriental arborvitae. Without the conifers in these dreamy places the masses of camellias would be a shining monotonous jungle with little background except the trunks of large trees.

On The House

AP Newsfeatures
By ANDY LANG

An autumn home check-up in preparation for the winter heating season should include inspection, repair, and if necessary, installation of a humidification system. Excessive dryness can damage the house, cause discomfort, even illness, and at the same time waste fuel. Aside from the loss of fuel, the destructive qualities of lack of humidity are just as bad in areas where artificial heating is not necessary but where the air is too dry much of the year.

The relative humidity in heated unhumidified homes averages between 10 and 15 per cent in the winter. And in many homes, the relative humidity drops as low as 3 per cent when the inside temperature is 70 degrees Fahrenheit and the outside temperature hits zero. When one shivers in the house, puts on a sweater and pushes up the thermostat, the real need may be higher humidity and not higher temperature.

With the proper humidity, one can be comfortable at temperatures three to eight degrees lower than the reading required for a relative humidity of 10 to 15 per cent.

DAMAGE

Excessive dryness can cause veneers on furniture to peel. Moldings shrink. Paintings tend to dry out and crack. Fine leather bookbindings crack and the pages become brittle. Leather furniture dries out. Rugs and carpeting create static. Their fibers become brittle, break loose and wear life is shortened. Wallpaper loosens or puckers. Floorboards separate and annoying creaks result.

A variety of minor household troubles also occur: house plants wilt and the piano goes out of tune.

More serious is the effect of excessive dryness upon human health. The head of the ear, nose and throat section of New York's Lincoln Hospital, Dr. Joseph Lubard, says there is a definite correlation between colds and humidity.

"It is significant," says Dr. Lubard, "that coincidental with the institution of furnace heat in the fall, individuals, especially children, become subject to repeated attacks of the usual seasonal upper respiratory infections. Examination of the nose and throat of these patients will show the characteristic dry spots, incriminating evidence against the low humidity. The irritations of the nose and throat will usually persist until the air in the living quarters, especially the bedroom, is properly humidified."

Lack of moisture in the air also has an unpleasant cosmetic effect. Overheated dry air evaporates the natural moisture from the skin, causing rough, chapped skin and lifeless dry hair.

Relative humidity (the amount of moisture in the air to what the air could hold if completely saturated) should be related to outdoor temperature. An authority on the subject, James H. Manecke, says that, for example, when the outdoor temperature is 10 degrees, the relative humidity inside the home should be 30; when the temperature is 20, the humidity should be 35. As the executive of a company that manufactures automatic controls, he naturally believes that the best way to make home humidifiers work properly is to equip them with such controls, which automatically turn the moisture on or off according to the relative humidity setting. He adds that, for the best performance, the humidity control should be mounted on the inside wall, not in the direct path of furnace discharge air or drafts from open doors or windows.

CURTAIN CALL

As everyone must know by now, "Auntie Mame" opens at Strauss Playhouse this coming Friday, October 18, preceded by the gala Patron Preview on Thursday. After performances on Saturday and Sunday nights, the 19th and 20th, there will be a break in the run until Thursday, October 24, when "Auntie Mame" reopens for four more nights, closing Sunday, October 27. Curtain time is 8:15 each night.

The intent of the split schedule is to cater to the average member's preference for weekend performances. The Thursday, October 24 date is aimed at those with full weekends of hunting or football.

Patrons are urged to reserve at once if they wish to attend the preview on Thursday. With the patron list at the breath-taking total of 202, the equivalent of 404 individuals, reservations must be taken in the order of receipt until the house capacity of 275 is reached. If any must be disappointed, they still have a choice of seven other nights.

RESERVATIONS

Advance reservations in response to the mailing are being processed now. Starting Tuesday, October 15, reservations may be made in person or by calling FAirfax 3-1235 at the Lamy Lane box office from 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. through the run of the show. Memberships may be secured at the same time, but should be paid for at least 24 hours before the performance date for which reservations have been made.

On Monday and Tuesday, October 21 and 22, executive director Richard Clark has called try-outs for the second show of the season, "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams, at 7:30 p.m. at the playhouse. This calls for a cast of two men and two women, each a lead.

Little Theatre was saddened to learn of the deaths of Mrs. Nellie Hirsch and Tom Serwich. The late Rabbi F. K. Hirsch was the second president of our group. Tom Serwich was not only president for two seasons, but was very active on stage and backstage for eight years.

COAT LOANED

Mrs. J. B. Pickens has loaned the mink coat we needed for "Auntie Mame," and Scherck Bogen has the silver foxes on call. Through the kindness of W. E. Whetstone, Southern Bell Telephone has provided us with an old magneto switchboard for Mame's brief employment as a telephone operator. Betty Slakter has loaned the dictating equipment.

Doyle and Jean Hamilton found us a treasure trove of costumes which belonged to the family of Miss Lily Green, some of which went into immediate service for the "Twenties" scenes in "Auntie Mame." We could still use some summer dresses from that period. Mrs. D. I. Hirsch has also found some costumes for us.

PROP LIST

The prop list for the 22 scenes in "Auntie Mame," is both long and exotic. Bob Jones has been scouring Monroe for items like old steering wheels, elephant tusks, alpenstocks, side saddles and the like that are not found in every household. Dr. and Mrs. Garnier have once more come to the rescue on riding clothes, but we are still frustrated on Indian hunting trophies — Asian India, that is. Tiger skins, anyone?

Membership vice president Mary Lee Milam and technical director Lonny Fraze had a fine interview with Harry Arthur on KNOE-TV's Clearing House. Publicity chairman Lallage Feazel entertained the Newcomers Club with a luncheon talk on the history of Little Theatre.

NEW TILES

Just when we are getting ready to place the Green Room on display for "Auntie Mame," we have the good fortune to add six new tiles. Harvey A. McDonald chose "The Damask Cheek," "Guest In The House," and "My Sister Eileen," to honor his daughters, Gail McDonald Massey, while Francis Payne of Shreveport took tiles for his wife, the former Ann Platt, for her appearances in "Her Husband's Wife," "The Drunkard," and "The Royal Family." Norma Brandle again did the skillful lettering.

In getting out last week's mailing, we were pleased to note that we have members living in 40 different towns. Nearly 400 live outside of Monroe and West Monroe, which reminds us that radio stations like KMAR in Winnsboro and KTRY and KVOB in Bastrop help us keep these members informed, as the broadcasters in the Twin Cities do locally.

Stamp News

THE 5-CENT U.S. stamp honoring the Red Cross centenary and that organization's helping hand in the Cuban prisoner exchange program will feature a group of refugees on the deck of the S.S. MORNING LIGHT silhouetted against the night sky. Above the scene flies the Red Cross flag. It goes on sale Oct. 29 in Washington.

The design of this new stamp was based on a photograph made by Rudolph Vetter at the moment the boat docked at Port Everglades, Fla. (May 24, 1963).

Collectors desiring first day covers may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Washington, D.C. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "First Day Covers International Red Cross stamp." Cover requests MUST be postmarked not later than Oct. 29.

H. E. Harris has published a new looseleaf World Stamp Album containing spaces for 50,000 stamps in its 1,000 pages. There are more than 30,000 illustrations making it easy for beginners to identify their stamps. Also included is an illustrated stamp finder to help identification plus the stamp collectors dictionary. A U. S. stamp identifier tells rare stamps from common "look-alikes." The looseleaf album, available in nine colors, has a new mechanism which allows pages to lie open for maximum possible flatness. The big book is available for $11.95 at H. E. Harris & Co., Box A, Boston 17, Mass.

Belgium has announced the issuance of a three franc stamp to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Belgian Airlines. The design features a Caravelle plane flying over the Brussels National Airport.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Two items caught my attention this week. One is an "instant" projection screen; the second is a new approach to get people interested in making their own enlargements at home.

You and I have fussed many a time in setting up a screen for home movies or a color slide show. You have to open the tripod legs, raise the center bar, swing the screen around to a horizontal position, pull it up and adjust the tension.

Suppose you were challenged to find a quicker, easier way to set up a screen. How would you tackle it?

It would take a very unusual inventor to solve the problem as simply and ingeniously as we now see in the new Radiant "AutoMaster" screen. They did it by forgetting the conventional method of unrolling a screen from to top like a window shade. Instead they open and close it from side to side like an accordion. The screen always remains in position, even closed, and does not have to be swung around.

To that basically simple idea, they have added a complete coiled spring tension system which coordinates all the steps and parts. The very action of starting to open the screen like an accordion sets the hidden mechanism into automatic reaction: the screen opens to its full width, fully tensioned; the tripod legs spring into position.

To close: with a hand at each side of the screen, a slight "pushing - together - and-downward" pressure is exerted. The hidden tension system completes the task automatically: the screen recedes into its protective case; the tripod legs retract into a compact package behind the case. Either one-step operation takes from two to three seconds!

The "AutoMaster" mechanism is permanently lubricated and the screens will be available in 40 and 48 inches square with a new bright silica textured surface.

Many camera fans would like to make their own enlargements at home but several factors tend to discourage them. One is the initial investment in an enlarger and other darkroom equipment.

New Locations Dip Sharply For Week

The number of new locations staked last week in the Monroe Oil and Gas District declined sharply, while two other gauges of activity remained about the same.

District Manager Duncan S. Cook's weekly report on drilling and other activity in Ouachita and 14 surrounding parishes included the recording of only seven new locations.

They occurred in but five parishes — two each in Catahoula and Union and one each in Ouachita, Rapides and LaSalle — representing a drop from the previous week's totals, which included 26 new stakings in 11 parishes.

The total on completions was down, but less sharply, from 18 in seven parishes to 14 in six. The week's figures included 30 rigs active in 12 parishes, as compared with 31 in 10 the week before.

Among the completions were five in Union Parish (four in the Monroe Gas Field), three each in Catahoula and Concordia, and one each in Avoyelles, Rapides and Tensas.

The breakdown on active rigs showed nine in LaSalle Parish, four in Rapides, three each in Catahoula, Concordia and Tensas, two in Ouachita (both drilling — one a wildcat, the other in the Monroe Field), and one each in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Grant, Madison, Morehouse and Union.

There were two recompletions during the week, both of them in LaSalle Parish, the Olla Field, both wells of Placid Oil Company. They were the Louisiana Central No. 72, recompleted at 2411 feet in section 30-10-3E, and the Louisiana Central No. 147, 3374 feet, in section 1-9-2E.

Fifteen wells were plugged and abandoned and inactive sites totalled 108. Locations numbered 69, 45 listed as drilling.

Offshore Activity Up At Anniversary

Drilling activity is lagging rather sharply in most areas but the offshore Louisiana operations are well ahead of a year ago.

Operators estimate they are spending more than $1 million a day in their search for new oil and gas reserves on state and federal leases in the Gulf of Mexico. The average could go higher as the search is pushed beyond water depths of 200 to 300 feet.

The water depth was only 14 feet when a drilling crew began work on Louisiana's first offshore test 26 years ago last Sunday.

The current rate of activity results primarily from three federal lease sales at which operators paid more than $735 million dollars for 507 tracts involving 2,300,000 acres.

Federal terms of the sales, the last of which was held last October dictate rather prompt action and emphasis on wildcat operations.

As many as 83 drilling rigs were in use in the area the last two weeks of September compared to only 60 a year earlier. Wildcat completions for January-September totaled 135 compared to 97 the same year earlier period.

The federal leases provide that oil or gas production must be established on each of the tracts within five years after purchase or the tracts must be released.

This prompted J. W. Pittman, for the Shell Oil Co., to say last month the current rate of activity is a boom of expenditure rather than one of quick income or overnight wealth.

He said the five-year lease terms probably mean nearly 1,300 additional tests will have to be drilled by October, 1967.

"This suggests the present boom will be a continuing thing," he said. He also described as conservative his $1 million estimate of the current daily costs for offshore Louisiana drilling operations.

Louisiana's first offshore well, the Superior-Pure State No. 1 test, was completed in May, 1938, one mile off the coast near Cameron with a daily flow of more than 500 barrels of oil.

World War II and prolonged litigation over state or federal ownership combined to prevent more rapid development of the area but offshore wells accounted for 26.57 per cent of Louisiana's crude production last year. The offshore share in 1958 was only 18.12 per cent. Last year's production exceeded 119.4 million barrels of oil and more than 588 billion cubic feet of gas.

Offshore Magazine said this week shrimp boats were used in carrying equipment and crewmen to the No. 1 State test.

The well brought in the Creole field, which, with 11 wells, still is producing.

"Many marine oil fields have been found off the coast of Louisiana that dwarf Creole," the magazine said. "But Creole was the first, and the Superior-Pure Gulf of Mexico State No. 1 is an historic milestone in the development of the offshore industry."

Stock Market Retrenches During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market performed an exercise in backing and filling this week and wound up with a relatively small decline. It was only the second setback in 11 weeks.

Despite continued good business and political news the market found it difficult deciding which way to head. For much of the week it was a case of the list in general refusing to follow the lead of a few strong issues such as Chrysler and RCA.

An early advance faded into a spotty decline late Monday. Tuesday developed only narrow overall changes and Wednesday prices dipped. In the final 15 minutes Thursday buying suddenly reappeared. The upward trend continued Friday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 1.4 at 277.8. The Dow Jones industrial average retreated 3.30 at 741.76.

September auto sales were the highest for a September since 1955 and first reports on 1964 model acceptance were favorable.

With this background, Chrysler advanced 3⅞, setting a 1963 high of 96 and closing at 94⅞. Volume totaled 1,244,500 shares, the second week in a row of over a million.

RCA gained 6¼, set a 1963 high of 79¾, closed at 78½ and was seventh most active.

Sugar company stocks were better all week as hurricane Flora ripped the Cuban crop.

25 Permits For Building Issued Here

Twenty-five building permits were issued during the past week, Oct. 7-11, amounting to $114,240, according to Dale Martha, coordinator for the City of Monroe inspector's department.

Breakdown of the permits lists two for new structures, 11 additions, three for demolishing, seven for remodleing and two moves.

Largest single permit was issued to the Monroe City School Board for $50,000 worth of repairs on Lida Benton School, located at 3307 Lee Ave.

Another big grant went to Womack and Wyatt for permission to add to brick veneer apartments at 2500 Oliver Road. Cost of construction will be $30,000.

Permits for new buildings were let to Charles W. Kulcke, for a $14,500 brick veneer residence to be located at 1906 Johns Circle, and to S & W Construction Co., for a steel shop building at 2010 Milhaven Road, costing $4,300.

Two permits were issued to repair damages done by fire. Eugene Johnson obtained permission to restore his residence at 1605 Swayze, at a cost of $1,000. Ira Cagle Jr. and Frank Hopkins will repair the residence at 1406 S. 6th, at a cost of $5,000.

Bond's Bakery received a permit to repair their three-story bakery building, located at 331 Harrison, amounting to $4,000. Other remodeling orders were given to Sam Cancilla, for $75 worth of work on his grocery at 214 7th; Breck Construction Co., to alter a brick office building at 1905 Auburn, $75; and William C. Richardson, to alter his residence at 1807 A. Flynn, $200.

Permits for additions to frame residences went to: Caddo Wright, 4108 Curry, $250; Joe Moy, 1407 S. College, $100; Hattie Bass Howard, 4109 Harvey, $300; Robert Henderson, 703 Wilson, $1,000; Hattie Coleman, 3106 Barlow, $15; Robert Layton, 505 S. 14th St., $400; Sam Rizzo, 1301 Glenmar, $500; I. J. Stamper, 308 Malvern, $400; W. T. Jones, 106 S. 24th St., $375; William Gregory, 809 Florida, $750.

Moving grants were given to O. N. O'Neil to transfer his house from 4302 to 4808 Bon Aire Drive, and to George Conley to move his residence from 704 Oak to 4006 Owl.

Demolishing residences will be Ann Varino, 1233-35-37 DeSiard; Mary Bell Bailey, rear 1008 Ouachita Ave.; and Willie Louis, 308 and 314 Ouachita.

Wicker Furniture Making Comeback

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Wicker is having a coming - in party. It has long been identified with sunporch and patio, although it adapts itself to many rooms in the home in many ways, not just for casual comfort.

Designers illustrated by using wicker in room settings in a wide variety of designs in every price range, much of it ideally suited to the budgets of newly - weds.

A graceful Victorian dressing table and mirror with matching stools in natural wicker covered in Peacock blue vinyl upholstery in a setting designed by Steve Gasperez employs the graceful lines of the Victorian period when wicker achieved high recognition, its airiness offsetting the stuffiness of elaborate draperies and upholsteries.

A product of nature, wicker is made from the osier of the willow tree, long flexible shoots or twigs. A durable, flexible material, it affords many treatments to new furniture. Some rods are peeled and split into skeins. Some are boiled, peeled and soaked to make them especially pliant to be bent, some are used as - is. Combinations of these treatments provide interesting effects achieved in many furniture pieces and accessories, such as chaises, beds, benches, chests, bird cages.

SQUARE BASKET . . . Wicker chest is painted bright green, has glass top and block to bring to table height.

STUDENTS TO WORK

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Professional theater program fellowships have been awarded by the University of Michigan to seven graduate students from other institutions.

The project is designed to bridge from academic training into career activity by enabling the recipients to work with a professional acting company.

IMPROVISERS

NEW YORK (AP) — A school to train players for the currently popular fad of improvisational theatre is being established by some of the initial practicioners.

Called the Compass School, its teachers include Paul Sills, director of off-Broadway's hit "The Second City," and George Morrison, member of a rival entertainment, "The Premise." Founder of the project is David Sheperd, who established the Compass theater in Chicago in 1955.

Curtains For Duo Room Suggested

By BETTY PEPIS

Q: In our kitchen-dining combination room, we have two distinct areas. The kitchen is in red and white check with a red brick linoleum and white curtains. The dining room has three walls in antique white and a sage green carpet. Furniture is cherry wood and the accessories are milk glass. I'd like draperies on one wall in double-tier or straight hanging. What color should I select?

A: For a more interesting effect, I'd choose double-tier curtains in the dining area. These could be either in an appropriate small-scale print, one in a white ground with sage green and red, or, if space is small, the curtains would be best in a crisp white cotton.

Q: In our living room, we have a beige sectional sofa and chair, a brown chair and a cocoa colored rug. Would like to paint walls off-white and have draperies white with yellow and coral. What do you think of this, also what color accessories?

A: Besides yellow and coral, the print should also have some beige to relate it to the furniture. Have bright yellow accessories, and, if youg can, change the dark brown chair to a bright yellow.

Q: Our three-year-old son's room is small. His bed and chest are light, lime oak. His rug is a fluffy white bear. My husband wants to paint the walls and ceiling a cocoa brown. Would an orange bedspread brighten the room? What if we purchased shutters; could the bottom ones be orange and the top ones white?

A: Cocoa sounds rather a dark shade for such a young fellow's room. Wouldn't you rather have pale, sunny yellow instead? Then your idea for shutters would be especially nice. If walls are yellow, have yellow bedspread with orange and white trim.

Q: My living room is 24 by 14 feet. Walls are fairly dark wood panel. Windows are located at north, south and east, so room is quite light. Rugs are oriental with red, blue and beige predominating. Furniture is teak. I need slip covers, draperies, lamps and accessories and would appreciate any assistance you can give.

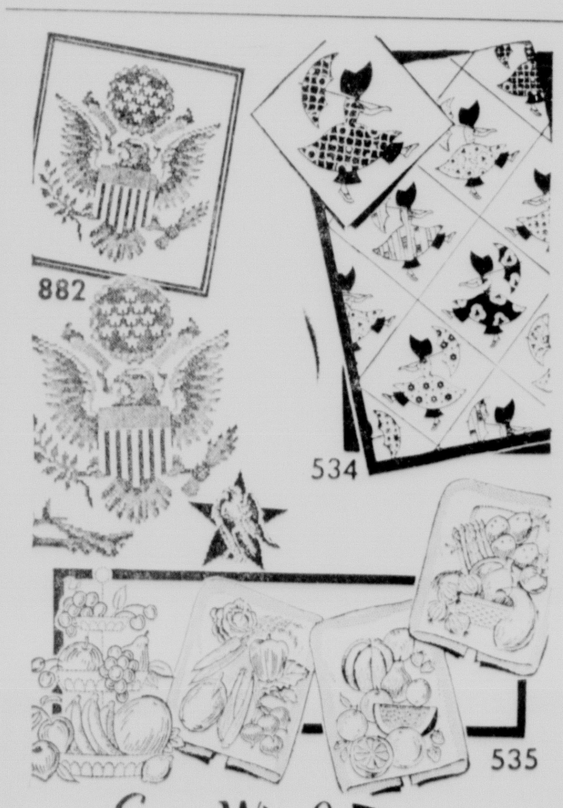

A: Have beige (of carpet) for tie-back draperies, for slip covers and lamps. Pick up rich red and blue in rug for accessories, toss pillows and glass objects.

New Locations Dip Sharply For Week

The number of new locations staked last week in the Monroe Oil and Gas District declined shraply, while two other gauges of activity remained about the same.

District Manager Duncan S. Cook's weekly report on drilling and other activity in Ouachita and 14 surrounding parishes included the recording of only seven new locations.

They occurred in but five parishes — two each in Catahoula and Union and one each in Ouachita, Rapides and LaSalle — representing a drop from the previous week's totals, which included 26 new stakings in 11 parishes.

The total on completions was down, but less sharply, from 18 in seven parishes to 14 in six. The week's figures included 30 rigs active in 12 parishes, as compared with 31 in 10 the week before.

Among the completions were five in Union Parish (four in the Monroe Gas Field), three each in Catahoula and Concordia, and one each in Avoyelles, Rapides and Tensas.

The breakdown on active rigs showed nine in LaSalle Parish, four in Rapides, three each in Catahoula, Concordia and Tensas, two in Ouachita (both drilling — one a wildcat, the other in the Monroe Field), and one each in Avoyelles, Caldwell, Grant, Madison, Morehouse and Union.

There were two recompletions during the week, both of them in LaSalle Parish, the Olla Field, both wells of Placid Oil Company. They were the Louisiana Central No. 72, recompleted at 2411 feet in section 30-10-3E, and the Louisiana Central No. 147, 3374 feet, in section 1-9-2E.

Fifteen wells were plugged and abandoned and inactive sites totalled 108. Locations numbered 69, 45 listed as drilling.

Stock Racing In Shreveport Starts Today

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special)—Race drivers representing the best talent in the nation are congregating in Shreveport this week for action in the annual Ark-La-Tex 100 lap championship late model stock car race.

Time trials starting at 2:00 p.m. this Sunday will see the top sixteen drivers of the national circuit shooting for the $6000 total cash purse with champions, former champions, past and present favorites and several exciting newcomers in the lineup. In addition to national champion Ernie Derr and former champ Johnnie Beauchamp the Shreveport lineup includes state champions from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, South Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Strongest representation comes from Iowa with five drivers and Texas with four. Texans in the speed line up are: Phil Cronin and H. B. Bailey of Houston, Jerry and Claude Douglas of Wichita Falls and Eddie Harrow of Corpus Christi.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS average of 60 stocks showed a drop to 277.8 Friday after it had reached 279.2 following the best advance in five weeks. The commodity index also registered a decline, closing at 159.6, down from the week ago 160.3 close. The agriculture component led the drop. (AP Wirephoto)

Offshore Activity Up At Anniversary

Drilling activity is lagging rather sharply in most areas but the offshore Louisiana operations are well ahead of a year ago.

Operators estimate they are spending more than $1 million a day in their search for new oil and gas reserves on state and federal leases in the Gulf of Mexico. The average could go higher as the search is pushed beyond water depths of 200 to 300 feet.

The water depth was only 14 feet when a drilling crew began work on Louisiana's first offshore test 26 years ago last Sunday.

The current rate of activity results primarily from three federal lease sales at which operators paid more than $735 million dollars for 507 tracts involving 2,300,000 acres.

Federal terms of the sales, the last of which was held last October dictate rather prompt action and emphasis on wildcat operations.

As many as 83 drilling rigs were in use in the area the last two weeks of September compared to only 60 a year earlier. Wildcat completions for January-September totaled 135 compared to 97 the same year earlier period.

The federal leases provide that oil or gas production must be established on each of the tracts within five years after purchase or the tracts must be released.

This prompted J. W. Pittman, for the Shell Oil Co., to say last month the current rate of activity is a boom of expenditure rather than one of quick income or overnight wealth.

He said the five-year lease terms probably mean nearly 1,300 additional tests will have to be drilled by October, 1967.

"This suggests the present boom will be a continuing thing," he said. He also described as conservative his $1 million estimate of the current daily costs for offshore Louisiana drilling operations.

Louisiana's first offshore well, the Superior-Pure State No. 1 test, was completed in May, 1938, one mile off the coast near Cameron with a daily flow of more than 500 barrels of oil.

World War II and prolonged litigation over state or federal ownership combined to prevent more rapid development of the area but offshore wells accounted for 26.57 per cent of Louisiana's crude production last year. The offshore share in 1958 was only 18.12 per cent. Last year's production exceeded 119.4 million barrels of oil and more than 588 billion cubic feet of gas.

Offshore Magazine said this week shrimp boats were used in carrying equipment and crewmen to the No. 1 State test.

The well brought in the Creole field, which, with 11 wells, still is producing.

"Many marine oil fields have been found off the coast of Louisiana that dwarf Creole," the magazine said. "But Creole was the first, and the Superior-Pure Gulf of Mexico State No. 1 is an historic milestone in the development of the offshore industry."

Stock Market Retrenches During Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market performed an exercise in backing and filling this week and wound up with a relatively small decline. It was only the second setback in 11 weeks.

Despite continued good business and political news the market found it difficult deciding which way to head. For much of the week it was a case of the list in general refusing to follow the lead of a few strong issues such as Chrysler and RCA.

An early advance faded into a spotty decline late Monday. Tuesday developed only narrow overall changes and Wednesday prices dipped. In the final 15 minutes Thursday buying suddenly reappeared. The upward trend continued Friday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average fell 1.4 at 277.8. The Dow Jones industrial average retreated 3.30 at 741.76.

September auto sales were the highest for a September since 1955 and first reports on 1964 model acceptance were favorable.

With this background, Chrysler advanced 3⅞, setting a 1963 high of 96 and closing at 94⅞. Volume totaled 1,244,500 shares, the second week in a row of over a million.

RCA gained 6¼, set a 1963 high of 79⅜, closed at 78½ and was seventh most active.

Sugar company stocks were better all week as hurricane Flora ripped the Cuban crop.

25 Permits For Building Issued Here

Twenty-five building permits were issued during the past week, Oct. 7-11, amounting to $114,240, according to Dale Martha, coordinator for the City of Monroe inspector's department.

Breakdown of the permits lists two for new structures, 11 additions, three for demolishing, seven for remodleing and two moves.

Largest single permit was issued to the Monroe City School Board for $50,000 worth of repairs on Lida Benton School, located at 3307 Lee Ave.

Another big grant went to Womack and Wyatt for permission to add to brick veneer apartments at 2500 Oliver Road. Cost of construction will be $30,000.

Permits for new buildings were let to Charles W. Kulcke, for a $14,500 brick veneer residence to be located at 1906 Johns Circle, and to S & W Construction Co., for a steel shop building at 2010 Milhaven Road, costing $4,300.

Two permits were issued to repair damages done by fire. Eugene Johnson obtained permission to restore his residence at 1605 Swayze, at a cost of $1,000. Ira Cagle Jr. and Frank Hopkins will repair the residence at 1406 S. 6th, at a cost of $5,000.

Bond's Bakery received a permit to repair their three-story bakery building, located at 331 Harrison, amounting to $4,000. Other remodeling orders were given to Sam Cancilla, for $75 worth of work on his grocery at 214 7th; Breck Construction Co., to alter a brick office building at 1905 Auburn, $75; and William C. Richardson, to alter his residence at 1807 A. Flynn, $200.

Permits for additions to frame residences went to: Caddo Wright, 4108 Curry, $250; Joe Moy, 1407 S. College, $100; Hattie Bass Howard, 4109 Harvey, $300; Robert Henderson, 703 Wilson, $1,000; Hattie Coleman, 3106 Barlow, $15; Robert Layton, 505 S. 14th St., $400; Sam Rizzo, 1301 Glenmar, $500; I. J. Stamper, 308 Malvern, $400; W. T. Jones, 106 S. 24th St., $375; William Gregory, 809 Florida, $750.

Moving grants were given to O. N. O'Neil to transfer his house from 4302 to 4808 Bon Aire Drive, and to George Conley to move his residence from 704 Oak to 4006 Owl.

Demolishing residences will be Ann Varino, 1233-35-37 DeSiard; Mary Bell Bailey, rear 1008 Ouachita Ave.; and Willie Louis, 308 and 314 Ouachita.

New Wildcat Is Underway

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A new wildcat is underway in Clarke County, further evidence of increased efforts toward oil production from the Smackover lime formation.

The well is Brandon Co.'s No. 1 Board of Supervisors in section 16, range 2 north, township 17 east, located two miles northeast of the Junction City oil field.

Currenotion in the Junction City field is from the Eutaw formation at about 5,000 feet.

A second Smackover lime test in Clarke County is below 9,600 feet. This is the State Exploration Co. and L. A. Wyatt No. 1 Coitt in sec. 19-4n-14e, five miles west of Enterprise.

In the recently discovered Bienville Forest Field of Smith County, Austral Oil Co. has its location cleared and is waiting on the rig at its confirmation try, the federal lease No. A-1, sec. 10-4n-9e. The new test is about 1½ miles northeast of the discovery well, the first oil production in the state from the Smackover.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. is below 16,350 feet in its unit No. 5, sec. 25-8n-15w, located in the Collins Field of Covington County. It was drilled to 16,000 feet and is being diamond cored to 16,500 feet.

Two wildcat tests are drilling in Wayne County. Central Oil Co. is below 11,900 feet in its unit No. 31-3, sec. 31-6n-8w. Contract depth on both ventures is 12,000 feet.

Jones-OBrien and Callon Petroleum Co. have completed their wildcat U.S.A. No. 1, sec. 14-5n-4w in Adams County as a small producer. The well on Glasscock Island is pumping 20 barrels per day from the Wilcox at 6,514-21 feet.

In the recently discovered Blackburn field of Jones County, Triad-McAlester fuel is below 8,100 feet in their same well, the Odom-Jordan unit No. 1, sec. 14-7n-13w. In the same area, Chesley Pruet Drilling Co. is below 9,700 feet in its wildcat, the Travis Haynes No. 1, in sec. 10-7n-13w, a 13,500-foot test.

Triad is below 12,800 feet in its Simpson County Wildcat, the Hughes No. 1, sec. 15-1n-6e, about 2 miles north of the Magee oil field. The contract depth is 13,500 feet.

In Amite County, American Petrofina, Hill and Frost have abandoned their wildcat, the Wall No. 1, sec. 35-1n-6e, with no shows logged to 11,890 feet.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

hint from heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

The covered wire that comes wrapped around vegetables may serve many other uses in the home besides that for which it was designed!

In your flower or vegetable garden . . . they can be used to secure the plants to their stakes for support without injury to the plant itself.

Just drive a stake into the ground, and when that little plant starts growing and needs "something to cling to" . . . just take the kitchen wire and fasten the young baby vine to the stake. As the plant grows, attach another wire, etc.

The plastic which covers the wire will protect the young, tender vine from bruises and injury.

Mrs. W. F. Heitkamp

DEAR HELOISE:

I have found that my adjustable-type ironing board makes an ideal sewing table for my portable sewing machine. I use the large end of the board to put the machine on and the small end will hold all of the material, etc.

The padded board muffles the noise of the machine and also makes a handy pin cushion.

Helen M.

DEAR HELOISE:

The best way to pin a heavy brooch through a light fabric dress is to place some folded facial tissue on the inside of the garment and put the pin right through it. The extra thickness will hold the piece of jewelry firm!

Sixty-three

DEAR HELOISE:

For those who have moths in their closets and buy all those moth balls, bags, etc.

Did you know you could buy moth crystals, take a piece of tape, rub the sticky side in the moth crystals and tape to either the coat hanger, rod or wall?

Dorothy Solsberg

DEAR HELOISE:

I have found that a twin-size flat sheet is just the thing to use for top sheets on a full-size bed. You do not have all of that excess width hanging over the sides, no waste of energy or aggravation tucking under, either, because they are about the same size as a regular-size blanket.

Pat Merz

* * *

Dear Pat:

I bought one. I tried it! You are exactly right. And it's wonderful for those who have their laundry done by the pound. Bless you.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a hint that I learned from my mother-in-law.

She has lots of grandchildren, all of whom like fried chicken legs!

When cutting up a chicken, cut the wing at the body of the chicken and again at the next joint. In other words, make four "little chicken legs" . . . as my children call them.

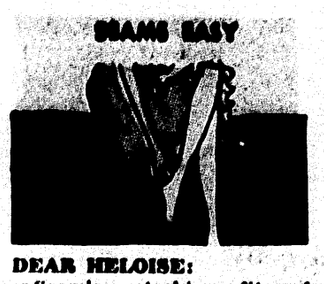

Helen Louise

DEAR HELOISE:

To hold a thimble firm on your finger, put your finger in your mouth a moment and then place the thimble on and wait a bit. The results are a tight fit.

Madge Pate

DEAR HELOISE:

Seamless stockings fit and wear better if they aren't twisted when putting them on—but how can one tell with no seam to use as a guide?

Easy . . . just a few loops of colored thread in the very center of the front of the stocking at the top edge . . . there is a natural crease there when the stockings are new.

Mrs. Paul Parker

DEAR HELOISE:

My daughter has long hair and always cried when I used rubber bands on her ponytail.

One day I used a pipe cleaner and it worked like a charm. They are excellent when used on ponytails. They also come in various colors and only cost about ten cents a pack. But best of all they do not hurt when removed from the child's hair and can be used over and over again.

Francis Aquirre

DEAR HELOISE:

If people would try brewing their instant coffee for a few minutes in their percolator they will find it very good. I did not like instant coffee until I tried this method. It sure makes a difference!

Francis Mays

DEAR HELOISE:

I always hated to wash and stretch doilies. So I finally bought white plastic doilies, and they were just as nice as the others and required much less work.

When they got dirty, I would swish them through soapy water, rinse them and dry. They were ready to use. But sometimes they turned color.

Then a friend told me that I could dye them when they turned yellow! Just make up the batch of dye from your dime, department or drug store, according to directions, and after removing it from the stove, dip them down into the dye bath, stir a few minutes, then remove. Presto! New colored doilies! They are beautiful.

Laura Tiffany

DEAR HELOISE:

Did you know that you can fasten a spring-type curtain rod to the sides of the cupboard—where you keep your pots and pans—and then you can slip your lids of your pots and pans behind these springs and that they will be kept snugly in place and out of the way? They are also within easy reach and view!

Iakni

DEAR HELOISE:

I always carry a small package of note paper in my purse. When the time comes that I have to wait either at a doctor's office or some other appointment, I can always write to my long-lost friends.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

DEAR HELOISE:
The covered wire that comes wrapped around vegetables may serve many other uses in the home besides that for which it was designed!

In your flower or vegetable garden . . . they can be used to secure the plants to their stakes for support without injury to the plant itself.

Just drive a stake into the ground, and when that little plant starts growing and needs, "something to cling to" . . . just take the kitchen wire and fasten the young baby vine to the stake. As the plant grows, attach another wire, etc.

The plastic which covers the wire will protect the young, tender vine from bruises and injury.

SEWING BOARD

DEAR HELOISE:

I have found that my adjustable-type ironing board makes an ideal sewing table for my portable sewing machine. I use the large end of the board to put the machine on and the small end will hold all of the material, etc.

The padded board muffles the noise of the machine and also makes a handy pin cushion.

Helen M.

JEWELRY DEPT.

DEAR HELOISE:

The best way to pin a heavy brooch through a light fabric dress is to place some folded facial tissue on the inside of the garment and put the pin right through it. The extra thickness will hold the piece of jewelry firm!
